The 22-year-old Montreal star said that the only reason he refused to play in the tournament was that he wanted to spend the next few days with his wife and two children in Philadelphia.

"That was the only reason," Macken told the Canadian Press in a telephone interview. "And that was what I told tournament officials in Toronto."

EXPENSES ALLOTMENT

A Toronto story yesterday said Macken refused to play in the tournament because of the allotment of expense money during the Canadian championship matches in Toronto last week.

The Toronto story said Macken and two other Davis Cup team members, Henri Rochon of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver were given only $75 expense money for the week-long Canadian championships while Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., singles winner, got $625, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., got $565 and Denmark's Kurt Neilson received $225.

Macken said the $75 he received was an advance for expenses by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association and that the group paid any additional expenses.

Macken was quoted as saying that "most of the money paid to Savitt and Larsen to come to Toronto for the Canadian championships should have been used to bring Paul Wiley, and my brother, Jim, from Vancouver and several other players from the west."

Of this Macken said: "I did not mention any money being involved in giving the Canadian tournament a truly representative picture.

"I have always felt that only the best players should play in the Canadian Tournament."

years a member of the board of directors and who died just before the great work was completed.

THE THREE TEMPLES

Rt. W. Bro. Downey brought Corinthian Lodge's thanks to all who had a part in bringing about the new temple. Mr. Downey also spoke of the three great temples. He said the word temple is derived from the Latin, and means to contemplate, to think, to formulate plans for the future. The three temples he mentioned were King Solomon's, Zerubbabel's and the inner temple within every Mason. "The building of an inner temple within each of us is the building of the temple of God within each of us. This is the most important of all. This new temple in its physical form simply provides a physical means towards spiritual personal ends. When we look at the letter "G" over the altar a challenge is presented to each of us to build an imperishable character which cannot be destroyed.

"Let us hold this physical temple in reverence. Let us be careful to see that we do nothing to hinder another brother's progress in character development. Let us be careful in our own deportment, think more of others and less of ourselves. May this temple provide the physical background for the spiritual growth of brotherly love, relief and truth."

TRACES STEPS TAKEN

Rt. W. Bro. R. L. Dobbin, the president of the company, introduced the directors and traced the steps which have led to the erection of the temple. It was back in 1926 when discussions first commenced about the building of a new temple, but years of depression and then the Second World War delayed the work. He paid tribute to the men who first conceived the idea and laid the ground work; one of that group was present in the person of V. W. Bro. W. J. Henry.

The directors who were introduced were W. Bro. Harry Taylor, who has been in charge of finance; W. Bro. George A. Macdonald, vice-president, and who was in charge of lighting; W. Bro. E. R. Shirley, who has been in charge of kitchen and dining-room arrangements; W. Bro. G. Wilson Craw, who was in charge of furnishings and moving; W. Bro. J. J. Craig, who was in charge of secretarial and regalia space arrangements; Bro. Horace Steggles, who is in charge of landscaping; W. Bro. James Downing, who was recently named to the board to take the place of the late W. Bro. W. A. Richardson, and Bro. Ian McRae. All these directors were assisted by members of the craft who gave much of their time in planning for the temple.

Mr. Dobbin praised the work of the architects, W. Bro. Walter Blackwell and Bro. James Craig, and the contractor who did such a splendid job of erecting the new lodge and dining room and renovating the building, W. Bro. Walter Mortlock.

Following the meeting in the lodge room the brethren inspected the building and then were served lunch in the dining room.

Omemee Guild Hears Report Of Parcel Sale

OMEMEE (ENS)—The September meeting of Christ Anglican Church Guild, which included a quilting, was held at the home of Mrs. A. Stephenson, with 15 members present.

President Mrs. H. Laidley opened the meeting with prayer, after which items of business were discussed. Mrs. Laidley's report on the recent tea and parcel-post sale revealed that it had been a big success. It was decided to cater to a wedding, the last Saturday in October. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. H. Sisson and Mrs. H. V. Smith.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Loken.

bought two-acre lots under the Veterans' Land Act," said Mr. McAdam. "Will they be able to sell that land if annexation takes place?" (Under V.L.A. the veteran cannot sell the lot until 10 years have elapsed.)

"The Department of Planning and Development told us that V.L.A. would work closely with them after annexation," said Mayor Waddell . . . "Mr. Scott assured us that there would be a working arrangement . . . That's a question to ask Mr. Scott when he comes down on Monday."

Mr. Outram said that in the Land Assembly section the city would pay for the services up to the edge of the area. Then as development inside took place the city would instal the services and be paid for it.

"If we fulfill our agreement that will be as soon as the lots are sold," he said.

It was pointed out, however, that development would be orderly, not helter-skelter.

CAN'T LOOK AFTER IT

Alex Edmison, clerk of Smith, got a nod of approval from the Smith councillors when he said: "Council doesn't want to hang onto the Land Assembly land and the Queen Elizabeth subdivision. We can't look after it."

Unless the whole of S.S. No. 13 or Queen Elizabeth school section is included in the annexation the area will be faced with the immediate problem of overcrowding in the public school, he said. A new school will have to be built or three or four rooms added to the existing one.

The present school, known as Milburn's, is just outside the subdivision purchased by the city. And Smith council want the rest of the school section, to the west of the Queen Elizabeth subdivision to be taken in as well.

Mr. Edmison said that council wanted the Sunset Boulevard area (about 200 acres) to be annexed as well because the city services to the Land Assembly area to the north would be running through it. Under these circumstances it would be difficult for the township to look after the area.

Trinity WMS Begins New Winter Season

OMEMEE (ENS)—Trinity United Church W.M.S. rallied Thursday evening in the church basement for their first meeting after the holiday season.

President Mrs. J. A. McConnell welcomed the members back to duty and called for reports from the various secretaries and the treasurer. The latter reported $217.20 to date.

Arrangements were made for a Baby Band tea on Sept. 25. Announcements included a W.M.S. Rally at Sunderland on September 12.

Mrs. A. Rutherford, leader of group 4, led her group in the presentation of the worship service and the study. She was assisted in the worship by Mrs. Geo. Smith and Mrs. Wm. Fisher, who read scripture passages on the theme: "God's Grace," and by Mrs. D. Hicks who led in prayer. Mrs. Edith Brown and Mrs. Harold Lang presented the study from chapters 1 and 2 of the new study book, "Along African Trails" by David Gallagher. Mrs. H. Laidley sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord" accompanied by Miss L. Race.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was Mrs. J. M. Sandy's report on the Whitby School for Leaders to which she was a delegate.

Mrs. Sandy stressed the address given by Mrs. Marchbanks, a member of the national executive of United Nations, in which she outlined the functions of United Nations, and urged Christians not only to pray for peace but to do something about it. The League of Nations, she said, failed because it gave lip service only. She was also much impressed by the morning Bible study and prayer, conducted by Mrs. Watts on the theme "Biblical Background of Christian World Missions," quoting Mrs. Watts on one occasion as saying "It is time we, as women, had the answer to people who criticize missions."

Lunch was served by the group in charge.

Humane Society Reviews Activities

The monthly meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society was held Thursday evening.

Bruce Menzies, inspector, reported on his visit to the Apsley and Kinmount fairs.

Appreciation was expressed for the wonderful co-operation given the society by the city and provincial police during the emergency period this summer when the society was without an inspector.

Mrs. S. O. Shields, the president, gave an interesting account of animal life and how they are taken care of in Nassau and Harbour Island in the West Indies where she visited this summer. Mrs. McDonald told of her observavtions regarding animal life on her trip to western Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Morley Powell had a very interesting trip through the Canadian and American west. They reported splendid conditions in the way of life of the horses and cattle through the Dakotas and also the orderly way the rodeos practically free from cruelty were conducted.

Plans were started for an open meeting to be held towards the end of the year and the matter was left in the hands of Miss Phyllis Denne, convener of the social committee.

A letter was read from the provincial police with their findings after a visit to Kinmount where it was reported bears, monkeys and pigeons were living in the same cage. However things were found satisfactory.

To Sign Agreement

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Argentina and Communist Poland are about to sign a three-year trade agreement providing for an "unlimited" exchange of Polish coal for Argentine meat and by-products, the foreign trade ministry said yesterday.

Overturned Car Blocks Traffic

An overturned car blocked traffic Friday afternoon on the Locks Bridge for more than half an hour. No one was hurt in the accident.

Joseph McGee of Lang was driving east on the bridge, when he tried to slow down in the line of traffic. He put his foot on the brake pedal and it went right to the floorboard.

In an effort to avoid hitting a car driven by Donald Graham, 635 Centre St., McGee pulled to the right sharply. In doing so he hit a steel brace on the bridge and the rear bumper of the Graham car.

McGee's car turned on its left side, anglewise on the bridge, leaving only one lane open to traffic. Considerable damage was done to his car, none to the Graham auto. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Last Of Cadets Back In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Four months of training in Germany for students of Royal Military College, Kingston, and university officer training groups ended this week with the return of the last 17 cadets attached to the Hannover headquarters of Canada's 27th Brigade.

A total of 74 third-year students from R. M. C. and universities in all provinces took jobs as officers in units ranging from infantry to the chaplain corps.

They went on exercises and field training to study the role of a defence army. The climax of summer training for many of them was Exercise Spearhead in which the 27th Brigade was matched against two armored divisions.

The first movement of students back to Canada began in mid-August, but many visited western European countries on their own time before sailing.

Charge Firm Used Chain Gang Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—A National Labor Relations Board report Friday accused a southern paper company of resorting to virtual "chain gang" tactics by hiring armed guards to watch employees at work in an attempt to discourage union membership.

The report said one of the guards telephoned a striking employee, Mrs. L. Jewell Sanders, a leader of the local union, of immoral conduct and insulting her in vile terms.

It said the guard, identified as James M. Fier, also threatened the safety of Mrs. Sanders' small son.

Friday's report held that the National Paper Co. of Atlanta and Southern Detectives Inc. had committed unfair labor practices in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

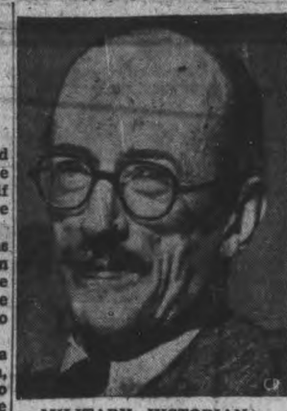
British M.P. To Visit Peterborough Friday

Harmer Nicholls, Member of the British Parliament for Peterborough, England, will likely be a visitor here Friday, September 12.

Mayor Hugh Waddell said today that he had received a letter from Mr. Nicholls thanking him for an invitation to come to Peterborough during his engagement at a conference in Ottawa. He was not certain of the time at his disposal, but he expected to be able to leave Ottawa next Friday morning and return to the capital probably on Saturday.

On his recent vacation trip to England, Edward Humpage, city auditor, was entertained during a visit to Mr. Nicholls who intimated that he was greatly interested in the prospect of seeing this Peterborough. He is a prominent citizen in the industrial Midlands.

Fire Hose On 5 Floors Of Civic Says Hornal



There are four fire hose on each floor of Civic Hospital, superintendent John Hornal said today. He was replying to a comment of utilities commissioner Dr. Gordon R. Langley who said he had seen no hose and no fire extinguishers in the hospital.

Mr. Hornal added that beside each hose station is a carbon dioxide fire extinguisher.

He said that, as required by the government, there is no place in the hospital more than 75 feet from a hose station. Only floor without hose is the sixth, a small floor.

Michael F. Heffernan Buried In Norwood

Funeral for the late Michael Francis Heffernan, 37, of 207 Stewart St., who died early on Tuesday as the result of fight late Monday evening, was held Thursday from Anglesey funeral home to St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Norwood. The Rev. J. J. Garvey said requiem mass and the Rev. C. J. Carrol was in the Sanctuary. Pall-bearers were Joseph Lonergan, Charles OBrien, Albert Allen, Bernard Heffernan, Neil McNulty and Gerrard English. Graveside prayers were said by Father Carrol and burial was at St. Paul's Cemetery.

MILITARY HISTORIAN — Capt. B. H. Liddell Hart, British military historian, is in Canada for a series of lectures to various armed service groups at the invitation of Defence Minister Claxton. Capt. Hart, authord of 30 books on military topics, including "Defence of the West," will visit Ottawa, Toronto, Kingston and Hamilton. In an interview in Ottawa he said he believes Russia does not want war. Otherwise she would have attacked before the western buildup of defensive military strength.

Blaze Destroys Rawdon Home

BONARLAW (ENS) — Lightning struck a vacant house in Rawdon township early today and caused a fire which completely destroyed the building. The loss is estimated at $3,000.

The house owned by Harry Sweet of concession 11, Rawdon township, about four miles west of Bonarlaw, was struck about 8 a.m.

Mr. Sweet and his son Leslie were working in the nearby barn when they saw the flames. Leslie Sweet immediately ran to a neighboring farm and telephoned for help.

The bucket brigade formed by neighbors used all their efforts to save the two nearby houses and the barn.

The Sweets had planned to move the burned house onto a new foundation in the fall and then live in it.

At present Mr. Sweet lives with his daughter Olive, 15, in one of the other two houses on the farm and his son Leslie and his family live in the other house.

The burned building was partly covered by insurance.

Marmora News

Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. is again sponsoring a cooking school this year. It will be held on September 18 and 19.

Miss Anne Nickle is the new music teacher for Centre Hastings High School district. She is a sister of Presley Nickle who operates a jewelry store in this village.

Mrs. R. L. Lewis of Buffalo, N.Y. accompanied by her brother Ernest Downard of Detroit, Mich. visited Mrs. William Burns and Mr. James Downard recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ellis of Buffalo, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ellis and family of Enniskillen; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anthony Jr. and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Le Master spent the holiday weekend at their cottages in the Vansickle Settlement.

Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Bache have returned home after spending a vacation with relatives in Uxbridge.

Marmora gardeners who grow cucumbers have been having good success this year as far as size goes. Ronald Beckett, son-in-law of Rev. G. H. Bache, picked two large ones in the latter's garden. One measured nineteen inches in length but was of small girth. The other, fourteen and a half inches long was nine inches in circumference.

Miss Patricia Lynch, graduate nurse at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, is spending a month's holiday at her home here.

Norwood News

Mrs. Gerald Baker and Miss Betty Baker are on a motor trip to Pittsburgh, where they will spend a week.

Mrs. F. B. O'Bee of Aurora is spending a feek visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry O'Bee.

Mrs. John Marks is a patient in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson of Albion, N.Y., spent a few days this week with the former's sister, Mrs. William Baker.

R. V. T. Betteley

The funeral for Richard Vernon Turner Betteley, lot 4, concession 6, Smith township, who died on Tuesday, was held Friday from the Kaye funeral home.

The Rev. F. R. Parlee of the Pentecostal Church conducted the service.

Pallbeare s were Walter, Earl and Roland Glover, Lawrence Hallcrow, George Hooten and Harry Mahafey. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Will Renovate Public Library If Get Funds

The Peterborough Public Library may undergo complete interior renovaiton in the near future.

The library board passed a motion at their meeting this week that an invitation be sent to the city council asking members to meet with the board. This meeting will take the form of a tour of the library and a discussion of needs and plans for interior renovation.

The question of interior renovation has been under consideration by the board for the past six years. Librarian William Graff said today that in 1946, the board went to London to visit what was then the most modern public library in Canada. Following their visit they retained the services of the architect of that library to draw sketch plans for the renovation of the Peterborough library. However, the architct asked for a delay because of ill health and the sketches were never produced.

Since then the library board has marked time, feeling that the erection of the Civic Hospital and the new City Hall had caused a heavy enough expenditure for the civic purse.

CAN'T WAIT

But now the board has decided that the library can't wait any longer..

"The interior of the building was actually out-of-date when it was built," Mr. Graff explained. "There was no library consultant available in the country when it was built and the interior was arranged to meet what was thought to be adequate for local needs.

"Since that time, the activities of the library as well as circulation have increased to such an extent that renovation has become a necessity."

In the past six years, the circulation of the library has increased almost 50 per cent and the registration has jumped from 6,939 to 10,644.

Three main activities have been added to the library program: the boys' and girls' department in 1922; art exhibits in 1946; and the film library in conjunction with the Peterborough Film Council in 1946.

NECESSITIES

"People are beginning to realize in communities all across Canada that libraries should not be looked on as luxuries, but as necessities," Mr. Graff said. "This realization has resulted in millions of dollars being spent on new buildings, additions and renovation. The community's library is now being looked upon as the educational, informational and cultural centre of the community. The result has been that efforts have been made to make these buildings more functional and attractive.

"The drab institutional decoration and uncomfortable furniture is a thing of the past.

"To bring the Peterborough library's interior up-to-date may cost $60,000. This will include an entire re-arrangement of the main floor; new equipment, furniture and modern lighting. The re-arrangement of departments may also enter into the plans.

"At present the space in the library is not being properly used. If it is arranged properly the present building should be adequate for the needs of the city for a number of years."

Norwood WMS Packs Bale For Shipment

NORWOOD (ENS) — The Women's Missionary Society of the Norwood United Church held their September meeting on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school room. The president, Mrs. John Starke, was in charge.

A shower of cards was requested to be sent to a member who is at present in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

Several potted plants were on display for sale.

Miss M. A. Carter, supply secretary, spoke in regard to the bale, and it was decided to have it packed Tuesday evening. One member reported having knit over 20 pairs of mittens.

The president referred to the autumn rally which will be held in Hastings United Church on Tuesday, October 7. Services will be at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Mrs. David Starke and her group then took charge of the program. Mrs. A. M. Weir gave the scripture reading. Mrs. Fred Gardner led in prayer. Miss Shirley Brown sang a solo, "The Name of Jesus Is So Sweet." Mrs. H. K. Wright gave a very interesting and instructive introduction to the study book. Mrs. Charles Davey gave a reading entitled "God In the Morning." Mrs. Rork Ferguson sang a solo, "Marvellous Grace," with harp accompaniment.

Federal Transport Experts Worried About Grain Strike Threat

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal grain and transport experts are concerned over the possibility of a grain-handlers strike at the Lakehead snarling movement of Canada's record grain crop this year.

W. J. Fisher, deputy Transport Controller, said yesterday the walkout of some 1,400 workers, if it materialized, would have "serious implications." The strike has been set for Sept. 15.

Movement of virtually all grain at Lakehead terminals would be halted, he said. If the strike lasted for any length of time, grain would begin backing up, straining the facilities of country storage elevators and then finally piling up on farms.

Orderly movement of railway boxcars on the prairies would be disrupted and some part of the Great Lakes shipping fleet would become idle.

SEEK 40-HOUR WEEK

The government sent Arthur MacNamara, deputy Minister of Labor, to Winnipeg, scene of negotiations. The grain-handlers, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), seek a 40-hour week, a union shop and a wage increase.

A conciliation board recommended a 44-hour week to replace the current 48, part of the wage increase demanded by the union, plus a maintenance-of-membership clause and the check-off. The board turned down the request for a union shop. This was accepted by the operators but rejected by the union.

At Winnipeg, Mr. MacNamara said the federal government is trying to reopen negotiations and bring a settlement in the dispute. He met with terminal elevator officials and will talk to union officials at the Lakehead Monday.

R. W. Milner, federal Transport Controller, also left Ottawa for Winnipeg, but what role he will play in the negotiations was not certain. He has power to requisition and control all transport and storage in Canada.

STEER PUTS UP BIG BEEF—Pete Williams, of Rhinebeck, N.Y., is having troubles with his steer. Pete wants to wash the animal's face, so the Hereford will look its best in competition at the Duchess County Fair. The steer isn't interested in the project, and is putting up a futile beef.

District Woman Celebrates 91st Birthday

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) —Mrs. Frank Shier, Coldsprings, entertained the immediate family at a birthday dinner in honor of her mother, Mrs. William Gibson, who marked her 91st birthday, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Gibson was formerly Grace Stevenson, daughter of the late Margaret Atchison and Alexander Stevenson. She was born in Hamilton township and has spent most of her life in the vicinity of Coldsprings.

Mrs. Gibson is the last surviving members of the family of 12. Her husband died 24 years ago.

Although not in the best of health, she is able to be about the house each day. With her for the occasion of her birthday was her son, Norman Gibson, Mrs. Gibson, and daughters Eileen and Iva, who also live at Coldsprings, and Mrs. Gibson's daughter, Mrs. Shier, (Margaret) and Mr. Shier with whom she resides.

Spends Four Years Sailing Around World Now Tired, Broke Ready To Trek Again

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP)—After four years sailing around the world alone, Al Peterson is home from the sea—dead tired, dead broke, and eager to sail away again.

Peterson is going to work now at his old trade of mechanic to pay for board and room, and expects to have to sell his good sloop Stornoway too, but he has his eye on more adventures. Just when and where he is not sure.

What makes a man do a thing like that?

The original round-the-world man, aptain Joshua Slocum, never said, although he wrote a classic book about his voyage. Peterson, 40, a slow-spoken, rather taciturn chap, couldn't say very well either.

"I had been thinking and planning for it for 10 years," he said. "My parents are dead and I have few close relatives, and that made it easier. I've always hung around boats. I just felt like going."

So he saved his money, bought the Stornoway, a 33-foot double-ender with gaff rig, provisioned and fitted her for a long voyage, and set sail for Miami.

WHAT DID IT COST?

About $15,000, Peterson figures, including $8,000 spent for the sloop.

Is a one-man voyage difficult? Not the way Peterson tells it.

"You have to lash the tiller so the boat will sail itself," he explained. "That takes some special gear. You can't get your meals and take care of yourself while steering."

Did he get lonely?

"No, I didn't. Some people would, but I didn't. I was busy most of the time taking care of myself and the boat. I did some reading—magazines and cheap fiction I would pick up. And I trailed a line for fish. You don't get many fish that way, but it isn't much work."

Well, there were some pretty bad storms in the Mediterranean, and on the last leg across the Atlantic Peterson worried about hurricanes, but none showed up.

His ports of call across the Pacific and Indian oceans read like something out of Cook's voyages—

The Galapagos, the Marquesas, Tahiti, Raritonga, Sydney, Port Moresby, Thursday Island, Kupang, Surabaya, Singapore, Penang and Colombo.

Order State Of Emergency In Colony Of Sarawak

By WILLIAM PARROTT

KUCHING, Sarawak (Reuters)—A "state of emergency" now has been declared in this British colony in north-west Borneo to deal with Communist terrorists.

But the terrorists here have little chance of repeating their successes in Malaya where for four years they have kept British and Malayan troops busy fighting a hit-and-run, guerrilla war against an enemy they seldom see.

Here the jungle and former head-hunters are against them.

ONLY TRACKLESS WASTE

Unlike Malaya, the jungle in Sarawak does not offer the hospitality of the Malayan forests from which forays for food, supplies and information may be made by convenient tracks and roads to nearby villages and towns.

In Sarawak, vast stretches of the jungle are trackless. There are few roads, and only a handful of large towns.

In Sarawak, too, where the Communist movement has so far proved to be entirely Chinese in character, the jungle is mostly controlled by Sea Dyaks who are barely tolerant of the Sarawak Chinese as is, and would need little encouragement to start a campaign of their own against them.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

The possibility of using these lusty warriors against Chinese terrorists is, in fact, receiving serious attention from the authorities. But the authorities fear that the Sea Dyaks might wage an anti-terrorist campaign too enthusiastically and show little discrimination about the political principles of the Chinese attacked.

They also fear that the Sea Dyaks might, at the slightest provocation, revert to their traditional head-hunting practices.

Chemical Works Blast Kills 5 In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Five workers were killed and 30 seriously injured in an explosion at the Leuna chemical works in the Soviet zone, the United States-sponsored German-language paper "Die Neue Zeitung" reported Friday.

The blast in the huge factory near Leipzig occurred during tests with a new explosive last Friday, the newspaper said.

Charged With Theft

SUDBURY (CP) — Daniel Chase, 17, Friday was charged with stealing two rings and a watch valued at $147 altogether, and $30 in cash. The youth, described by police as an army deserter who says his home is in Kingston, was arrested on another theft charge a week ago.

Fixed Teeth Man Fined $300

BANCROFT (ENS)—Believed to be the only case of its kind ever tried in this district, charges of illegal practice of dentistry and unlawful possession of dental equipment against Doyle Baum, a resident of Mayo township, were heard by Magistrate R. C. Jackson in Bancroft court on Wednesday.

Baum, an American citizen, and proprietor of a dance hall near McArthurs Mills during the summer month, appeared without counsel and pleaded guilty to the charges. He was fined $300 and costs by the magistrate. A second charge of illegal practice was withdrawn by the Crown.

The charges, laid under a provincial statute, were made by Gavin Monahan, an inspector for the Royal College of Dental Surgeons. Inspector Monahan and a woman companion told the court that they purchased dental plates from the accused. Further investigation was made in co-operation with Cpl. A. F. Grayling and Constable J. C. Hawkins of the O.P.P., and a quantity of dental equipment was seized.

Baum is a dental mechanic in the United States.

Won't Likely Replace Indian Medical Unit

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A highly-placed source said today India's sole contribution to the United Nations forces in Korea—the 300-man Indian Army medical unit—will be called home in November and won't be replaced.

The decision, the source said, was made by Prime Minister Nehru. Nehru and other leaders of his government have frequently criticized the U. N. campaigns against the North Korean and Chinese Communists.

A Foreign Office spokesman, after consultation with high government officials, declined to confirm or deny the report.

"There is absolutely no change in the situation," the spokesman said.

The Indian parachute medical battalion has won high honors for its attendance on U.N. casualties since it went to Korea in November, 1950. It had been presumed here that a similar group would be assigned when the men now there were relieved.

Ask Better Facilities For Rescue Work

TORONTO (CP) — Lake Simcoe residents have joined Errol Arnoldi of Toronto, who with his wife was recently marooned on the lake for 16 hours in a crippled cabin cruiser, in a demand for better rescue facilities.

Mr. Arnoldi said today the Provincial Police have no boats on the Lake, a popular resort area 50 miles north of Toronto, and must borrow or rent craft for rescue operations.

Residents suggest that a regular patrol be established and a telephone number set for emergency calls.

F. A. Hunt Named Division Engineer

TORONTO — F. A. Hunt has been appointed division engineer, Belleville Division, Canadian National Railways, with headquarters at Belleville. Formerly division engineer, Capreol Division, Mr. Hunt succeeds R. A. Shier, resigned.

Frederick A. Hunt was born in Wentworth County, and is a graduate of Queens University in civil engineering. He began his railway career at Toronto, in 1940, as a rail grinders helper, following which he became inspector on the Sperry Rail Detector Car a few months later. He enlisted with the Royal Canadian Engineers in 1942 and was demobilized with rank of Lieutenant, returning to the company in 1946 as assistant engineer at Toronto. Two years later he was transferred to the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, in the same capacity, with headquarters at St. Catharines. In 1949, he was appointed assistant division engineer, Belleville Division and, the following year, was promoted to the position he now relinquishes to assume his new duties at Belleville.

Rule Welland Man Will Stand Trial

WELLAND (CP)—Michael Gazo, 46, of Welland, Friday was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the death of his wife, Antonia, 46, last May 29.

Dr. J.E. Bedard testified he found the woman dead when he answered a call to the home.

Her face was blue and there were marks around her neck. It looked as if she had been strangled."

Gazo has been found fit to stand trial, said Crown attorney T. F. Foresell.

William McMaster

NORWOOD (ENS)—The funeral of William Henry McMaster was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the McConnell-Warner funeral home, Norwood, with the Rev. H. K. Wright officiating. Burial was in Norwood cemetery with graveside service under auspices of the Canadian Legion, Norwood, with Gerald Martin leading.

Mr. McMaster died suddenly on Monday. He was born 67 years ago in Dummer township, the son of the late John McMaster and Maria Hill. He has lived all his life, outside of the time spent in World War I overseas, in Norwod and district. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Thomas McMaster (Emma) of Norwood and Mrs. Orn Varty (Mabel) of Peterborough. Pallbearers were all veterans: Jack Parker, William Thompson, William Garden Sr., David Starke, Henry Pearce, Fred Kempt.

Australian O.C. Paying Visit

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj. R. N. L. Hopkins, 55, commandant of the Royal Military College at Duntroom Australia, will arrive in Canada Sunday for a week-long visit to Eastern Canada.

While here he will discuss with Canadian officials this country's methods of obtaining and training junior officers for the Canadian active and reserve armies.

He will be met here by Brig. J. M. Rockingham, director-general of military training, and Maj. A. C. Brett, of the training directorate, who will accompany him on his tour.

After discussions with the chief of the general staff, Defence Minister Claxton, and others, he will spend the rest of the week visiting Camp Borden, Ont., the Royal Military College at Kingston, and the French-language Royal Military college at St. Johns, Que.

He will leave Ottawa Monday on his way back to Australia.

Horticulture Society Holds Corn Roast

OMEMEE (ENS)—The annual corn roast, the last summer event of the Omemee and District Horticultural Society, was held Wednesday evening at the home of the president, Wesley Wilson.

Around the open fire, about 60 people sat, singing old time songs under the light of a beautiful full moon, while a great pot of corn bubbled to perfection. Coffee, sandwiches and cake were served later by a group of the members.

Regular meetings will now be held in the Omemee council chamber, the first being slated for September 25 at 8 p.m. E. A. Corneil will be in charge and there will be slides on lily culture.

Registration 4,000

KINGSTON (CP) — Registration at Queen's University here this fall is expected to approximate 4,000, about the same as last year. Registrar Jean Boyce said Friday a problem facing both students and many staff members is the lack of housing facilities.

Report Of Canadian Aid To Britain Branded Rumor

OTTAWA (CP)—A periodical commentary issued by the United Kingdom information office in Ottawa—"Economic Record" — links with "the silly season of Loch Ness monsters and flying saucers" a recent report of Canadian financial aid to the United Kingdom and defence purchasing in that country.

The publication refers to reports of Canadian financial dealings with the United Kingdom in the current fiscal year covering a $150,000,000 "free gift" under allocations through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; defence purchases of $100,000,000 and capital assistance to U. K. firms operating in Canada of $70,000,000.

These figures were contained in a recent summary of such dealings given The Canadian Press by Defence Production Minister Howe in an interview Aug. 14.

NO "FREE GIFT"

The "Economic Record" says there was no "free gift" but that Canada's contribution to the U.K. through N.A.T.O. "may reach the figure of $150,000,000."

Of the $120,000,000 arms order, the publication says total commitments may reach that sum but probably all would not be spent in one year and in any event "their primary purpose is to help Canada."

Of the $70,000,000 capital assistance the information office bulletin says: "There is no question of aid to the United Kingdom in this. The firms are doing jobs for the Canadian defence needs."

GETS SOME BENEFITS

It adds: "No doubt some intangible benefits do accrue to the United Kingdom."

Mr. Howe was not available for comment but a high official of his department said the amounts of Canadian spending and contributions to the United Kingdom mentioned might prove higher than at first reported.

James Thomson, deputy High Commissioner for the United Kingdom, said Canadian purchases in the United Kingdom and the capital assistance to British industries operating in Canada, as well as the aid through N.A.T.O., were highly appreciated.

He said the information office bulletin was designed to show in detail how these negotiations operated and to indicate that the expenditures might be spread over more than one year.

Car Crashes Bridge Two People Injured

ARNPRIOR (CP)—Two Sudbury persons were injured and two escaped serious injury Friday when a car driven by Andre Drouin, 22, of Creighton Mines, crashed into a bridge six miles east of here.

In hospital here are Felix Langevin, 21, of Sudbury, suffering a possible fractured left leg and facial lacerations, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Claire Langevin, 19, also of Sudbury, with a possible fractured left ankle and leg lacerations.

The driver was allowed to leave hospital after being treated for cuts while Mrs. Langevin's two-months-old baby, Rachel, escaped injury.

Early-morning fog is believed to have obscured a sharp turn at the approach.

Doesn't Believe Russia Wants War—Liddell Hart

OTTAWA (CP) — Capt. B. H. Liddell Hart, British military authority, said Friday he believes Russia does not want war, otherwise she would have attacked before the western buildup of defensive military strength.

However, he said at a press conference that if the Russians are led to believe that the west regards war as inevitable, the Soviets may attempt military conquest.

For that reason he believed any growth of an offensive rather than a defensive attitude on the part of the west was "an obvious danger." For that reason also, he said, he was "not very happy" about a speech by Gen. Eisenhower, U. S. Republican presidential nominee, that containment was not enough.

And if war did come, Capt. Hart saw Iran as a danger point along with Europe because the Middle East was one of Russia's most vital soft spots. He did not believe the Russians would launch anything more than nuisance attacks on North America across the pole until after they attempted the conquest of Europe.

Capt. Hart, author of some 30 books on military topics, and regarded as an authority on military tactics, is in Canada at the invitation of Defence Minister Claxton. He leaves here Sunday for visits to Toronto, Kingston and Hamilton on a series of off-the-record lectures.

While in Canada he will sum up this country's preparedness and military consciousness.

Boyd, 3 of Gang Escape Saw Way Out of Prison

Ontario Police Ordered Shoot To Kill As Search Spreads Rapidly, Guard Also Being Sought—Officials

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd and three desperate members of his bank robbery gang sawed their way out of the death row at Don Jail and made a clean getaway early today. Police through Ontario were thrown into the hunt with orders to shoot to kill. T. M. Gourlay, chief inspector of reform institutions, said a Don jail guard also is being sought. With Boyd in his second break in less than a year were Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson, awaiting trial for murder in the shooting last March of Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong, and William R. Jackson, facing trial for bank robbery. One jail guard is serving a penitentiary term for taking a bribe to facilitate and earlier escape attempt by some of the missing men. That break-out plan was discovered in time. Jail Governor T. W. Brand and senior city police officials were agreed the escape was an inside job.

MAKES GETAWAY—Edwin Alonzo Boyd, alleged mastermind of a bank robbery gang, was one of four who escaped from Don Jail early today. He was accompanied by Steve Suchan, Leonard Jackson and William Jackson.

Four Keys Found After Jail Break

Four keys for the death cell block were found after the break. Jail records show only two such keys should be in existence. The two Jacksons, unrelated, escaped with Boyd from the jail last November.

Investigators think Boyd, son of a former Toronto policeman, engineered the escape and may even have masterminded last Friday's $25,000 bank robbery in the west end. Police say the system of disguise used by the two bandits Friday—their features were twisted out of shape by transparent adhesive tape—showed the hand of Boyd.

The CBC's television station, CBLT, to be officially opened tonight, arranged to televise pictures of the wanted men at intervals throughout the day. Television officials said radio announcements would advise TV viewers to tune their sets to channel 9.

Escape Reported at 7 a.m. By New Guard

The break was reported at 7 a.m. when a guard arriving for work found six one-inch bars on the death cell block neatly cut away. The cell block is at the rear of the jail.

Four of the nine cells in the block were open. One officer said it was apparent keys had been used, as there was not a scratch on the bars of the cells. A screen was removed from a barred window at the end of the cell block and the window was smashed.

From the window there is a 12-foot drop to the roof of the laundry and another 18 feet to the ground. Police found no ropes.

CBC-TV officials who arranged for the televising of the pictures said the wanted men's faces will appear on CBLT every half-hour starting at 2:30.

Desperadoes Thought On Roof At First

At first it was thought the desperadoes were on the jail roof. The jail was ringed with guards and reinforcements. Fire department aerial ladders enabled officers with drawn pistols to scale the roof and superstructures while a heavy cordon of armed guards and police officers circled the entire jail. But this manoeuvre served only to establish that the four had made good their escape.

A general search of the jail was conducted by rifle-carrying police, to no avail. Nearby Riverdale ravine and surrounding streets were combed. Provincial Police cruisers stepped up patrols on suburban highways. The provincial radio system flashed an escape bulletin to police cars throughout the province.

Police said pieces of wool from the prisoners' clothing were found caught in the sawed edges of the bars. Three of the bars were on the inside of the cell block and three on the outside.

425 Rescued As Flagship Goes Down

Vessel Off Course Grounds On Reef On Way To Skagway

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A southeastern Alaska "ships' graveyard" claimed another Canadian Pacific Lines vessel yesterday — its flagship, the Princess Kathleen—but not one of 425 persons aboard was lost.

A mile and a half off course, the 5,908-ton Kathleen crunched aground with her bow almost underneath a cliff at 3:15 a.m. P.S.T.

Earthquake-conscious Californians aboard said the blow felt like such a shock.

Within four hours, with Coast Guard-aided rescue efforts, the 307 passengers aboard were taken ashore, many of the younger ones climbing down ladders to the beach.

Near mid-day, when the rising tide began to fill the hull, Capt. Graham O. Hughes ordered "abandon ship" and the 118 officers and crew were also put ashore.

SINKS IN 90 FEET

The ship slipped from its rocky berth and sank, with its bow going high into the air, in 90 feet of water at 1:40 p. m. PST. The spot was 18 miles north of here. The Kathleen had sailed from Juneau for Skagway.

First Officer Charles W. Savage was on the bridge when the ship hit, Capt. Hughes reported. The lookout sighted the reef and cliff looming up in the darkness and light rain but there was no time to change course.

The first officer was unable to explain the ship's position, Hughes said. He was near collapse after the ship was abandoned.

The ship's plight was not believed serious at first and the passengers were served coffee. Winds kicked up six-foot waves and a drenching rain fell.

SOS UNHEARD

Through a mix-up, Ensign Richard Lacey commander of the Coast Guard 83-footer which reached the scene, reported later, an S O S was sent on the wrong frequency. It was not until two hours later that the Kathleen made contact with an Alaska Communications System station on ship-shore telephone to find out why the distress message had not been answered.

On arrival of the cutter, lifeboats took passengers ashore, fires were built on the beach and a path was cut through brush and rocks half a mile to a road.

About 160 of the younger passengers, many of them on a tour sponsored by the Roman Catholic Young men's Institute of San Francisco, went down ladders to the shore and hiked to the road.

The Coast Guard boat took 110 of the older passengers to the harbor and returned and took between 30 and 40 to Auke Bay, both points with easy access to the road to Juneau. One of the survivors suffered a heart attack in the lobby of the Baranof Hotel, presumably from over-exertion.

Oppose Using Chiang Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States diplomatic officials said today they will continue to oppose use of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea. They expressed surprise at reports from Taipeh, Formosa, that U.S. military authorities there have been urging Washington to free two Nationalist divisions for action in Korea. If there is any such proposal or even suggestion the State Department has not heard of it, they said. In the view of these diplomats, who would not be quoted by name, the use of any of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces would provide the United Nations with more headaches than military advantages.

They said top defence Department officials agree with this view so far as the State Department knows.

DESCRIBE ATTITUDE

The attitude of policy-makers here was described as follows:

Rather than use Nationalist forces, it is better to arm South Koreans. The army now is directing a big program of this sort behind the Korean battle-front and has plenty of South Korean manpower available.

Above all purely military considerations, is the attitude of the United Nations countries with forces in Korea. It seems highly unlikely, these officials said, that other U. N. countries would approve the use of Nationalist troops for fear of extending the Korean conflict.

Heavy Artillery Barrage Drives South Koreans Back

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korean and Red Chinese infantry surged up and down Capital Hill today in a swirling battle in which the Koreans were knocked off the crest by a 12,000-round artillery barrage.

The U.S. Eighth Army's night communique said the central front battle — now in its third day — was continuing for Capital Hill and another nearby outpost.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots knocked five Migs out of the air today and damaged five others in battles near the Manchurian border.

The air victories raised the September bag of Russian-built Migs to 22 destroyed, one probably destroyed and 15 damaged. This pace is well ahead of the record 44 Migs destroyed in April.

Canada Given Vote On Policy

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is getting a chance to express her opinion on foreign affairs in an important new forum and she welcomes the opportunity.

External Affairs Department officials Saturday confirmed Paris reports that the three allied occupying powers in West Germany—the United States, United Kingdom and France—asked the other 11 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for opinions in framing a reply to Russian proposals on Germany.

A Paris dispatch said this is regarded as an important first step toward creation of a single foreign policy on issues affecting all 14 members of N.A.T.O.

Officials here said it is an important step but not the first time the Big Three have asked their Allies to express opinions on matters not immediately connected with N.A.T.O.'s primary purpose, the building of a joint defensive strength in Europe.

The forum used for these exchanges is the permanent council of N.A.T.O. which sits in Paris under the chairmanship of Lord Ismay, former British cabinet minister. Canada's representative is Arnold D. P. Heeney, former under-secretary of external affairs.

Launch Rescues Pair On Island

ORILLIA — Missing on Lake Couchiching from early morning, Horace Rickard, 32, and William E. Rickard, 25, of Toronto, were found just before dark Saturday night on Big Chief Island, where they had been marooned all day by strong winds and heavy seas.

The two men had gone fishing Saturday morning in an outboard motor powered canoe. After they caught one fish, the wind began to rise and they attempted to return to their cottage at Minoke Beach, north of Orillia, but were unable to make any headway and eventually ran before the wind and landed on the island.

They were not missed until late in the afternoon, and then a search was organized under Ontario Provincial Police direction. Boats manned by Reg. Gaudaur, Atherley boatman, and Gordon Smith, took part in the hunt.

The men were found by Gaudaur's launch, in which O.P.P. Constables Fred Macdonald and Clarence Steele rode with the boat's owner.

Maine Election Will Be Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maine's state election today provides the year's first test of Republican versus Democratic strength.

The outcome will be watched for a clue as to how Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower will fare against Democratic Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois in the November presidential election.

No Democrat has been elected to a major state office in Maine in the last 18 years. Republican victories are expected again today in the races for governor, U. S. senator and three seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Stevenson continued his campaign in the Pacific northwest, telling a group of Oregon newspaper editors, publishers and radio men in Portland they should "contemplate the very real dangers of the one-party system in the press."

Asserting the "overwhelming majority of the press" is opposing the Democratic party, Stevenson said he is concerned by the "extent to which we are developing a one-party press in a two-party country." However, Stevenson said most newspapers have accorded him fair treatment in the campaign.

World Series Oct. 1

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1952 World Series will open Wednesday, Oct. 1, in the home park of the National League champion, unless a playoff is needed to decide the National League pennant. In the event of such a playoff, the opening will be delayed until Thursday, Oct. 2.

If the American League pennant race ends in a tie, requiring a play-off, the opening date will remain unchanged.

American League rules provide for a one-game playoff while the National League decides pennant ties in a two-of-three series.

Beliveau Signs Contract

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces announced today Jean Beliveau has signed a contract for the 1952-53 hockey season with the Quebec Senior Hockey League team.

The high-scoring centre who was 21 Aug. 31, will report to the Aces training camp Sept. 21.

Two More Survivors Picked Up By Navy

NORFOLK, VA. (AP) — Two more survivors of the hurricane-smashed tanker Foundation Star were picked up today by a navy transport, the U. S. S. Hollis.

Nineteen other survivors were en route to New York as search continued for eight shipmates still missing in the rough Atlantic waters off Charleston, S. C.

The U. S. S. Hollis radioed the Coast Guard in Norfolk it rescued two of the Foundation Star's men 40 miles south of Cape Hatteras. There was no indication in the brief message as to whether the survivors were found in a lifeboat or were clinging to the smashed tanker's wreckage.

The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee early today reached the side of the Norwegian vessel Emu, which rescued the 19 men after the Foundation Star broke in two Saturday.

Whole Town Celebrates

Boy With Laughing Face Has Delayed Christmas Tree

VERNON, Tex. (AP)—It was Christmas yesterday for Tommie Yates, the boy with the laughing face and the paralyzed right side.

As every boy has a right to expect, a Christmas tree appeared before his wondering eyes.

The people of Vernon planned it that way. Five-year-old Tommie missed Christmas last year because his mother beat him unconscious with a heavy long-handled fork when he tried to crawl on to the bed on Christmas Eve. The beating paralyzed his right side and robbed him of speech.

Tommie's mother, Mrs. Robert Dale Simpson, was convicted of assault with intent to murder and sent to prison for 10 years. His stepfather was charged with the same offence but wasn't indicted. He has left Vernon.

Tommie was sent to Baylor hospital in Dallas, where he had spent his time recovering until Saturday.

Then he came home. His right leg was still in a brace; he could speak only a few words, but he was smiling. Vernon was ready for a party.

The tree on the courthouse lawn last night was nine feet tall. Presents from merchants and other citizens were heaped under it. While they gathered around, Santa Claus helped Tommie open his gifts.

Tommie will live at a home until one of the many offers to adopt him is accepted.

Naguib Ousts Egyptian Gov't. Over Weekend

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's new premier, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib, called the first meeting of his cabinet today to speed the reforms he has vowed will follow his weekend sweep to power.

The 51-year-old army strong man, who ousted former King Farouk six weeks ago, moved swiftly and without bloodshed yesterday to consolidate the army's grip on the country.

As he brushed aside former Premier Aly Maher, took over the premiership and swore in a new cabinet, the army rounded up 47 leading politicians, princes and friends of the royal family.

Among those arrested were former premiers Ahmed Hilaly and Abrahim Abdel Hadi and former interior minister Fuad Serag Eddin Eddin is boss of Egypt's dominant political party—the nationalistic Wafdists.

Boy Lies In Tunnel Trains Inches Away

DOVER, England (Reuters) — An eight-year-old boy last night lived a real-life nightmare, lying injured in a railroad tunnel while trains roared through the darkness inches away.

George Prentice apparently fell through a window while passing through the two-mile Abbots cliff tunnel. Suffering from shock and leg injuries, the little boy shivered for 12 hours in the terror-filled blackness.

His mother reported him missing from their compartment. This morning a special engine, sent to look for him along the tracks, found him covered with soot and grease.

He was taken to hospital, shaken and frightened but apparently all right.

Iranians Hint Court Decision

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh last night rejected the British-American offer to solve the Anglo-Iranian oil squabble, but hinted Iran might agree to a court settlement of the muddled issue.

Blasting the recent Truman-Churchill proposal as the worst yet made in the dragged-out negotiations, Mossadegh told newspaper men "the solution proposed in this message is not only altogether inequitable, but more severe and impracticable than earlier proposals."

After the press conference, George Middleton, British charge d'affaires, conferred for more than an hour with Mossadegh. He refused to divulge the nature of the discussion.

Mossadegh has called a special parliamentary session Wednesday to frame a formal reply to Britain and the United States.

Some quarters pinned hope negotiations might continue on Mossadegh's reference last night to a court settlement. The Premier said it was possible Iran and the Anglo-Iranian company could agree to submit the compensation issue to a mutually-agreed-upon court.

German Cabinet Approves Payment

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's cabinet approved today an agreement on German payment to world Jewry of reparations for the sufferings inflicted on the Jews by the Nazi regime.

The agreement calls for payment of $715,000,000 worth of goods to Israel by Germany within 14 years. In addition, the west German republic will pay the equivalent of $107,000,000 as token compensation for Jewish assets seized by the Nazis and now unclaimed by Jewish heirs. This sum will be administered by Jewish world organizations for relief and rehabilitation of Jews.

Tries To Avoid Crash U.S. Tourist Killed

ST. LUKE, Que. (CP)—A United States tourist was killed and three companions were injured yesterday when their car overturned after swerving to avoid another car on the highway near this town about 35 miles south of Montreal.

Killed was John Francis Hickey, 34, of Calais, Me., a passenger in the back seat of the convertible.

Light Frost Hits Toronto Farm Area

TORONTO (CP) — A light frost hit farming districts in this area last night. Temperatures at Caledon, 25 miles northwest, dipped to 30 degrees, two degrees below freezing.

Lettuce, tomatoes and potatoes were touched. However, experts say that all the produce will be saleable if thawed before picking.

Most of the cucumber crop and cut flowers, which would have suffered most from the frost, have been harvested.

Charges Scott Forced To Quit Office

NORTH BAY (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters yesterday protested a proposed change in provincial fishery regulations that would increase the export limit of fish allowed tourists.

Vice-president S. H. Osborne of Sudbury charged that Ontario sportsmen were being "sold down the river" in favor of American tourists.

The federation represents 30,000 members.

The executive offered a counter-proposal that would allow tourists to export only one trophy fish of each game species.

FORCED OUT?

Mr. Osborne charged that Hon. Harold Scott, former Minister of Lands and Forest and now minister without portfolio, was forced out of office for "stepping on the toes of the vested interests" in protecting Ontario resources.

The executive studied a government-proposed revision in fish catch limits that would decrease the catch limits as much as 40 per cent for sporting fish. Possession limits would remain at two days' legal catch.

However, tourists, under the proposed revision, would be allowed to export two days' legal catch instead of the present one-day limit.

HAVE SERIOUS EFFECT

Jack Girling of Hamilton said that with 400,000 non-resident hunting licences issued annually the increased export quota would have a serious effect on Ontario game fish population.

W. Austin Peters, Kingston tourist resort operator and a past president of the federation, claimed the tourists themselves did not want the export limit increased.

Mr. Osborne blamed the tourist operators for agitating for the increased limit. At the annual meeting of the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters the two-day limit export allowance was sought he said.

Victoria Man Has Wild Ride

KELSO, Wash. (AP)—Don Hall of Victoria, B.C., completed a wild train ride successfully Saturday, coming in with two hands and a prayer.

Hall dashed for a Union streamliner at Vancouver, Wash. He was late and grabbed the handrails of a car as the northbound train pulled away from the station.

Not until the streamliner pulled into Ridgefield, 14 miles away, did brakeman B. R. Penney see Hall clinging outside.

The train had reached a speed of more than 70 miles an hour and Hall held on for at least 14 minutes, trainmen said.

"I wasn't worried about falling off," Hall said. "I had to make the train and get home to Victoria."

Believe Russia Builds Bases Across Arctic

LONDON (AP)—Western authorities said Saturday they believe Russia is building a chain of bases on the roof of the world along the Arctic shores linking Soviet Europe and Soviet Asia.

Development of a northern sea passage between the Barents Sea and Bering Strait has absorbed the Soviets actively since 1933.

The undertaking was a tremendous one, costly in money and lives.

The route at its eastern end runs close to Alaska. Its western terminal—Murmansk—is near the top of the Scandinavian peninsula.

The route is icebound except between July and October.

DEVELOPING PORTS

Western officials, nonetheless, think the Russians are developing ports along the route in case other vital parts of the Soviet land mass are blockaded in any future war. Certain northern-route ports are linked with the Siberian interior by three great Siberian Rivers—the Ob, the Lena and the Yenisei.

With ice-breakers in action where need be, regular shipping services are believed operating between Murmansk and other ports as far east as Vladivostok.

The officials said they are pretty sure, too, that land and air bases and rocket-launching sites are being built up in the region, especially as new centres of industry have arisen in Siberia.

Jet Crashes, Kills 27 At Air Show

May Not Disclose Cause of Accident To British Public

FARNBOROUGH, England (CP)—Aviation experts sifted through bits of wreckage today to try to learn why a De Havilland 110, Britain's newest jet fighter, blew up 500 feet above a crowd of 130,000 at an air show Saturday and killed 27 persons.

But the cause may not be disclosed to the public—if it is learned—because many facts about the heavy, twin-jet craft with sharply swept-back wings still are secret.

While the Air Ministry and other government agencies planned investigations, an inquest was scheduled during day into the deaths of John Derry, the test pilot and the first Briton to fly faster than sound; his observer Tony Richards, and 14 identified persons among the 25 spectators who were killed by a cascade of flying wreckage.

The plane disintegrated directly over the crowd as the 30-year-old Derry pulled out of an eight-mile dive at a speed of more than 700 miles an hour. One of the engines, weighing more than a ton, hurtled down into a thick mass of spectators on a hillside and crushed many of them together in one violent split second. The engine dug a crater four feet deep.

Eleven persons remained unidentified at a temporary mortuary set up in a wartime air raid shelter. Anxious thousands flocked all day to an emergency information bureau set up in Farnborough's town hall to help searchers trace relatives and friends.

The disaster failed to deter yesterday's windup of Britain's spectacular show of high speed aircraft and a crowd of 150,000 turned out in the rain.

QUEEN SHOCKED

While long queues of relatives of missing persons tried to identify the mangled bodies, jet planes whistled overhead. At least one plane exceeded the speed of sound in an eight-mile dive.

The Queen expressed sympathy today to relatives of the victims.

The Queen said she and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, were "shocked to hear of the accident."

Emergency Session Held Over Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—The Kenya colonial government prepared today to summon the Legislative Council into emergency session to deal with the terrorist campaign of the secret Mau Mau—a murderous native organization sworn to liquidate Kenya's British rulers.

During the last three months there has been an alarming increase in crimes and violence. Authorities say they believe many natives have been murdered for not going along with the fanatic Mau Mau. Curfew clamps down 100,000 Africans nightly in three scattered reserves but the unrest continues and spreads.

The Mau Mau association is composed almost entirely of Kikuyu natives—the biggest and most politically conscious of the Kenyan tribes. Its first objective is to eject the 3,000 whites who monopolize almost all the fertile land in the cool "white highlands." Then its leaders insist, all whites must be thrown out of Kenya.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States dollar was at a discount of four per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EDT, down 1-32 from Friday noon.

The pound sterling was $2.67 1-16 unchanged from Friday.

"... I shall not want"

Today through the light shed upon the twenty-third Psalm by the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, its promise brightens into practical fulfillment.

Supply, health — whatever is legitimately needful—is available to man without fail, and comes through the spiritual understanding of God, divine Love, which Christian Science brings.

Anyone who thoughtfully studies Science and Health and puts its teachings to the test in his daily life will find the "still waters" of the Bible promise.

Science and Health may be bought, borrowed or read at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Scottish Visitor Hurt In Crash

A Scottish visitor to Canada was hospitalized Sunday morning when the car her sister was driving collided with another car at George and Sherbrooke Sts.

Mrs. Mairi McIntosh, 50, who had just arrived from Scotland was the injured woman. She received a fractured right wrist, cuts on her right temple and right knee. Her condition today in Civic Hospital is satisfactory.

Her sister, Mrs. Isabel Baxter of R.R. 2 Ingersoll, driver of the car, was shaken up and bruised. And Harold DeLong of 748 Dufferin St., driver of the other car, had his right leg and hip badly bruised. However neither Mrs. Baxter nor Mr. DeLong was hospitalized.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Confusion over traffic lights was the cause of the accident. Both drivers told Constable Robert Menzies, who investigated, that the green light was with them, though they approached the intersection at right angles.

Mrs. Baxter was driving north on George St. and Mr. DeLong was driving east on Sherbrooke St. when they came into broadside collision.

The Baxter car received about $500 damage to the front end which was smashed in, and the whole right side of the DeLong car was pushed in.

Prices Dip Moderately

TORONTO (CP) — Prices continued to dip in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,594,000 shares as trading grew brisker in a few lower-priced mining stocks.

Chimo, a gold prospect, was outstanding, trading more than 155,000 shares in the first three hours for a gain of 13 cents.

Foods, banks and textiles resisted the industrial decline and steels also held firm. Other issues showed weaker. Burns A, a food issue, gained about $1.

A number of lower-priced base metal issues traded actively for small gains as most leading issues slipped. Bellekeno gained pennies on a turnover of 118,000 shares and American Yellowknife moved 116,000 shares for a small gain. Others active and stronger were Silver Miller, McDonald, MacKeno and Ankeno.

Western oils followed a similar pattern, recording a few gains in active stocks but a majority of losses in the section.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down .37 at 329.14, golds down .42 at 91.55, base metals down .27 at 196.99 and western oils down .07 at 137.56.

Mrs. Ernest Young

Funeral services for Mrs. Ernest Young, the former Gladys Maud Jones, 710 George St., who died Thursday were held Saturday from the Kaye funeral home to St. John's Anglican Church.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson conducted the service at 3 p.m. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were C. Dunn, J. McKinley, B. Ottewell, H. Reid, J. Adamson and J. Campbell.

Smith Council Still Supports Annexation

Today all parties to the annexation of more than 1,000 acres of Smith township will present their cases to the Ontario Municipal Board that is sitting here at 3 p.m.

Saturday night a group of protesting Smith ratepayers made a strong bid to have the council reverse itself and oppose the annexation. Led by Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald and Deputy Reeve Robert McAdam the council had a brief session in private but they decided to continue to support annexation.

A minor flareup occurred when Councillor Allan B. Mann took exception to a statement made earlier in the evening by Ralph Standish, counsel for the ratepayers who are against annexation. Mr. Standish had urged the council to say they were against annexation when they appeared at Municipal Board hearing.

"Act like men not mice," he urged.

It was this remark that rankled Mr. Mann. He and Mr. Standish had a brief exchange of angry words before the meeting returned to its previous orderliness.

COUNCIL SURPRISED

Alex Edmison, clerk of Smith, repeated the argument of the council. He said that council were as surprised as anybody when the Land Assembly organization bought the 550 acres of Smith farmland.

The rest of the area cannot be properly looked after by the municipality, he said, and it should be taken in by the city as well.

"Council had no thought of doing anything you didn't know about or putting anything over on you. Federal and provincial experts helped the city in a survey of its housing needs and they bought the 550 acres for $250,000 . . . There was nothing we could do about it."

To give the annexed ratepayers as much tax protection as possible the council has asked the city to continue to assess garden lands and farm lands, as such, for a period of years.

As an indication of his opinion that the annexation was not thought out properly, Mr. Standish said: "Nobody at the city hall knew how much they were annexing, if you can imagine that. And unless they read it in the press they won't know until Monday afternoon. Mr. Pierce, the surveyor, said that it was 1,256 acres, not 'about a thousand'."

He insisted that there was still plenty of undeveloped land in the city and there was no present need for annexing the Smith farmland.

ARREST FAROUK'S KIN

Also taken in the army dragnet were Prince Abbas Halim and Prince Said Halim, both third cousins of Farouk, and Abdullah Sadek and Mostafa Sadek, uncles of former Queen Narriman.

The new premier—the seventh since January—swore he would tackle three main jobs—"A purge of the political setup, enforcement of a limitation on land ownership and a curbing of the skyrocketing cost of living."

An army spokesman said Naguib would resign as soon as normal parliamentary rule is restored after forthcoming elections are held, not later than February.

Naguib kept his post as commander in chief of Egypt's armed forces but picked a cabinet of civilians, indicating he probably will not depend entirely on soldiers' bayonets to push through his program.

CAUTIOUS POLICY

For several weeks it had been reported Naguib was dissatisfied with Maher's cautious policy toward the army's program of economic reforms and a political cleanup. Egyptian political parties, most of them under charges of widespread graft, repeatedly were warned by Naguib and Maher to purge themselves. But they showed little response.

At dawn yesterday the army moved quietly and efficiently in carrying out its mass arrests, and Cairo remained outwardly calm.

At noon Naguib went on the army controlled radio to explain that the army had been forced to act because its warnings against corruption had not been heeded.

Political informants today said one of the first actions of the new government will be to enact legislation limiting the ownership of agricultural land to 200 acres a person, a major change in Egypt's feudal economy.

BELIEVE JAIL BREAK LINKED WITH ROBBERY

Senior detectives said they believe the jailbreak was linked with Friday's $25,000 robbery of the Dominion Bank's west-end branch at Roncesvalles and Howard Park avenues. They think the loot was payoff money for the escape.

The day of the robbery there was speculation the holdup had been staged by two former members of the Boyd gang who had escaped apprehension.

There had been previous indications an escape attempt was in the making.

An X-ray machine being tested at the Don jail last March revealed Jackson had two hacksaw blades hidden in his artificial leg and foot when he was brought to the jail from a Montreal hospital. He lost the leg in a railway accident here after the war.

ONE GUARD ALREADY SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Last month jail guard James Morrison, 30, was sent to penitentiary for two years after he said in court he smuggled a screwdriver into the jail and had arranged to take guns in two days later.

Mayor Allan Lamport, who moved in with 60 police officers for the capture of Boyd in a predawn raid on a house here last spring, was vacationing at his Lake Simcoe cottage 50 miles away when news of the escape broke. A broadcast message asked anyone near the Mayor's cottage to "ask the mayor to telephone the chief of police in Toronto on an important matter."

Chief Constable John Chisholm is expected to fly back to Toronto this afternoon from Winnipeg, where he has been attending a police chiefs' convention.

Said acting Chief Moses Mulholland, when he heard the news: "After all our work, this has to happen!"

More than 2,000 police officers were thrown into the hunt.

EVEN CLERKS JOIN IN HUNT

Even clerks in the property office and the licence office at police headquarters picked up guns and joined in the search.

Police searched St. James cemetery in east-central Toronto shortly after 9 a.m. when a caretaker reported hearing men talking in "excited" voices around the tombstones. A detective said the fugitives might have used the cemetery to change from their prison denim, although no jail garb was found in the area.

As soon as the break became known, police checked at the homes of Boyd's relatives and other persons believed known to the gang. But all those persons still could be accounted for.

Investigators closely questioned the last jail guard to see the men inside. He said he checked their cells at 5:10 a.m. and found "everything okay." But when he came back at 6:55 a.m. the four cell doors were swinging open and the bars had been sawn.

Police believe it must have taken "hours" to saw the bars and think most of the sawing was done early in the night.

DEPUTY MINISTER BELIEVES INSIDE JOB

Col. Hedley Basher, deputy minister of reform institutions, told reporters the escape looked like "an inside job."

Col. Basher said the prisoners had probably obtained an impression of the key to the "security unit" and had a duplicate key smuggled in to them.

"That's probably how they managed to open the gate to their cell."

He suggested the men perhaps received aid from the underworld's escape machinery through the guard, Morrison, before Morrison was caught and convicted.

"The question is: What did Morrison give them before he was caught?"

Col. Basher said the men were not under a 24-hour guard. Only when a prisoner is convicted of murder does a guard remain in his cell constantly.

Boyd, Suchan and Leonard Jackson were scheduled to go to trial before a judge and jury soon, possibly next week.

DETECTIVE WITNESS TAKEN IN HIDING

Det.-Sgt. Roy Perry, recovered from a gunshot wound he suffered at the time Det.-Sgt. Tong was fatally shot, was whisked from his suburban Swansea home and taken into hiding under police guard. He is the chief witness against Suchan and Leonard Jackson on the Tong murder charge.

At the preliminary hearing, Sgt. Perry swore both men were shooting when Tong was slain.

Tong's widow told reporters:

"I don't know how long it will take the police to catch these criminals, but meanwhile other peoples' lives are in danger. Perhaps some other family will lose the head of its house.

"My husband had such good connections that he was able to ferret out the gangsters. I think it's going to be much harder this time."

The Ontario government and the City of Toronto each offered a $2,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of each of the four escapees. This put a combined price of $16,000 on the heads of the gang.

The Canadian Press learned the Canadian Bankers Association plans to announce later today a special reward for apprehension of the escaped men. It will be in addition to any rewards already outstanding in connection with them.

Every bank branch in the city was checked by police today to make sure the doors stayed locked until the official opening time of 10:10 a.m.

Robert J. Rome, for 25 years storekeeper of the isolation office near the jail, showed detectives at the escape scene a "burglar-proof jail bar" and said he had tried in vain to interest prison officials in it. Experienced officers termed it excellent and said it might have prevented the break.

The cast-iron bar has an electric wire running through it and a casing over the outside. Sawing through the bar would cause a bell to ring or a light to flash.

It was reported only a skeleton staff of guards was on duty Saturday night and Sunday.

Some police thought the work of sawing through the bars might have taken as long as days or even weeks and that, each time the guards approached, the saw marks were filled with a mixture of shoe blacking and soap.

Near an old trap-door leading to the jail roof, police found a note reading "I hope you make it, boys." Officers believe it was left as a ruse to lead police to believe the men had escaped by way of the roof.

Police said they received no warning from the jail's recently-installed alarm system. Among the doors and windows wired into the system is the solid door leading out of the corridor from the death cells.

Still in custody at the Don jail is Norman Boyd, brother of Edwin. Norman is awaiting high court trial on bank robbery charges.

Que. Questions Authority Of Commission

MONTREAL (CP) — Welfare Minister Sauve declared today Quebec Province questions the authority of the International Joint Commission to decide all aspects of power development under the St. Lawrence seaway plan.

Mr. Sauve appeared for the Quebec government at a meeting of the commission discussing hydro-electricity development in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence.

He told the commission Quebec desires to co-operate in a plan by which Ontario and New York State will jointly undertake power development on the St. Lawrence.

FIRMLY CONVINCED

But, he said, Quebec is "firmly convinced" the commission has not the "jurisdictional or court powers" to rule on some of the problems raised by Canadian and United States authorities.

The Quebec minister said that under the Canadian constitution hydro development falls within the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces.

Two of the Migs reported shot down today were credited to jet ace Maj. Frederick Blesse. This raised his score to seven planes downed and three damaged and made him second only to Maj. George Davis, listed as missing. Davis destroyed 14 Red planes.

CANADIANS SCORE

Two Canadians operating as exchange pilots with the United States air force, were credited with scoring against Red planes. Flt. Lt. Ernest Glover of Leaside, Ont., destroyed a Mig today by out-manoeuvring the Red pilot, forcing the enemy plane to crash. Sqdn. Ldr. James Lindsay of Arnprior, Ont., damaged one Mig Sunday.

The air force said fighter-bombers have been giving air support to the hard pressed Koreans in the Capital Hill sector.

Troops of the South Korean capital Division had knifed and slugged to the crest of Capitol Hill at 9:45 a.m.

The Chinese counter-attacked an hour later under a tremendous artillery and mortar barrage, and retook the heights.

The South Koreans fell back down the hill about 50 yards where they were battling the Chinese at close range at last reports.

CREW WEEPS

After the crew got ashore, they huddled near fires and as the Kathleen finally filled with water and took its last plunge, they bared their heads and wept.

Three other Canadian Pacific Lines ships have been lost in the immediate area and a fourth was salvaged. One of the North Pacific's worst marine disasters took the lives of 343 persons, every one aboard, when the Princess Sophia sank Oct. 18, 1918, only eight miles away.

Twenty-six were lost when the Islander hit a Douglas Island rock in the area in September, 1901. The Cutch sank in 1900 only five miles away, but with no loss of life and the Princess May, which went on the rocks in 1911, was salvaged later, also with no lives lost.

Kenner Fund Collects Enough For Painting

Lauched last May, the Kenner Memorial Fund has now enough money to commission the portrait, but not yet enough to soundly establish memorial scholarships at the new Kenner Collegiate. This was stated today by Arthur Pitchford, secretary to the fund, who said that donations from all parts of the country and abroad to date are nearing to total of $2,000.

"A grand response from several hundred people. Individually the donations have been large. But we are still hoping to hear from many more of the 5,000 ex-students of Dr. Kenner to whom we sent letters."

Chairman of the fund, Howard Macdonald, said following a committee meeting last week, that an artist will be commissioned shortly to paint the picture of the late principal of P.C.V.S., which will hang in the new collegiate named in his honor.

"We know that many subscribers to the fund and others who intend to contribute are most anxious that scholarships be established. We are keeping the fund open for another two months, to swell the scholarship part of the fund."

Mr. Macdonald echoed Mr. Pitchford's comment on the gratifying response from relatively few people. "We want now to remind others who may have postponed their donation, or forgotten; and we hope very much that the hundreds of other former pupils will send in a donation. We are particularly anxious, at this stage, that people who may not feel they can afford a large donation will take the opportunity to send in a dollar or two."

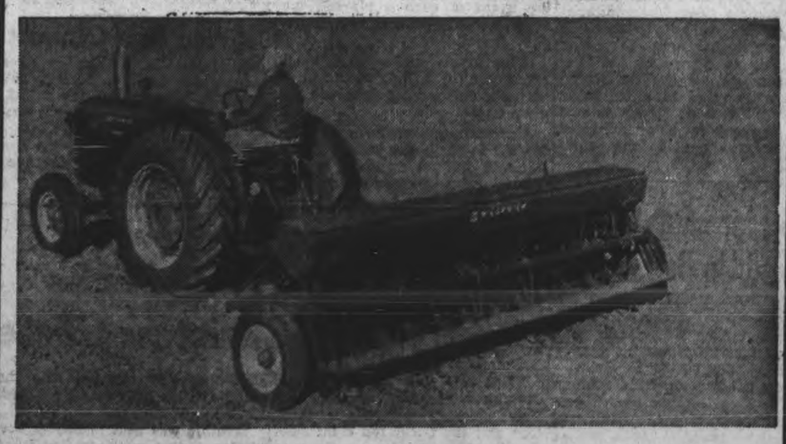
The committee feels, Mr. Macdonald said, that there are many hundreds of more recent P.C.V.S. graduates, who will want to have their names listed in the fund but cannot afford a large donation. He stressed the importance to the scholarship of many small donations, and urged former pupils able to afford a dollar or two dollars to make their contributions now.

Kenner Memorial Fund headquarters are at the Collegiate.

Family Court Judges Will Hold Conference

Magistrate W. R. Philp will attend a two-day conference of probation officers and family court judges in Toronto on Thursday and Friday.

The magistrate, who is family court judge in the city, said it is expected that a provincial organization of probation officers and family court judges will be established at the conference.



Main speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Sheldon Glueck of Harvard University, one of the outstanding authorities on probation work in the United States. The conference is being held under the auspices of the attorney-general's department.

TO OPEN EXHIBITION

Mr. E. F. Primeau of the federal Deparment of Agriculture will formally open Peterborough Exhibition Wednesday evening. This information was received by Senator Duffus late this afternoon. Mr. Primeau is head of the branch which represents the Dominion government in exhibitions and fairs. He was suggested by G. A. Gilespie, secretary-manager.

Matron 3 Years At Nicholls, Mrs. David Miller

LAKEFIELD (E.N.S.)—A nursing sister in the First World War and former matron of Nicholls Hospital, Mrs. David Miller, the former Sarah Margaret Coleman, passed away in Beaver Hall Convalescent Home, Campbellford, following an illness of eight years. Mrs. Miller was 84 years of age.

Born in Warkworth, she was a daughter of the late Vincent Coleman and Sarah Masson, and was one of a family of seven children. After her education at Port Hope and Ottawa Normal School she taught around Campbellford, Welcome and Gananoque for 13 years.

In 1896 she graduated from the New York Hospital and in 1903 came to Peterborough as matron of Nicholls Hospital, which position she held for three years. She married in 1906 and lived near Warsaw for 10 years.

In 1916 she enlisted as a nursing sister and after going overseas was put in charge of a Convalescent Hospital at War Bay, near Dover, later being transferred to take charge of a hospital at Walmer. After her discharge at the conclusion of the war, she returned to the farm where she lived until 1939, moving then to Warsaw for five years. For the past eight years she has lived in the village.

Mrs. Miller was a life member of the Warsaw Women's Institute and of the Women's Missionary Society. She was also a member of the Lakefield United Church and attended faithfully until illness prevented her.

For almost 25 years, from the time she was married until shortly before the Second World War, Mrs. Miller was correspondent for The Examiner in Warsaw.

She is survived by her husband, David Miller, two sisters, Mrs. William C. Lloyd of Windsor and Miss Isobel Coleman of Toronto and a niece, Miss Helen Lloyd of Toronto.

The funeral service was held Monday from Lakefield United Church with the Rev. W. H. Tonge officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough.

Pallbearers were William Fairbairn, Lakefield, Charles Lee and Elmer Milburn of R.R. 4, Peterborough, and Allan Edwards, Fred Crowe and Stewart Clysdale, all of Warsaw.

Anglican Synod Receiving Overall Mission Activities

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Missionary activities at home and abroad were scheduled for study today at the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada.

The church's Missionary Society, celebrating its 50th anniversary, will present a report covering work among the Indians and in the Arctic as well as in such places as China, Japan and India.

"The administration continues to experience dissatisfaction with certain actions of the Indian affairs Branch" of the federal government, the report says.

CLAIMS CATHOLICS FAVORED

"Investigation shows that in a number of cases decisions have been made plainly in favor of the Roman Catholic cause and to the disadvantage of Church of England schools and interests.

"In some quarters of the Dominion, residential schools have been built for the Roman church where its adherents are, or were, in the minority, while rebuilding of burnt-out Anglican schools has been neglected."

The report says the "every present worry and concern" is the proper staffing of Indian schools. Salary increases had made possible the hiring of general workers of suitable calibre.

Regarding finances, the "situation now is more favorable than it has been for the past decade Repeated appeals and deputations to the government have been responsible for increases in per capita grants. However, the church still continues to contribute. . .about $100,000 annually to the operation of Indian residential schools."

The women's auxiliary of the society reported there now are two branches in Newfoundland. Last year saw the largest number of candidates in training in this history of the auxiliary. At present there are 66 auxiliary missionaries—in Canada, India and Japan.

Missionary affairs came on the agenda of the general synod after many of the 300 delegates spoke throughout the host diocese of Huron at "Missionary Sunday" services yesterday.

Most Rev. H. E. Sexton, Metropolitan of British Columbia, said at a witness service here that reunion of Christendom — "Roman Catholic and Protestant" — is the ultimate aim of the Anglican church.

Before some 3,000 Anglicans, Archbishop Sexton said a "divided church cannot minister to a divided world and the influence of the Church of England. . .is fostering a growing desire all over the world for mutual understanding, closer unity and eventually for reunion."

At a week-end session earlier, the synod voted to wind up the Anglican Advance Appeal at the end of this year. Reports showed that in addition to its goal of increased church membership, the appeal came within five per cent reaching its financial objective of $4,300,000.

Big Air Show Set Sept. 20

Canada's second National Air Show will take place on Saturday, September 20th, at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Last year, the first National Air Show was held at Malton Airport, Toronto. The event, which attracted around 70,000 people. as a considerable success justifying the belief that a national showcase for aviation was most important to Canada due to the rapidly expanding industry in that field.

This year, the National Air Show will be staged over the waterfront in front of the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. Executives of the C.N.E. have estimated a crowd of 250,000 people. In the new location, a crowd of this size can be handled much easier. Street cars and busses can take people right into the grounds. Those using their own cars will find parking accommodation for 70,000 automobiles.

Grounds of the Exhibition will open at 9:30 a.m. on September 20. Static displays will open at 10.00 a.m. Tri-service displays will prove of great interest to all.

Aerial program for the National Air Show will open at 2:00 p.m. with the arrival of Mayor Allan Lamport by R.C.N. helicopter from the island airport. A wide variety of flying events are on the program involving almost all types of aircraft. Two highlights of the day will be a drop of 60 parachutists coming from Ottawa and an attack on the sonic barrier by a pilot of the R.C.A.F.

There will be a light aeroplane race—The National Air Derby—open to men and women in the amateur field of Aviation. Course of the race is Toronto-Kitchener-Brantford and return. Control points of the race will be linked together by a network of amateur radio stations which will identify each aircraft as it passes overhead and radio the control centre on the waterfront at the C.N.E. so the huge crowd will know the position of each contestant throughout the course of the derby.

The R.C.A.F. will give a thrilling demonstration of a J.A.T.O. assist take-off with a Canso flying boat. It is hoped that this event will take place inside the breakwater so that the huge crowd will have a close-up of the entire performance.

Truck Leaves Road Wheels Ripped Off

CAMPBELLFORD —(ENS)— Provincial Police had a quiet weekend in the Campbellford district as far as traffic accidents were concerned, with only one accident reported.

A half-ton truck driven by 24-year-old William Arnold Bannon of 115 Alice Street, Oshawa, left the road about a mile and a half north of the town on Sunday, causing about $400 damage.

Bannon was driving south on the River Road and failed to straighten out after rounding a curve. He told police a car travelling in the other direction forced him off the road and into the ditch. The truck went into the right-hand ditch and struck a small tree stump, tearing the front wheels completely off. Bannon was not injured.

Provincial Constable George Rose investigated.

20 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A truck swerved to avoid a frolicking pup on a rural Ontario road bringing death to five officer cadets. They were among the 20 who died violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

Sixteen died in traffic accidents, including two Galt residents involved in a three-car smash near Guelph. Two persons drowned and two died from other accidents, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

Ontario, where week-end traffic was heavy despite thinning crowds at summer resorts, recorded 11 deaths as a result of traffic accidents and one drowning. In Quebec three died in traffic accidents, one was electrocuted and one died as a result of a fall.

The Maritime provinces recorded six deaths—three traffic in Nova Scotia and two in New Brunswick. A fisherman drowned at St. John's, Nfld.

CADETS IDENTIFIED

Four of the officer cadets, in summer training at Camp Borden, have been identified. The name of the fifth, whose next-of-kin live outside Canada, has not been released.

Killed in the accident near Meaford: W.G.K. Malkin, Windsor; John E. MacDonald, 19, Tignish, P.E.I.; J.K. MacKinnon, 21, Barnston, Que.; James Welland Woodroffe, 20, of Halifax died as a result of injuries.

Muriel Quirk, 37, and Jack Foster, 37, both of Galt were killed when their car was involved in a three-car crash near Guelph.

Other traffic fatalities in Ontario were: Robert Harry Dickens, 18, of Port Nelson; George Austin, 45, of Pickering; Roy Smith, 23, of Green's Corners.

Mrs. John McRaw, 68, of Beaverton was found drowned in the Beaver River, about 50 miles northeast of Toronto.

QUEBEC FATALITIES

Louis Sweer, 36, of Montreal was fatally injured in Montreal when he was struck by a car while riding a bicycle. Celophas Boyer, 76, was killed when he fell down the stairs of his home at Laval West, near Montreal, and Donald Corcoran, 22, was electrocuted at St. Raymond while repairing a transformer at a paper company.

Charles Butler, 50, was killed by a car at Chester, NS., as he was walking along a road on the way home. Jimmy Nichols, 13, was hit by a truck and killed at Windsor and George Keddy, 23, of North Kingston, was fatally injured when the truck in which he was riding went off the road near Kentville.

In New Brunswick, Theodore D. Wright, 21, of Andover was killed in an overturned car. Marvin Kenneth MacKay, of Nashwaak Bridge, was killed, when his car left the road near Fredericton.

Fred Cox, 27, was drowned after falling from his fishing boat while crossing Saint John's harbor.

Decoration Day At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Decoration day services were observed by the Oddfellow and Rebekah Lodge Number 248 here on Sunday, when graves of deceased brothers were decorated during a brief service.

Brothers Thomas Craighead and Percy Sherwin took charge of the service and at the cemetery.

Names of deceased men were read by John McGregor and those of deceased ladies by Ella Abar. During the service, the Campbellford Citizens' Band played hymns.

The group formed up at the corner of Front and Bridge Sts. Led by the Citizens' Band, they marched to the cenotaph where a wreath in memory of those of the lodge who gave their lives in the service of the country was placed by Arthur Collette. From the cenotaph, the group travelled by bus to Mt. Pleasant cemetery for the decoration services.

Canoeists Attacked

TORONTO (CP)—Three youths in a canoe on the Humber River yesterday were attacked by three others, each in a canoe, who tried to capsize them. When David Varedi, 16, Albert Englehardt, 17, and his brother, Jack, 12, got their boat ashore, they were again attacked. Police and lifesavers arrived on the scene and the attackers fled.

Warsaw Women Plan Fall Sectional Rallies

WARSAW (ENS) — September meeting of the W.M.S. was held in the Sunday Schoolroom of Warsaw United Church Thursday afternoon, when Cottesloe W.M.S. joined with the Warsaw ladies. Mrs. G. Dyson, president, presided for the opening worship service. Scripture passages were read by Mrs. William Darling, Mrs. G. Taylor, Miss C. McCracken, and Mrs. A. Edwards.

Mrs. Fred Crowe was celebrating a birthday and was presented with a bouquet of sweet peas. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Ray and Miss Tedford, who celebrate birthdays in September.

Announcements were made for the sectional rallies to be held in Warsaw on October 9 at 1.30 p.m. and at Hastings on October 11 with morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. J. Gallagher took the chair for Cottesloe and after a few words of thanks called Mrs. J. Kidd to the front who presided for the program. Mrs. George Barr, secretary, read the scripture reading and Mrs. A. Tedford led in prayer. Mrs. F. Bolton gave a paper on Christian Citizenship. Mrs. Gallaher sang a solo with Mrs. C. Bolton at the piano.

Miss Helen Tedford took for her topic the Christian Life, quoting the poem The Gospel and leaving the challenge with all present "are we as Christians doing our share in bringing others to Jesus by the characters we are building day by day?" Mrs. Gallaher conducted a Bible quiz.

Dry Your Eyes, Ma

Some hard words are being said about Canada in Britain these days. Time magazine in its current issue quotes somebody identified only as a British official as saying that "Canada hasn't even the guts to demand conscription". The U.K. Information Office sneers at the idea that Canada has given any financial aid to Britain's recovery, pointing out that we get value for every dollar we send to Britain. Frankly, we find this exhilarating. When Canada is referred to by British speakers as "a full partner, standing shoulder to shoulder with us", or when statesmen whose ideas were formed in an earlier day speak of "cementing the bonds of Empire", we may be sure that Canada is acting, not for her own good, but for Britain's good. Britain's greatness was founded upon many noble qualities, not the least important of which was a strong sense of self-preservation, self-aggrandizement and frank self-interest; the spectacle of these qualities coming out in her daughter, Canada, is understandably not pleasant for the old lady.

* * *

Of course we are getting value for the money we spend in Britain. And when, may we ask, did Britain ever spend any money in Canada without expecting a very big return for it? A much larger return than Canada has ever realized from any money spent with the motherland? Canadians know their own history, and the people of Great Britain are very ignorant of it; we know that the history of this country was one of exploitation—first inefficiently and feebly by the French, and second efficiently though somewhat absent-mindedly by the British. If Britain thinks that Canada's assistance to her is not enough, and is dictated by self-interest, let Britain examine the aid given to Canada a century ago, and in all the long period when our need was desperate, and see how much altruism can be uncovered in all of it.

* * *

Our readers do not need to be told that admiration and affection for Britain are strong in this newspaper. But we hate to see Britain whining and snarling, and that is the distasteful spectacle we are offered at present. Dry your eyes, Ma, and blow your nose and stop that silly talk. You'll get plenty from us, but don't expect it with jam on; you were never free with the jam yourself, when you were giving and we were taking.

French Iron, German Coke

Britain forged ahead of other nations in the industrial revolution of the last two centuries primarily because she had both coal and iron, in nearby deposits; suitable coal was necessary to transform the iron into steel. On the continent, Germany had the coal, France the iron. A purpose in the wars between the two countries has been for one or other to get control of both the coal and the iron. French Lorraine has been dependent on German Ruhr coal. The Schuman plan of pooling northwestern Europe's coal and iron sets aside internecine rivalry between the two countries on this count; but scientific advancement seems already to have made that virtue of the Schuman Plan valueless. A marriage between French iron ore and German coke is no longer essential.

The Nue Zuercher Zeitung says that the dependence of the Lorraine iron industry on coke from the Ruhr is approaching its end:

"This is a development parallel to that in the German iron industry which, ever since the end of World War I, had made itself independent of the iron ore supplies from Lorraine. The widespread idea that the co-operation of the French and German iron industries could be based on the exchange of Ruhr coke for Lorraine ore has therefore long been unfounded. But what happened in the 1920's on the German side is now being imitated by the French by the application of new technical processes."

The paper then explains at length that in recent years the Lorraine iron industry has developed two methods of utilising, in the making of coke, the coal dug in Lorraine itself. This coal had hitherto been considered unsuitable for coking purposes. In this way the French will no longer have to rely on supplies from the Ruhr for their needs, and plans are already in hand to expand the Lorraine coal production from the 1951 figure of 11.5 million tons to eighteen millions.

This technological development, in Germany in the 1920's and in France since the war, may prove to be one of the more important European political developments of this century, removing as it does a main cause of conflict between France and Germany.

U.S. Editors And U.K. Bettors

If United States editors can be considered accurate in their predictions, General Eisenhower will be the next President of the United States. On the other hand, if bettors in the United Kingdom can be considered more authoritative prophets, Governor Stevenson will be the next President of the United States. The editors support the general by a ratio of about four to one, while the bettors have made the governor a two-to-one favourite, according to the reports of London bookmakers.

The weakness of these predictions is that those making them were so unanimously wrong in the 1948 Presidential election. In that year, an even higher percentage of United States editors—something like twenty to one—were certain that Governor Dewey of New York would defeat President Truman. The bettors also were quite sure that would be the result—so sure that they established the fantastic odds of ten to one on Mr. Dewey and eight to one against Mr. Truman. They were confounded, of course, by Mr. Truman's decisive victory.

On one point, however, both groups of prophets seem to agree, and on that point they may well be right—that the election will be close. Prior to the conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties, it appeared that General Eisenhower, if he won the Republican nomination, would have a decided edge over the Democratic candidate. The nomination of Governor Stevenson by the Democrats, however, and the subsequent course of the campaign, have altered the outlook to an extent which has encouraged a few American columnists to predict boldly that Governor Stevenson will win by a narrow margin.

To anyone following the campaign closely, it is quite clear that Governor Stevenson has gained strength during the past two weeks. Speeches addressed to the veteran vote, the labour vote, and the Negro vote were reported as most successful, and the last mentioned speech apparently has not alienated the entire South, although Texas politicians have rumbled threateningly. On the other hand, General Eisenhower's trip through the South may have gained some support, but his promise of support for Senator McCarthy—although he condemned the senator's vicious slanders—may have lost him supporters throughout the nation. The position of the two candidates at the moment indicates that the contest will be very close, in terms of the popular vote, but a narrow margin in that vote can be translated, under the United States system, into a decisive vote in the Electoral College.

The Terrors Of Video

The British have perfected a combination of television and telephone which is now on exhibition at the National Radio Show. The thought fills us with dismay. Not, we hasten to say at once, because we have any fear of the stale old joke that such a device will bring people straight from the bathtub to the telephone—that might provide a few hearty laughs—but because it will mean that another serious invasion of privacy will have been accomplished.

The telephone is a wonderful and useful instrument, and we would not wish to be without it. We have often wished, however, that people who use it would show greater consideration for privacy; they choose to enter into conversation at a variety of awkward and inconvenient times. How much greater a nuisance will the telephone be when we must not only hear, but also see, the person at the other end of the wire! The faces and physical contortions with which most people accompany telephone conversations will be inescapable unless we keep a handy cloth near the screen, to shroud it when the strain becomes too great.

Tele-video will put an end to one kind of nonsense, however. It will hamper the style of the telephone joker, who pretends to be somebody else. It will put out of business those coy souls who say "Bet you can't guess who this is!'" And it will tear the veil from the faces of those people—the special plague of newspapermen—who wish to make complaints without identifying themselves; now we hear them as through the telephone, darkly, but then, face to face. And the angry face of the householder in the tele-video screen should damp the ardour of the people who drag you from your chair to enquire: "What station is your radio tuned to?"

Tele-video has its terrors. But they are not all, thank Heaven, going one way.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A physician says that babies are insulted when adults make faces and talk nonsense to them. Frankly, we don't like it when babies look at us and cry.

When you think you know all the answers the truth probably is that you haven't understood any of the questions.

From Britain comes news of an "inflatable bra," which can be blown up to the desired size with a rubber tube. Practical jokers and moralists will both sharpen their hatpins in anticipation.

Commonwealth Development And The Dollar Gap

By SUSAN STRANGE
(from London)

FOR THE next two and a half months, top priority is being given in Whitehall to the business of making ready for the Commonwealth Economic Conference to be held here in November. British Treasury officials are already working under pressure to prepare the agenda and background working documents for the Conference. All the signs are that this will be the most carefully prepared Commonwealth meeting since the war. The reason for all this behind-the-scenes activity is that the meeting is regarded in London as the occasion for radical examination of the chronic weakness of the pound sterling and for radical decisions fashioning the future of the sterling area. Other Commonwealth meetings on economic affairs—those held here in the summer of 1949 and in January this year, for instance—were emergency calls to meet an urgent crisis. This is to be different.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ODD thing is that so far little or no hint has come from the British Government of the radical decisions it has in mind. Mr. R. A. Butler, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, has talked vaguely about the question of imperial preference (tariff system) and the possibilities of financial aid from international agencies. Mr. Winston Churchill, the Prime Minister, has spoken dramatically about "standing on a trap-door" and the need, so often reiterated, to rebuild the gold and dollar reserves of sterling countries to a secure level. If the British Government is hatching any more specific ideas, it is keeping deadly quiet about them. In this situation, it is paradoxical that a bulky American study of the sterling area, recently published by the United States Mutual Security Agency mission in London, has stimulated among economic observers here some pungent thinking about the problems of the Commonwealth.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SEPTEMBER issue of "The Banker" (an old-established economic monthly, widely read by government officials and in the City and closely associated with the weekly "Economist") is one interesting example. In an analysis of the trade figures compiled in the American study of the sterling area, the "Banker" comes to the grim conclusion that the Commonwealth can take only one economically feasible way out of its present troubles: a drastic reduction in industrial development plans in the Dominions and Empire; and a major switch in Britain from production of textiles and other consumer goods to production of machinery and capital equipment for export to non-sterling countries. "The post-war sterling area has been a system," the article says, "under which the Dominions have enjoyed a higher standard of living than they have been earning, in return for a comfortable degree of full employment for Lancashire and other centres of consumer goods trades in the United Kingdom. The cost of this peculiar arrangement has been a series of recurrent crises super-imposed upon an unsurprising state of chronic malaise." The argument culminating in this verdict is briefly as follows: If the position nowadays is compared with prewar, it is clear that one of the sterling area's greatest assets used to be the Rand gold mines (in South Africa). But, since the 'thirties, the price of gold has stayed more or less the same, while the price of everything else, including goods from the dollar area, has gone up. One solution, therefore, would be to increase the dollar price of gold.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOWEVER, Mr. John Snyder, the American Secretary of the Treasury, speaking in Mexico City only this week, has said firmly that the United States was opposed to any rise in the price of gold—presumably because it would immediately encourage an American inflation. That solution, then, is ruled out. The alternative is radically to reform the trade pattern of Britain and the Commonwealth. When this pattern is examined, it becomes plain that Britain's deficit, compared with pre-war, has arisen because of a big change in the terms of trade (i.e. in the relative value of British manufactured exports and of imported food and raw materials.) The deficits of the overseas sterling area, on the other hand, have arisen because its exports have increased (in terms of constant prices) by 53 per cent. on pre-war, while its imports have risen much more steeply by 83 per cent.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CHIEF factor here has been the overseas sterling area's heavily increased buying of machinery and capital goods from the United States and Britain. Figures are used to show that imports of American machinery (again in constant prices) in 1950 were more than double the pre-war figure, and of chemicals and steel products more than quadruple. If this had not happened, and if the overseas sterling area had kept its demand for dollar capital equipment down to pre-war levels, the central gold reserves would actually have risen in every post-war year except, perhaps, in 1951.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS Commonwealth demand for machinery has resulted, according to "The Banker", from "uneconomic schemes of industrialisation" which have been carried through at the expense of the Commonwealth output of food and raw materials for export. It has also had a bad effect on Britain's own dollar deficit. For it has drawn off exports of British machinery that would otherwise have been sold in Canada, Latin America and other non-sterling countries. It has, of course, been financed largely by the sterling balances accumulated during the war and by British capital. As a result, overseas sterling countries have since the war taken almost a billion dollars more out of the sterling area's gold and dollar reserves than they have put in. If they had had to pay for their imports, out of earnings, they would have (a) been less ambitious in developing home industry; and (b) cut down their inflated demands for British consumer goods.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS, IN EFFECT, the article concludes, is what must now be done, by a deliberate reversal of policies. Neither imperial preference, nor stricter import cuts, nor a dash of convertibility of sterling offer a practical alternative. "The sterling area system" it says, "must no longer be used to subsidise employment in the mills of Lancashire and the mushroom factories of Australia, while the world cries out for capital equipment, raw materials and food." If the Commonwealth conference were to accept this reasoning and its implications for fiscal and commercial policy, it would launch a major economic revolution, both in Britain and in the Dominions.

BLIMEY—THEY'VE DONE IT AGAIN

Image And Superscription

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

A NOTED British numismatist writing in the British Numismatic Journal considers that the Golden Age of British coin and medal design was between the reigns of Henry VII and Charles II. Since then, according to him, the quality of design has deteriorated sadly. There was, it is true, a revival in the Victorian age as exemplified by the splendid head of the young Queen appearing on coins of the earlier part of her reign. We might mention, too, the fine head of George VI appearing on our Canadian coinage. This was executed by the British medallist Paget and is identical with the head appearing on British coinage. The obverse of the 1949 silver dollar in commemoration of the accession of Newfoundland is pleasing to the eye; it is the work of Thomas Shingles, Master of the Royal Mint in Ottawa. Another Canadian, Stanley Hayman, designed the harp on the Irish penny while he was working at the Royal Mint in London.

In spite of exceptions we are compelled to admit that the art of the medallist is in the doldrums, not only in the British Commonwealth, but also in other parts of the world. There is much uninspired and dreary symbolism, lifeless and heavy modelling. In this changing world it is strange that medallists are almost untouched by modern trends in art: we see no futuristic francs or surrealist shillings. Nor did we in the terrible twenties encounter cubist coinage. We do not subscribe to the theory that all change is necessarily progress, for we have too many examples close at hand of changes for the worse during the past fifty years. Nevertheless the indifference of medallists to new movements in art is symptomatic of an unhealthy state of affairs. Coin design appears to have been left high and dry in a little backwater of its own and out of touch with contemporary life, a sort of antiquarians' club.

It was doubtless in recognition of the need for new blood that an open competition was held for the design of the 5 cent nickel coin to commemorate the bicentenary of the discovery of that metal. Unfortunately the winning design was very disappointing. This may have been due to the way in which the competition was organized. The new reign offers a golden opportunity to medallists to revive the art. In the days of Athens beauty entered into the commonest things of life such as cooking utensils and coins. Will the opportunity be grasped?

McCarthyism Invades Canada

(Le Canada, Montreal)

McCarthyism is contagious and is gaining ground in Canada. From time to time, even in this country, wage earners are dismissed from their jobs without explanation or indemnity. Why? Because they are suspected of having known Communists. At the first conference of the United Nations at San Francisco about thirty Canadian journalists attended, seven or eight of them French-Canadians. They may have talked to Alger Hiss, then one of the leaders of the American delegation. Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Jean Desy, Mr. Gordon Graydon (these are names taken at random) were part of the Canadian delegation. They may have shaken hands with Hiss. Are they tainted for that reason?

Nonsense Over Next Door

(Calgary Herald)

Nothing makes much sense out in dear old B.C. any more. When the laws don't make any sense and the elections don't either, what have you got left?

Just look what's happening out in the coastal sunshine. The voters in all their innocence went to the polls on June 12 allegedly to elect a government. Being young and inexperienced in the ways of a proportionally-represented world, they had an awful time just voting. And the election officials have had an even worse time counting that vote. Two months later they still haven't got it counted properly to everybody's satisfaction.

The Social Crediters are in power by virtue of a one-member majority over the C.C.F., and by the good wishes of the Conservatives. But a defeated C.C.F. candidate in Vancouver-Burrard, who lost out by 246 votes to a Social Crediter, feels there might have been a few discrepancies in the counting and, for some time, has been trying to get a recount made. But under the amazing laws of B.C., it now seems that it is virtually impossible to obtain a recount on a vote, except through a special despensation on the part of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my trangressions . . . Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow. . . .

Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me. (Ps. 51:1, 7, 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thy testimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my soul keep them . . . Order my steps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me. (Ps. 119:129, 133.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him.

The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him. It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the Lord. (Lam. 3:24-26.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands. (Ps. 138:8.)

Letter To The Editor

LANSDOWNE ALREADY TAKES MOST OF TRUCK TRAFFIC

Sir, I see where Alderman Rehill is taking the stand that trucks should be re-routed to Highway 7A as it annoys the residents of Charlotte Street West. The residents along Lansdowne and George St. S. are just as important to receive consideration as are residents on Charlotte St. W. and we strongly resent any changes being made.

The Toronto-Peterborough Transport, the Hamilton-Peterborough Freight Lines, the Smith Transport Co. and Herb Payne's Transports use the Lansdowne St. (Highway 7A) for practically all their trucking. Besides that we get all the trucking and traffic going through to Ottawa and intervening points on Highway 7A.

So as far as residents on Consilla and Charlotte St. are concerned, they do not know what racket and noise is compared to what it is on Lansdowne St. and George St. S.

A lady informed me that she had to wait over one-half hour to get across Lansdowne St. last week. Another lady told me she lives a block away from Lansdowne St., that when some of those 10 ton trailer trucks go by that it shakes the dishes and pictures on the wall.

Another thing, we have three schools, two railway crossings, besides King Edward Park which means a very large number of children.

Speed limit means nothing at all down here. Anywhere from 45 to 75 miles an hour. If we saw a policeman once and a while to stop and enforce speeding it would improve it some, but to expect to transfer all trucking down our way is too much of a good thing.

Alderman Rehill and other councillors would be well advised to leave well enough alone.

U.S. And Allies Plan New Drive On Truce Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its Korean war allies are planning an intensive drive in the United Nations to try to get the Korean truce talks off dead centre and so raise new prospects for peace this year.

Consultations are under way among Washington, London, Paris and other capitals of the group of U. N. countries which have military forces fighting against the North Korean and Chinese Reds in the stalemated conflict.

The precise line and strategy to be followed in the U. N. General Assembly meeting in New York next month are still to be worked out, but western diplomats agreed today that the discussions have proceeded far enough to make the over-all purpose clear.

It is clear from the progress in Allied conferences to date that the U. S. and its associates have revised in part the position on the Korean issue which they held so stubbornly at the General Assembly meeting a year ago. The explanation given by officials here for this change is that the circumstances of the Korean truce talks have changed radically in a year.

To Denationalize Two Industries

WOODFORD, England (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill promised Saturday that his Conservative government will introduce measures to denationalize Britain's steel and trucking industries in November.

Speaking to his constituents in this suburban area, Churchill said he had no doubt these bills will be enacted into law by Parliament.

Both industries were nationalized by the Labor party before it was voted out of office in the general election last October.

Churchill said the Conservative proposal calls for a control board made up of representatives of employers, trade unions and consumers.

He expressed the belief that this scheme "will be found to offer the best basis for a lasting and workable solution to the problems which confront the steel industry."

Keene Women Make Plans For Hobbies

KEENE — September meeting of the Kene W.I. was held Wednesday. Roll call was answered by 37 members. It was moved by Mrs. A. Eason and seconded by Mrs. H. Macfarlane that a hobby basket be started. Mrs. Macfarlane named Mrs. A. Eason as convener of the committee. Mrs. H. McFee was appointed for current events for next meeting.

The Mobile Health Clinic will be in Keene September 16-17 from 2 to 5 in the afternoons, 7 to 9 evenings. Mrs. Mervin Mather is convener for the township of Otonabee.

The Keene Teen Garden Club girls demonstrated their summer's work. Mrs. P. Adamson and Mrs. W. E. Ellison took charge of the topic, telling of the development of peach culture. Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Bolin, Mrs. H. Wright, Mrs. H. McFee and Mrs. D. Kempt.

Taschereau Elected Bar Assoc. President

VICTORIA (CP)—Andre Taschereau, Q. C., of Quebec Saturday was elected president of the Canadian Bar Association at the group's final meeting of its 34th annual convention. He succeeds Brig. J.A. Clark of Vancouver.

John A. Macauley, Q.C., Winnipeg, is vice-president; L. E. Langis Galipeault, Q.C., Quebec, honorary secretary; D. Park Jamieson, Q.C., Sarnia, honorary treasurer; and E. C. Leslie, Q.C., Regina, registrator.

Canada Does Share At New Conference

ALGONQUIN PARK (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said last night the forthcoming Commonwealth economic conference will not find Canada participating with "Olympian detachment."

He told the Ontario-Quebec section of the Young Liberal Federation of Canada that Canada would co-operate to the full in attempting to find solutions to the economic problems besetting the Commonwealth.

Pope Praises Work Of Astronomers

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—The Pope told the world's leading astronomers yesterday it is "completely improbable" that man will ever solve the great mysteries of the universe.

The papal audience was boycotted by Russia's astronomers and the satellite scientists of Romania and Czechoslovakia but they visited the Vatican observatories afterward.

Four hundred star scientists from 32 other countries, including Communist Yugoslavia and Poland, heard the Pope praise their "conquest of cosmic space" and predict immeasurable further progress.

He told the scientists, here for the eighth World Astronomical Congress, that they have been able to "thrust aside the barriers of distance" and carry man's knowledge a thousand million light years "out into the immensity of intergalactic space." But he added:

"It is completely improbable that even the most gifted investigator will ever succeed in recognizing and much less in solving the mysteries locked up in the physical universe. . ."

Report Major Posed As Graduate Engineer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army said yesterday that Maj. Alan Ross Elmer, of Kingston, now serving two years in prison for theft in connection with looting at Petawawa Camp, posed as an engineering graduate when he enlisted in 1940.

The army said it is known that Elmer actually failed in his first year at Queen's and never graduated. The army learned of Elmer's deception before he was suspected of crime but did nothing about it because a degree is not an absolute essential in the engineer corps, certainly not at the time he enlisted.

Teachers Win Claim

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters) — More than 2,000 married women teachers called off a threatened strike Saturday when the Transvaal government accepted their claim for the same pay as unmarried teachers. A woman teacher in the Transvaal who marries must resign. She is then rehired on a temporary basis at a salary about $450 a year lower than before.

Increased Supply Of Steel Forecast By CCA President

DIGBY, N. S. (CP) — An increased supply of steel was forecast today by P. G. Wilmut of Montreal, president of the Canadian Construction Association.

Addressing the Maritime regional meeting of the C. C. A., Mr. Wilmut said the recent United States steel strike had set back plans to remove Canadian restrictions affecting the allocation of steel to the construction industry. However:

"All going well, it is expected that permits will become increasingly available for certain types of buildings previously denied steel, and that present steel orders will be eliminated prior to next year's building season.

"In the meantime it is a source of satisfaction, and some envy, that the volume of Maritime contract awards for the first eight months of the year was 30 per cent above the total for the same period last year, compared to a national decrease of 27 per cent, according to MacLean's building reports. . ."

Statistics concerning residential construction, however, were less cheerful.

"Official figures available for the first five months of 1952 show a 39-per cent drop in housing starts in the four Atlantic provinces, compared to the same period in 1951.

"Far-reaching conclusions should not be taken from figures covering such a short period, but the decline in housing starts is 2½ times the decline for Canada as a whole."

Mr. Wilmut said there is no easy or single solution to the fall-off in house building in Canada.

Recent changes in National Housing Act regulations were designed to help overcome the shortage of money for small and medium-sized houses. However:

"Only about one-third of new housing units receive federal assistance in financing, and minor changes to N.H.A. regulations are not likely to cause substantial changes in the volume of house-building.

"At the same time, the group who normally look to N. H. A. for help in financing new homes is perhaps the most important in the non-tenant category, and a good argument may be made that this group should be enlarged."

LOCAL LACROSSE CASUALTIES — Fortunately for the Petes' Timbermen, they have about a week and a half layoff before going into Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals. Because they have three aces sitting it out at present with injuries, though all are expected back for next series. Russ Slater, left, suffered torn shoulder muscles Saturday in St. Catharines; and Don Ashbee, centre, got a charley-horse in the right leg the same night. Ross Powless, right, has almost recovered from an injured shoulder obtained in a league game several weeks ago.

Petes Erase The Athletics With A 15-9 Triumph To Make E. Canada Finals

Trimming the Athletics 15-9 in St. Catharines on Saturday night, the Petes' Timbermen eliminated the A's 3-1 in their best-of-five series to advance into the Eastern Canada senior "A" lacrosse finals. They will be meeting Toronto Yorks, Mimico Mounties or Owen Sound Crescents in the big series to declare a Mann Cup finalist early next month in Maple Leaf Gardens. The Thorpe team will probably be idle now for about a week and a half until their next opponent is ready. A crowd of 2,200, with several hundred from Peterborough, viewed the Saturday scrap.

TWO CASUALTIES

Petes did not come through the rugged quarter-final series without injuries, Russ Slater and Don Ashbee being casualties in the last game. The former suffered torn muscles when boarded hard by two St. Kitts' players in the second quarter, having to leave the game. No penalty was given. Ashbee got a charley-horse late in the tilt and limped off. Both players and Ross Powless—out for the series with an injured shoulder—are expected to be ready to play again in the next series.

While it was another keen, hard-hitting affair, from a Peterborough standpoint it was not quite as exciting a tilt as the third joust, played in Peterborough on Wednesday. For one thing, the Petes took an early lead and never looked back. Also, the A's were a tired bunch before the game was over after being softened up here in that thumping third tussle. They showed less fight in the fourth. At that, they laid for Slater—after a newspaper campaign there panning him, Ashbee and Nit O'Hearn — and some fans pelted goalie Moon Wootton with peaches at times and peanuts when opposing snipers were coming in. The home fans were quite hostile. But after the game, St. Catharines' players congratulated the victors.

AN EARLY LEAD

Timbermen struck fast to score two early in the first and they had a 6-2 margin at the close. It was 2-2 in a hot second quarter to make it 8-4 for the visitors at half time. St. Kitts put on their do-or-die drive in the third to outscore Peterborough 3-2 and that made it read just 10-7 for the Thorpe men going into the fourth. The champs showed their class then in the windup heat by outscoring the tiring St. Kitts' squad 5-2 for the game and round.

Wootton again proved his greatness in goal, as he handled plenty of hot India rubber, as well as assorted fruit from behind. Repeatedly he robbed break-away players and once came out in time to intercept a long pass to a lone wolf. His checking support was good, too, with the whole kaboodle doing their job well, including younger fry like Bill Killingbeck, Lou Nickle, hustling Grant Burns and Rog Smith. Under strong provocation, the team drew but five of the 10 penalties. Melville was gated for a misconduct for profanity.

COWBOY RIDES

Cowboy Al Garbutt justified his being brought to Peterborough but turning in a four-star offensive effort with five smart goals. Junior Roger Smith, the speedy young Indian, clicked for three neat goals, one a honey on a ground pass from a dumped Harry Wipper—winding up with a slap shot. Curly Mason sniped one and aided on three. Killingbeck and Ashbee were good for two goals each, Harry Wipper got one and helped on two others, and Ike Hildebrand faked a neat one home. Slater aided on two before retiring. Single assists went to Bob Thorpe, O'Hearn, Nickle and Burns.

Good goaltending by veteran Bill Whitaker kept down the score against the A's. The homesters battled hard and went out of the picture fighting. Their scoring was pretty well spread around, also, in the fast, open contest. Al Frick led the way with three markers and an assist. Single counters were notched by Norm Corcoran, Tank Teather, Jim McMahon, Don Moore, Ted Howe and Billy Bradshaw. Doug Smith aided on a pair, and Moore, Corcoran, Teather, Max Woolley, Emil Uhrynuk one apiece. Woolley was held well in check by Killingbeck. Both sides beefed at times at the refereeing, which must have been fairly impartial. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence Nickle and Killingbeck; centre, Thorpe; wings Vitarelli and Ashbee; rover, Hildebrand; alternates, Wipper, O'Hearn, Mason, Slater, Garbutt, Burns and Smith.

St. Catharines: Goal, Whitaker; defence, Smith and Uhrynuk; center, Dewar; wings, Teather and Woolley; rover, McMahon; alternates, D. Frick, Moore, Corcoran, Melville, Bradshaw, A. Frick and Howe.

Referees: J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

HORNETS SIGN CLANCY

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — King Clancy signed yesterday for another year as coach of the American Hockey League Pittsburgh Hornets, a farm club of Toronto Maple Leafs. Clancy led the Hornets to their initial A.H.L. championship and Calder Cup title in his first season last winter. Terms of the new contract were not disclosed.

Owen Sound Ties Up Series With Mimico; Wins 18-11

Owen Sound tied up their series with Mimico in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior playoffs Saturday night.

Owen Sound moved into a 4-1 lead and never were headed to win the game, which saw 11 penalties, 18-11. The win tied the best-of-five quarter final at two games each with the deciding game in Mimico tonight.

MORTIMER IN GOAL

Mimico took Roy Mortimer out of retirement to replace the injured Red Hartley in the nets. Mortimer made 23 saves, the same number as Owen Sound's Bill Taylor.

Top Crescent scorer was Johnny Lumley with four. Don McWhirter got three with Don Campbell and Bill Allen notching two each. Singles were garnered by Harry Kazarian, Johnny Mathewson, Norm Shortridge, Jack Cooke, Fred Smith, Tony Capula and Arnold Smith.

Mimico's scoring was paced by Tom Chart with three. Ted Downer and Denny Peterson scored twice with Ralph Gowland, Derry Davies, Fred Sandford and Bill Lubbock netting one each.

U.E. Soccer Club Victors To Keep Unbeaten Record

Peterborough U.E.W. beat Batawa F.C. on the latter's field Saturday 3 to 1 in an Eastern Ontario League soccer fixture. Next weekend, U.E. should meet stiffer opposition when Kingston comes here for the first of the home-and-home series for the Ontario intermediate cup. These clubs tied 3-3 in their last clash. Johnny Ryan, playing centre forward for U.E. on Saturday, celebrated his birthday by scoring all three local goals, his first hat-trick for the team, and dishing up a polisheed performance.

DOMINATED PLAY

Batawa kicked off with the wind but U.E.W. dominated play and nearly scored within three minutes, Johnny Holt being robbed by the goalie. After 20 minutes, Ryan scored with a fine shot on a perfect pass from halfback Murray. Batawa pressed and Ray Titshall's save conceded a corner for Batawa but they failed to count on the corner kick. Two minutes later, George Smith had the ball in the B's net again but the referee ruled it offside. Batawa evened it when their outside left was standing unmarked 15 yards out and he shot in a ground pass to end the scoring for the half.

After the interval, with the wind still blowing strongly, U.E. dominated again but they were 20 minutes before scoring once more. Ryan flashed through the centre, eluded two opponents and shot on the run for a smart goal. It was all U.E. then and the visiting goalie was kept busy, conceding two corners. Johnny Ryan got in again to make it read 3-1. U.E. eased off a little then to romp home easy victors and keep intact their record of no defeats in league games for the past two seasons.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid". Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Kawartha Wins Tennis Cup Over Port Hope

Kawartha Tennis Club for the second year in succession captured the championship of the Kawartha District Tennis League. Following their 4-3 success at home last week, the club went to Port Hope on Sunday for the return half of the home-and-home finals, and retained the Morrow Trophy by winning 5-2 against Port Hope. Matches were run off in fine weather at the T. C. S. courts before interested spectators. Ron Lye captained the classy winning club this season.

Port Hope won in the second men's doubles when Bill Virgo and George Sneyd took it 6-2 and 6-3 over F. Rankine and T. Clarke. The homesters also won in ladies' doubles, with Esther Martin and Irene Craigen successful over Flo Boyer and Jan Clarke 7-5 and 6-0. The other matches went to Kawartha.

M. Charlton won ladies' singles over Doris Sneyd 6-4, 6-0; Wally Elmsley took men's singles from Bob Minarker 6-1, 6-2; Ron Lye and Roy Lindberg beat Gord Colborne and Bill Craigen 6-4 and 6-3 in the first men's doubles; F. Fletcher and Ted Mercer captured first mixed doubles over Mary Douglass and Tom Moffat 6-4, 1-6, 6-2; and Joan Lye and John Fletcher won the second from Doris Jennings and Don Dixon by 6-4 and 6-3 scores.

Belleville Edges Kingston In 4-3 Win

KINGSTON—Belleville Redmen extended the Central Ontario Baseball League semi-finals to the five-game limit when they edged Kingston Monarchs, 4-3, here Saturday night. The series and the right to meet Peterborough in the finals will be decided in Belleville.

A four-run Belleville rally knocked Billy Richards from the hill. He had allowed only five scattered safeties and had been given a 2-0 lead to protect when the roof fell in after the first two were out in the seventh.

Peterborough Rink Wins At Cobourg

COBOURG — Fourteen rinks took part in the final out-of-town ladies' rink tournament held at Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club on Saturday. Teams were present from Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterborough, Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Carleton Place, Perth and Ottawa.

Mrs. F. Hepburn, of Peterborough, was high with three wins for a score of 42 plus 2. The other members of her rink were Mrs. M. Arnold, Mrs. Mary Killingbeck, Mrs. Annie Cullen. High with two wins was Mrs. Vera Erskine, of Cobourg, with 42 plus 2, and high with one win was Mrs. A. Hoskin, of Cobourg, with 30.

Johnny Mize Gets 354th Home Run

NEW YORK (AP)—It took 39-year-old Johnny Mize 14 seasons in the big time, but today he can boast of having hit a home run in every major league ball park.

His 354th circuit clout yesterday against Washington Senators at Griffith Stadium not only took care of the matter of the only park in which he hadn't connected previously, but it also gave New York Yankees a 5-1 victory over the Nats—because the bases were full.

The grand slam was the husky Georgian's 354th home run of his big league career and his 1,981st lifetime hit.

Civic Loop Finals

Civic Softball League finals resume tonight at the Bowl with a double-header, weather permitting, commencing at seven between Bell and Foresters. Last Friday saw Bell take the first of the best-of-five finals by an 8-7 score in 12 innings, the second tilt being cancelled.

Those having tickets now may use their stubs as passes this evening; otherwise admission is a quarter. If the series continues, it is expected to run single games probably Wednesday and Friday.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Well, that's one pennant in the Mann Cup bag—and one less team to worry about on the rocky trail toward a Canadian senior lacrosse title. No doubt surprising quite a few fans here, the Petes' Timbermen took command in St. Catharines on Saturday and pounded out a 15-9 win to sweep their series three games to one. When the chips were down, the champs came through. There's an old saying that a real emergency separates the men from the boys. St. Kitts had some good men on their club, but not as many as the Thorpe team boasts. That's why they're out now and the Timbermen move in a week or so into Eastern Canada finals.

* * * * * *

Athletics congratulated the Petes after the game and a good series. Which is the way it should be. But there was plenty of hard feelings shown during the four rugged jousts. A's got two of their three Peterborough pet hates in this last game, sidelining Rusty Slater and Don Ashbee for a spell, though they should be ready for the next series. And they slashed Nit O'Hearn plenty throughout. But the Petes aren't little pink angels, either—they got in some lusty licks Saturday, and two of the A's firebrands here last Wednesday (Woolley and Corcoran) did practically nothing Saturday. Too done in from the bruising they received in the third tilt. Lacrosse playoffs are several miles removed from tea parties.

Peaches Are Cheap There

Moon Wootton shone again in the cold Garden City before 2,200 fans (a lot from here) to stop many hot shots and some fan-thrown peaches and peanuts! Generous they are in St. Kitts. Whole club turned in a solid effort to earn the win handily. Only Al Frick had any real luck against 'em. Al Garbutt was brilliant with five goals, young Rog Smith came up with a three-goal effort, Curly Mason was clicking in his regular form, and there were no weak sisters in the local lineup. Owen Sound might still oust Mimico to get a crack at Toronto in Eastern Canada semi-finals. Petes will rest, practice a bit, and doctor their injured, till an eastern finalist (we pick Toronto) is ready for them. A well-earned rest.

O. B. A. has ordered Oshawa Transporters—junior ball club in the Toronto loop—to come here tonight (Monday) for the second game of the provincial series with the Young Petes. An eight p.m. touch under the Riverside arcs, with Jerry Frizzelle or Mac Martin doing the home hurling. Young Petes won eight lakeshore frays 'gainst intermediate opposition this summer, and are quite good. They dropped an opening O.B.A. decision in Oshawa but protested 'cause Transporters used a couple of intermediate players. This protest has yet to be dealt with. Weather being oke, tonight's game here should draw a hefty ball crowd.

Senior Ball Finals Set

Belleville Redmen beat Kingston 4-3 on Saturday to sew up C.O.B.L. semi-finals at two wins each. Deciding joust is tonight in Bella Villa. Winner of that comes here this Wednesday to open the best-of-seven loop finals. This series goes nightly, except Sunday, till a winner is declared. Meaning the Petes will be at home to the K's or Reds on Wednesday and Friday, going away Thursday and Saturday. Games are floodlight affairs at 8.30. It is unlikely the Intercounty League will enter O.B.A. playdowns, but the Niagara District and the Western Counties have entries, besides the Central Ontario area. So, we'll have to produce a winner before the end of next week.

At a puck meeting in the Motor City on Sunday, Oshawa officials decided to ice a squad in O.H.A. senior "B" ranks along with Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough. Also expected in are Stouffville and Orillia, though these clubs wanted more time to talk it over. They were represented but rather reluctant to make more than one trip a season to such centres as Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough. They were given a week to talk it over with officials and players at home, and another meeting set for this coming weekend in Oshawa when a schedule may be drawn up. The local Eagles were not represented at the meeting yesterday.

Sedgman Wins US Singles Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Australia's Frank Sedgman, the world's No. 1 tennis player, stormed past 38-year-old Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 6-1, 6-2, 6-3 yesterday to win the United States men's singles championship for the second time.

Although it was one of the most decisive last-round victories in the 71-year history of the tournament, the 24-year-old Sedgman didn't quite set a record as he destroyed Mulloy in just 47 minutes. Back in 1921 Bill Tilden beat Wallace Johnson 6-1, 6-3, 6-1 in the final and on two earlier occasions the loser took only five games.

Mulloy, the sixth-seeded U.S. player in this tournament, took six, including a couple that were obvious gifts.

A capacity crowd of 14,000 in the West Side Tennis Club stadium sat in stunned silence and watched Mulloy take his terrific beating. Up to the last set, when Sedgman eased up visibly, it looked as if the Australian could win every game without half trying. He yielded only 25 points in the first two sets and fewer than half of those were earned by Mulloy.

In the final set Mulloy finally broke Sedgman's service—the fourth time that has been done in the tournament—and led through the fifth game. Then Sedgman put on the pressure again and won the last four. Mulloy's 28 points in that set were more than he made in the first two combined.

Wes McKnight Wins Golf Crown

FRENCH RIVER BUNGALOW CAMP (CP)—Wes McKnight of CFRB Toronto won the golf championship of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association yesterday by shooting a 77 over the French River Bungalow Camp course.

McKnight had a one-stroke edge over Ivan Miller of the Hamilton Spectator to win his second straight title and retain the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club trophy.

Bob Hesketh of the Toronto Telegram won low net honors and the Maple Leaf Gardens Trophy with a 82.

Miller, president of the association for the last last 2½ years, was named immediate past president at the association's election of officers and was succeeded as president by R. W. (Bobby) Hewitson of the Toronto Telegram.

Other officers:

First vice-president, Britt Jessup, North Bay; second vice-president, Rex Stimers, St. Catharines; third vice-president, Laurie Brain, Galt Reporter; secretary - treasurer, Fraser MacDougall, Toronto. Executive: Harry Eisen, London, Tom Morrison, Welland and Wes McKnight, Jim Vipond and Milt Dunnell of Toronto.

Miller announced that the association's annual $25-a-plate Sports Celebrity Dinner for crippled children will be held March 5, 1953. McKnight said invitations will be extended to a number of notables including Tris Speaker, Lester Patrick, Cyclone Taylor, Frank Leahy and Red Grange.

Greene Appeals For Support For Smaller Boxing Clubs

By STEWART NEBBS

MONTREAL (CP)—An appeal for financial support for smaller boxing clubs was voiced today by Abe J. Greene of New Jersey, National Boxing Association commissioner, in his annual report opening the 33rd annual convention of the association.

Greene, addressing delegates to the three-day convention of the main controlling body of the United States boxing world, said the increasingly tight hold on major boxing promotions exercised by the International Boxing Club and two major television chains was "tightening the noose around the fight clubs which in the past have spawned the great champions in ring history."

The delegates, mainly from the United States and Canada but also including representatives from Cuba, South America and England, settled down to business sessions following registration last night.

HEAVY AGENDA

Delegates face what was termed "one of the heaviest agendas ever." It includes discussions of problems caused by television, adoption of a uniform scoring system and the suspension by the British Boxing Board of Control of light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns.

Maxim and Kearns were suspended by the British board which claimed they had failed to complete a contract for a bout in London with Randy Turpin. Kearns is expected to place his case before the meeting.

Greene said: "This will be sight control through a virtual boxing superstate."

The greater the expansion of the TV cables into territory at present untouched, the more certain the destruction of the incubator clubs, he said.

"As it is, the number of small clubs in which talent can be nurtured has slumped to an all-time low and is diminishing rapidly. A number of formerly active boxing states now have no shows whatever, some only intermittent and others only such shows as made possible by television sponsorship."

WOULD AID CLUBS

Under the circumstances, he said, the I.B.C. and its two major TV associates, as well as its theatre television associates, will be doing themselves a favor by rescuing boxing from what he termed "certain sporticide."

He urged promoter-television leaders to canvass existing boxing clubs in the U. S. and, in conjunction with supervising N. B. A. commissions, provide them with financial assistance.

EQUIPMENT MAN — Gregg Travis, 5, wouldn't trade his job for anybody's. The little fellow carries Rocky Marciano's equipment to the ring at Grossinger, N.Y. The Brockton Block Buster fights Jersey Joe Walcott for the world heavyweight championship at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, Sept. 23.

Lopat Pitches New York To 5-1 Victory Over Washington Nats

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The left arms of Eddie Lopat and Preacher Roe hold the key to the major league pennants. Each turned up important victories yesterday as the flag fever continued to mount with each game. Lopat pitched New York to a 5-1 victory over the Senators in Washington to stave off Cleveland's bid to pick up appreciable ground on the world champions. The Indians, however, did cut the Yankees' first-place American League margin to two games with a 4-0 and 3-1 sweep of a doubleheader from the Browns in Cleveland.

Roe threw a brilliant three-hitter at New York as Brooklyn came through with a 4-1 triumph that snapped the Giants' five-game winning streak and increased the Dodgers' first-place National League lead to five games. The Brooks pounded their old nemesis, Sal Maglie, for four home runs—by Gil Hodges, Peewee Reese, George Shuba and Billy Cox.

Lopat hurled an eight-hitter yesterday and was credited with his eighth win on the strength of a grand-slam home run by pinch-hitter Johnny Mize. The blow came in the sixth and erased a 1-0 Washington advantage. Walter Masterson, who has whipped the Yankees twice before, was the victim.

The Indians received splendid pitching from Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek as they registered their fourth and fifth consecutive triumphs. Garcia blanked the Browns on six hits to post his ninth victory in the opener and his fifth shutout.

Cleveland won the second game in the third when Wally Westlake's wind-blown fly fell for a double to clear the clogged bases.

The Red Sox smashed Philadelphia Athletics 12-5. Boston's 13-hit attack included homers by Hoot Evers and Dom Dimaggio.

TIGERS TURN ON SOX

Ted Gray won his 12th as the tail-end Detroit Tigers turned back Chicago White Sox 4-2.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals came from behind to nip Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3. Enos Slaughter batted in all the Redbirds' runs with a bases-loaded triple in the eighth and a single in the ninth.

Bob Rush was the whole show as Chicago Cubs defeated Cincinnati Reds 6-1. The tall pitcher hurled a four-hitter for his 14th triumph.

Philadelphia Phillies nipped Boston Braves 2-1 after the Braves completed Saturday night's suspended game by winning 3-1. The game, second of a twi-night doubleheader, was called in the eighth because of curfew.

PHILS WIN MARATHON

The Phils took the opener 7-6 in 17 innings, the longest game of the N. L. season. In other Saturday games in the National the Giants defeated the Dodgers twice 6-4 and 7-3, the Cardinals trimmed Pittsburgh 7-4 and Cincinnati beat Chicago 3-2.

In the American the Yankees defeated Washington 5-2, Cleveland beat the Browns 8-3, Boston took a doubleheader from the Athletics 6-4 and 10-2 and the White Sox shaded Detroit 4-3 in 11 innings.

Ghosts Ride Roughshod Over Oshawa 21-0

COBOURG (ENS). — Cobourg Galloping Ghosts Saturday afternoon rode roughshod over Oshawa Red Raiders 21-0 here in the opening of the O.R.F.U.'s Central Ontario loop.

Before a crowd of close to 2,000 the Ghosts kept the Raiders on the defensive from start to finish and with Jack Reeve scoring two touchdowns, the Motor City crew were never in it.

The Cobourg win was all the more pointed because of the absence from the Ghosts' lineup of former Oshawa stars, Mel Taylor and Cec Armstrong, both of whom Oshawa questioned and both of whom the Gallopers left on the sidelines because of the dispute.

From the kickoff it was a question of how soon the Ghosts would score and near the end of the first session Darch Campbell, Ghost half, raced 20 yards to put the ball on the Raider 17. After Red Alexander had carried to the Oshawa 10, Reeve skirted the left end for the major. It was unconverted.

STRIKES AGAIN

The quarter ended that way but Reeve struck again as the second started taking a pass from Don Hat at the Raider 30 and romping down the sidelines to go over. The major score was not converted as the Raiders blocked the attempt.

Connor ended the scoring for the first half when he booted deep behind the Oshawa line for a single point as a wave of Ghosts downed Hardel, the receiver.

In the third quarter, Karl Lenahan, Ghost junior star, intercepted a Raider pass at the Oshawa 45 and raced across the line without any trouble. Again the point after touch was missed.

In the final session, the Ghosts blocked an Oshawa kick near the Raider line and on the next play Hat fired a short pass into Coon Medhurst's arms and he went 10 yards for the last touchdown. The convert was again missed.

Oshawa, last year's group champions, were never in it as the Ghosts showed a formidable line and hammering backfield that sloughed through the Raider defence again and again. The only time the losers actually threatened was in the final quarter. A series of penalties to Cobourg put the Raiders on the Ghost 20 and finally they managed to work down to the 10 where the Gallopers threw them back.

RETAKES BALL

When an Oshawa desperation pass was attempted Reeve came up with the ball for Cobourg. On first down, a penalty put the Ghosts back in the shadow of their own goal posts but they rolled out to their own 27 on first downs and were heading down field when the final whistle ended it.

Reeve, Lenahan, Hat, Campbell, Medhurst, Homer, Seale, and Jake Edmiston, played great football all day for the Ghosts while only Jimmy Lorenzo stood out for the losers. Used constantly, Lorenzo took a beating all day as the Raiders tried and failed to penetrate the powerful Ghost defensive.

Oshawa: Walsh, Hardel, C. Beaton, Krawec, Lzun, Randle, Wotton, Lorenzo, Reddock, Davis, Produs, Roenick, Martin, Shields, Reid, Calder, Butler, Edwards, Hopson, Dobey, Freeman, Patton, Hodgson, Peeling, Burkhardt, Rorabeck.

Cobourg: Edmiston, Jarvis, Seale, Holman, Horvath, McNally; Brandwood, Lees, Sanders, Flanagan, McCollum, Douglas, Hendry, Jones, Richardson, Hampton, Connor, Hat, Reeve, Alexander, Lunn, Medhurst, Flesch, Campbell, Glassford, Lenahan.

Officials: Referee, Curly Hiltz; umpire, Leo Deady; head linesman, Dean Fry.

TORONTO (CP)—Lionettes of Orange, Calif., Saturday night took their third straight women's world softball championship by defeating Phoenix Ramblers 2-0.

Royals Divide Twin Bill With Toronto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League's Shaughnessy playoffs start tomorrow night and Montreal's pennant-winning Royals are odds-on favorites to repeat as champions.

Manager Walt Alston's well-balanced crew takes on fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs at home in the opener of a best-of-seven series. In the other semi-final series, the second-place Syracuse Chiefs entertain the third-place Rochester Red Wings. The playoff winner will tangle with the American Association's playoff champion in the Little World Series, also a best four-of-seven affair.

The Royals wound up the regular season yesterday by splitting a doubleheader with the Leafs, winning the first game 5-4 but losing the second 9-5. The split reduced the Royals' final margin of victory over Syracuse to 8½ games. The Chiefs defeated Baltimore Orioles 5-0. In other games, Ottawa nipped Rochester 4-3 in 10 innings and Buffalo defeated Springfield 7-4, also in 10 innings, to doom the Cubs to the cellar.

Bob Alexander chalked up his eighth victory for the Royals in the opener. Montreal sewed it up with four in the fifth. The Leafs scored six runs off Jim Romano in the first four innings of the second game and stashed it away with three more in the seventh off Ed Roebuck.

Arnie Landeck and Lynn Lovenguth teamed up to blank the Orioles on six hits. Chief third baseman Andy Carey clinched the game with a two-run homer off Kent Peterson in the third inning.

Preacher Jack Fazholz, seeking his 16th victory, was tagged with his eighth defeat as Ottawa edged Rochester. Neal Watlington drove home the winning run with a fly ball.

The Bisons bunched two hits along with a pair of walks in the 10th to defeat Springfield. Pinch-hitter Joe Erautt featured the rally with a two-run single.

Hockey Player Dies Of Cancer

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Ludlow Bailey, 29, defence player for Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds hockey team, died Saturday in hospital, a victim of cancer.

Bailey was stricken with the disease two years ago. He underwent hospital treatment and returned to his hockey career with the Greyhounds last season when the team won the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A title for the second consecutive year.

More than $5,000 was raised last year by residents of this city and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., for Bailey and his family.

He is survived by his widow and five children. A sixth child is expected in November.

"COOL CONTROL"

OVERHEAD BAIT CASTING

1 Control is all-important. Index finger of right hand grips trigger of rod firmly. Thumb rests lightly on spool. Other fingers press handle of rod into palm. Thumb should be relaxed, rest of grip firm but not rigid.

2 Control comes with experience. Practice moving rod back for cast, applying thumb pressure to allow weight of bait to carry tip of rod back, for extra casting power. Relax thumb pressure when rod begins forward movement; apply again just before bait hits water.

3 Keep arm close to body. Movement comes from wrist and forearm. Fingers on handle open as rod moves back, close as rod comes forward. Concentrate on wrist movement for accuracy. Aim; come back fast; forward twice as fast. Remember — only experience gives perfect control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in fishing as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Lassie Leaves Studio, No Name-Calling

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lassie has left home.

No suspensions. No name-calling. Lassie just licked his bosses' hands, they shook his paw and all called it quits. It was a model of star-studio relationship.

But then Lassie has been a model star. In eight years, he (it's really a he, you know) has romped through 15 pictures for M-G-M without a temperamental outburst.

The association has been mutually profitable. The first film, "Lassie Come 'Home," cost $1,000,000 and netted $3,000,000. All of the Lassie films have been money-makers. In return, Lassie was paid $2,500 a week when working and $1,600 when not working. That made him the richest female impersonator of all time.

DEAR DOG

"We parted with M-G-M on the friendliest of terms," assured Lassie's agent, a busy fellow named Lew Dorn. "About a year ago, I had a talk with Luis K. Sidney, one of the bosses. He said the studio was cutting down on million-dollar pictures, and the Lassie pictures, which were always in color, were too expensive.

"We agreed that the name 'Lassie' was important to both of us. So we worked out a plan whereby Lassie would be released and would not work for a year. That would give the studio time to clear up its releases and reissues.

"Now the year is up, and we are ready to go to work."

MAYBE TV

Dorn said he would seek another major studio contract for Lassie. He added that he had many other offers, including several for a television series. Also being mulled over are theatre tours, dog-show appearances, etc.

Like many stars, Lassie appears to be cagy in the matter of age. He is listed in the motion picture almanac as being born in North Hollywood on June 8. No year is mentioned.

However, his agent admitted that the famed collie is more than nine years old, which is well into middle age.

CANADA'S GIFT.—Canada's contribution to the United Nations' general assembly building at U.N. headquarters in New York are seven doors, designed by a Canadian and using Canadian materials. A special alloy of copper, zinc and nickel was created for the doors, each of which is seven feet, six inches high, 40 inches wide and valued at $10,000. Architect Ernest Cormier, of Montreal, designer, is at right.

MADE IN CANADA— A workman finishes the designs on one of the seven doors donated by Canada to the United Nations headquarters building in New York. Made of all-Canadian materials, and designed by a Canadian, the doors have four plaques, shown here in close-up. The plaques represent Truth, Peace, Justice and Fraternity. A special alloy of copper, zinc and nickel—from Canadian mines—will render the doors non-tarnishable and keep them lustrous indefinitely. They cost $10,000 each.

Moore Elected CWNA President

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Robert Moore of Swift Current, Sask., was elected president of The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association Saturday at the final session of the annual convention. He succeeds A. W. Hanks of St. James, Man.

Next year's meeting will be held at Saskatoon in August.

Other officers are W. K Walls of Barrie, first vice-president and W. E. McCartney, of Toronto, managing director and secretary-treasurer.

Directors include:

Ontario—Gerald Scott, Gananoque; E.A. Spence, Strathroy; A.R. Shearer, Blenheim; Warden Leavens, Bolton.

Arnprior Airman Damages First MIG

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Sqdn. Ldr. James Lindsay of Arnprior, Ont., claimed his first MiG damage yesterday in air battles between Sabres and the Red jets, the United States Fifth Air Force announced.

Lindsay is an R.C.A.F. exchange pilot flying with the U. S. 1st fighter wing.

Edmonton Company Sold To East Firm

EDMONTON (CP)—Great North Foundry Ltd., Edmonton manufacturers of cast-iron soil pipe and fittings, has been sold to the Anthes Imperial Co. Ltd., of St. Catharines, Ont., and Winnipeg.

Anthes is the largest Canadian manufacturer of cast-iron soil pipe. Great North Foundry will become its third manufacturing division.

Company president D. G. Willmot of St. Catharines, here to complete arrangements for the purchase, said yesterday the transaction amounted to "several hundred thousand dollars."

Bar Association Would Halt Political Choices

VICTORIA (CP)—The Canadian Bar Association Saturday passed a resolution aimed at cutting out what it considers possible political patronage in the appointments of judges.

The final meeting of the association's 34th annual convention endorsed a resolution calling for establishment of a practice "whereby regardless of pressures from his cabinet colleagues, the Prime Minister or Minister of Justice recommend appropriate men who are leaders in their profession."

Justice Minister Garson earlier at the convention said the present system of appointments—by the full cabinet—should be retained.

HELD ON STEAMSHIP

The final meeting of the association was held aboard the steamship Princess Patricia between Vancouver and Victoria.

A resolution seeking broadening of the grounds for divorce did not reach the convention. Members of the council turned it down Friday.

NO SPECIAL ORDERS

The manhunt for the four bank robbers—Edwin A. Boyd, Steve Suchan, and Leonard and William Jackson—is centring in the Toronto district. At press time provincial police at No. 8 district headquarters had received no special instructions with regard to the manhunt. Normal police work is continuing.

WITHIN-THE-CITY 'LUNGE

Frank Fife of 463 Parnell St., accompanied by Violet Higgins, caught an 18-pound 'lunge on Sunday above the Auburn dam opposite Langton St.; it was 39 inches long. This is the second one to be boated by this pair of fishermen this season. On Aug. 5 Miss Higgins caught an 8 pounder in the same place.

AWNING FIRE

Shortly before midnight Saturday somebody flipped a cigarette butt up onto the awning in front of the Maher Shoe Store, 338 George St. The butt smouldered a while and ignited a fire that burnt a large hole in the owning. Firemen were called but by that time the damage was done and they didn't use any firefighting equipment.

HAS A $4 BILL

A third Canadian $4 bill has come to light in Peterborough. Martin Pyle of 489 Wolsley St., told the Examiner today that he has had one of the rare bills for 20 years. He also has an 1870 shinplaster, the small paper bill that was worth 25 cents. It is said that collectors are prepared to offer as much as $150 for the $4 currency.

COLLEGE OPENING

Eastern Pentecostal Bible College, opening its new term on Monday, Sept. 29, expects to have an enrollment of 125 students, and possibly 150, Rev. Charles Ratz, principal, said today. Arrangements are being made for a rally on October 13, of which the program will be announced later. "We are discussing this afternoon evening classes on Mondays and Wednesdays which will be open to the public," Rev. Mr. Ratz said.

FAREWELL AT PARK STREET CHURCH

In the farewell to the Rev. E. J. Whan at Park St. Baptist Church after the service Sunday evening, the congregation was joined by Rev. H. G. Pupils Return To School In Lakefield

13 Sent Home Last Week Allowed Back Today

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — The 13 Douro township high school pupils excluded from Lakefield district high school last week returned to school today.

The argument over their eligibility to attend the schools was settled over the weekend.

The high school board announced last week that the pupils would be barred from the school because of overcrowding. Parents of the 13 children immediately took issue with the board, sending a deputation to the Department of Education at Queen's Park.

NOT CLOSED

Four parents who made up the deputation returned armed with the advice that their children could not be barred from the school unless the school area was declared closed.

No school in Ontario has ever been declared closed, the deputation was told by department officials.

Spokesman for the deputation, Gerald E. Staples, said today that the Douro parents whose children attend Lakefield High School are only too willing to pay their share. He added that under discussion is a plan to join the northern part of Douro to Lakefield 7 high school area.

Mr. Staples said he and others "would be delighted" if the plan goes through.

Besides bringing back the convincing argument already given, the deputation brought back another poser.

According to the department, a high school board must give notice before June 30 of its intention to bar county students from its school.

Even after such notice is given, in accordance with the High Schools Act, the excluded pupils can continue to attend the high school for two school years.

NO WRITTEN AGREEMENT

Argument of the board against this section of the High Schools Act is that the board has never had an agrement with Douro township, and therefore the section of the act does not apply.

Rebuttal to this argument could be that by allowing the pupils from Douro to attend over the past years, the board has admitted an implicit agreement.

Overcrowding was the reason given by the Lakefield school board for the exclusion of the students.

Parents of the pupils excluded argue that there is no great amount of overcrowding. Largest number of Douro township pupils in any grade is in Grade 9, where there are six. Three are in Grade 10, two each in Grades 11 and 12.

Chairman George McIlmoyle said last week that the township council had been urged for years to join the area, but had repeatedly refused?

If the argument is not settled within a reasonable time, it is probable that the affected students will apply to attend Norwood District High School or one of the city collegiates. None has applied in the city as yet.

Although the southern section of the township has an agreement with Peterborough and Norwood, the northern section has none with any high school board. Only a small corner of the township, near Young's Point, is connected with the Lakefield board.

River Section Drained For Inspection Of Dam

Many townspeople are quick to notice anything strange about any changes in their Otonabee River beauty spots. They were especially curious about the deflation of the waters of the Goose Pond beside Water St. on Saturday.

The river bed was practically drained down to its mud banks and shoals from Auburn to London St. dam on Saturday morning. The reason for it was the annual inspection of the London St. dam by contractors and its leesors, the Quaker Oats Company. It is a routine event at this time of the year, company officials say. Everything was found to be in order and water was let through to flood the river to its normal level by Sunday evening.

ROBERT MAYBEE

Robert Maybee New President Of Lock Company

Bob Maybee is the new president of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. Ltd., succeeding E. H. Howson who recently retired, it was announced here today. Mr. Maybee was made a director in 1947 and elected vice-president in 1949, and at a recent meeting his fellow directors honored him with the presidency.

BORN IN PETERBOROUGH

Mr. Maybee was born in Peterborough in 1915 and is the son of Mrs. Annie Maybee and the late Enos Maybee. Upon graduation from the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, Mr. Maybee took a special student's course under C. A. Salmonsen, then works manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., Peterborough. In 1939 he was transferred to the C.G.E. head office in Toronto.

Following this, Mr. Maybee accepted a position on the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School as drafting teacher. During the war he was engineer in charge of manufacturing anti-submarine detection and bomb disposal equipment for the Canadian Navy with the Corman Engineering Company in Toronto.

Mr. Maybee is president of the Rotary Club and on the board of managers of St. Andrew's United Church. He is a director of the Peterborough Club and a member of the Advisory Vocational Committee of the Board of Education. A director of the St. John Ambulance Association, he is also a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and a director of Belleville Lock Co.

308 Students Enrolled At New Kenner Collegiate

Through a maze of paint brushes, hammers and saws, 308 high school students started school today at Kenner Collegiate on Monaghan Road. School opening was delayed a week because sub-contractors were slow getting work done. Carpenters and painters added to the confusion of starting day as they hurried to complete classrooms and workshops. There is still plenty of work yet to be done on the main floor which houses the home economics, kitchen, cafeteria, library, general workshop and offices. But the upper classrooms were ready for the students.

Most of the students spent some time exploring their new school as preparations for organizing classes were being made. Shortly after 9 p.m. the bell rang and they assembled in the school cafeteria.

STUDENTS WELCOMED

There Dr. E. P. Ray, principal, welcomed the students, explaining briefly the procedure for the week, some of the school rules and regulations, and some plans for developing a good school spirit.

Then the students were divided into classes, six Grade 9 classes and three Grade 10 classes, and sent to their rooms for registering time tables and further instructions. The Grade 9 students, experiencing their first taste of high school life, were given two minor tests.

The classes were dismissed after a short time for the day to allow them to buy text books, gym suits and other school equipment. It also gave the teachers an opportunity to organize classes further. The studepts will be shuffled until Wednesday when Dr. Ray hopes all classes will be definitely arranged and ready for work.

Not too much school-work will be done this week, for Dr. Ray announced at the assembly that students will be let out early Thursday afternoon to attend the exhibition.

A welcoming program was presented to each student, informing each that the collegiate was named in honor of the work and memory of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, a member of the staff at P.C.V.S. for 50 years and principal for 35 years.

The students were told that Dr. Kenner looked for sound scholarship, good sportsmanship, active citizenship, courtesy and thoughtfulness.

"These are high ideals; it is expected that the students of Kenner Collegiate will try to live up to them."

Students Visit, Study District

A joint field camp will be held in the Peterborough area by the Department of Geography of the University of Toronto and McMaster University, Hamilton, Sept. 15-20.

The camp will be attended by 33 honor geography students.

The camp program will include the study of various physiographic features and agricultural land use of the area and geography of the urban areas and industries. The group will also meet with civic officials to study various aspects of civic administration.

Arrangements for this visit which is a repeat of a visit two years ago, were made through the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce by Donald Kerr, assistant professor of Geography, University of Toronto.

5 University Scholarships Awarded Students Of PCVS

Four P.C.V.S. graduates were named in the University of Toronto scholarship lists released Saturday. Miss Elizabeth Gail Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Craig, R.R. 3, Peterborough, tops the list by winning one University scholarship, ranking first for another and winning a Victoria College, University of Toronto, scholarship.

Miss Craig was awarded the Edward Blake scholarship in English and Latin worth $500. She also ranked first for the Edward Blake scholarship in English and French, but it was awarded by reversion, because two of these scholarships can not be awarded to the same person.

THIRD SCHOLARSHIP

The third scholarship Miss Craig won was the Victoria College Charles Earl Auger Alumni Memorial scholarship of $400 and free tuition for four years with a total value of $1,264.

Principal C. S. Browne, P.C.V.S. principal, said today that Miss Craig had the highest percentage in the collegiate of any student in the past 30 years.

This brilliant student is planning to enroll in the Modern Languages and Literature course at Victoria College, this fall.

Miss Marlene Joan Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wright, 696 George St., won the Reuben Wells Leonard scholarship of $300 and free tuition with a total possible value of $1,164. This scholarship is a University College scholarship.

$500 SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Pauline Zacks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Zacks, 616 Homewood Ave., won the University College Sir John Gibson scholarship for English and French of $100 with free tuition and a total possible value of $500.

Miss Sheila Young, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Young, 503 Stewart St., won the $1,024 Wellington Scholarship in Mathematics at Trinity College.

Port Hope Boy Dies In Germany

Craftsman William Maurice Holland who was fatally injured in a collision between the automobile he was driving and a German tractor-trailer in Germany last week was son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Holland of Port Hope. Born in Nova Scotia 20 years ago his sister Mrs. Reg. Eastabrook resides on Western Ave., Peterborough.

Craftsman Holland enlisted in 1951 and went overseas in November and has since been serving with the Occupation Force. At the time of the accident he was driving a car returning with several officers to barracks from the home of a British officer. A Calgary officer died at the scene and Craftsman Holland died of injuries in the British Military Hospital in Hannover.

Craftsman Holland came to Port Hope with his parents in 1945 and before enlisting was employed by the plumbing firm of Dawson and Coleman. He is survived by his wife, formerly Leona Smith of Cobourg, a daughter one year old, his parents, two brothers and three sisters.

Car Snaps Hydro Pole Youths Hurt

Smash Into Fence $1,000 Damage Done To Auto

Two teen-aged boys were taken to Civic Hospital late Saturday night suffering from injuries sustained when their car went out of control on the Old Keene Road and snapped off a telephone pole.

The driver was Charles Ellis, 16, of 58 Gilmour St., who received an injured left shoulder, bruises and shock. His passenger was 15-year-old Robert Herron, of R.R. 7, Peterborough, who received a heavy blow on the head as well as cuts and bruises.

The condition of both boys today is satisfactory.

MISSED TURN

The accident occurred at 11:30 p.m. Saturday on the Old Keene Road, two miles south of the junction with Highway 7, East. They were returning from a dance at Hiawatha. Ellis, driving his father's 1950 sedan, failed to make a sharp turn in the road and the car ran along the west shoulder of the road for 144 feet, clipped off a telephone pole, bounced into the ditch and ran into a wire fence where it stopped.

Herron was thrown forward against the windshield and was temporarily knocked out. He and Ellis were taken to hospital by O.P.P. Constables Jack Ricard and James Healey.

The whole front end of the car was smashed in and it is estimated that damage is about $1,000.

Part of the wire fence, owned by John Driscoll, of R.R. 8, Peterborough, was ripped down by the careening car and will have to be repaired.

Russia Sends One Of 10 Jets To Chinese Ally

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's plane production is so good she is able to assign to her Chinese satellite about one of every 10 MiG-15 jet fighters coming out of busy factories.

A reliable source gave a new estimate yesterday of Soviet fighter strength: At least 9,000 MiG's in operation.

While Russia has been modernizing her interceptor force with these MiG's—not including other designs produced in less volume—it also has turned over to the Communist air force fighting for Red China about 1,300 MiG's.

For more than two years, air force officials say, the over-all size of the Soviet active air fleet—bombers, fighters, transports and other types—apparently has remained unchanged at about 20,000 planes.

NOTE CHANGE

But in that time, the appearance and efficiency of units of the Red Air Force, particularly in the fighter category, has changed greatly. The old piston-engined Yaks and still older Stormoviks and others of Second World War vintage have been relegated in growing numbers to the reserve fleet, which numbers about the same as the active fleet. A high percentage of Russian fighter strength now is jet-powered aircraft. In another couple of years the Russians are expected to have 20,000 jets in their fleet.

Against this, the U. S. Air Force, by the end of last June, had only about half of its combat wings outfitted with modern equipment which it had estimated should have been modernized by that date.

The present strength of the U.S. Air Force is about 95 wings, of from 30 to 75 planes each, depending upon their type. The air force does not say how many wings are made up of fighters and how many are bombers.

It is generally known that production this year will be perhaps 9,500 planes. That includes all types, jets and piston engine planes.

Some U. S. strategists contend that Russian air defence should not be measured alone in numbers of jet fighters. They cite reports that Russia is lagging in radar, both for aircraft warning systems and for equipment of the jet interceptors.

Race Driver Killed

DETROIT (AP)—A racing car driver was killed, four spectators and a policeman injured and the policeman's horse killed in a crash at the Fairgrounds race track here yesterday. Peter Romcevich, 46, of Cary, Ind., was the driver killed in the 150-mile A.A.A. midget car race that climaxed the Michigan State Fair's closing day.

Nfld. Anglican Rector Charges Salvation Army Misuses Funds

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A Newfoundland rector charged Saturday at the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada that the Salvation Army in his province is misusing funds collected for charitable purposes.

Rev. T. E. Loder, rector of Corner Brook, Nfld., said funds collected by the Red Shield in public appeals for charity are being used for publicizing the Salvation Army.

He charged that the Army is using ways and means "that don't reflect credit on it" to increase its membership.

The remarks were made in the lower house but when they were explained to Rt. Rev. P. S. Abraham, Bishop of Newfoundland, he said he "would go on record to the fact that the Salvation Army collects money in Newfoundland for charity and uses it for its own purposes in expanding membership."

In Toronto, Col. Robert Harewood, chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Toronto, said "it is incorrect. Any collection that is taken by us is always and absolutely used within the terms of the appeal . . . Our balance sheets are always open to public inspection."

Welsh Continue To Protest Whitehall Control

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Voices of protest against English rule are coming from the hills around here—in a language Whitehall can't understand.

They come from groups of Welshmen who do much of their talking in their own ancient tongue, and think it's time Wales broke away from the rule of London.

Welshmen who want home rule have formed themselves into a nationalist party called Plaid Cymru—the Welsh party. It is partly a political movement, partly cultural—based on love for the lilting tongue and traditional simplicity of old Wales.

MINORITY GROUP

In politics, Plaid Cmyru definitely is a minority group—most of the votes at elections go to the big English political parties.

Wales, in early times was a refuge for native Britons when wave after wave of invaders hit Britain from the east and south.

There, for hundreds of years, this dark-haired Celtic people dwelt. Life was hard, but they often relaxed to listen to the poetry and songs of their tribal bards. Their modern descendents still are musical—many British professional singers are Welsh—with a strong vein of mysticism in their character.

In mediaeval times Wales was incorporated as part of England. Owen Glendower, last independent Prince of Wales, rebelled against the King of England in 1400 and was captured nine years later.

From that time, there was no hint that any organized body wanted a politically-independent Wales for more than 500 years.

SEEK SELF-DETERMINATION

But during the peace negotiations after the First World War a group of Welsh war veterans began to ask why the Versailles Treaty principle of self-determination for small nations should not apply to Wales. They founded Plaid Cmyru—with just that in view.

Plaid Cymru attracted some other Welsh groups, but grew slowly. Membership was less than 5,000 in 1930, today had crept up to 25,000—one per cent of the population.

Modern Wales is a different proposition from the remote refuge of ancient Britons. The wide Bristol Channel, washing its southern shore, brings shipping from all parts of the world to the big Welsh ports of Cardiff and Swansea.

In the hinterland some of the best coal in the world has been found. Huge mining activities, iron and steel and other manufacturing plants now cover the industrialized south. Mountain torrents are trapped to provide hydro-electric power.

ENGLISH NATIVE TONGUE

Into this small industrialized area 75 per cent of the population of 2,500,000 has crowded — and although they talk with a pronounced Welsh lilt, the native tongue in this region is English.

All that remains of the old Welsh way of life lies among the far-sweeping thinly-populated hills to the north. Here, the farmer's wife trudging to market can still be heard talking Welsh — and here many of Plaid Cymru's supporters are found.

Others are Welsh scholars, university professors, a few political enthusiasts and students at the big Welsh universities.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Veterans of three wars reaffirmed a pledge Saturday to "hold high the torch."

More than 500 members of the Canadian Corps Association joined in a spectacle of flaming torches, colorful flags and uniforms after paying tribute to fallen comrades at a memorial service at Victoria Park. Some 5,000 persons attended the service.

London police boys' band drew a tie for first place in competition for brass bands with the Canadian Corps unit No. 104 kiltie brass band from Niagara Falls, Ont. The two bands shared equally the $150 cash prize.

The Niagara Falls memorial trumpet band, one of the smartest bands in the parade, walked off with first prize in the trumpet band class.

Argos Smash Als With 43-0 Rout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, delayed in setting the pace expected of them after a triumphant three-game pre-season exhibition tour of the east, are finally steaming ahead in the Western Canada Football League.

The Bombers were beaten in their first encounter and held to a tie in their next game but now they're riding a three-game winning streak which shot them into first place.

Their latest victory came Saturday night when they fought from behind to defeat Edmonton Eskimos 21-18 with a touchdown with less than two minutes remaining. The Eskimos' defeat, their third against one win and a tie, tumbled them from third place into the cellar, a point behind Saskatchewan Roughriders who came through with an 18-8 decision over Calgary Stampeders Saturday night. The Stamps' loss was their second straight after three successive wins and shoved them into second place.

ARGOS STUN ALS

In the east's Big Four, Toronto Argonauts have proved the big surprise. They opened their home schedule Saturday by routing Montreal Alouettes 43-0 and now are in first place with two straight wins.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, upset 33-13 by Argos a week ago, came back to trounce Ottawa Rough Riders 30-8 and make the Grey Cup champions' home debut this season a dismal one. The Riders and Tiger-Cats now are tied for second place with a win and one defeat each and the Alouettes trail in last place with two losses.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union Sarnia Imperials swept to their third straight win without defeat by whipping Windsor Royals 30-6 while the second-place Toronto Beaches scored their second win over Brantford Redskins with a 12-5 decision in a night game. Both Windsor and Brantford have yet to rack up a victory.

At Edmonton, quarterback Jack Jacobs, replaced on the offensive by Joe Zaleski after failing to show his old-time form in the Bombers' first two games, took over late in the final quarter and spearheaded a 92-yard march that ended with a short touchdown toss to Andy Sokol.

Mel Embree and Jerry Palmer converted all three touchdowns and kicked a field goal. Normie Kwong scored two touchdowns for Edmonton, both set up by long runs by Jim Chambers—one for 70 yards and the other for 37 yards. Joe Aguirre caught a pass for another Edmonton major and kicked the converts on all three.

DOBBS LEADS RIDERS

At Calgary, Glenn Dobbs disregarded a knee injury which has kept him out of three games this season to lead Saskatchewan Roughriders to their win over the Stampeders. He tossed a touchdown pass to Bob Pelling and the Riders got two more majors as a result of Calgary fumbles.

Keith Spaith's miscue on the Stamps' 23 gave the Riders a chance to march from there for a touchdown by Ken Charlton. Johnny Bright, star of the Stamps' first three wins, handed the Riders another major when he fumbled on his 30, Holland Aplin picking up the loose ball and running for the touchdown. All three Saskatchewan majors were converted by Del Wardien.

Bob Shaw, the west's leading scorer last season, kicked two field goals to give Calgary a 6-0 halftime lead. Spaith rounded out the Stamps scoring by booting two singles.

Quarterback Nobby Wirkowski, halfback Ulysses Curtis and outside Al Bruno again starred as the Argos overpowered the Alouettes with a seven-touchdown attack. Wirkowski heaved three touchdown passes, two to Bruno and one to Curtis. The speedy half also scored two other majors, racing 50 yards for one and plunging 11 yards for the other. Doug Pyzer and Joe Krol accounted for the other touchdowns and in addition Krol got two singles, one when he ran with the ball over the line on a fake convert kick. Bob Heck kicked converts on six of the majors.

ARGO DEFENCE TIGHT

The Als couldn't penetrate the tight Argo defence and were forced to rely mostly on passes from Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry to John O'Quinn. Three of Etcheverry's passes were intercepted by Ed Soergel and two of the interceptions set up Argo touchdowns.

Bill Mackrides, former quarter with Philadelphia Eagles, sparked Hamilton to their win over Ottawa by hitting Joe Shinn and Dick Brown twice with touchdown passes. Bobby MacDonald intercepted a Tom O'Malley pass to race 35 yards for another Hamilton major. MacDonald also kicked three converts and Hamilton's other points came on a convert by Mackrides and a single by Cam Fraser.

Gene (Choo-Choo) Roberts plunged over for Ottawa's only touchdown after O'Malley got them within range with a pass to Alton Baldwin. Buck Rogers converted and Bruce Cummings kicked two singles for the Riders' other points.

SCORING STAR

Corky Suchene was the scoring star for Sarnia in their win over Windsor. He scored two touchdowns to top the point-getters and was followed by Dutch Davey who kicked a field goal and four converts. Jack Glendenning and Arch McAffer also counted Sarnia majors. Cy Todd plunged for Windsor's touchdown.

Chuck Bolton scored Toronto Beaches' first major against Brantford and playing-coach Gerry Tuttle tossed a 20-yard pass to Ted Smale for their second. George Kunkel tallied Brantford's only major when he picked up the loose ball after a Toronto kick was blocked.

HIS HOMER CROWN TOTTERING — Ralph Kiner expects to end the season with 42 round trippers. There were 19 games left to play when this shot was taken. Kiner trails Hammering Hank Sauer, Chicago Cub outfielder, by four. Sauer has blasted 35, Kiner 31.

Queen To Make Strong Challenge For St. Leger

By JIM CHAMBERS

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Queen, as keen a horse racing fan as any of her subjects, will make a strong challenge for the St. Leger, last of Britain's 1952 classic races.

The mile and six-furlong race is scheduled for Doncaster, Saturday, Sept. 13. It will be the richest race in its 174 year history.

The Queen's horse in the three-year-old test will be Gay Time, a thoroughbred she has rented from the National Stud which paid $140,000 for the colt.

CURRENT SECOND CHOICE

Gay Time currently is second choice in the pre-race betting behind the Aga Khan's Tulyar, which already this season has won the Epsom Derby, the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park and the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot. Right now, Tulyar which likes to come from behind to win his races, is top money winner of all time in British racing with $170,231.

The winning St. Leger horse will get $44,577.

In three races this season Gay Time has run second to Tulyar with Lester Piggott aboard. In the St. Leger he will be ridden by Gordon Richards, Britain's champion jockey, and because of that many small money bettors are planning to invest their traditional two shillings on the Queen's horse. Tulyar's jockey will be the veteran Charlie Smirke, who has steered the horse to all the victories this year. Smirke is confident that nothing can beat the Aga Khan's horse, famed for its powerhouse stretch drive. Tulyar has shown he can win in any sort of going.

Final acceptances for the St. Leger number 19 out of the original entry of 476 in November, 1950.

FRENCH TRAINED

Five of the expected challengers will be French-trained. Among them will be Ralph Strassburger's Worden II. The Norristown, Pa., publisher's horse ran third to Tulyar in the June Derby.

Other French candidates will be Marcel Boussac's Alcinus; Prince Said Toussaint's Foudroyant II; the Duc d'Audiffre Pasquier's Ker Arden; and Emile Constant's Magnific II.

PROBABLE STARTERS

Probable starters with owners and jockeys are:

Alcinus—Marcel Boussac—Jacques Doyasbere.
Bob Major—Lord Rosebery—Billy Rickaby.
Bold Buccaneer—R. S. Belasco—Billy Snaith.
Castleton—Tommy Carey—Doug Smith.

40 Countries Complete Treaty Protecting Copyright Laws

GENEVA (AP)—Representatives of some 40 countries completed a new international treaty Saturday night to consolidate the protection of copyright through the free world. The Soviet Union and its satellites were absent.

The new treaty, known as the "General Universal Copyright Convention," calls for few major changes in the national laws of the signatory countries. But it assures for the first time, that foreign literary, scientific and artistic works will receive the same copyright protection in most countries of the free world as these countries give to the works of their own citizens.

The convention was drafted at a three-week conference here under the auspices of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. Its 21 articles leave unchanged the present fundamental difference between the copyright system generally applied in Europe, where protection continues for a fixed number of years after the author's death, and that of the majority of American republics, where protection continues for a fixed period following the date of publication of the work.

The convention establishes a universal minimum of 25 years for copyright protection granted to all works by foreign and domestic author in their original language. But it left individual governments to decide whether the 25-year-minimum period would begin with the date of publication or with the date of the author's death.

ON THE EDGE—Navy veteran Arthur Colleran (circled) teeters 150 feet above death on the roof of a 12-storey office building in Boston, Mass. The 27-year-old would-be suicide threatened to jump for some 45 minutes, but was grabbed and hauled to safety by police. Colleran said he was disheartened over not being able to find a job. He was placed under observation.

Canada Must Show She Has No Evil Intentions To Achieve Peace, PM Says

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—The necessity to demonstrate at every chance that Canada and her military allies have no "evil designs" was stressed here last night by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Mr. Laurent said that while armed strength was needed to deter Communist aggression, Canada must remember that force alone is not the answer to finding real peace. He told a public meeting held under the auspices of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce:

"As we accept—as of course we must accept—the harsh necessity of building up military strength to prevent another war, let us not forget the equal necessity to seize every chance to build up goodwill and to demonstrate to all men that we have no evil designs.

FORCE NOT ENOUGH

"Force may and, we hope, will be enough to prevent war, but force alone will never be enough to establish real peace.

"For lasting peace in the world we must learn to love our neighbors as ourselves, and we must remember that all men of all nations are our brothers."

Mr. St. Laurent spent a busy eight hours at this north coast port before leaving on the 226-mile train trip to Smithers, B. C., on what is the last lap of a meet-the-people swing through British Columbia.

From Smithers the Prime Minister will fly to Prince George for a civic luncheon and then leave by plane for Edmonton.

Mr. St. Laurent was greeted at the airport here by federal and civic officials, including E. T. Applewhaite, Liberal Member of Parliament for Skeena.

SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

First on his agenda was a trip to Booth Memorial High School where he spoke to students after being welcomed by the Fourth Prince Rupert troop of Boy Scouts.

Asked if he wished to inspect scouts in the guard of honors, he replied: "A casual inspection satisfies me that everything is in perfect order."

Following his talk to the students the Prime Minister was whisked to City Council chambers where he was introduced to aldermen. He then went to H. M. C. S. Chatham to inspect naval detachments, sea cadets and Wrens.

Red China Strips Border Area Of Indo-China Of Most Civilians

(Editor's Note: Moncay ... Tien Yen ... Port Wallut, little-known cities in Indo-China, some day may be front-page names in the news. All of them are on the logical "invasion route" for the Chinese Communists if they eventually move in on Indo-China's six-year war. Veteran A.P. correspondent Larry Allen went right up to the Red China border for his latest look at the French Union forces defending the Indo-China bastion against the Communist tide in Asia.)

By LARRY ALLEN

MONCAY, French Indo-China Frontier (AP)—Communist China is stripping all areas bordering on French-held sections of Indo-China of the civilian population and moving them far inland.

In the city of Tong Hing, directly across the International River, one can see only a handful of Chinese washing clothes or just standing on the bank and gazing wistfully at Moncay.

RED SOLDIERS KEEP WATCH

They do not do this alone. There are always red-starred Chinese Communist soldiers standing by, keeping a close watch to prevent any Chinese from trying to flee to the Moncay side.

Moncay, in the extreme northeastern tip of Indo-China, is the only French-held town that borders directly upon Red China.

The mass transfer of Chinese civilians from Tong Hing and surrounding areas into Kwangtung Province has aroused speculation that the Chinese Communists might want all border areas cleared in preparation for military action against Indo-China.

Intelligence reports indicate the Chinese Communists are trying to round up all available man power for work in factories and on farms in China's interior.

Another aim is to halt the flight of Chinese into northeastern Indo-China, populated mainly by the pro-French, minority group called the Nungs.

Moncay may someday be a front-page news name.

LOGICAL ROUTE

It is on a logical "invasion route" for the Chinese Communists if they eventually step in to aid the forces of Ho Chi Minh in the six-year-long bitter war.

Moncay lies 10 miles northeast of Haiphong, one of the chief ports for the unloading of war equipment and supplies sent by the United States to assist the French Union forces. It is linked by road and sea with Haiphong and the rest of North Tonkin—the main zone of fighting.

NUNGS WELL TRAINED

Foncay is the heart of Nung territory, and the job of defending it rests primarily with the Nungs themselves.

These tall, sturdy people have thousands of well-trained soldiers here under the command of Lt.-Col. Von-A-Sang. A Nung himself, he holds his rank in the French armed forces. Only a comparative handful of French Army or Navy officers are in Moncay to act in a liaison capacity.

The Nungs generally do not think that the Chinese Communists are going to send land or air forces into Indo-China but the order of the day in Moncay is unrelaxed alertness.

Meighen Misses Boat Just Waits Return

VANCOUVER (CP).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen missed the boat here Saturday.

The Princess Patricia was already steaming for Lions Gate Bridge, spanning the entrance to Vancouver harbor when the 78-year-old former Prime Minister came striding onto the dock.

"He didn't even look perturbed," said a dock policeman "just as though it was the most natural thing in the world for boats to come back for him."

And it did come back. A radio message brought the Princess Patricia back to the pier.

The calm Mr. Meighen walked aboard and joined members of the Canadian Bar Association for a voyage to Victoria.

No Inquest In Drowning

BEAVERTON (CP)—The body of Mrs. John McRaw, 68-year-old widow of a former reeve of Beaverton, was found in the Beaver River early yesterday. She had been in ill health for several years. Relatives said she vanished from her home during the night. No inquest will be held.

Dislikes Churchill

LONDON (Reuters) — A man described by police as mentally deranged smashed a window of Prime Minister Churchill's official residence at 10 Downing Street last night. Police sent him to a mental hospital.

Canada To Launch Protest On Cheese Restrictions

Canadian Press Staff Writer
By HAROLD MORRISON

Canada plans to launch a new protest against United States cheese import restrictions.

Trade officials at Ottawa disclose that a Canadian delegation will make a formal complaint on the matter at the next sessions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade to open in Geneva Oct. 2.

Other controversial issues which likely will be discussed:

1. Japan's application for entry into the 35-country agreement. Britain has vigorously opposed the entry. Some compromise may be reached.

2. Belgium's restrictions on imports from dollar-area countries. Both Canada and the United States have complained.

3. A request by the administrators of the Schuman plan for western European steel production to waive certain steel and coal tariff concessions outside the European area.

SLIGHT CONCESSIONS

The U. S. imposed restrictions on cheese and other dairy products in 1951, cutting down allowable imports to a quota based on imports during the base period 1948-50.

Canada and other dairy exporting countries protested, but the only concession was a slight relaxation, allowing the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture to extend the quotas by 15 per cent.

WANTS ELIMINATION

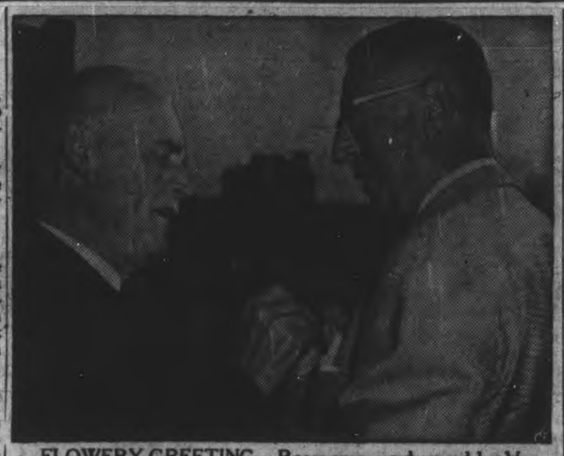
Canada believes the restrictions should be completely eliminated on the grounds they are against the spirit of the general agreement on tariffs and trade.

Canada is taking a neutral view on Japan's application for entry into the pact, principally to benefit from tariff cuts.

Although Britain is against Japan's entry, the application can be approved on a majority vote. However that doesn't mean that Britain or any other country must immediately allow Japan lower tariffs extended to other member countries.

Under article 35 of the pact, one member country can withhold tariff concessions from another under certain conditions. For example, India has declined to cut tariffs to South Africa because of that country's racial laws.

On that basis, it appears likely that some compromise may be worked out at Geneva to allow Japan to join G. A. T. T.



COMPLAIN OF DUMPING

The main complaint by some countries against Japan is that in past she has resorted to "dumping" of her products into foreign markets at such low prices that domestic manufacturing has been knocked out.

To protect Canadian industry, Canadian trade officials likely will grant some tariff concessions to Japan, but withhold others, working out details of the arrangement under a bilateral trade agreement.

CHIEF WATER ROUTE

Lake Champlain, discovered by Samual Champlain in 1609, was the chief route between Canada and New York before the railways.

FLOWERY GREETING—Roses were exchanged by Vancouver's Mayor Fred Hume and Prime Minister St. Laurent when the prime minister stepped off a train at Vancouver. Mr. St. Laurent, who arrived in Vancouver for a two-day visit after touring the central portion of British Columbia, later sailed for Vancouver Island. From there a visit to Prince Rupert and the northern B.C. coast area was scheduled as a non-political trip.

Millbrook Names Committee To Study Traffic

MILLBROOK — (ENS)—Village Council named a two-man committee to study traffic in the business section and make a report at the October meeting.

Hills at both ends of the main street and the tendency of cars to travel too fast on the street constitute a traffic hazard, council believes. Traffic lights were suggested as a means of controlling and improving the condition.

Durham County High School Board sent a letter to council asking permission to proceed with their plan to hire architects to build extensions to high schools at Bowmanville and Port Hope.

Council held up permission pending beter definition of school area boundaries. Councillors were particularly concerned with the North Cavan Township portion. It was this section that threatened last spring to break away from the Peterborough District High School Board.

Boundaries of the North Cavan section were particularly indefinite, council felt.

Councillors Raper and Larmer moved that the village hydro commission be petitioned to have street lights placed in three places. Two were asked for the Millbrook-Cavan Arena, one for Dufferin Street, and one for Marshall Street.

A grant of $20 was made to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Millbrook Legion branch to purchase photographs of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to be placed in the new Legion Hall.

Reeve Dr. J. W. Wright and village clerk T. W. Belch were instructed to fill out the petition for interim payment of the Highway Department grant.

Accounts totalling $1,374.02 were ordered paid. Salaries and a $765 gravel bill accounted for the major items.

SIGNING THE MARRIAGE REGISTER of All Saints' Church is Mrs. Stanley C. Metcalf, the former Miss Marilyn Joan Cross. The couple pledged their nuptial vows on Saturday afternoon.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Metcalf-Cross 2-Ring Rites

In a double ring ceremony Saturday in All Saints' Anglican Church, Marilyn Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Cross of Peterborough, became the bride of Stanley Carter Metcalf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metcalf of Bancroft. The marriage was performed by the Rev. M. P. Poole.

Gladioli in shades of pink and white, banked with ferns, beautifully decorated the church. Music was played by organist Miss Margaret Flowers and Miss Christina Crabb was soloist. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. At the reception afterward she sang "I'll walk beside you."

Given in marriage by her father the bride was beautifully gowned in ivory satin and French imported lace. The gown had a sweeping train with inserted panels of lace. Her veil of French imported net had an embroidered band of lily of the valley and was in fingertip length, caught to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of Bettertime roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor Miss Dorothy Smith was gowned in yellow taffeta and wore a matching headdress and mittens. Bridesmaids Misses Margaret and Helen Minicola, cousins of the bride, were gowned in orchid and blue net over taffeta with short bolero jackets, headdress and mittens to match. Each carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli.

Sandra Cross, sister of the bride, was flower girl, frocked in pink ankle-length net over taffeta with matching headdress and mittens. She carried a small cascade of mixed sweet peas.

Groomsman as Mr. Eric Hartshorn and ushers were Leslie and Kelly Metcalf, brothers of the groom.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received in a navy gown and wore matching accessories, assisted by the groom's mother who was in a grey ensemble. Each had a shoulder corsage of roses.

The bridal couple have left on a motor trip to Ottawa and points north, the bride wearing a turquoise corded taffeta dress with navy accessories for travelling. Her corsage when going away was of pink roses and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf will live at 115 Douro St. on their return.

Elinor Bird Weds Will Live In Kirkland Lake

The wedding of Miss Elinor Louise Bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bird, of Peterborough, to Mr. Gordon Alexander Davidson, of Kirkland Lake, was a lovely event in St. James' United Church Saturday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. D. McCormack in a setting of baskets of multi-colored gladioli banking the altar. Mrs. Charles Renaud played the organ before the ceremony and during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of copper ottoman cord and a hat of copper feathers and had accessories in natural shade. Her corsage was of copper pom-pom 'mums. She was attended by Mrs. Donald Kerneghan who was wearing a pink linen suit and brown accessories and had a corsage of yellow pom-pom 'mums.

The groom is son of Mrs. Alexander F. Davidson, of New Westminster, B.C., who was unable to attend the wedding. His groomsman was Mr. Douglas Bird and the ushers were Clair Crown, of Lindsay, and Laurison Ketcheson, of Belleville.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents at 93 Princess St. Her mother received in a gown of dusty rose sheer and wore black accessories and a corsage of white shasta 'mums.

For the wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, the bride topped her wedding suit with a honey beige topcoat.

The couple will live at 33 Wishman Ave., Kirkland Lake.

CWL Prov. Council Delegates Hear Speakers

KITCHENER (CP)— Ignorance, not communism, is the greatest menace facing the west today, Rt. Rev. L. J. Byrne, director of the Kingston Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League, said Sunday.

He spoke at a convention breakfast of the Ontario Provincial Council of the C.W.L. held in St. Louis Church, Waterloo.

Msgr. Byrne said the number of clergy had not increased in proportion to the size of the church and for that reason assistance rendered by the C.W.L. to the apostolate was an indispensable necessity.

Rev. Matthew G. Meehan of Woodstock spoke Saturday on women's position in society. He stressed strict adherance to the Roman Catholic laws on birth control, therapeutic abortions and sex education in schools.

While plastic materials have appeared in quantity only since about 1930, natural plastic materials were known for centuries.

DeLaPlante-Murphy Union

In St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church, Ennismore, at nine o'clock Saturday morning, nuptial vows were pledged by Nellie Murphy, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. Vincent Murphy of Ennismore, and Gerard Joseph De La Plante of Peterborough, son of Mrs. De La Plante and the late Edward De La Plante.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler of the Sacred Heart Church, Peterborough, celebrated the mass and it was served by the bride's brother, Joseph Murphy. The wedding music was played by Miss Margaret McCabe and Mr. Maurice Leonard sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" during the ceremony.

Floral setting for the wedding was of snapdragons and baby 'mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. James Holland. She wore a gown of lace and net over taffeta, finished with Queen Anne collar, and her embroidered fingertip veil was caught to a heart- shaped headdress. She carried a white moire prayer book caught with ribbon and carnations.

Matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Bert Hornby of Montreal. She was frocked in aqua net over taffeta with a brocaded taffeta top and wore a matching halo headdress and carried a nosegay of carnations. The groomsman was Mr. Gordon La Plante and ushers were Leo La Plante, R. J. MacLaren and Carl Gorshy.

The reception was held at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. James Holland in Ennismore. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Holland, received in a gown of Copenhagen blue and wore black accessories and a corsage of gladioli. The groom's mother was wearing royal blue with black accessories.

The bride and groom are now on a wedding trip in the United States, the bride travelling in a Burgundy red taffeta suit with navy accessories. They will live at 581 Chamberlain St. on their return.

CHEAPEST BREAD

In Saskatchewan a pound of bakers' bread cost an average nine cents in 1950—less than in any other province.

Dr. Winona Rostocky Weds

Many friends from out of the city attended the lovely wedding here Saturday morning of Dr. Winona Marion Rostocky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Rostocky of Peterborough, to Donald Joseph Copping, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Copping of Orillia. The ceremony was in St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church at nine o'clock with the Rev. A. A. Macdonald, pastor, officiating.

Bouquets of white and cream gladioli were on the altar table and colored gladioli decorated the body of the church. Miss Marion Downer played the wedding music.

The bride was in a gown of heavy silk corde and wore a short jacket of French lace. Her chapel length veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried her prayer book topped with small white roses and streamers of ivy.

She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miiss Adele Rostocky of Peterborough. Miss Rostocky's frock was of champagne taffeta with matching net overskirt and she wore a matching hat. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and green ivy.

Mr. John Sullivan of Montreal was the groomsman and Robert Lewis of Toronto, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered.

The reception was held on the lawn at the bride's home, 747 Charlotte St. Her mother received in a gown of hammered iridescent taffeta and wore a black velvet hat and corsage of cream roses. The groom's mother chose a grey blue silk crepe dress and a navy velvet hat and her corsage was pink roses.

When leaving afterward for a wedding trip in northern Ontario the bride had donned a dress coat of heavy eggshell corded silk and chocolate brown accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Copping will live in Toronto where the groom is completing his medical studies.

Busy Woman Doctor Finds Time To Look After House

TORONTO (CP)—One of the busiest women in Toronto is Dr. Elizabeth Wiley, who in addition to being senior assistant in obstetrics and gynaecology at Women's College Hospital looks after her own household and raises her young son John.

Dr. Wiley's life is different from that of the average mother. When she sits at home with her eight-year-old son she must make sure someone is near to take over if she is suddenly called away.

She's on call 24 hours a day. "Babies don't wait," she said in an interview.

AWKWARD HOURS

She has been called away in the midst of preparing dinner on the housekeeper's night out. She has had to take young John to hospital while she delivers a bady. Sometimes she doesn't see the boy for days. He once told a friend he would see more of his mother if he had a cot in the hospital.

Dr. Wiley claims she is "too lazy" to count the average number of hours she sleeps at night but figures on probably five hours nightly. She usually is at the hospital by 8 a. m. "if I'm not still there from the night before."

Afternoons she looks after her thriving practice, working until 7 p. m.

The busy doctor plans frequent excursions to escape from the tension of her life. In winter she skiis and in summer goes with her family to a cottage. In the fall she visits other hospitals.

Stasia Fitzgerald Is Bride Of Jos. Doris Of Otonabee

Our Lady of Asumption Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday morning when Mary Anastasia Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. John Fitzgerald and the late Mr. Fitzgerald, became the bride of Joseph James Doris, son of Mrs. Herbert Doris and the late Mr. Doris, all of Otonabee.

The Rev. W. C. McCarney performed the double ring ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

A profusion of pink and white gladioli decorated the altar. Wedding music was played by Mrs. George Carey and Miss Margaret Chretien sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John Burke, the bride chose a gown of white nylon marquisette over satin. The bodice was fitted, and extended in deep points over the skirt at front and back. It was finished with petal point sleeves and trimmed with satin applique at the neckline. The skirt was accented at the side with small twin peplums and fell into a cathedral train at the back. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion, caught to a cap of satin with a pleated brim and she carried a cascade of white gladioli.

Miss Bernadette Fitzgerald was matron of honor for her sister and Miss Catherine Fitzgerald was bridesmaid. They wore similar gowns of white embroidered organdy over taffeta in aqua and chartreuse. The taffeta slips were fashioned on peasant lines with strapless fitted bodice and a bouffant ankle length skirt. Capes of matching material adorned their shoulders and they wore matching half hats and carried cascades of pink and yellow gladioli.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Frank Doris and the ushers were Vincent Doris and Gerald Doris.

Dinner was served to the guests in the parish hall and a reception followed at the bride's home. Her mother received in a gown of navy crepe with navy velvet accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of Bermuda rose with navy velvet accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride and groom left later on a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, the bride travelling in a two-piece suit of grey and heather check with navy accessories. She wore a white gardenia corsage when going away.

Mr. and Mrs. Doris will live in Otonabee on their return.

Council Protests Liquor Ads Being Used

TORONTO (CP) — A protest against the type of liquor advertising appearing in Ontario newspapers has been sent to Liquor Commissioner Arthur Welsh by the executive of the Dominion Woman's Association Council of the United Church of Canada.

A similar objection was made Aug. 25 by Gordon Shewfelt, president of the Ontario Temperance Federation.

The council in its letter to Mr. Welsh said such phrases as "just the thing for cool refreshment," "enjoy" or "a week-end reminder" are printed in big black type in the brewers' advertisements. They are followed by what the council calls "some very small type containing trivial matter not likely to be read," and then large type with the brewing company's name.

The council's letter added:

"As a council, we doubt whether such advertising is actually legal. It certainly violates the whole intention of the act, which is to prevent the advertising of the product itself. It seems to us as a council that the Liquor Control Board should exist to preserve not only the letter but also the intention of the law. We understand that such advertisements are submitted to the Liquor Control Board for approval and we would like to feel certain that an effort is being made to prevent the present evasion."

O'Connor-Sullivan Nuptials

The marriage took place in St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning of Agnes Gertrude Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Sullivan, to Leonard Edgar O'Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Connor. The Rev. J. J. Hickey officiated.

The church was decorated in pink and white gladioli and the music was played by Mrs. Cyril O'Donnell. During the nuptial mass, Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On this Day," "Panis Angelicus" and the "Ave Maria".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white corded taffeta with fitted bodice having lace insets in the yoke, long sleeves and a full skirt with a short train. Her floor length veil was of silk illusion enhanced with a border of sheer embroidery and adorning her head was a hand beaded tiara of tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white gladioli.

The brides sister, Mrs. J. Sullivan, was her only attendant. She wore an ankle length gown of yellow nylon over taffeta with a matching cape and picture hat. She carried a nosegay of roses and gladioli. Groomsman was Mr. Gregory O'Connor, brother of the groom and the ushers were Jack Sullivan and Frank Collins.

A reception was held in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of charcoal grey with a hat of ruby toned velvet. She wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of flash blue with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Montreal. For travelling the bride wore a grey suit with navy accessories. They will live at 160 Benson Ave. on return.

Man Seeks His Freedom Tired Of Responsibility

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for 15 years and, although I have a fine wife, I want to be free. We have worked hard to own our home and car. We have a good income, I belong to various clubs, like to play golf and want to feel free to go where I want, where I want, without worrying about my wife waiting at home for me. We fell out of love a long time ago and I don't see any reason to go on like this. There is no one else. Why is it in life we have to hurt the ones we love?

TIM

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you succeed in your plan to shed a devoted wife, you will be hurting yourself far more than you will hurt her. You are assuming that she isn't in love with you any longer, and I think you are making a like assumption about your own feelings, in order to gratify a desire for freedom that is, I assure you nothing more than temporary.

YOU WON'T BE HAPPY

You place much importance on lessening your responsibilities (which seem very small). Let me tell you, the day you face the world without responsibility or obligation will be the saddest one of your life. It's a tragic fact that many people are actually resentful of responsibility yet, when they are faced with the loneliness that complete freedom brings, they rail to high heaven. Make no mistake about it, responsibilities toward other human beings are the greatest blessings God sends us.

What you aim to do, Tim, is replace the ministrations and love of a devoted, considerate wife with the conviviality of golf companions. My, but you're in for a letdown! When you have to depend on these men for solace in time of trouble, care in time of sickness, or comfort in time of fatigue, you'll look a long time. They are not going to break — or even strain — their own family ties to match your unlimited freedom, so there will be plenty of lonely hours for you, my son. There are far worse things than a lovely wife waiting home for you at night. And why keep her waiting every night? How about taking her along on an occasional jaunt?

Think this matter over very carefully, Tim, before you come to a rash decision. You won't care for the free life very long; it can become most palling.

DEAR MISS DIX: I come from a large family and my parents are very strict. I am 18 years old and have to be in nights at 12. Also, I have to save most of my money so I have little for clothes. Nine months ago I met a sailor who is 19. I wrote to him, and in all his letters he said he loved me and wanted to marry me. He came home two weeks ago and I saw him for a few hours. Again he talked of marriage. But since then I haven't seen him. Should I write and ask why he hasn't been in touch with me?

B. J.

ANSWER: Your first set of worries, about your treatment at home, are not altogether just. Midnight is a fair curfew for a girl of 18, and the fact that you are expected to save money is good training for later life. Learn to make your clothes, and they won't cost so much.

As for the boy, you have been rather overwhelmed by a uniform. He, I am sorry to say, is not a very serious type, and best forgotten.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I had an affair with my secretary which ended in a very public blow-up. My wife stuck by me loyally when I needed her. She saved me a great deal of trouble, but I can feel the change in her now. How can I convince her that I am truly sorry for the episode?

MR. PHILANDERER

ANSWER: When will callous man ever realize that a wife's heart can be broken by these extra-marital romances they dismiss so easily, and that a broken heart is not easily mended? You had an affair that ended rather disastrously for you and so, as far as you are concerned, the matter should end. You don't deserve the fine wife you have, and a lifetime of abject devotion wouldn't begin to pay for her loyalty. It's up to you to discover how you can convince her of your love, and you'd better make it very convincing.

MOULDED TUNA-RICE LOAF is just one of the many grand dishes you'll be making when you learn of this speedy new way to make cream sauce.

Cream Sauces Are Basis For So Many Things To Eat

"Got any new cooking hints or recipes?" is the $64 question constantly being asked by Canadian homemakers. And it's one that keeps food experts on the hop. A brand new idea is here suggested.

It's a recipe for cream sauce, made in a completely different manner from that "basic" recipe used so often. This new method of preparation is time saving and works like a charm.

Use it in the Molded Tuna-Rice Loaf — for a luncheon or supper treat. And with our wonderful fall vegetables right at their peak, creamed vegetables will certainly hit the spot, prepared as we're suggesting in the recipe for Vegetable Cream Cups.

QUICK CREAM SAUCE (MEDIUM)

(Makes 1 cup sauce)
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
6 soda crackers
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Heat the milk and butter in top of double boiler over hot water till very hot. Roll out soda crackers with rolling pin until very fine. Gradually add to milk in double boiler and beat with rotary beater until thick and smooth. Season with pepper.

Thin Cream Sauce: Reduce soda crackers in above recipe to 4 and make as for medium cream sauce.

Thick Cream Sauce: Increase soda crackers in above recipe to 8 and make as for medium cream sauce.

TUNA-RICE LOAF

(Makes 4 to 6 Servings)
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups cooked rice
1 (7 ounce) can tuna fish
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 cup quick cream sauce (medium)
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon Worcestershir sauce

Combine melted butter and rice. Butter a 1½ quart size mold and line it with rice, reserving ½ cup to go on the top. Mix together remaining ingredients. Fill the rice mold with this mixture, then spread remaining rice over top. Place mold in pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes or until done. Serve with a tomato, curry or tartare sauce if desired.

VEGETABLE CREAM CUPS

(Makes 6 servings)
6 large tomatoes
1½ cups quick Cream Sauce (medium)
1½ cups cooked vegetables (celery, peas, carrots, etc.)

Cut top off tomatoes and hollow out the inside. Sprinkle the inside of the tomato shell with salt and pepper, then invert to drain for 15 minutes.

Combine hot cream sauce with cooked vegetable and fill the tomatoes. Place in a buttered baking dish (with enough water in bottom to prevent scorching) and bake in a moderate over (350 degrees F.) for 10 to 15 minutes or until hot. (If desired, top with buttered bread crumbs before baking).

NOTE.—This may be done with onions as well as tomatoes. Remove outside skins of onions and cook in boiling salted water for 20 to 25 minutes or until nearly tender. Drain and cool. Cut a thin slice from the root end of onion and carefully remove centre. If desired, chop onion centres and combine with cooked vegetables. Fill onions with creamed mixture and follow the above method.

Parfait Pies May Be Sweet But How Good

The Parfait Pie has now become a Band Wagon which I am boarding reluctantly.

Parfait Pies are too sweet for this gal, so when you folks write to me and ask for recipes for them and different varieties of them and ways to change them to suit your budget or taste, I am at sea.

(How's that for mixing metaphors? In first paragraph I'm on a band wagon; in second paragraph I'm in a boat!)

So I was driven to my kitchen (in my wagon I suppose) and proceeded to Create.

We had this creation, icy cold, for dinner on Sunday night. My family, my sisters and my neighbors were present at an otherwise barbecue supper. They know that anything new is destined for this column, so after their first bites they all nodded approval with their mouths full, meaning it was good enough for my beloved column readers.

BLUEBERRY PARFAIT PIE
(No Ice-cream)

One tablespoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 4 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup of lemon juice, fresh or canned, 4 egg whites stiffly beaten, 1 OR 1½ cups fresh (or frozen) blueberries. Soak the gelatin in the cold water for at least 5 minutes. In top of double boiler stir together ½ cup of the sugar, the salt, and egg yolks, and when thoroughly mixed, stir in the lemon juice. Stir this over simmering water constantly, until it thickens, and coat back of spoon. Remove from heat and stir in the soaked gelatin at once. Beat the whites until very frothy, then add the remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until very stiff and creamy. Fold the whites and 1 cup washed and dried blueberries into the cooked mixture until it is smoothly mixed. Pour into baked pie shell. (This may be poured into a graham cracker crust which has been baked.) Sprinkle top with ½ cup perfect big blueberries. Let cool and set at room temperature. Chill in refrigerator at least an hour before serving. These quantities will fill a 9-inch deep pie plate. Pie is 1¼ inches thick and will serve 6 people adequately—it could be stretched to serve 7.

How does the idea sound of using apple sauce as part of the liquid of a cream pie? It appealed to me, so I tried it—particularly since I had a huge bowl of strained apple sauce in the refrigerator that was crowding everything else off the shelves and action had to be taken.

APPLE CREAM PIE

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 8 tablespoons (½ cup sifted) flour, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 beaten egg yolks, 1½ cups milk, 1½ cups apple sauce (strained, but unsweetened), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 baked pastry shell—9-inch, 4 tablespoons icing sugar, 2 or 3 egg whites. Melt the butter in top of double boiler. Add sugar, flour salt and yolks and mix very well, then add milk and apple sauce and stir over boiling water until thick, then cook covered for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell. This may be made in a cookie crumb or graham cracker crumb crust. Make a meringue by beating the egg whites with the icing sugar until stiff. Spread this attractively over the filling, and bake at 325 degrees Fahr. to delicately brown meringue. Serve cold.

FRYING PAN PEACH PIE

This is for the speed artists who have to make desserts on the run. It is like a cobbler because shortcake dough is used. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, and cut into them 3 tablespoons shortening with a pastry blender. Stir into them to make a soft dough a little more than ⅓ cup milk. Roll or pat out to ¼-inch thickness. Line an 8-inch frying pan (or baking dish), allowing some of the dough to hang over the edge.

Slice into it 6 fresh peeled peaches. Mix together ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle over peaches. Dot with 1½ tablespoons butter. Fold hanging dough over fruit, leaving an uncovered space at the centre. Bake at 425 degrees Fahr. for about 25 minutes. Serve with cold pouring cream or top milk.

Suffocating "Hot Flashes" stopped or strikingly relieved—in doctors' tests!

Lydia Pinkham's action through sympathetic nervous system—relieves distress of the "heatwaves"

• Are you going through "change of life"—suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this difficult time?

Then... here's hope for you. In tests by doctors — on their own patients — Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave relief from such distress. Complete or striking relief! In case after case!

Scientifically modern action!

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Surely you know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

Before another day has passed—try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ... or the new, improved Tablets (with added iron)... and discover how much easier your "change of life" may be!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's is grand, too, for functional cramps and "weak" feelings of menstruation! Millions of younger women, and girls, take it regularly—throughout the month—for this purpose!

6—In Memoriam

CROWE—In loving memory of George Crowe, who passed away September 8, 1946.
God called him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Ever remembered by wife and family Ottie, Keith, Clint, Lou.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the attending doctors, sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, also friends who called and sent fruit, flowers and cards during my illness. Mrs. Max Reid.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to Rev. R. J. Garvey, C.G.E., many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during our recent sad bereavement. Mrs. L. Hefferman, Marlene and Joan.

30,000 Lumber Workers Get New Contract

TORONTO (CP) — A new contract, covering 30,000 workers in Ontario's forest industry, has been signed between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners for the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union (A.F.L.) and 19 pulp and paper companies and timber operators, it was announced today.

The new agreement, signed Saturday following almost two weeks' continuous negotiations, provides for a revised union security clause which requires all employees to become members of the union within 30 days of starting employment. This was reduced from 90 days which was established last year in the union shop contract.

No mention of wages was in the announcement.

CONTRACT PROVISIONS

Other provisions of the contract include provision for two paid statutory holidays for the first time in the industry, guarantees that companies must give preference to union members in hiring, and broadening of job classifications which require union membership.

The agreement, retroactive to Sept. 1, also provides for the maintenance of the board rate paid by workers of $1.75 a day which includes meals and accommodation.

Andrew V. Cooper of Toronto, executive board member of the union, who headed the 50-member bargaining delegation, said the agreement, which will run for one year, brought many new gains which ensured industrial peace in the wood industry in Northern Ontario.

He said the clause which requires workers to become union members within 30 days of employment "greatly strengthens the union's position for bargaining with the companies on future issues."

Wayne Sawyer, Kapuskasing, President of Local 2995 of the Lumber and Sawmill workers said that the agreement is probably the largest single industry contract to be negotiated in Ontario.

In addition to the over-all agreement, local supplementary agreements in various areas have yet to be completed, Mr. Sawyer said.

HARMONIOUS RESULTS

Spokesmen for the 19 companies, Earl Rowe, president of Great Lakes Paper Company Limited, and Clark B. Davis, vice-president of Woodlands, Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited, said in a statement that the contract "symbolizes the harmonious results that can be achieved under collective bargaining without loss of time or wages or production in an industry basically essential to the livelihood of thousands of Canadians beyond those directly employed in the forest."

The companies are: Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited; Driftwood Lands and Timber Limited; The Great Lakes Paper Company Limited; Hammermill Paper Company; The K V P Company Limited; Long Lac Pulp and Paper Company Limited; Marathon Ppaper Mills of Canada, Limited; Newaygo Timber Company, Limited; Nipigon Lake Timber Company Limited; Northern Paper Mills Limited; Northern Wood Preservers Limited; The Ontario Paper Company Limited; The Ontario-Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company Limited; Ripco Timber Company limited; St. Lawrence Corporation; Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company Limited; Oscar Styffe Limited; Upper Canada Timber Company Limited, and E.V. Woolings, Limited.

SCORES UPSET

TORONTO (CP)—Irwin Klein, non-ranking player from Los Angeles, Saturday night scored one of the prize upsets of the Canadian and International table tennis championships at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Klein turned tables on Carl Dentice of Milwaukee, Wis., No. 1 U. S. junior, to take the junior men's singles 21-19, 21-13, 20-22, 21-19.

The three-day tournament, which saw a record entry of 130 Canadian and U. S. players, wound up Saturday.

Second major surprise of the evening was the performance of Bob Wilkenfield and Howard Bornstein, both of New York city, who defeated Sol Schiff and John Somael, ranking third and fifth in U. S. singles, 21-19, 15-21, 21-18, 21-19 in the men's open doubles.

Officials agreed that Schiff appeared off-style in the opening rounds of the tournament but he scotched all doubts as to his ability when he bounced back in the men's singles successfully to defend his crown by whipping Somael 21-15, 17-21, 21-15, 21-18.

A new entrant this year was Jeugenija Kapostins, former Polish national champion now living in Toronto. She won the women's closed singles by defeating Joan Jessop, Toronto, 21-12, 11-21, 21-16, 21-13.

FERRIER WINS OPEN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Jim Ferrier won the Empire State Open golf tournament yesterday, but failed to break the Professional Golfers' Association tournament record of 259 over 72 holes. The San Franciscan, who had burned up the course in the first three rounds, "blew" to a par 70 for a total of 262. The win was Ferrier's first since he won the 1951 Canadian Open. He drew down first prize money of $2,400.

CHICAGO EDGES WINDSOR

CHICAGO (AP)—Sparta of Chicago wiped out a 1-0 first-period deficit to defeat the Corinthians of Windsor, 4-2 yesterday in an exhibition soccer match.

119 Holsteins Entered At Fair

Jerry Nelson, Holstein fieldman, reports 119 entries by twelve breeders in the Black and White section of the dairy cattle show at the Exhibition this week. He is expecting that the dozen Holstein men from Peterborough, Durham and Ontario counties will carry out their intentions of exhibiting.

The Peterborough group includes: Stewart Nelson, Stanley Wood, Norm McConkey, James Bishop, Earl Doris, Fred Bolton, Richard and Allan Davis. From Ontario county are Roy Ormiston and Robert Flett; and from Durham, James T. Brown, J. Earle Brown and J. H. Jose.

J. T. Brown was a big winner at Ottawa Central, and repeated at Durham Black and White Day, Saturday at Orono where the senior and grand male championships went to Central Durham Bull Club on their Glenafton Futurity.

At Orono, A. Muir & Sons of Courtice won the Premier Breeder honors for the tenth consecutive year. They won all four female championships. Mr. Nelson went on today to Napanee, and is returning to Peterborough on Tuesday.

W. Ray Wilson of Kenmore will be judge of Holsteins here Thursday.

C's Ousted In Ball

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Shallow Lake junior baseball squad doubled their previous shut-out victory score against Campbellford on Saturday afternoon when they piled up a 12 to 0 count against the local lads.

Shallow Lake take their baseball seriously, and have yet to be defeated this season. They are the junior champions, and most of the credit for their victories should go to their pitcher, Keith Weiss, who hails from the Napanee area. He allowed only a few hits on Saturday. This was Campbellford's first season in junior baseball, and being pitted against the champions in their first attempt proved too much for the lads.

Shallow Lake—M. Noble, lf; Loucks, 2b; Weiss, p; J. Noble, c; D. Noble, 1b; Freeman, cf; Saxton, 3b; Gaurd, rf; Pembroke, ss.

Campbellford—Dooher, rf; Reid, 3b; Jeffs, cf; Bennett, c; White, 2b; Herd, lf; Lee, 1b; McFarlane, ss; Baker and McNaughton, p.

Umpires: Plate, Calladine of Peterborough; bases, Payne, of Peterborough.

C. Frederick Brown

The funeral of Charles Frederick Browne, 665 Bethune St., who died Thursday was held Saturday from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Thomas Pritchard, Bill McWilliams, Bill Rose, Fred Dearborn, Bert Frost, Guy Quartermaine. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

E. A. Outram Queen's Speaker

E. A. (Ted) Outram, city clerk, will be one of the speakers at the two-day Eastern Ontario Regional Planning Conference being held this week at Queen's University in Kingston.

His subject will be "Acquiring Land For Housing Development."

The conference is being jointly conducted September 12-13 by the Ontario Division of the Community Planning Association of Canada and the Kingston Planning Board.

Under the topic "Planning in Smaller Municipalities" such matters as provincial legislation, urban and rural concern with suburban planning and the problems faced by a planning board in a municipality will be discussed. And under the topic "Planning Implications of the St. Lawrence Seaway," the Ontario Hydro's proposal for power development and the federal government plans for the construction of the seaway will be considered.

Principle speakers will be G. H. Challies, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro, and T. Gordon McLeod, secretary to the Minister of Transport.

Representatives from nearly 30 Eastern Ontario communities will attend.

Perth Pair Captures Campbellford Trophy

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Thirty-two rinks from Peterborough, Kingston, Perth, Cobourg, Brighton, Trenton, Belleville, Madoc and Stirling competed for the Walter Wiggins Trophy for doubles at the bowling green here Saturday.

Competition was keen and the greens were in excellent condition for the tournament. After the games, the lady members served a turkey dinner in the club house. Prizes for the various games were presented by Mr. Wiggins, of Campbellford.

First prize went to Roy Clark and R. Walker, of Perth, with a score of 42 plus 2. Second prize for three wins went to Jack Ballantyne and Joe Poulton, of Campbellford. W. A. Kingston and Austin Putnam, of Campbellford, placed third, and the Jones brothers, of Peterborough, were fourth.

A rink skipped by Bill Fuller, of Trenton, was high for two wins and the high spot for one win was taken by a mixed rink comprising J. W. Davison, of Belleville, and R. D. McDonald, of Campbellford.

Obituary

MISS EMMA LOUISA TULLY

One of the last members of a Scotch farming family of Fowler's Corners, Smith township, Miss Emma Louisa Tully died in a Peterborough nursing home on Sunday in her 80th year.

She was born in the district, daughter of the late Andrew Tully and Hannah Archer, and except for the past few years, lived a lifetime at Fowler's Corners. A sister, Miss Mary J. Tully, and two brothers, Robert and John, all of Smith, predeceased her.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. Lillian Madill of James St., Peterborough. Another sister, Mrs. Ed. Sanderson, the former Agnes Tully, died five years ago. Miss Tully was a member of Lakevale Presbyterian Church, Smith.

Funeral service will be held at the Kaye funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Best Year Ever At C.N.E. Finances Show

TORONTO (CP) — The 1952 Canadian National Exhibition has been the best ever from the dollar point of view, officials said today.

The 73rd annual fair, spread over 350 acres, had drawn 2,717,000 persons, 18,000 more than last year but 16,000 less than the record year of 1950. Total of visitors for the final day was 259,000, 14,000 less than for the same day last year.

Although the final figures are not yet ready, C. N. E. officials and nearly everyone else feel they have had a record year financially. General Manager Elwood Hughes says: "Everybody seems happy about the financial side of this year's exhibition." And speaking of the grandstand show, he said: "We think we'll end up about $10,000.. ahead of 1950 when Danny Kaye gave us our best money-making show."

TOP BILLING

Saturday closed as the two-week exhibition had opened with sports events receiving top billing. About 3,500 persons saw Orange Lionettes of Orange, Calif., beat Phoenix Ramblers 2-0 to take the women's world softball title for the third successive year. The Canadian and International table tennis championships also finished after three days of play, with some 130 entrants from the United States and Canada.

Thousands of army, air force and naval cadets paraded through the grounds for citizenship and cadet day.

C.N.E. President J. A. Northey officiated at the closing ceremonies on the outdoor bandshell where the fair was opened by Governor-General Vincent Massey.

One of the most popular features of the "Ex" was the farm section. There were 350 exhibitors in the livestock classes and of these 46 were father and son combinations.

Soon after midnight Saturday, preparations were begun on the 1953 C. N. E. and a few hours later a sign appeared at the western entrance: "Visit the C. N. E. Aug. 28 to Sept. 12."

Week's Remand On Theft Count

The three men charged in connection with the theft of outboard motors in the district were today remanded an additional week when they appeared for the second time in police court. Bail was continued at $2,000.

Joseph Larocque, 39, of Toronto, changed his plea to not guilty to a charge of retaining a stolen motor. Lawrence Howell, 43, and Herbert Halstead, 38, both pleaded not guilty a week ago to eight charges of theft.

The three men were arrested in Toronto Wednesday and brought to Peterborough by O.P.P. Constables Lyle Erskine and John Cawood.

Expect Board Ruling On Salary In 2 Weeks

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Police here expect an arbitration board decision within two weeks on their request for a salary equal in purchasing power to their 1939 wage of $150 a month. A first-class constable now receives $256.

The police association also wants 12 statutory holidays, two weeks' annual leave, a 44-hour week instead of the present 48-hour week and a yearly clothing allowance of $150 for the city's one detective.

Unborn Calf Gift Of Father To Son Before His Death Named Jr. Female Champion

The heifer calf which the late Joseph T. Tully of Otonabee selected as a gift for his young son, Alan, was junior female champion at Peterborough county Black and White Day at Keene, Saturday.

One of the premier breeders of Holstein cattle in this province, Mr. Tully died rather suddenly at his farm home on March 17, 1952. His good herd included the "Excellent" cow, Lily Pabst Posch as rated by the Canadian Holstein Breeders' Association. Not long before his death, Mr. Tully had decided that, if an expected calf was a heifer, it was to be a gift to Alan, who is now nine years old.

At the dispersal sale of the Tully herd in April of last year, the boy's calf was excluded from the auctioneer's list.

And so, it came about that Alan Tully, just a boy, was among the Holstein exhibitors at Keene, his calf was placed first in the junior yearling heifer class, comprising ten entries, and was awarded the reserve junior female championship.

The incident injected a note of sentiment into the competition of the eighteen herd owners, and the business of showmanship, and recalled to the breeders the constructive and helpful leadership which Mr. Tully had given the Peterborough Holstein Club as an active director for years and sometime president.

Alan Tully also showed a senior heifer calf which placed sixth in the most numerous class of the day.

J. M. Fraser of Streetsville picked out ten of the twenty entries, and then proceeded to place them. Alan Tully's calf was "Otonabee Gerben Hope," a daughter of the Fraser sire, Spring Farm Fond Hope, and born after Mr. Tully's death. The dam was reserved from the dispersal sale.

18 EXHIBITORS

The program listed 18 Peterborough County exhibitors. In that particular number of breeders the Saturday Black and White Day was a notable success. That company appeared to promise distribution of the top awards, but as it turned out, Norman McConkey of Lifloc Farm gathered in 16 firsts in the 22 classes.

He was awarded two of the six bull classes, eight of the 10 female classes, and all the six groups from junior get of sire to dam and daughter, any age.

The breeders represented in the ring were: James Bishop, Fred J. Bolton, Charles Bolton, Crowley Brothers, R. S. Davidson, Donald E. Davis, Earl Doris, Richard and Allan Davis, Elmhurst Brothers, Ernest Fife, N. W. McConkey, C. E. Moore, Stewart Nelson, Ira Robson, Alan Stewart, Alan Tully and Stanley Wood, L. S. Downer.

Mr. Fraser, one of the most successful breeders of Holsteins in this country, discussed his awards in every class. He admitted that he had encountered difficulty in the class for mature wet cows which provided the senior and grand championships. One of his comments on that class was that the Elmhurst Brothers entry from Birdsalls tempted him to place her first, but he explained the details of his final decision putting her fourth. That is how close some of the decisions were, and especially that one.

LITTLE SMALL

In the class for two-year wet heifers, Mr. Fraser said the McConkey Re-Echo entry was an easy winner, "but she could be a little larger."

The results of the show were as follows:

Grand and senior champion bull: Elmhurst Bros., on Lennack Repeat Sovereign.

Reserve senior and grand champion bull: Ira Robson & Son, on Donwood Major.

Junior champion bull: Earl Doris on his senior calf, Doriscroft Sterling Mark; and reserve junior champion: N. W. McConkey, on Pabst Walker Robarbel.

Grand and senior champion female: N. W. McConkey on Kenmore Mona Supreme.

Reserve grand and reserve senior: N. W. McConkey, on Nellie Duchess Cruiser.

Junior champion female: R. S. Davidson on Mary Patsy Sensation.

Reserve junior champion female: Alan Tully on Otonabee Lily Posch.

Junior bull calf: N. W. McConkey (one entry).

Senior bull calf: 1 Earl Doris, on Doriscroft Sterling Mark; 2 N. W. McConkey, 3 and 4 James Bishop; 5 Stewart Nelson.

Bull, junior yearling: 1 Crowley Bros. on Thornholm R. A. Silver Supreme; 2 Stanley Wood.

Bull, senior yearling: 1 N. W. McConkey on Pabst Walker Eybright; 2 Stewart Nelson; 3 Chas. Bolton.

Bull, 2 years: 1 Elmhurst Bros. on Lennack Repeat Sovereign; 2 Ira Robson & Son; 3 Alan Stewart.

Bull, 3 years and over: 1 Fred J. Bolton on Lifloc Legend Supreme.

Cow, 4 years and over, dry: 1 N. W. McConkey on Nellie Duchess Cruiser; 2 N. W. McConkey; 3 McConkey; 4 and 5 Richard and Allan Davis.

Cow, 4 years and over, wet—1 McConkey on Kenmore Mona Supreme; 2 and 7 McConkey; 3 S. Nelson; 4 Elmhurst Bros.; 5 and 6 S. Nelson.

Heifer, 3 years, wet—1 McConkey; 2 Stewart Nelson; 3 McConkey; 4 James Bishop; 5 Stanley Wood.

Heifer, two years, dry—1 McConkey on Lifloc Supreme Scepter; 2 Stanley Wood; 3 Charles E. Moore; 4 Crowley Bros.; 5. L. S. Downer.

Heifer, 2 years, wet—1 McConkey on Lifloc Signet Scepter Re-Echo; 2 and 4 S. Wood; 3 Richard and Allan Davis; 5 C. E. Moore.

Heifer, senior yearling—1 R. S. Davidson on Mary Patsy Sensation; 2 James Bishop; 3 and 5 Stewart Nelson; 4 McConkey.

Heifer, junior yearling—1 Alan Tully; 2 Stanley Wood; 3 Earl Doris; 4 Richard and Allan Davis; 5 S. Nelson.

Heifer, senior calf (19 entries)—1 and 4 N. W. McConkey; 2 Charles Bolton; 3 Earl Doris; 5 S. Nelson.

Heifer, junior calf—1 N. W. McConkey; 2 Earl Doris; 3 Stewart Nelson; 4 James Bishop; 5 Stanley Wood.

Junior get of sire— 1 N. W. McConkey on Roamer Dean Walker Lad; 2 James Bishop (Spring Farm Fond Hope); 3 Stewart Nelson; 4 Stanley Wood; 5 Richard and Allan Davis.

Junior herd—1 N. W. McConkey; 2 Earl Doris; 3 S. Wood; 4 S. Nelson; 5 Charles Bolton.

Graded herd—1 N. W. McConkey; 2 Stewart Nelson; 3 Stanley Wood.

Senior get of sire—1 and 2 N. W. McConkey, from Elmcroft Scepter and Montvic Sylvius Supreme.

Progeny of dam—1 N. W. McConkey on Jennie Apex Keyes; 2 Richard and Allan Davis; 3 R. S. Davidson; 4 E. Doris; 5 S. Wood.

Dam and daughter, any age—1 and 2 N. W. McConkey; 3 S. Nelson; 4 Stanley Wood; 5 N. McConkey; 6 R and A. Davis.

Southern Belle Wins Title Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A green-eyed southern belle, Neva Jane Langley, won the Miss America beauty contest Saturday night.

The 19-year-old, dark-haired beauty is five feet, 6¼ inches tall, weighs 118 pounds, has a 35-inch bust, 23-inch waist and 35-inch hips.

A student at Wesleyan Conservatory of Music in Macon, Ga., she received the Miss America crown from last year's titleholder, Colleen Kay Hutchins, former Miss Utah.

Miss Langley will receive a $5,000 scholarship, $4,000 in cash, a number of gifts, including an automobile, and a chance to earn thousands of dollars in personal appearance fees.

Last year's Miss America was reported to have made $40,000 in her tours through the United States, Canada and South America.

Fifty-two beauties from the U. S., its territories and Canada competed. Marilyn Reddick of Toronto, Canada's entry, did not reach the finals.

Toronto Station Starts Regular TV Service

by TIM DICKSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's second television station, CBLT, tonight starts its regular program service with a brace of homegrown talent.

Its official opening follows by two days the debut of TV station CBFT in Montreal.

While many viewers in the Montreal area had seldom seen television before, the Toronto station serves an area in which for more than two years set owners have been able to watch programs from Buffalo's WBEN-TV. The Buffalo station carries programs from four United States networks and advertises that it has the "top 20" U. S. TV programs.

However, CBC-TV officials are confident they can hold the Toronto area's potential audience of 2,500,000 persons with distinctively Canadian programs. First-week schedules for CBLT feature the Leslie Bell singers and other artists familiar to radio listeners, as well as such newcomers as Jack Conway and his puppets, weather man Percy Saltzman, and the singing foursome of Terry and the three Macs—Terry Griffin of Noranda, Que., and the MacGillivray Brothers, John, Jim and Bill, from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Also planned are The Big Revue, a weekly variety show, Sunshine Sketches based on the Stephen Leacock stories, a six-part adaptation of Jules Verne's 20,000 Leagues under the Sea and a weekly dramatic series, as well as sports features, quiz shows, newsreels and feature films. Mobile units can pick up special events.

In addition, kinescope recordings of programs produced in the Montreal television studios will be telecast here.

Station CBLT on channel 9 has been transmitting test programs of films and Canadian National Exhibition activities for the last two weeks. Its officials received reports of favorable reception from viewers within a radius of about 100 to 125 miles, including such points as London, Buffalo, Kitchener, Hamilton and Cobourg.

It is using a temporary aerial, pending completion this fall of its 500-foot steel tower beside its new five-storey studio building on Jarvis Street in Central Toronto.

The station now uses about 4,000 watts on its picture signal and 2,000 watts for sound. With the new aerial, it will boost its power to 26,500 watts on the picture and 13,500 watts on the sound.

For the present, CBLT will be on the air about three hours each evening. It plans to extend its service later to provide an afternoon program and to make further extensions as material and sponsors become available.

Tonight's 15-minute opening ceremonies over CBLT will include addresses by Prime Minister St. Laurent, Revenue Minister McCann, Chairman A. D. Dunton of the CBC's Board of Governors and Fergus Mutrie, director of CBC television in Toronto.

Left Lakefield Years Ago, Back For Visit

LAKEFIELD (E.N.S.)—A resident of the Maritimes for many years, but now living in Toronto, Dr. H. C. Rice returned to Lakefield this week for a brief visit. Born here 78 years ago he was the son of the Rev. Stephen Henry Rice, who was minister of the Lakefield Bible Christian Church. This church is now owned by the Roman Catholics and is known as St. Paul's. The Bible Christian Church entered into union with the Methodist Church here in 1886, Dr. Rice recalled.

Although Dr. Rice was very young when he left Lakefield he has always had a desire to return and renew acquaintance with friends of his parents.

Dr. Rice had two brothers, the Rev. C. H. Rice who died some years ago and the Rev. Jabez Rice a retired minister now living in Millerton, N. B.

He was accompanied on his visit to the village by his wife, his sister, Mrs. Rogers and her husband, the Rev. A. S. Rogers, a retired United Church minister. Another sister also married a member of the clergy, Mrs. Stephen Irving and her husband is a United Church minister at Cranbrook, B. C. Still another sister was at one time matron of Lamont United Church Hospital and later became the wife of Lawrence Squair of Bowmanville.

Dr. Rice also recalled that his father always wore a sprig of cedar in his lapel and, remembering where he obtained the cedar, he too was wearing some.

Maple Syrup Crop Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's 1952 maple syrup crop was 2,979,000 gallons, 57 per cent more than in 1951, the Quebec Bureau of Statistics announced yesterday. Aggregate value of the province's maple products was $10,095,000, a 49-per-cent increase over 1951 at $6,797,000.

Star Gertrude Lawrence Had Rags To Riches Career

NEW YORK (AP) — Gertrude Lawrence, whose ability to do almost anything on the stage made her the toast of two continents, died in New York hospital Saturday at the age of 51.

Miss Lawrence, a top star for more than 25 years, left her Broadway role in "The King and I" Aug. 16 for treatment of yellow jaundice.

However, a family associate said the jaundice was not the cause of her death. He said an autopsy would be performed in an effort to determine the cause.

She went to the hospital only at the insistence of her husband, Richard Aldrich, after going through her performances painfully for four days.

"She wouldn't give in," said Aldrich, a producer. He and two close friends—Fanny and David Holtzman—were at her bedside when she died.

Death came shortly after 8 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The English-born actress' last appearance in the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, based on the book "Anna and the King of Siam," was at the matinee of Aug. 16.

Today's newspaper advertisements still bill her as star of "The King and I," although her role is being taken by Constance Carpenter.

While starring in her current role Miss Lawrence had been teaching a dramatics class at Columbia University.

Her last big U.S. vehicle before "The King and I" was "Lady in the Dark," in 1941.

VERSATILE ACTRESS

A versatile actress, at one time she played hilarious burlesque role in the musical "Oh, Kay" in London—and at special matinees also played the cold and severe spinster in Owen Davis' Pulitzer prize winning drama of 1923 "Icebound."

Two of her greatest successes were the 1930 light comedy "Private Lives," written especially for her by Noel Coward, and the 1935 John Golden production of "Susan and God." Touring in the latter, she broke theatre records almost everywhere it played.

She frequently played in Toronto and Montreal in her hits.

Miss Lawrence, born in London, made her first theatre appearance at the age of two. Her father, an interlocutor in a London minstrel show, put her on a lobby chair and told her to smile. It helped sell programs. She made her stage debut in London at the age of 10 in a pantomime for children.

Miss Lawrence was half-Danish and half-Irish, and her original original name was Gertrud Alexandra Dagma Lawrence Klasen.

RAGS TO RICHES

Hers was a storybook life — and a typically rags-to-riches career. In her childhood she sometimes was lucky to have even soup for her meals.

But her love for the theatre paid off in later years with many a prize award and "Standing room only" sign.

Though she early won acclaim as the queen of light comedy, Miss Lawrence also was highly successful in more serious stage roles.

Aldrich was her second husband. Her first marriage was to Francis Gordon-Howley, by whom she had a daughter, Pamela. This marriage later was dissolved.

Enrolment 195 At High School

LAKEFIELD— (ENS). — Principal J. E. Stephens, in his first report to the Lakefield District High School Board, at a meeting held Wednesday evening, stated that enrolment for the opening day of the High School was 195 students. Total enrolment for Apsley was not available at that time. Of this total 67 were Lakefield students, 119 district, and 9 county.

Overcrowding in some grades was also reported by the principal. As a result of this condition the chairman, G. N. McIlmoyle, and Principal Stephens were instructed to investigate the number of Douro pupils attending and advise any who are not in the district that the board is not in a position to supply accommodation.

Chief Constable L. Foster was appointed attendance officer for the High School beginning September 1, at an annual salary of $100 plus mileage.

Delegations included James Craig, architect, of Peterborough, who addressed the board regarding color schemes for the school now being built.

Messrs. Dudney, eBatty, Johnson and Junkin of Bobcaygeon were also present and spoke on behalf of three pupils who were in the Lakefield district but wished to continue going to Bobcaygeon High School. After some discussion it was agreed that the board would assume pupils' tuition fees and pay transportation of $4.00 per day to Bobcaygeon school.

Accounts totalling $79.12 were authorized for payment.

Hint Chinese Nationalists May Be Allowed In Korea

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Top official sources today disclosed that United States military authorities on Formosa have urged Washington to free two Chinese Nationalist divisions for action in Korea.

Moreover, these sources expressed the opinion that the request will be approved after the November U. S. presidential election, regardless of which party wins.

The authorities, who cannot be named, argue that the use of Chinese Nationalist troops with the United Nations forces in Korea would serve these important purposes:

1. It would give the Nationalists combat experience necessary if they are to sustain any hope of regaining mainland China from the Reds.

2. It would provide a "shot in the arm" to other Nationalist troops cramped on Formosa for the last three years, to Chinese civilians here and to fence-straddling Chinese elsewhere in the world outside of mainland China.

(Presumably Washington's approval would remove the largest single barrier preventing Chinese Nationalist forces from fighting in Korea. But the approval of Allied countries fighting in Korea probably would have to be sought also.)

MEDAL MARKSMAN—George Genereux, 17 - year - old sharpshooter, who brought Canada its only gold medal at the summer Olympics, shows his dad, an eye-nose-throat specialist, his winning form in their Saskatoon home. The six foot, three-inch marksman started shooting when he was 12 and collected awards when he was 13. He used to accompany his father on shooting trips where he acquired a liking for the feel of a big scatter gun and the thrill of accurate shooting.

Saskatoon Youth Olympic Champion Brought Canada Only Gold Medal

SASKATOON (CP)—Trapshooting has a comparatively small following in Canada, and yet the country owes its only gold medal from the last Olympic Games to a Saskatoon youth.

The 17-year-old champion is George Genereux, six-foot, three-inch son of a Saskatoon eye-nose-throat specialist. He is to trapshooters what Marlene Stewart is to golfers—a competitor half the age of most of his opponents and twice as good as the majority of them.

George was shooting at traps when he was 12 and collecting awards when he was 13.

REMARKABLE RECORD

His impressive record includes the junior championship at the Grand American shoot at Vandalia Ohio, mecca of all trapshooters.

Unlike most competitive trapshooters who practise incessantly, George seldom fires more than 750 registered targets in a season before competitions start. In contrast, American trapshooters last year fired 1,500,000 shells at Vandalia.

When he isn't shooting, George is a popular student at Saskatoon's Nutana High School.

There is no special reason why George took up trapshooting, except that he used to accompany his father on shooting trips and liked the feel of a big gun and the thrill of accurate shooting.

TRAINED BY VETERAN

When George started shooting he used a .410-gauge gun, later graduated to a .20-gauge and eventually to a .12-gauge. His ability soon caught the eye of veteran shooter Jimmy Girgulis of Saskatoon, who has won practically every championship in Western Canada.

Under Girgulis' tutelage, George learned the fine points of handling a shotgun. He learned well and at 13 won the Midwest International Handicap against shots from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Minnesota and the Dakotas. He also won the Manitoba-Saskatchewan junior championship that year and repeated for the next three seasons.

Even if he hadn't won the Olympic gold medal, George still would have a place among trapshooting's greats. Last year at Vandalia, George became the first Canadian to win a major competition, the junior title.

BIG CONTENDER

He almost scored a double triumph. In the class championship, he was among three shooters who broke 199 clay pigeons of a possible 200. In the shoot-off he finished second with 24 of 25. This year George lost his junior title, finishing second by a small margin.

George looks on Girgulis as a kind of a second father. At Vandalia's "Roaring Grand," George won a fine watch and he hastened to present it to his tutor. Girgulis declined.

When George was shooting for the junior championship, Girgulis closed his eyes when it came for his young protege to shoot the last five birds.

"What happened?" he asked weakly after the last "bang."

"He broke them all," Dr. and Mrs. Genereux shouted in unison.

Girgulis jumped to his feet and let out a wild whoop that startled the spectators.

"Hurrah for Canada," he yelled.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD—George Genereux, 17, of Saskatoon, has been winning awards and trophies consistently for his remarkable sharpshooting since he was 13. At that age he won the Manitoba-Saskatchewan junior championship and repeated the next three seasons. Last year at Vandalia, Ohio, he won the jnunior championship at the Grand American Shoot, mecca of all sharpshooters. He was the first Canadian to win a major competition there. He climaxed his record by winning Canada's only gold medal at the summer Olympics at Helsinki.

Irvington Woman Named Mrs. America

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. North Jersey, Mrs. Evelyn Joyce Schenk of Irvington, was named Mrs. America of 1953 last night.

Oak Hts., Morganston W.A.'s Hold Meeting

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The regular meeting of the Morganston W.A. of the United Church met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Campbell when the Oak Heights Women's Association were guests.

Mrs. H. George, the president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Ewart Huycke read the scripture, lesson thoughts were given by Mrs. Gerald Philp, and prayer was offered by Mrs. H. George. The address was given by Mrs. B. Fitchett.

It was announced that the Rev. M. Telford would be guest speaker for the afternoon service and the Rev. E. C. Kelloway, of Cobourg, for the evening service for the anniversary which will be held Thanksgiving Sunday.

The W.A. also moved a vote of acceptance to the invitation to visit Centreton for their 50th anniversary of their W.M.S.

Mrs. John Davidson offered to entertain the association for the next meeting.

The president then introduced the leader of the Oak Heights W.A. group, Mrs. Jack Potter, who was convener for the program of readings by Mrs. Mrs. A. P. Sayles, Mrs. C. Ferguson and Mrs. S. Lawrence, a vocal solo by Miss Eleanor McMurdo, and a vocal duet by Misses Joan and Mona Taylor, and a piano solo by Mrs. C. Ferguson. Mrs. John Ferguson conducted a contest, "Articles now in common use that were not used by our grandmothers." Mrs. Potter thanked the Morganston group for their invitation and Mrs. H. George, president of the Morganston W.A., closed the meeting.

Wooden Key Freed 4, Jail Official Suspended

ESCAPE DON JAIL — Edwin Alonzo Boyd and three alleged members of his bank robbery gang sawed their way out of the death row cell block at Toronto's Don Jail and made a clean getaway. Republicans Take Maine In 9th Win

Slimmer Margin For Senate Winner, Results Indicate

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—Republicans today chalked up a ninth consecutive Maine election triumph at the cost of a slimmer margin for their Senate winner.

Governor Frederick G. Payne won Owen Brewster's Senate seat with 59 per cent of 230,000 votes. Democrat Roger P. Dube got 35 per cent and six went to Earl S. Grant, Democrat-Independent.

In 1948—also a presidential year—Senator Margaret Chase Smith rolled up a record 71.4 per cent to a Democrat's 28.6.

BIGGEST TOTAL

Yesterday's biggest total—241,000—came in a four-way race for governor.

The Republican state Senate President, Burton M. Cross, 49, won with 52 per cent. Another 15.2 per cent for two Republicans running as independents—Henry W. Boyker and Neil S. Bishop—pushed the over-all Republican percentage to 67.2 as against Payne's 65 per cent in 1948.

Democrat James C. Oliver, a one-time Republican congressman, got 32.8 per cent.

Three Republican congressmen won re-election easily.

TWO DESPERADOES who fled Toronto's Don Jail Monday included Leonard Jackson (left) shown in hospital after he was shot down in Montreal a few months ago, and William Russell Jackson, no relation (right).

Deputy Governor's Carelessness Aided Gang–Foote

TORONTO (CP)—A wooden key, which opened the cell doors and which is believed to have been used in the escape of four desperadoes from the Don Jail, was found today. It was discovered behind the plumbing in the cell of Leonard Jackson, one of the four who sawed their way out of the death cell block yesterday and went over the wall.

Police think it may have been made in the jail carpentry shop. Still at large besides Jackson are Edwin Boyd, described by police as a master bank robber; William R. Jackson and Steve Suchan. Leonard Jackson and Suchan had been awaiting trial for murder in the shooting last March of Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong.

Foote Suspends Deputy Governor Of Jail

In another overnight development, Reforms Minister Foote announced he is suspending Alexander Noble, deputy governor of the jail, and is reprimanding the jail's governor, T. W. Brand. The minister said he questioned guards all last night before he decided Noble's "carelessness" was at least partly responsible for the jailbreak, second in less than a year for Boyd and the two Jacksons. He said the deputy governor had acknowledged receiving instructions from his superior to keep the four under constant supervision.

Guard Hears Tapping On Microphone

Major Foote said that at 2:50 o'clock the morning of the escape, tapping noises were picked up on the amplifying microphone which leads from the death row cells to the governor's office. The man listening in got in touch with Deputy Governor Noble, the minister said.

The man found the deputy governor chatting with two police officers behind the jail wall, Major Foote said. Noble went to investigate. For almost an hour he waited just outside the cell block with a guard, listening for any further sound. At 4 a.m., he and the guard turned on the night light and went into the cell corridor.

Prisoners Appear Asleep When Check Made

With his flashlight, Noble checked the windows and the prisoners. He tried the cell doors and found them locked. He let the beam of the flashlight fall on the faces of the prisoners, who all appeared asleep. Then he left. "We don't think he investigated enough," said Major Foote. "We feel he should have turned on all the lights after hearing such a suspicious noise and not just the night light, which is dimmer. And he should have tested the bars with a hammer."

The minister and other officials checked and cross-checked the sworn statements of 20 members of the jail staff. Major Foote said that before his investigation he had suspected someone was lying.

Satisfied Guards Interviewed Told Truth

"Now I think it was just a case of some of the men being flustered by the whole thing," he said at a press conference today. "I am reasonably satisfied, although the investigation is not complete, that my men told the truth. At any rate, I have to take their word."

He said any laxity in supervision was during the period from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. when Deputy Governor Noble was in charge of the jail and staff. Testimony was that the day staff, of which Governor Brand was in charge, conducted its duties competently. Major Foote said Noble told the inquiry that sometimes the guards on watch over the four desperadoes were taken away for other duties between 5:30 and 7 a.m., usually to help prepare prisoners for transport to police court, and during that time the prisoners in the cell block were not under special watch.

Ordered Guard At Door At All Times

"This was done in spite of my explicit instructions that a guard must be kept constantly at the door with a full view of the cells and the corridor," said Major Foote. Today all jail guards are accounted for. One man could not be found yesterday when they were recalled for questioning, but turned up at his home overnight.

To escape, the four desperate men squeezed through severed bars of the jail window, inched along on an 18-inch-wide wall and dropped 15 feet to freedom.

Boyd Compared With 2 Other Famous Gunmen

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd's second escape from Don jail yesterday has brought comparisons with two other notorious gunmen, Norman (Red) Ryan and Donald (Mickey) McDonald.

All specialized in bank robberies. Ryan and McDonald also made one escape each from Portsmouth penitentiary, Kingston.

Boyd, who has been blamed for at least seven bank holdups in the Toronto area in the last two years, has not committed murder, but Ryan shot a policeman to death and McDonald was convicted of murdering a Toronto night club proprietor in 1939. He was freed later on an appeal.

FLED IN 1947

McDonald fled Kingston Aug. 18, 1947, with two others. He was serving a 15-year sentence for hi-jacking a truck loaded with $35,000 worth of liquor. He is still at large.

Red Ryan fled Kingston in 1923 by setting fire to a stack of hay in a stable and made his getaway during the confusion. Almost immediately, he and two other men held up a bank in Toronto. He was captured in the United States a few months later and sentenced to 25 years for his part in a Hamilton bank robbery.

Ryan was paroled in July, 1935. Ten months later he and a companion were surprised robbing a Sarnia liquor store. Ryan killed Constable John Lewis, but he was fatally wounded himself by other officers.

800 Convicts Stage Strike

CHILLICOTHE, O. (AP)—A sit-down strike by 800 rebellious young convicts at the federal reformatory for men ended early today after more than nine hours of destruction and defiance.

Three inmates were wounded—none seriously — before guards, state patrolmen and deputy sheriffs quelled the uprising.

John J. Galvin, associate warden, said the men refused to go to the mess hall after finishing their work for the day. They wrecked furniture, broke windows, threw bed clothing into the yard and set fire to the mattresses.

Galvin said he heard the "usual" complaints about prison food but said he did not know the reason for the strike.

Better Let Grandma Work For Living

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — (AP)—By looking after grandma you probably are just being cruel to the old lady. Better to send her out to earn her keep.

These opinions were expressed by the psychologists of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in a symposium on the care of the aged.

Mrs. A. V. Hill, wife of the British Association president, said "physical care alone often constitutes actual cruelty. Old people are happiest living on their own than with their families."

Churchill Holidays At Riviera Villa

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill left England by plane today, headed for the French Riviera and his first real vacation in more than a year. He will spend two weeks near Nice at the villa of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born owner of London's Daily Express.

Conspicuous among Churchill's luggage was a bulky easel, indicating he will indulge his usual hobby of painting during his holiday.

National Freedom Faces Cut–Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that national freedom may at times have to be subordinated to international co-operation and collective action if peace and security are to be established. He made the statement in a speech at the opening session of the commonwealth parliamentary association's biennial conference. He welcomed the delegates on behalf of Prime Minister St. Laurent, now touring Western Canada.

Mr. Pearson referred to the need for collective action to establish peace and added:

"There are those in the world whose system of political and social organization rejects co-operation with us and challenges the very nature of our society and our system of parliamentary government.

"Whether it comes from the right of reaction or, and this is the more immediate danger, from the left of Communist dictatorship, the threat is the same. Under whatever name it masquerades, it is as old and repulsive as tyranny itself. We can resist this challenge successfully only by constructive policies."

FOURTH MEMBER of the dangerous quartette to escape from Toronto's Don Jail, Monday, was Steve Suchan. Police have found no trace of the men to date.

Cut-Price War Seen Aim Of Japanese

LONDON (CP) — A warning that Japan is marshalling her sales forces to capture Commonwealth markets through an all-out, cut-price war, was sounded here by Kenneth Boardman, chairman of 14 British textile manufacturing companies.

Boardman said 10 Japanese delegates will be attending next week's international cotton trading conference at Buxton in Derbyshire and predicted they will make a strong plea for abolition of existing tariff barriers. At present Japanese textiles are excluded from colonial markets by an embargo imposed earlier this year.

Unless the colonial preference policy is maintained, he added, the British industry faces its gravest slump in years.

Report Actress Died Of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gertrude Lawrence died of cancer without letting even her doctors know of the pain she was suffering, her lawyer said yesterday.

Fanny Holtzman, lawyer and close friend of the actress, disclosed the cause of Miss Lawrence's death following an autopsy requested by the stage star's husband, producer Richard Aldrich.

When Miss Lawrence died Saturday at the age of 52, doctors in a preliminary statement said the cause was hepatitis (yellow jaundice) with complications.

Spends Sixpence Wins £75,000

LONDON (Reuters)—A salesman today scored the season's first big win in England's soccer-betting pools — a tax-free return of £75,000 on his tiny wager of sixpence.

The winner correctly predicted eight tied games among the dozens of big league professional soccer games last Saturday.

The salesman came from Manchester but his name was not released. Bettors who want to escape the flood of begging letters, "business" propositions and so on that plague big winners make a note on their entry blank and the pools company will withhold their name.

A big three-way win was also announced today, with a Scot and two Englishmen each taking home £51,248 for their one-shilling bets.

Two Jet Fighters Crash In England

TANGMERE, England (Reuters) —An R.A.F. jet fighter plane crashed near here today, plowing through gardens before stopping a few yards from a baby sleeping in a baby carriage.

The pilot was thrown clear by his ejector seat before the crash but was killed.

Another twin-jet meteor crashed today in the sea 37 miles off the south coast of England. The pilot was picked up by a passing tanker.

UN Planes Take Continuing Toll

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force said Sabre pilots today destroyed seven Russian-built Mig-15s and damaged 10 others in the sixth straight day of jet battles over northwest Korea.

The Allied victories raised the bag of Communist jet fighters in September to 29 Migs destroyed, one probably destroyed and 27 damaged. The record for a month is 44 Red jets destroyed last April. Today's Allied losses, if any, will be disclosed in a weekly summary.

South Korean and Chinese infantrymen battled furiously into the fourth day for control of Capitol Hill on the central front.

Troops of the crack Republic of Korea Capitol Division pulled back off the slopes of the shell-scarred hill to give United Nations artillery an open shot at the Chinese.

Korea Demands Refugee Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Reliable reports received here today said the Korean government is drafting a strong demand to the United Nations Korean Reconstruction agency to do something to help it care for millions of war-weary South Koreans during their third wartime winter.

Persons close to the situation in Korea said the Korean government is appalled at the prospect of going through the winter on the present schedule of relief and reconstruction. The government estimates there are 10,000,000 refugees within its borders.

These persons said the South Koreans want J. Donald Kingsley, Agent-General of the U. N. Korean Reconstruction Agency, to move his principal headquarters to Pusan so he can organize his work on the spot. A spokesman for Kingsley here said the agent-general has made five trips to Korea since receiving his appointment in 1951 and is planning another within 10 days.

The Koreans complain privately that agency people are sitting around offices in the U. N. headquarters and in Geneva, Washington, Tokyo and Pusan making plans, but that little is being done.

Leaside Pilot Gets Second Red Plane

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Flt. lt. Ernest Glover of Leaside, Ont., today was credited with destroying a Communist plane over North Korea for the second day running.

Glover, an R. C. A. F. pilot on exchange duty with the United States Air Force, now is credited with destroying two Red Migs and damaging three others.

War, Japanese Competition Knock Out Hong Kong Trade

LONDON (Reuters)—The Korean war and revived Japanese competition have put Hong Kong in an economically impossible position, the Crown colony's 1951 report issued here said today.

Hong Kong merchants suffered heavy losses as a result of the Korean war—because, when Communist China entered the fighting, the West slapped on strategic-goods embargoes, the report said.

At the same time, unemployment has become a serious problem. Thousands of refugees keep flocking into the island colony from the Chinese mainland and many inhabitants of Hong Kong have been reduced to a bare subsistence level. Population has increased by 400,000 since pre-war days to a present total of more than 2,000,000 of which 14,500 are Europeans or Americans.

On paper, Hong Kong's 1951 trade showed an increase in dollars. Both imports and exports were up over 1950 figures, a total increase from $1,313,200,000 to $1,626,800,000.

The increased figures, however, were largely due to rising world prices. Actual trade volume was more than 1,000,000 tons less.

The report said reborn Japanese industry might present a more lasting threat than the Korean war. Lower-priced Japanese goods have reappeared in Far Eastern markets which the Crown colony has so far considered private territory.

Cottage On Chemong Lake Gutted By Fire In 30 Mins. Family Moved Into City

By DON GRANT

In less than 30 minutes a cottage, owned by Harry Bartlett, 316½ Charlotte St., was razed by fire at 12:30 a.m. today in Ennismore township on Chemong Lake, near the narrows between Chemong and Buckhorn Lakes. Damage was estimated by Mr. Bartlett at $3,500; he wasn't sure if the cottage and contents were covered by insurance. Pat Murray, R.R. 1, Ennismore, the farmer on whose property the cottage was built, said, "My wife saw it first. The reflection could be seen easily in the sky about midnight, just as we were going to bed." Mrs. Murray called her husband when she saw the glow.

Wakened by his wife, Murray jumped into his car and went down to the lakeshore where the burning cottage was closely grouped with six others.

"Flames then were leaping about 10 and 20 feet above the trees which surround the cottages," said Murray.

MAN SLEEPING

The only occupant of the cottages during the night was D. V. (D'Arcy) Wonders in the next cottage to Bartlett's.

"I saw Wonders was sleeping and began to blow the horn to waken him and then I went back to the house; there isn't a phone at the cottages."

Murray, at the farm-house, sent out a fire alarm to Ennismore neighbors and then called the other cottage owners who live in Peterborough.

Murray then went back to the burning cottage where with brother Tom Murray and Wonders, they formed a small bucket brigade. By then the cottage was beyond saving and they concentrated on keeping the fire out of the trees and away from Johnny Russelle Jr.'s cottage which is under construction just to the north.

The bucket brigade grew from the three to about 40 men and boys, "practically the whole neighborhood." Water was taken

Civil Defence Duty–Martin

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Martin said today civil defence has become an "inescapable duty" of Canadians.

"But courage and devotion to the principles we know to be right, we shall win through to a better world and a better life."

He spoke at the opening meeting of a four-day civil defence conference concerned mainly with the welfare aspects of C. D. planning. It is being attended by C. D. officials from the federal, provincial and municipal governments and by American C. D. officers.

Mr. Martin, whose department administers federal C. D. planning, reviewed the steps already taken, including provision for an advance warning system, fire-fighting training of 1,500 instructors and key workers, provision of manuals—more than 1,000,000 of them— and the spending of $2,250,000 for stockpiling medical supplies.

80 Guests Flee Blaze In Hotel

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (AP) — A general-alarm fire roared through the $500,000 Biscayne hotel just off the boardwalk early today sending 80 guests fleeing to the street in their nightclothes.

Only one of the guests was injured in the pre-dawn blaze which all but destroyed the five-storey resort landmark and caused an estimated $300,000 in damage.

Child Market Closes In Italy

BENEVENTO, Italy (AP)—Benevento's much-criticized, semi-annual "child market" closed last night and a group of boys from poorer families went off today to work for a year with more well-to-do farmers. Families of the boys — ranging from 12 to 16 years old — will receive from 5,000 to 6,000 lire (about $8.50 to $10) for the year's work.

The public auction, which dates back hundreds of years, takes place every Aug. 15 and Sept. 8.

In addition to the cash settlement, some of the families who hired their sons to farmers were promised that several bushels of grain would be paid from time to time.

Col. Martini, local police commander, said: "This market has nothing to do with slavery. It is a time-accepted form of hiring farm labor for lower work such as stable cleaning and goat watching."

Illinois Woman Dies From Bee Sting

STREATOR, Ill. (AP) — Five years ago Mrs. Zexa Williams, 57, a farm wife at nearby Pattonsburg, was stung by a bee and became critically ill.

Doctors told her she was sensitive to the poison of a bee sting.

Yesterday she was stung again. She died within minutes at her home.

Killed In Hotel Fire

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Howard Burnham, 65, was killed and three other men suffered minor injuries early today in a fire that swept the top floor of the five-storey Welland hotel, Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Fires At Limping Man In Chicken Run Stalwart Citizen's Prize–Patient Not Bandit

WHITBY (CP). — Poultry farmer Roy Larsen was sitting by the fire last night, listening to radio accounts of Toronto's four-bandit jail break.

Hearing a sudden squawking in his chicken run, he reached for a .22-calibre rifle and went out into the yard. He saw a man limping towards a fence.

Larsen knew one of the bandits has a limp. He ifred three times into the ground. The stranger ran faster. Larsen fired a fourth time.

The blast caught the intruder in the seat of the trousers. The man howled and fell writhing on the ground.

The visitor, not the bandit but a patient at the nearby Ontario Hospital, was taken away by police.

Blow To U.N. Big Shots

Demand Limousine Fleet Cut Sharply

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —A United Nations Treasury watchdog committee urged last night that the U. N. limousine fleet for secretariat big shots be slashed as one step in curbing rising U.N. costs.

It also frowned on a $1,000 "hospitality expense" item for the U.N. protocol chief.

The committee, composed of delegates of nine countries, prescribed a cut of $990,900 in the 1953 budget estimate of $47,765,200 furnished by Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Staff slashing, cutting down of long speeches and documents, avoidance of duplication and overlapping work are among cost-cutting proposals. Cutting the limousine fleet from 10 cars and 17 chauffeurs to one car and two station wagons would save $50,000, the committee said.

Lie's budget figure is $331,580 below this year's appropriation but Lie acknowledged he will have supplementary sums to add later. The committee said Lie's supplementary figure may run as high as $3,000,000.

Even without that, it noted, the expenses of eight U. N. specialized agencies would bring 1953 U. N. appropriations up to $82,487,868, or $160,150 more than this year's appropriations.

The committee report goes to the U. N. General Assembly after it meets here Oct. 14.

Union Rejects Latest Company Offer

HAMILTON (CP)—Several hundred members of Local 113, United Rubber Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), on strike for 15 weeks at the Firestone plant here, last night unanimously voted to reject the latest settlement proposals by the company.

The members recommended that the bargaining committee should resume talks and make every effort to obtain a "satisfactory settlement."

Bill England, secretary of the local, said "there was an agreement on a certain number of points, but we could make no progress at all on the question of wages."

President Harry Yeomans charged that company supervisors had been going around trying to undermine the unity of union members.

He charged that 100 non-union employees are being used as a core of resistance in the back-to-work movement. These people were getting no unemployment benefit because they were on strike and they were getting no strike pay because they were not in the union.

Mr. Yeomans agreed that parties had not been "too far apart" on the question of pensions, if only they could have reached some sort of reasonable agreement on wages. The negotiating committee is not prepared to accept four cents an hour, he said.

Canadians Start Buying Spree

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund heard yesterday that consumer spending moderated in Canada during the last year, but that recently it went on the upswing.

The information came in a report by Frederick C. Dirks, United States-Canada Fund director.

His report said pressures on Canada's resources by defence and investment requirements were relatively the same as those in the U.S., although in Canada the amount absorbed by defence was comparatively smaller while private investment was larger.

These differences, in investment and defence proportions, were reflected in national savings and investment accounts.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

Summary for Wednesday—Sunny and Warmer.

Rail Hearing Opens Sept. 22

OTTAWA (CP) — Conciliation hearings in the railway-union wage dispute will open Sept. 22 at Montreal, informants said yesterday.

Weeks of negotiations brought no settlement in the dispute involving 125,000 men and many millions of dollars in wage demands.

Members of the non-operating trades—those who do not actually run the trains—seek an hourly wage increase of 45 cents plus an "escalator" wage clause tied to the cost-of-living index, the union shop and check-off of union dues.

The railways have estimated the wage demands amount to about $150,000,000 a year.

Acting with Mr. Justice Kellock on the conciliation board are David Lewis, Toronto lawyer and former national secretary-treasurer of the C.C.F. Party, and Paul S. Smith, Montreal lawyer.

The department named Mr. Justice Kellock—who wrote the arbitration wage award after the 1950 general rail strike — following failure of the two other board members to agree on a chairman.

"We couldn't save anything in the cottage but concentrated on preventing the fire spreading to the cottage tool shed and other cottages," said Murray.

Superintendent of Eastwood Construction Company's job at the Western Clock Company, Bartlett was at home in Peterborough when the fire started.

"Mrs. Murray called me about the fire and I rushed straight out," said Bartlett.

EMPTY SINCE WEEKEND

After a weekend at the cottage the Bartlett's had moved into the city at 6:30 a.m. Monday and "no one has been there since."

"We lost everything, including 10-11 fishing outfits, all our clothing; it was furnished throughout. We never got a thing out of it," said Bartlett who had been living in the cottage and had all the family belongings there while building a new home in the city.

Mr. Bartlett estimated damage at $3,500 for cottages and contents, but "I'm not sure about the insurance."

"My wife, Clara, and son, Brian, four, moved in today and we figured we'd be back out for weekends. We hadn't moved anything into the city, for we've been staying out weekends and the odd week night."

"There was no fire since last night in the stove and my wife always kept the matches in a tin container. I don't know how the fire started."

The fire was first noticed about midnight and by 12:30 the cottage was leveled, ony the brick chimney was standing. Nearby trees were scorched to the tops and sparks could be seen up the trunks.

The bucket brigade concentrated on keeping the fire down, gradually pouring water on the ruins to prevent sparks flying in the light wind.

Catch Big Criminal

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation last night announced the capture of one of the United States 10 most-wanted criminals. He was identified as Leonard Joseph Zalutsky, 37, formerly of Allentown, Pa. Zalutsky was serving a life sentence for the murder of a Miami police officer when he escaped from the state prison at Raiford, Fla., on Sept. 1, 1951.

Study Possibility Salvaging Ship

VANCOUVER (CP) — Salvage experts prepared Monday to descend into the ocean to determine whether the luxury cruise ship Princess Kathleen can be raised.

The Canadian Pacific Steamship's $5,000,000 vessel was on her final cruise of the season Sunday when she thundered ashore near Juneau, Alaksa, and sank. All hands were saved.

A. C. P. S. spokesman said Monday the ship's radar equipment was not in operation to warn of the impending crash.

Capt. Graham Hughes of the Kathleen said: "There's a good possibility of salvage. She's sitting upright. I estimate she's in 120 feet of water forward and 130 feet aft. She's resting on a sloping bank."

Three separate investigations were launched into the sinking: One by the company, one by the federal transport department, and the third by the U.S. Coast Guard.

Capt. Hughes said he could offer no explanation for the grounding, though he said the ship was one and a half miles off course. First Officer Charles Salvage was on the bridge at the time, while the captain was in his cabin.

2 Mike Pearsons In Ottawa Now

OTTAWA (CP)—From now on there will be two Mike Pearsons in Ottawa.

The Air Force announced yesterday that Flt. Lt. L. B. (Mike) Pearson, A.F.C., 29, of Woodstock, described as one of its best-known search and rescue pilots, has been posted here to assume duties in the directorate of air staff services.

He is not related to L.B. (Mike) Pearson, External Affairs Minister.

Flt. Lt. Pearson, who won the Air Force Cross in 1951 for his many hazardous water landings in the Arctic and for his part in search and rescue work, commanded No. 103 rescue detachment at Torbay, Nfld., until his present posting to air force headquarters.

Strike Threatened

KEEL, Germany (AP) — About 35,000 metal workers will go on a strike Wednesday, union leaders said last night, that will tie up West Germany's Baltic Sea shipbuilding industry. Lower-bracket workers seek an eight-per-cent increase. At present they receive 1.35 pfennigs (32 cents) an hour. White-collar employees ask for a monthly increase of 20 marks ($4.85).

Leonard Jackson's escape added a bizarre touch. Jail officials, mindful of his escape from the same jail with Boyd and William Jackson last November, had confiscated his artificial foot. But the murder suspect, grown agile since he was crippled in a railway accident some years ago, limped to freedom.

Mayor Cuts Holiday Short At Lake

Toronto's volatile mayor, Allan Lamport, vacationing at Lake Simcoe, rushed back to a city of indignant and stunned citizens. Throughout the day groups stood on street corners reading newspapers screaming the latest news of the escape in huge headlines and pages of pictures and diagrams.

Police kept mum on just what tactics they are using in tracing the four most dangerous criminals in Canada. Every available policeman in the province was thrown into the hunt and early today every detective in Toronto was still out on the case.

A total of $26,000 was posted for their capture. The Canadian Bankers Association put up $10,000, the province $2,000 each with the city announcing it would meet the provincial reward dollar for dollar. An angry Mayor Lamport early today visited the Don Jail, scene of the escape in Toronto's east-central section, for a second time. He summed up the feeling of many Toronto citizens when he told reporters:

Critical Of Way Province Handled Job

"Pretty shabby treatment for our Toronto police who have done all they can and are let down like this." He minced no words about his feelings towards the province, which administers the jail, though the city owns the 90-year-old buildings. He said the escape could have been carried out only with inside help. He declared:

"Our police took every security measure that was within their power but it was the human element among the staff appointed by the province that failed us."

Police were prepared for the worst. Squad cars which roamed the city searching taverns and slum areas—haunts of the underworld—were heavily armed and carried tear-gas guns and shells.

Underworld Worried As Heat Turned On

And the escape worried the underworld itself, for the "heat" was on.

What might be a new policy was revealed by Attorney-General Porter. He advocated, before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer and the 14 justices of the Ontario Supreme Court, a get-tough-on-criminals policy. In an address to the judges and the fall assizes Grand Jury of York county he said there are 'certain types of criminals in whose cases there is no substitute for severity."

Talk in Toronto today again was about little else but the escape.

'After Mr. Lamport's early-morning visit to the jail. He wanted to know "who in blazes was such a damned fool" to put the four in one cell block.

"I would also like to know how they got the key to unlock their cell doors and let them out into the corridor where there was a window from which they escaped. . .

"I would like to know also how these men got all the blankets and pillows which they had in their cells. Suchan had six blankets and three pillows in his cell. The others had anywhere from five to seven. Other prisoners are only allowed one.

"These blankets undoubtedly were used to deaden the sound of sawing the bars and could very well have been used to build dummies in their cots before they fled.

"They let these men sleep together, eat together and even gave them club-car privileges. This escape can not be blamed on the building but on the jail personnel. There is no question there was an accomplice."

British Delegation Denies Bootlegging

NEW YORK (AP)—The British United Nations delegation last night described as completely unfounded the charges of liquor dealers that some of its staff bootleged tax-free liquor to outsiders.

The allegations were made yesterday at the national Retail Liquor Package Store Association convention.

Delay Special See For Three Years

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Although the Church of England in Canada may set up a special see for its primate, there is little likelihood of any change for at least three years.

Peterborough was mentioned as one of the possible sites for a new see.

Reliable sources at the 18th general synod of the church here said last night that the first step in the actual creation of the see would be appointment of a committee to study such problems as where the diocese would be.

The Lower House has voted for such a diocese for Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of All Canada. To become church policy the decision would have to be ratified by the Upper House, comprising bishops.

Then a committee would be appointed to study the various sites proposed for the diocese and related problems. This committee would report in three years to the next synod.

Wheel Drops Off Driver Hurt

Russell Andrews, 21, of Lot 1, Concession 1, South Monaghan, escaped with only a few painful scrapes Monday night after a wheel flew off his motorcycle sidecar and the vehicle plowed into Springville bridge.

Andrews was driving south on Highway 28 and when he approached the bridge that spans the creek, just south of Springville, the wheel came off the sidecar. The sidecar struck the west end of the bridge causing about $150 damage to the vehicle.

The impact threw Andrews off the motorcycle seat onto the highway and he received scraped ribs and a shaking up.

O.P.P. Constable George Louth investigated.

REMAND CONDON

Leonard Condon, 22, of R.R. 4, Peterborough, was again remanded when he appeared in police court today on a charge of manslaughter in the death of 37-year-old Michael Frank Heffernan, of Stewart St. The remand was till September 23 and bail was continued at $3,000. Heffernan died about midnight September 2 before being admitted to hospital after a fight in which he was severely beaten.

Moral Influence Urged For Africa

OTTAWA (CP) — Seth Govind Das, Indian statesman and playwright, said today he hopes some kind of "moral influence" will be brought to bear on the South African government to change its racial policies.

In an interview, Mr. Govind Das said that if war is to be avoided countries such as South Africa must change their policies.

He granted the interview before going to the opening of the conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. At a closed session later, delegates from all Commonwealth countries discussed immigration.

In another interview, J.S. Labuchange, only representative of the national government of South Africa at the meeting, said he is prepared to defend his government's policies if the racial issue is raised.

"In the name of civilization the South African government is doing some of the most barbarous things," said Mr. Govind Das.

"She cannot defy the whole world."

Rescue 26 Men After Cave-In

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Rescue workers burst through a wall of earth tonight to rescue 26 sandhog workers trapped all day by a cave-in in a railroad tunnel.

One man, believed pinned by one leg under part of the fall, remained to be saved. Rescue workers reported they could hear him speaking but were still some distance away from the spot where he was trapped.

Shouts heard earlier coming through a ventilation pipe told the rescuers there was life on the other side of the cave-in.

The crew was trapped when a section of the tunnel, being punched through a mountain 25 miles north of here, collapsed early today.

Stock Market Groups Continue To Be Weak

TORONTO (CP) — All sections of the stock market continued weak today in freshened early afternoon stock market trading.

Interest revived in a few low-priced mining issues. Bellekeno, a base metal, traded more than 400,000 shares in the first three hours to gain about 15 cents.

Senior golds gained some strength after a weak opening as Kerr-Addison gained but generally held below Monday's closing price. Anglo-Rouyn, a junior, traded about 2,000 shares for a small gain while Chimo, a prospect, moved some 50,000 shares for the loss of pennies. A number of juniors drew support but the group generally declined.

Papers, utilities, banks and steels led the industrial decline as only constructions marked up gains. Most issues were mixed or weak.

Base metal leaders slipped and Silver Miller dropped pennies in heavy trading.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains about two to one although mid-Continent gained penies in a turnover of more than 82,000.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down .32 at 327.47, golds down .12 at 91.03, base metals down .79 at 195.50 and western oils down 1.01 at 135.87.

Firefighters Battling Blaze In Forest

HALIFAX (CP) — Firefighters from three counties formed a formidable battle line today against a stubborn forest fire that has crept to within 300 yards of the nearby village of Prospect.

Sixty naval and army volunteers are among the 150 men who have battled to check the blaze since Saturday night. Provincial ranger Robert Burgess said the fire "was not dangerous but could be if the wind changes."

Ex-Vice-President Dies Near Hastings

TORONTO (CP) — John P. McGuire former vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Hoffman Machinery Company, died yesterday at his summer home near Hastings, Ont.

Mr. McGuire resigned five years ago as vice-president and general manager of the Hoffman company. For the last few years he served as vice-president of McGuire Industries Limited, Newmarket, of which his son, Robert McGuire is president.

Britain Leads World

NEW YORK (AP) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker said yesterday that Britain is leading the world in passenger jet plane development and is about three to four years ahead of the United States in production of jet planes. Rickenbacker, head of Eastern Airlines, just returned from England where he said he tried to buy a number of jets for delivery in 1956. British builders were unable to promise delivery by then, he said.

To Build Monument

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dignified Johns Hopkins University will build a monument to the memory of an old bachelor who gave the institution $1,000,000 provided it display a mural of 10 Baltimore beauties. The monument will be Shriver Hall. Its namesake, Alfred Jenkins Shriver, died in 1939. Among other things his will stipulates that it contain a mural of 10 Baltimore women "at the height of their beauty."

Produce, Livestock Markets

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: onions, green, 75; lettuce $1.00-$1.10; peach six qt., no. 1, 45-55; plums, blue and red, 30-40; six qt., lino, 60-65.

Potato prices were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures were firm at the start today but soybeans were off as much as 1½ cents a bushel. Trade was light.

The dip in soybeans apparently was partly a technical reaction following the price advance Monday.

Wheat opened ⅛ cent higher, September $2.31⅜, corn was unchanged to ⅜ up, Sept. $1.78¼ and oats were ⅛-¼ higher, September 85½. Soybeans were down ½-1⅛ cents, September $3.20.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market opened with a firm demand for grade A large at advanced prices. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A lare 59-60; A medium 50; A small 31; grade B 38; grade C 36. grade B 43; grade C 34.

Butter solids: first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57½-57¾; no second grade price established; western 58¾ (asked).gf 2

Sheep and lambs: receipts too few to establish a market.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fairly good shipping and export buying appeared in oats in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange and prices responded with modest gains.

Demand was less aggressive in barley, where prices moved narrowly. However, there were indications of further export business in both oats and barley.

Rye trade was light and local, with prices firm. Flax was dull.

11 a.m. grain prices:

Oats: Oct. ¾ higher 85⅝A; Dec. ⅝ higher 83-B; May ¼ higher 83¾.

Barley: Oct. ⅛ lower 1.34⅞; Dec. unch 1.25 ⅝B; May unch to ⅛ lower 1.23¾A.

Cabinet Passes Law Cutting Up Huge Estates

By ZEIN NAGATI

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's day-old cabinet led by Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib today approved army-backed measures cutting up the country's big landed estates and reorganizing political parties with the eventual aim of dissolving those now existing.

The 51-year-old army commander's new government announced after a 9½-hour session that it had approved legislation limiting ownership of arable land to 200 acres a person.

In a statement after the meeting, Naguib described the legislation as "the first step towards rebuilding Egypt's social and economic structure."

The powerful army chieftain, who became sole ruler of Egypt by taking over the premiership Sunday following the resignation of Premier Aly Maher, added more weight to his extensive authority today.

BECOMES GOVERNOR

A royal decree, issued by the authority of the Regency Council functioning for the infant King Fuad II, named Naguib military governor of Egypt, under martial law proclaimed following the Jan. 26 fire riots in Cairo.

Naguib also heads the war and navy ministries in his own cabinet and is commander-in-chief of the armed forces. He led the army coup which ousted King Farouk July 26.

The measure, approved by the cabinet today, calls for expropriation of all land above 200 acres under single ownership within five years. One-fifth of the total is to be taken over each year.

Other provisions include:

Expropriated landowners will be entitled to pensions amounting to 10 times the rental value of their land. These pensions will be payable over 30 years.

Landowners, however, also are given the right to sell their lands before they are taken over by the government. The price must not exceed 10 times its rental value.

Landowners may sell property to their children, but not more than 50 acres may be purchased by any one child and the total acreage sold to children may not exceed 100 acres.

Some Care

The first night of regular broadcasting of television from CBLT in Toronto apparently meant little to Peterborough people. Many regular viewers reported good reception—but from Rochester. They didn't bother to try Toronto. However Fred Kemp of Lakefield was interested. So much so in fact that when an aerial failed to arrive for his new set, he made one and reported receiving a picture, but without sound.

Sending Firemen Out Of Town Discussed In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A good deal of discussion concerning the fighting of fires in Seymour township took place at the regular meeting of the Campbellford council, held in the council chambers on Monday evening. The discussion arose after a suggestion by Councillor Ness, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, that two extra men were needed to go with the truck to fight fires in the township, under the agreement the town now has with Seymour. Four men are now paid to fight township fires, but there are times when four are not enough.

MAYOR DECIDES

A motion by Councillor Collette that the council send only four men and to leave the agreement as is, met with four "yeas" and four "nays," with Mayor Kingston casting the deciding vote of "nay." Councillor Ness then made a motion that the council pay six men to go with the truck, but his motion was not put to the vote as he had no seconder. Finally, Reeve R. J. Locke made a motion that the council send four men and if the fire chief deems the assistance of two more men necessary at a large fire, that he be empowered to call for the men and the town will pay them. This motion carried.

When a call from the township is received, most of the volunteer firemen apparently answer the call, whether they are paid or not. Some of these merely stand around, but if their assistance is needed, they are only too willing to help. This leaves the town with few, if any, experienced firemen to fight a fire should one break out in the corporation. Many councillors are quite concerned about this fact, but the matter, after much discussion, was left practically where it had been in the first place.

PURCHASE OF POWER

Mayor W. A. Kingston reported on a meeting of the Utilities Commission, at which representatives of the H.E.P.C. were present to discuss the possibility of the town purchasing power to help them over peak loads. The local power plant can produce theoretically about 2,200 kilowatts of power (about 3,000 h.p.) and at times the demand has reached 1,965 kilowatts. If the town undertook to purchase power from the H.E.P.C. it would cost about $33 per h.p. and once the town had to purchase any power, regardless of the amount, they would thereafter have to pay the H.E.P.C. at the rate of 75 per cent of that power, whether they used it or not. The contract, if signed, would be for 40 years.

Councillor McMillan made a suggestion that an expert be hired to go over the power house and to see if it can be operated successfully, and to make a report on his findings.

Councillor Collette, chairman of the police committee, asked council to confirm the action of the committee in granting Chief George H. Hardy a one-month leave of absence. Chief Hardy was taken ill a few weeks ago, and may not be able to return to duty for some time. Council confirmed his action, and also granted the chief a further three months leave of absence, with pay. In the meantime, Constable W. E. (Fred) Cargin will be appointed acting chief, and the council will advertise for a man to fill the position of temporary constable.

2,000 Fewer Rats

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Rats in Campbellford's town dump have consumed enough poison — 100 pounds — to kill about 2,000 of their kind, Councillor MacMillan reported to the Town Council Monday night. The councillor suggested that in future the poison be purchased in 10-pound lots, a cheaper system than the present method of purchasing a little at a time.

Transport Driver Charges Motorist Careless Driving

COBOURG (ENS).—A transport driver laid a charge of careless driving against a motorist and the charge stuck, the motorist being fined $25 and costs by Magistrate R. B. Baxter. It was the first time in local courts that a charge under the Highway Act has been laid by a citizen. Usually a constable lays the information.

R. E. Stoneham of Toronto, told the court Monday that he was driving west out of Colborne on August 30 when a car passed him on a dangerous curve, and although no oncoming traffic was in the immediate vicinity, cut sharply in front of him, forcing him on to the shoulder of the road.

"I might have let the matter drop but as I watched him proceed I could see him doing the same thing as he went along, and there were curves and grades ahead which should have been handled carefully. He didn't have any need to pass under such circumstances. I turned his number over to the provincial police when I got to Grafton. The car belonged to Harry Kay," testified Stoneham.

STOPPED BY POLICE

Provincial Constable William Baluk of Cobourg investigated the complaint and spotted Kay heading out of Cobourg. He said that he passed three cars on the curve north of Cobourg and finally stopped him about three miles west of Cobourg.

"It was the Labor Day weekend and traffic was very heavy but he passed everything he could," testified Constable Baluk.

Kay told the court that he had no recollection of cutting in on the transport. He declared he knew every nook and cranny on the highway as he drove up to Toronto from Trenton three times a week throughout the year, for 30 years.

"I am cautious but also a skillful driver," testified Kay.

Magistrate Baxter in fining him $25 and costs for careless driving, commented that the accused apparently drove that highway so much that he felt that anybody else on it was a nuisance. The transport driver was commended for doing what he considered his duty, not because of his own concern but for the safety of others.

BRUCE COOKE, 17, son of the Rev. L. Hamel Cooke and Mrs. Cooke of Havelock, a last year's student at Campbellford High School, who in his Grade XIII subjects obtained four firsts. He has been accepted by the Royal Military College at Kingston and awarded a scholarship of $580 by the Ontario Canteen Fund.

Farmers Oppose Fire Boundaries

COBOURG—The Ontario Municipal Board met here Monday to consider a protest filed by more than 80 farmers in Hamilton Township against enlargement of the fire area boundary of the village of Bewdley.

It had been proposed by the village to enlarge its fire boundaries for a radius of about five miles. However, the farmers are objecting to a levy on their assessment on the ground that the assessments for the village and the surrounding townships are not in line. The board reserved its decision.

Show 3 Health Films At Havelock Meeting

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Three health films, entitled "Rural Health," "Tuberculosis" and "Good-bye, Mr. Germ," were shown by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson during the program period at the meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute on Monday afternoon. Mrs. L. V. Bigelow was the soloist, with Mrs. John Beatty at the piano. Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Bert Jewell were the program conveners, the latter extending a vote of thanks to Mr. Duncanson, with the president, Mrs. H. Pollock, expressing her appreciation to Mrs. Bigelow and Mr. Duncanson.

It was decided to sponsor the annual oratorical contest in conjunction with the local Home and School Association and $5 was voted towards the prizes. Mrs. John Beatty and Mrs. Albert Holland were appointed a committee to contact the H. and S. Association and assist with the arrangements.

Mrs. W. Rice and Mrs. R. Melville were appointed a committee to arrange for the use of the Anglican Church basement for the short course "Supper Dishes," to be held on October 23 and 24.

The president reminded the members of the industrial tour in Peterborough on October 7.

A TB X-ray mobile clinic for adults and children over 12 years will be at the town hall, Havelock, on September 22, from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. This is a free service for anyone wishing a chest X-ray.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $48.36 on hand.

Tea hour hostesses were Mesdames H. Pollock, H. Revoy, W. Woodbeck, R. Jones.

Tooth Knocked Out In Beer Room Fight

COBOURG— William Wills and Gerald McGuire of Oshawa were fined $15, and costs, each, when they pleaded guilty Monday to causing a disturbance in the British Hotel. In the fracas, while trying to eject the troublesome pair, a waiter and the tap room manager lost a pair of glasses, which were smashed, and a tooth knocked out. A dental repair job will cost $100, the court was informed. Wills and McGuire were advised by the court to repay the damages to the hotel employees.

Monument Unveiled To Founder Of Lodge

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A memorial service was held in Pine Grove cemetery on Sunday afternoon when a monument was unveiled in memory of Mrs. Samuel McGill by the members of Lady McGill L.O.B.A. No. 471.

It was through the untiring efforts of Mrs. McGill that the L.O.B.A. came into being in Havelock in April, 1922, and for this reason was given her name. Mrs. McGill was formerly Minnie Graham, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham, pioneer residents of, Havelock. Mr. McGill's name is also inscribed on the monument.

A large crowd attended the service, the local L.O.B.A. being augmented with visitors from Hastings and Peterborough, which included Mrs. Fred Pilling, of the latter lodge, who is a Past Grand Mistress of the order. Also attending were members of the L.O.L. and many friends.

Mrs. Robert Wrightly, the Worthy Mistress of Lady McGill L.O.B.A., conducted the service. Mrs. Herbert Hoard, the chaplain, read the 133rd Psalm and led with the Lord's Prayer.

The monument was unveiled by Mrs. Archie McColl, P.W.M.; Mrs. Brad Simpson, Mrs. Maude Graham and Mrs. Fred Post. Others assisting in the ceremony were: Mrs. Frank Elmhirst, deputy W.M.; Mrs. Mary Wood, of Campbellford, Junior Deputy W.M.; Mrs. George Hartin, director of ceremonies; Mrs. Charles Ellis, first lecturer; Mrs. Archie McArthur, second lecturer. The soloist was Mrs. William Goadsby.

Dredge Floated

COBOURG — (ENS).— Thirty tons of crane and bucket equipment were removed Monday from the front of the sunken dredge, and after the pumps had been working all day the dredge floated on almost an even keel by 5:30 p.m. Almost two weeks ago the dredge foundered when one of the "spuds" or vertical stabilizing beams stuck and tipped the dredge until half of it was under water. It was in that position until last Friday when it was partly pumped out, but sank again when it was found impossible to pull it loose from where the spuds were mired in the lake bottom.

Missed Chance To Flag Down Speeding Trucks

By HARRY THEOBALD

Lansdowne St. residents who have been noting council's references to heavy transport traffic noises missed a chance to flag down the speed racket with stop-and-go lights at Monaghan Road.

The board of works report Monday night included this clause: "And that signal lights to be installed at the intersection of Monaghan Road and Lansdowne St. be operated on flasher lights only from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. daily".

If that decision had been "that signal lights be installed (period)" the drivers of the big roaring trucks would have been nailed at Monaghan Road and again at Park St., and would have attuned them to ordinary traffic sounds.

That heavy traffic around midnight eastbound, especially zoome down the No. 7-A hill in Monaghan, gaining tremendous momentum as they level off between the old John Harper place and the C.P.R. There is nothing to check them until they approach Park St. Occasionally there may be a nocturnal train moving the wig-wag.

There was a prospect that the traffic lights which are chiefly intended to let Monaghan Road traffic across the the highway at rush hours would also be effective through the night. The flasher light may help, but not so positively as when the red glows steadily.

Tells Congregation Of Work Of Gideons

HAVELOCK (ENS) —C. W. Collins of Peterborough, a representative from the Peterborough Camp of the Gideons, was guest speaker at the Baptist Mission on Sunday evening.

Mr. Collins told about the small way the Gideon organization had come into being, in a hotel room in a city in Wisconsin, U.S.A., 51 years ago.

Eight years later the Gideon organization was formed and the idea came to them to put God's word in the hotel rooms across the country. Since then more than 166,000 copies of the Bible have been put in the hotel rooms across Canada and the United States. Later the Bibles were put in hospital rooms and all nurses going into training are presented with a white testament with the book of Psalms and Proverbs included. Members of the armed forces and the schools are included in the work and Mr. Collins had Bibles and Testaments on display to show the different types that are used for the various departments of the work. He gave a detailed account of what the Peterborough Gideon Camp had done in this district. Mr. Collins is a member of Park Street Missionary Alliance Church, at Peterborough.

Look To Mother Nature For Signs Of Weather

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Weathermen of the Quebec Lands and Forests Department have finally admitted what farmers knew all along: Look to mother nature for signs of the weather.

In its latest bulletin to some 325 observers throughout the province, the weather bureau of lands and forests branch lists a number of weather signs, said to have come down from generations of Quebec farmers. It is part of the campaign for increased watchfulness against forest-fire hazards.

The weather forecasters themselves will stick to their scientific instruments, and the bureau here told its observers to use their modern equipment for such things as measuring humidity, rain and snow fall, wind velocity and other factors in forecasting.

But the regional observer may barnyard animals and insects for "accurate" indications of the next day's weather.

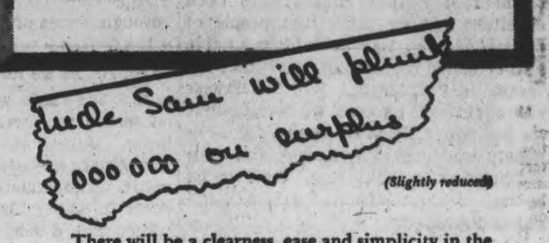
ROOSTERS AND CATS

Here are some of the traditional symbols said to be still valid today:

There will be a change in the weather if roosters flap their wings and crow at irregular intervals.

Great winds are due if cats run around at top speed, but if they spend much time washing themselves there will be rain.

High-flying swallows and singing birds are signs of good weather.



A good storm signal is provided by bees when they stay close to the hive.

Cows gathering in the centre of the pasture are a sign of rain.

The lands and forests weather bureau is mostly concerned with the weather as it affects the fire hazard in the forests, and says that nature's own weather signs have been proved "almost ifallible."

It mentions many other indications that can be gained by watching the behavior of hogs, bats, toads, frogs, ducks, goats and even spiders.

There will be a clearness, ease and simplicity in the writing of people with artistic taste, and the capital letters will have a printed formation. True, these writers may not be able to compose a piece of music or paint a picture, but there is always a latent ability for criticism, or at least appreciation, of things artistic in the make-up of such writers.

There is symmetry and culture in the formation of this script, reflecting the writer's delicacy of feeling.

The gentle curves of the small letters indicate graciousness, but the amount of pride and authoritativeness revealed will make this writer give the impression of being egotistic.

What Sort Of Contest In Peterborough?

Mr. St. Laurent has said that there will not be a General Election in Canada until after the Coronation, but it seems probable that we shall see one next September or October. It is not strictly necessary to hold an election before 1954, but few governments like to run their full legal course; they prefer to choose the time themselves, and to exercise as much control as they can over the issues on which the election is fought.

* * *

What sort of contest will there be in Peterborough? Mr. Gordon Fraser has contested, and won, three elections for the Conservative party, and it was widely believed that if he did not choose to run again the late William Ovens would have appeared as Conservative candidate; his chances of winning would have been excellent and we think that people of all parties would have found him an able and effective representative of their interests in Parliament. Will Mr. Fraser run again? If he does, we foresee that he will win without difficulty, for he is widely and favourably known, and is an old hand at electioneering. Further, he is backed by an efficient and well organized local party.

* * *

What are the Liberals doing? Will they, as in the past, run around seeking a candidate a couple of months before the election? Or have they a candidate in prospect? If the later is the case he has no time to lose in making himself known. It is not fair to any man whose quality is such that he might represent this city at Ottawa to put him in the running at the last minute; only stop-gap candidates, willing to take a defeat rather than let the election go by default, will accept such terms.

* * *

It is not good for democracy that the result of any election in any constituency should be a foregone conclusion. Peterborough is too important in too many ways to be politically lethargic. If the local parties, other than the Conservative, are serious in their beliefs and intentions, it is time they got to work.

Sforza, Statesman And Diplomat

The death of Count Carlo Sforza at the age of 79 has taken from Italy one of her most distinguished citizens of modern times. An aristocrat to the fingertips and the scion of an illustrious family, he was at the same time a convinced democrat. He possessed in ample measure the keen and lucid intelligence that seems the birthright of the Italian, combined with an inflexible devotion to principle that is less commonly associated with the natives of the peninsula. When Mussolini came into power in 1922 with the famous "March on Rome" (Mussolini came by train) Sforza had reached the climax of a distinguished diplomatic career with the post of Ambassador to France. If his wise counsels had been heeded the disastrous Greek adventure in Asia Minor might have been averted. A month after Mussolini came to power Sforza resigned his office in the Embassy so that he might be free to criticize Mussolini in the Senate. He refused many offers from the Duce to join the Fascist party. After the assassination in June, 1924, of Matteotti, Mussolini's chief Socialist critic in the Chamber of Deputies, Sforza was one of three senators who denounced the government as responsible for the crime, which was in fact ordered by Mussolini. Two years later Mussolini suppressed all opposition parties, and Sforza went into exile, lecturing and organizing opposition to Fascism. Were it not for the war he would have been just one more of those unfortunate political leaders fated to die in exile.

In the heyday of Fascism the walls of many buildings in Italy were adorned with the slogan, "Il Duce ha sempre ragione" (The Duce is always right). Moral questions apart, it was difficult to disprove the shrewdness of Mussolini's judgement up to the time of the Rome-Berlin axis. There was plenty of muttered criticism of the Duce in Italy up to the beginning of World War II, but the government was so firmly in control of all the organs of power in the state that any vocal opposition was quite futile. There were clouds on the horizon. The Rome-Berlin axis, in which Italy started as the senior partner, soon changed its character, with Germany taking the lead and running away with the loot. The first and most significant happening was the occupation of Austria by Hitler. For some years Austria had come very much under Italian influence, and the governments of Dollfuss and Schuschnigg basked in the comfortable illusion that Mussolini would protect them from being overrun by the Nazis. The occupation was in fact carried out by Hitler without consulting Mussolini, who had no alternative but to accept the situation with as good a grace as he could muster. He had in fact already made the one big blunder of his life by linking his destiny with the expansionist Hitlerite Reich, and the final blunder of entering the war on the side of Hitler was but a confirmation of his initial mistake which eventually cost him everything. The end of the war found an Italy beaten, ravaged, hated and despised. She had managed to preserve the continuity of her government, and had not to suffer the agony of partition amongst the victorious powers, but she was in disgrace and misery and ripe for Communism. The rehabilitation of Italy is largely due to Count Sforza, who returned from exile in 1943 to help establish the new government. He rapidly won the respect of Allied leaders, and since 1947 was Foreign Minister, a post for which he was eminently suited by training and temperament.

His loss is mourned not only by Italy but also by the whole free world as a statesman in the very highest sense of the word.

A Subsidy For The Banks?

Canadian banks have decided that they must reckon the discount on U.S. silver, as well as on U.S. paper currency, and many places of business are, understandably, passing this discount on to their customers. In a number of Peterborough places of business, for instance, a U.S. quarter is accepted at a value of 23 cents. As we see it, the strange thing is that the banks waited until the tourist season was over before making this move. During that time they handed out American silver liberally, at par value. The American tourists got 25 cents in value for their quarters; the people who did business with them got full value for this silver money when they passed it on; but now it is accepted only at its exchange value, and the loss has been passed on to the general public.

There is a great deal of American silver in Canada at present, and the banks do not intend to absorb the loss on it. We do not blame them for that, but we do blame them for not insisting that the discount on U.S. money extend to U.S. silver when the value of American currency dropped. No doubt it is supposed that the discount on U.S. silver, at 25 or 50 cents a time, will be so small that nobody will make a strong complaint about it. But depending upon the natural reluctance to make a fuss over two or three cents is not a proper way to conduct such an important business as banking. When American silver was worth more than ours the banks took it and paid no premium on it; now that American silver is worth less than ours, they want the public to make up the loss.

Subsidies are often necessary in Canadian affairs and several industries and businesses are subsidized, directly or indirectly. We are interested to observe that in this way the banks and the tourist industry have joined their number.

Breaking the Vicious Circle

We have already suggested in these columns that in some ways Labour cannot afford its own wages, since Labour is the chief user of the products of labour, the chief consumer. Some goods are so high in price owing to high wages that the wage earners themselves cannot afford the lumber, the household appliances, the food and the services they want. This seems to be a petitio principii — a vicious circle: high wages, high prices, higher wages, higher prices, until the prices are so high that the producers cannot afford to be consumers. Therefore the demand for the goods produced by their labour drops, employment falls, and there are no wages. Such a circle must be broken if Labour is to afford its own wages.

The northern United States textile industry found its sales falling off because their prices had priced them out of the market. Some workers were out of jobs. With the approval of the union, and as a result of negotiations between management and the union, the wages of 15,000 textile workers were reduced 8½ cents an hour. Thus the circle — usually called a spiral of inflation — has been broken, and deflated costs of producing textiles are putting them back in the market, and the workers back to jobs, with wages which will allow them to buy the cheaper product. Such a flexible policy of orderly adjustment to changing conditions is wise and even essential in a free economy, if chaos is not to develop from inflation.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Thou shalt not eat any abominable thing," says the Bible text in a recent issue of the Windsor Star. What, and offend our hostess?

Britain reports that its tramp population, which numbered 17,000 in 1932, has dropped to 2,500. Come to think of it, we haven't seen a real tramp in Canada for a long time. Girls in blue jeans, though candidates, don't really make the grade.

Allied Strategy And Mr. Churchill

By CHESTER WILMOT

AT the end of his fourth volume of memoirs of the Second World War, Mr. Churchill said that "henceforward the danger was not Destruction but Stalemate." In his fifth volume, Closing The Ring, published September 3, even this danger disappears as he carries his stock from the attack on Sicily in July, 1943, to the capture of Rome and the eve of the Normandy invasion in June, 1944. This volume, while no less absorbing than its forerunners, differs from them in that it is more markedly autobiographical. Mr. Churchill has always pointed out that he does not "seek to do more than make a contribution to history from the standpoint of the British Prime Minister," but in the earlier volumes he allowed his great power of historical narration to range far and wide through the chancelleries and over the battlefronts, describing even remote operations in vivid detail.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN Closing The Ring, however, he comes back to the vantage point of Downing Street and seldom leaves it. The narrower compass of this volume does not denote any flagging in historical purpose, but indicates rather his own preoccupation during the year in question with the twn problems of extracting the maximum advantage from the Mediterranean campaign and avoiding a premature assault across the Channel. If at times he appears over-anxious to justify himself, it should be remembered that the policies he advocated have been both criticised and misinterpreted, especially in the United States, even though the course of events appears to have brought ample vindication. The theme of this volume is "How Nazi Germany was isolated and assailed on all sides," with special emphasis on the last three words. "While I was always willing," he writes, "to join with the United States in a direct assault across the Channel . . . I was not convinced that this was the only way of winning the war, and I knew it would be a very heavy and hazardous adventure." The essence of the British, as opposed to the American, plan for the defeat of Germany was that the Allies must expose the enemy's vulnerable southern flank before attempting to assail his formidable western front. To the Prime Minister and the British Chiefs of Staff the Mediterranean campaign was the essential prelude to the cross-Channel invasion (Operation Overlord). They did not regard it as an alternative, but what they did oppose was the American determination to go ahead with Overlord on a set date and to curtail the attack in Italy on this account.

✧ ✧ ✧

PROTESTING against this outlook in October, 1943, Mr. Churchill wrote: "The reason why we are getting into jeopardy (in Italy) is because we are moving some of our best divisions and a large proportion of vital landing-craft from the Mediterranean in order to build up for 'Overload,' seven months' hence. This is what happens when battles are governed by lawyers' agreements made in all good faith months before and persisted in without regard to the ever changing fortunes of war." The radical differences between the British and the American approach to strategy were never reconciled, but in the event they complemented each other. Both British flexibility and American constancy of purpose were necessary to ensure the success of the decisive assault across the Channel. In the arguments about the Second Front, however, it seemed to the British that their Allies did not pay sufficient heed to the charges that the Anglo-American concentration in Britain might be out-matched by an enemy counter-concentration in France.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN August, 1943, the "Overlord" planners laid down certain conditions—with regard to enemy strength in the West—which, they said, must be fulfilled if the invasion was not to fail. These conditions were accepted by the American Chiefs of Staff in principle, but from Mr. Churchill's narrative — and especially from the contemporary documents which he quotes — it is clear that the conditions were fulfilled in fact only because of the continuous pressure maintained in the Mediterranean on British insistence and in the face of dogged American opposition. The reluctance of the U.S. Chiefs of Staff to support the campaign in Italy was partly due to their fear that Mr. Churchill was seeking to use American troops to further British imperial interests. Their approach to strategic problems was strictly military and because he brought forward political arguments — such as the opportunity offered by the weakness of Mussolini — in support of his military plans, they suspected him of having long-term political purposes in view. These suspicions then nourished the fear that he wanted to involve them in a full-scale Balkan campaign.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT the time Mr. Churchill sought to allay these fears. Writing to the President in October, 1943, he said, "I have never wished to send an army into the Balkans, but only by agents, supplies and Commandos to stimulate the intense guerrilla prevailing there . . . thus forcing on the enemy a diversion far greater than that required of us." In suspecting that even these limited operations were intended to secure for Britain some post-war advantage, the Americans were clearly wrong. Even in private messages to the British Foreign Secretary there is no suggestion during 1943 that Allied strategy should aim at forestalling the Russians in the Balkans. By the time of the first "Big Three" meeting at Teheran, in November, 1943, Mr. Churchill had larger plans for the Balkans. He then proposed that when the Italian campaign had progressed to the Pisa-Rimini Line — running through Florence — the bulk of the Allied forces there should carry out "a right-handed movement from the north of Italy, using the Istrian Peninsula and the Lubljana Gap, towards Vienna." At the same time he wanted to bring Turkey into the war and thus "get into the Black Sea with supplies for Russia, warships and other forces . . . so that we could ultimately give them (the Russians) our right hand along the Danube." He foresaw the possibility that for political reasons the Russians would not want us to develop a large-scale Balkan campaign," but he believed then, as he says now, that "it would not have been right at Teheran for the Western democracies to found their plans upon suspicions of the Russian attitude."

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no hint of this until May 4, 1944, when the Prime Minister suggested to Mr. Eden that a paper should be drafted "setting forth the brute issues between us and the Soviet Government" in South-Eastern Europe. Broadly, said Mr. Churchill, the issue was — "Are we going to acquiesce in the Communisation of the Balkans and perhaps Italy?" And he added, "I am of the opinion on the whole that we ought to come to a definite conclusion about it, and if our conclusion is that we resist the Communist infusion and invasion we should put it to them pretty plainly at the best moment that military events permit."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE lack of Anglo-American unity in dealing with the Soviet Union, which begins in this volume, was ably exploited by Stalin, but Mr. Churchill magnanimously refrains from indicating here the extent to which Stalin was encouraged by the President. He does not mention, for instance, that in May, 1943, Mr. Roosevelt sought a private meeting with Marshal Stalin and suggested that they should not meet in Iceland or Africa because that "would make it, quite frankly, difficult not to invite Prime Minister Churchill." Nor is there any reference to the unhappy episode at Teheran when the President endeavoured to win Stalin's favour by publicly teasing the Prime Minister to the point of exasperation.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN writing of his personal relations with the President, as in dealing with the differences between the British and Americans on questions of strategy, Mr. Churchill reveals his determination, now as then, to do nothing to impair the Anglo-American alliance. Yet one hopes that his generous reticence to underline the moral will not mean that the force of his message is not fully appreciated across the Atlantic.

"DOESN'T ANYBODY LOVE US, DADDY?"

Letters To The Editor

WAS COURTEOUSLY TREATED

Sir.—May I through the medium of your excellent newspaper have the privilege of saying "Thank you" to the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Peterborough, for the wonderful, courteous service they rendered to my family and myself when we were disappointed in reservations that had been made at Sturgeon Lake.

Mr. Harry Smith of Omemee, Ont., was the Good Samaritan who, learning of my plight, took the time and trouble at 9 o'clock at night to make several contacts and finally through the Junior Chamber located accommodations at Deer Bay Lake.

The gentleman on duty at the cabin stayed with me until very near midnight until he had completed all details and was sure we would not be disappointed again.

Believe me I can only show my appreciation by saying Thank you, but if ever at Cleveland I can be of serve to one of you at Peterborough, TRY ME.

Sincerely,
EMMETT J. OLMSTEAD,
3347 W. 95 St., Cleveland, Ohio.

WEEDS ON CITY PROPERTY

Sir.—In your paper Sept. 5, 1952, there is a legal notice re Noxious Weeds inserted by our weed inspector, Mr. Chalmers. It is my opinion that this gentleman should not issue such a notice to the taxpayer before doing something about city owned land. I refer to most of our city school grounds, in particular Prince of Wales. The weeds here were as high as 3 feet all summer and ingrown with poison ivy. A week ago a man with a horse mower cut some of the weeds and raked them in piles, which are still lying there dried out and creating a fire hazard. There is still a large area of weeds on the side of the hill and in school grounds behind the new addition and westerly to High St. Repeated request all summer to the City Hall have been to no avail. I do not entirely blame Mr. Chalmers but think our Board of Education should do something about this as there is no other play area for children in this section of town.

Yours truly,
TAXPAYER.

THE DIFFERENCE

Through the heat and dust of the country road tramped a band of recruits, their brows wet and their tongues dry. As they passed a cosy little pub, one soldier turned to his mate and said, wearily: "Now you know the difference between hiking and route-marching. When you route-march, you pass 'em."

✧ ✧ ✧

Jack: "What did your wife say when you got in from the club dinner last night?"

John: "Not a word. I was going to have my two front teeth extracted, anyway."

Bible Message

From the Authorized Version)

And it fell on a day, that Elisha passed to Shunem, where was a great woman; and she constrained him to eat bread. And so it was, that as oft as he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread. . . . And he said to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunammite. And when he had called her, she stood before him. . . .

And he said, About this season, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a son . . . . And when the child was grown, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers. And he said unto his father, My head, my head. And he said to a lad, Carry him to his mother. And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died. And she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out. . . .

So she went and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel. And it came to pass, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to Gehazi his servant, Behold, yonder is that Shunammite: run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and say unto her, Is it well with thee? is it well with thy husband? is it well with the child? And she answered, It is well. . . . And when Elisha was come into the house, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed. He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord. . . .

Then he returned, and walked in the house to and fro; and went up, and stretched himself upon him: and the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. And he called Gehazi, and said, Call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when she was come in unto him, he said, Take up thy son. (II Kings 4:8, 12, 16, 18-21, 25, 26, 32, 33, 35, 36.)

The Penalty N. S. Pays

(Guysboro County (N.S.) Advocate)

It has long been said that Nova Scotia's chief export in the past half century has been "brains". Nova Scotians have left this province to become leaders in all parts of the world. At the present time Nova Scotia has a high standard of education in its public schools and universities, and this costs the individual tax-payer a lot of money because of the sparsity of our population.

Now Ottawa has exacted a penalty on this province for the high value we attach to education and the distinguished universities which have been built up. Instead of issuing federal grants to universities according to the number of students enrolled, Ottawa is giving grants according to the population of each province (50 cents per capita), and not according to the number of students.

As a result Nova Scotia, with a population of 642,500 splits $321,250 among 3,475 students; $92.45 each. This may be compared with Ontario's figure of $126.28 per student, Sasckatchewan's $180.73, and Newfoundland's $483.16.

I certainly looks as if Joe Howe was born 100 years too soon.

Indian Schools Need Qualified People Badly

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Lack of qualified personnel is one of the most serious problems in Indian schools, Rev. H. G. Cook, superintendent of Indian schools for the Anglican Church, reported Monday.

Mr. Cook told the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada "we simply are not getting the quality that we need as a church group." He had seriously considered closing two schools and transferring the staffs to other institutions.

Speaking as the synod began study of missionary activities at home and abroad, Mr. Cook said that as a result of conferences "some most unsatisfactory situations have been straightened around" with the Indian affairs branch of the federal government.

CLAIMS "HAMPERED"

"We had been hampered all along the line by the branch," he said.

He was replying to questions from the floor regarding a written report to the synod which said "in some quarters of the Dominion, residential schools have been built for the Roman Catholic Church where its adherents are, or were, in the minority, while rebuilding of burned-out Anglican schools has been neglected."

Since the report was written, however, conferences were held and "we have at present a better understanding with the Indian Affairs branch," Mr. Cook said.

Main business of the morning session was the over-all report on missionary activities by Rev. L. A. Dixon, general secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada (M.S.C.C.)

Radar Inventors Watson-Watt Seeking Divorce

LONDON (Reuters)—Lady Margaret Watson-Watt yesterday petitioned for divorce from her husband, inventor of radar, ending a 36-year, husband-and-wife scientific partnership.

In 1934 Britain asked Robert Watson-Watt (now Sir Robert) to produce a death ray. He turned down the idea, but came up instead with radar. Last January, he was awarded £50,000 tax free for his invention. He credited his wife with a big part in developing it.

Watson-Watt, 60, recently has been working on Canada's radar network.

Lady Margaret's suit will be heard at the law court's next term. The reason for the divorce was listed.

St. Laurent To Hand Over Fighter Wing To NATO

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's second fighter wing earmarked for European defence, due to fly to France at the end of this month, likely will be formally turned over to the North Atlantic Treaty Command by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The wing, composed of Sabre jet squadrons from St. Hubert, Que., Uplands near Ottawa and from North Bay, will fly to a field near Metz about the end of this month. Their movement is expected to take some two weeks to complete.

There will be a small ceremony on establishment of the more than 60 planes at a field near Metz, France. But it is expected that Prime Minister St. Laurent, who is going to London for the Commonwealth conference in November, will journey to France at that time formally to turn the wing over to N.A.T.O.

FIRST IN PEACETIME

The wing, under command of Group Capt. J. K. MacDonald of Antigonish, N. S., will be the first air arm established by Canada on the continent of Europe during peacetime.

Canada has a fighter wing at North Luffenham, England. It will remain there as part of the N.A.T.O. air force.

Canada has undertaken to contribute 12 squadrons to N.A.T.O. air strength by the end of 1953.

"COOL CONTROL" the "OVERLAPPING" GRIP

1 Allow club shaft to lie diagonally across the left hand.

2 Close fingers for firm but not tight grip on club, with left thumb running down outside of shaft. 'V' formed by thumb and forefinger should point to right shoulder.

This is considered finest grip for control of club.

It's control that counts, in golf as in every sport — control which brings the balance, the comfort and the extra quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

TV Station Jumps Gun On Opening

TORONTO (CP) — While the CBC's television station, CBLT, was jumping the gun on its own opening by showing pictures and giving description of the four gunmen who escaped from the Don jail yesterday, a press conference was in progress in another studio.

The CBC Board of Governors was answering questions asked by 50 newspaper men and magazine representatives. Along one wall were four TV sets.

While A. D. Dunton, chairman of the board, was discussing forthcoming programs, the sets showed pictures of Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Steve Suchan, Leonard and William Jackson.

"Canadian talent," said Mr. Dunton.

Cut Freight Rates On Cars To West

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian railways have cut freight rates on shipment of motor-cars from Ontario to Western Canada by approximately 17 per cent, it was disclosed yesterday by spokesmen for the Railway Association of Canada.

No reason was given for the reduction, effective Sept. 1, but it was reported to be a move by the railways to meet increasing competition from truck carriers.

It applies to carload lot shipments of passenger cars to Western Canada from the Ontario points of Hamilton, Oshawa, Tilbury, Toronto, Walkerville and Windsor. A minimum carload lot is 10,000 pounds.

Canada Completes Big Wheat Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has just completed the second biggest wheat export year in her history.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday that exports of wheat and wheat flour totalled 356,100,000 bushels during the 1951-52 crop year, second only to the record 407,600,000 bushels exported in 1928-29.

A total of 40 countries and Crown colonies purchased Canadian wheat during the crop year and Britain continued to be Canada's biggest customer, taking about 36 per cent of the total.

Switch-Voting Democrats Unknown Factor For McCarthy

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Switch-voting Democrats appear to be the major unknown factor in Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's fight to win the Republican nomination for his second term in the United States Senate at today's Wisconsin primary election.

Upward of 1,000,000 voters are expected to go to the polls and make their decision on 42-year-old McCarthy, whose name has come to mean "Americanism" to some and "smear" to others through his Communist-in-government charges.

His chief opponent is Leonard Schmitt, 50, a lawyer, who has used marathon radio talks to carry his fight to the people. Four others, virtual political unknowns, also seek the nomination.

The imponderable in the McCarthy-Schmitt race was this: How many Democrats will vote in the Republican primary to support anti-McCarthy Republicans?

SWITCH VOTING

Such switch-voting is legal in Wisconsin whose laws do not require registration by party.

McCarthy made a last-minute appeal for votes through the re-broadcast of a radio speech he gave last Wednesday. In his speech —his lone speech of the campaign —the senator charged a "Communist-type smear" has been used against him.

He appealed for a "vote of confidence" in his charges that subversive influences are at work in the present Washington administration—and as a means of drawing Republican Presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower closer to him.

Eisenhower has given McCarthy only conditional support. He has made it clear he will back McCarthy if the senator wins his party's nomination.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Do you grid followers realize that the local football season is upon us? Our O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" entry, the Orfuns, are opening their schedule this Saturday aft in Cobourg. The Ghosts come here the following Friday. It's a double schedule, Oshawa and Kingston being the other entries, and winds up the end of October. Ghosts won their opener last Saturday at home against Oshawa Raiders, group champs last autumn. Meantime, youthful Coach Tony Kowtowski, formerly of Mississippi State, is weeding and drilling the Peterborough huskies for the short, sharp campaign ahead. Lots of gridiron action soon, too, around P.C.V.S. and S.P.S.

Horses, horses, horses—there'll be lots of 'em tearing around the race track at the Ex. this week, afternoon and evening. Many good ones from a distance, and some real good local and district pacers and trotters will show as they go after the money prizes. Incidentally, we note this item in the harness horse race column conducted by Hal B.: "The announcement of the complete dispersal of the large band of brood mares and colts, numbering around 80 head, by Hugh Stewart, Hilltop Farm, Peterborough, came as quite a surprise to the harness horse fraternity. The farm has been sold, hence the complete dispersal, including two well-bred stallions, Prince Direct and Big Gun. Date of sale is Thursday, Oct. 16."

Minor Lacrossers Do Oke

Walt Murphy advises that the local juvenile lacrossers are in O.L.A. finals, after erasing Brampton, and will play a home-and-home series with St. Catharines, going to the Garden City this Saturday and return game being a week later. Same setup with our bantams, who also ousted Brampton, except that the Petes are in bantam "A" semi-finals meeting St. Kitts there Saturday and here Sept. 20. Winner goes 'gainst Sarnia for provincial honors. Our midgets lost out in "A" play, but may get into "B" competition now. Local peewees enter a playoff tourney this weekend at Brampton. So, Ken Kingston's P.M.L.A. lads are all right in there now.

* * * * * *

Prexy Bob Peirson of the Petes' Timbermen feels fairly optimistic these days. With the locals having a bye into Eastern Canada finals, he thinks the three club casualties, Don Ashbee, Rusty Slater and Ross Powless, will all be ready for action when the big series opens in a week and a half or so. Also, he believes Ike Hildebrand and Don Ashbee—despite pro puck workouts looming—will be available for at least the eastern series. If they have to go then, the club could get two replacements, provided they make Mann Cup finals. Also, Bob hopes to have Jerry Fitzgerald for some, if not all of the remaining games, even though he will still be on Hamilton Ti-Cats' grid roster.

Kingston Makes the Final

After leading the C.O.B.L. race for about two-thirds of the summer campaign, Belleville Redmen wound up in the trash can. They were erased in loop semi-finals last night down by the Bay of Quinte, which no doubt is higher today with many salt tears rolling in off Front St. Anyway, Kingston Monarchs oppose the Petes in the best-of-seven finals, opening here at 8.30 tomorrow (Wednesday) night. Phil Clancy will pitch for the Stewart squad, his last fling ere returning next day to the States for military service. O. B. A. has okayed a pitching replacement for him, and the Petes are looking around. Doug Loucks has been out of town, so the club may try to obtain Art Wright of Belleville. More again on it—meantime, it's senior baseball playoff time once again.

* * * * * *

Unless the O.B.A. upholds a local juniors' protest on Oshawa's use of Gary Copeland (an Oshawa junior who signed an intermediate certificate with Lindsay), the Young Petes have had it. They were soundly trimmed here last p.m. by the classy junior Transporters of the Motor City. A husky squad, the visitors teed off on three twirlers to bounce balls off various outfield fences in a real hitting spree. Young Petes, on the other hand, couldn't do anything right in this fray. They even had one batter strike out twice in a row just to dish up something different in baseball! Almost everyone for Oshawa got hits, while Jensen and Wilson were the only locals to get more than one safety.

Mimico Makes Semi-Finals, Trips Crescents

TORONTO (CP)—Mimico Mountaineers last night advanced into the semi-finals of the Ontario Lacrosse Association's senior league by defeating Owen Sound Crescents 16-5.

The victory gave the Mounties the best-of-five series three games to one. They now meet Toronto West Yorks in another best-of-five set starting in Mimico Thursday night.

The Mounties took the lead from the start and after the Crescents tied it 2-2 midway through the first quarter the Mountaineers went ahead to stay. It was 4-2 at the end of the first quarter, 6-3 at half time and 10-3 going into the final session.

Fred Sandford was the big gun for Mimico, scoring four goals. Pop Chard, Ken Dixon, Lowner and Blakely each scored twice.

Owen Sound scorers were Grant Gillespie, Arnold Smith, Shortridge, John Lumley and John Mathewson.

Brampton Takes 1-Game Lead In Jr. Lacrosse

WINNIPEG (CP)—The starry Brampton Excelsiors last night took a one-game lead in the Canadian junior lacrosse semi-final, defeating Manitoba All-Stars 18-8.

The Manitoba team crumbled in the last half after holding the lead in the first. Brilliant passing plays and sharp defence work by the Excelsiors rolled over the All-Stars as Brampton erased a 6-5 deficit at the half to outscore Manitoba 5-3 in the third quarter and pump in seven goals without reply in the fourth.

About 700 fans saw the game. The second game will be played here tomorrow with the winner of the best-of-three series meeting the British Columbia champions for the Minto Cup at New Westminster, B.C., later this month.

An Ontario team has won the trophy for the last two years.

ALL-STARS ROOTED

Brampton made short work of the All-Star team, starting from the early minutes of the second half. Their string of comparatively easy goals—eight scored when Manitoba players were sitting out penalties—turned what seemed an even game into a rout.

Jim Dodds, 19-year-old former Owen Sound player, performed brilliantly in the Ontario net. His expert goal-tending held off the All-Star attack as they fought to turn the tide.

Excelsiors were paced by Gordie Laidlaw, Jack Bionda and Pete Bradkin with three goals each. Doubles were added by Jack Hilson, Jack Sibbald, Ken Watkins and Bill McLaughlin. Bob Watson counted the single.

Doug Smallwood with two goals led Manitoba scorers. Singles went to Gord Horner, Ernie Goudreau, Merrill Wazniak, Ted Cade, Lionel Merrick and Jack Kirby.

Slamming Sam Snead posted a four-under-par 68 to win the Dallas $10,000 Open golf championship seven years ago today with a 72-hole total of 276. Jug McFaden was second and Byron Nelson, who also burned the course with a final-round 68, was third.

ARGO TOUCHDOWN — A dazzling passing and running attack directed by quarterback Nobby Wirkowski gave Toronto Argonauts a 43-0 victory over Montreal Alouettes. A crowd of 18,700 saw Argos for the first time in Big Four league action at home this season. Here Ulysses Curtis, swift Argo back, takes the first of three touchdown passes thrown by Wirkowski to cross the Alouettes' goalline, ahead of Als' lineman Church Anderson (48).

May Be Using Cleveland Pitchers Oftener

CLEVELAND (AP)—The close American League pennant race is forcing Cleveland manager Al Lopez to part with the tradition that pitchers should get three days' rest between starts.

There is a chance the eastern clubs, who play eight games here in nine days starting tonight, may see one of the Indians' Big Three—Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon—on the mound every day.

Before the easterners leave, Lopez hopes to have made up the two games by which the Tribe trails New York Yanks.

Wynn hurls tonight against Philadelphia Ahtletics, and Lemon and Garcia will follow him, Lopez said, adding:

"I'm thinking of coming back with Wynn Friday against Boston. Otherwise it wil be Steve Gromek. We'll see what happens. If Wynn pitches Friday, Garcia and Lemon also will come back after only two days' rest."

WANT MORE WORK

The Big Three all favor the idea of more work and have been pushing Lopez to start them oftener. The Tribe's chances of losing increase when Gromek or Bob Feller—the league's biggest winner last year—get the starting assignment.

Garcia pitched shutouts his last two starts—Thursday and Sunday. He used only about 100 pitches in blanking the Browns Sunday—hardly enough to exhaust a husky 200-pounder.

In the last 16 games, the Big Three handled 11—all but one of them from start to finish. They won nine and lost two.

Feller failed to finish his last three starts, although only one was charged to him as a loss.

Wynn will be seeking his fourth victory in a row tonight and his 20th against 12 losses. Opposing him will be Bobby Shantz, trying to avert his fourth straight setback since posting victory No. 22.

Oshawa Takes Young Petes In Second Game Of Series

Oshawa Transporters trounced the Young Petes 20-0 here last night in an O.B.A. junior playdown game. The win gives Oshawa the series in two straight, unless a local protest on an Oshawa player—who performed for Lindsay intermediates—is upheld by the Ontario body. A slim crowd of chilly fans viewed the one-sided fray which saw Mac McMartin leave the home slab the loser after four frames. Jerry Frizzelle fared no better and gave way late in the next heat to Leo Sullivan, who finished it up. Bill Kellar hurled three-hit ball for Transporters for five frames, and Lefty Crawford allowed but two bingles in the last two. Young Petes booted seven to one.

HARD HITTERS

Leading the heavy-hitting Oshawa outfit were Fred Etcher with four hits, one a double; Ted Stone with a triple and two singles; Kellar with a homer and three; Gary Copeland three singles; and Hank Joskoski with a double and single. They all hit but Jeffs. Rocky Wilson and Bus Jensen got two hits each for the losers. Defensive features included a foul grab by Bob Booth, a catch by Murray Byrne, a pickup by Gary Kearns, and a twin killing by the winners to end the game.

It was a weird tussle at times, with Elmhirst whiffing twice in a row in the second inning, as he batted out of turn. Oshawa had nine stolen bases, including home once, as Young Petes pilfered a pair. The latter had 10 left and Oshawa eight. Kellar, who got credit for the win, whiffed six, Crawford four and the Peterborough pitchers one apiece. Teams:

Oshawa: Varga, ss; Stroz, 3b; Etcher, 2b; Kellar, p, rf; Copeland, 1b; Stone, rf; Crawford, p; Jeffs, cf; Joskoski, lf; Thurston, lf; Booth, c.

Bell Gets Title In Civic Over Foresters

For the fourth year in a row, Bell Telephone captured the Ostrander Trophy as Civic Softball League champions. Last night, they took both ends of a doubleheader over Foresters to win the best-of-five finals three in a row. The scores were 24-4 and 17-7 to make it most decisive.

In the first game, Burt Harrison went all the way and was never in trouble, getting neat support. They also hit hard to rack up the count. Foresters were loose afield, and Bell pounded pitchers Maloney, Murray and Parnell hard.

In the nightcap, Bell rattled a flock of hits off the delivery of Maloney and Parnell, while Keith Harrison on their slab pitched nice steady ball and had fine backing. Smith, James, and K. Harrison were the best hitters for the champs, while Maloney and Parnell went best for the losers. The teams:

Bell — Greatrix cf, James c, Gillespie 1b, Smith 2b, Ackford lf, K. Harrison 3b p, B. Harrison p, Conway ss, Tushingham rf, Gordon lf, Bullied rf.

Foresters — Doughty c, Walling cf, Tyndall 2b, Parnell rf, Smith ss, Holland 1b, Murray 3b, Downer lf, Maloney p.

Marines Tie Up Final Set By Edging Rays

Outboard Marines downed Raybestos 2-0 at Quaker Park last night to even their best-of-five Industrial Fastball League finals at a win each. The third game will go Wednesday there at 6.15 p.m. with the league draw also taking place. Fourth and fifth games, if necessary, are listed for next Monday and Wednesday.

Halliday came up with a fine five-hit hurling chore for Marines, striking out 13, while Nichols on the other hill fanned 10 and was nicked for six safe blows in a nifty showing. The fielding was swell in this thrilling playoff game, which lasted but an hour for nine innings. Halliday led his side at bat, none of the losers getting more than one safe bingle. The winers scored their two runs in the first frame. Teams:

Blue Bombers Trip Stampeders 7-6

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's still the "old pros" who bring home the bacon in western football.

Indian Jack Jacobs and flingin' Frankie Filchock were at the helm when it counted last night as Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated Calgary Stampeders 7-6 and Edmonton Eskimos came from behind to clip Saskatchewan Roughriders 19-15.

Jacobs lofted a punt to the deadline from the Calgary 28-yard line for the Bomber victory margin. The win gave Bombers a three-point edge over the second-place Stampeders.

Eskimos climbed out of the cellar for the second time this season as coach Filchock, in action for the first time in three games, passed to import Bobby Flippen for one touchdown and gave the speedy halfback a hand-off for a second.

ARNOLD PASSES FREELY

The Eskimo "insurance" man, Claude Arnold, shared in the win. Riders held 7-0 and 8-0 quarter leads before Arnold led Eskimos to their first touchdown from the Eskimo 35-yard line. He tossed five complete passes in the downfield march.

Roughriders stretched their lead two passes and a short run later. Coach Glenn Dobbs passed to Ken Charlton from his own 16-yard line. Charlton gathered in the pass on the Saskatchewan 50 and ran to the Edmonton 18. End Holland Aplin gathered in a Dobbs pass over the goal line after Art Steward lugged it from the 16 to the 10.

Butch Avinger kicked a 30-yard single and Riders were ahead 15-7.

Filchock passed to Flippen and Aguirre converted, leaving Roughriders leading 15-13 in the fourth quarter when Eskimo Don Lord intercepted a Dobbs-to-Holland Aplin pass to give Edmonton possession on the Saskatchewan 12-yard line.

That was the turning point. Filchock handed off to Flippen with five minutes to go and that was it.

Saskatchewan got two touchdowns from Aplin, both on passes from Dobbs. Del Wardien converted both. Booming kicks by Avinger accounted for the other three Rider points.

Arnold's touchdown pass to Joe (The Toe) Aguirre, Flippen's two touchdowns and three converts and a single kicked by Aguirre accounted for the Edmonton points.

FOUR FOR BOMBERS

In Calgary, Jacobs' kick gave Bombers their fourth straight victory and Stampeders their third straight loss after Calgary took an early-season lead on three wins in a row.

Bombers came from behind to tie the score 6-6 at the half.

Stampeders went ahead on a Keith Spaith kick in the first quarter. Tommy Ford was rouged behind the Winnipeg line on the punt. Keith Bennett set up the first major score when he intercepted a Jacobs pass on the Winnipeg 47-yard line.

After two Spaith-to-Paul Salata passes, Brian Mulhern swept wide around end, fumbled, and Calgary lineman Paul Lea grabbed the ball near the goal-line. Kalusnik plunged over centre for the touchdown. The convert was blocked.

Bombers tied it up when Ford grabbed Spaith's kick on the Winnipeg 50-yard strip and struck for the sidelines.

Ford swept around the complete Calgary club and went all the way for the touchdown. Korchak kicked the convert.

After the scoreless third quarter, Jacobs put Stampeders deep in their own territory with a long kick that went out of bounds on the Calgary 15. Then Calgary kicked, and two Jacobs passes went incomplete and he kicked the winning point.

Marmora Victors

NORWOOD (ENS).—In the final game of the Moir Cup playoffs, Marmora defeated Norwood 5-4, counting a run in the first and four more in the ninth to capture the trophy. Norwood got a pair in the first, and one each in the second and ninth, though playing with but eight players. Marmora had won the previous game 16-6. Teams:

Marmora: Brown 1b, Killian c, Darragh ss, Jones 3b, Mantle p, Whitmore rf, Dekun cf, Brown 2b, Brooks lf.

Norwood: Aldred cf, Fennell p, Fredericks ss, Payne c, Crampton rf, Stevenson 3b, Ferguson 2b, Rae 1b.

Umpire: A. Aldred.

NBA Parley Studies Application For Maxim, Manager Suspension

By STEWART NEBBS

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Boxing Association's 33rd annual convention goes into high gear today with the agenda calling for study of a request by the British Boxing Board of Control for N.B.A. backing in its suspension of light-heavy champ Joey Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns.

The matter came up briefly yesterday but further discussion was delayed until today when Kearns is expected to appear.

Also on the agenda is discussion of adoption of uniformity in point-scoring systems.

The British request for N.B.A. sanction of the suspensions was read to the more than 200 delegates attending the three-day convention here. The suspension followed failure of Maxim, the British board charged, to go through with a contract to fight Randy Turpin in London.

In his report as executive secretary, Harvey L. Miller said if the B.B.B.C. letter had arrived before the affair came up in New York, which backed the suspensions, both Maxim and Kearns would have been automatically suspended.

TO HEAR KEARNS

There is an agreement between the British board and the N.B.A. to recognize each other's suspensions but Miller said Kearns had asked for a hearing and should receive it.

Nat Fleischer, of Ring Magazine and British representative at the sessions here, said the reason Britain first made a report to New York rather than to the N.B.A. was because the contract had been signed there.

The varied point-scoring system within the N.B.A., although producing the same final result, made for difficulties which could be overcome by adoption of uniformity, Miller said.

The delegates, mainly from the United States and Canada, rejected by a vote of 30 to 17 a motion by Pete North of Boston who claimed Percy Bassett of Philadelphia had automatically eliminated himself from a world feather-weight elimination tournament by fighting overweight.

In the tournament, to find a temporary successor to Sandy Saddler, now in the army, Bassett fought to a draw with Frederico Plummer in a bout in Panama. A rematch was ordered.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It was on a humid night in early July with St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians battling desperately in a low-scoring American League baseball game, that a slim, wiry Negro was called from the St. Louis bull-pen, and rushed to the mound in emergency.

Ordinarily, this wouldn't be unusual. But this Negro was at least 50 years old. Perhaps more. Yet for inning after inning, he stood on the pitching hill, defying the power of Cleveland's heavy-hitting team to score a run off him.

Inning after inning, he flung his pitching wizardy at the enemy. Baffled by his streaking fast ball, his tantalizing curves, the power-house team went runless. Not until ten scoreless innings had been pitched by this veteran Negro, did Cleveland break through with the winner.

The Negro was Satchell Paige, one of baseball's most fabulous personalities. And his second such effort of the season, rates, we think as one of the great feats of the baseball year, something to enthuse those who like to see a wrong righted.

The wrong was this: Here is a man who was probably the finest pitcher of his time, and his time was long. But he had no chance to prove it.

Seems to us we have heard of the feats of "Old Satch" ever since we started growing up, though literally that can't be true. Competent baseball men told us for years that Paige would burn up either big league, given the opportunity.

At a late date in life, at an age when most ballplayers are not good enough for minor leagues, even Satchell Paige got his belated chance.

For fame came late to Satchell. It was not until the twilight of his amazing career that he was given a chance to pitch in the big leagues—by Bill Veeck at Cleveland. There, in 1948, he got a chance to pitch in his first World Series.

You can spend some time speculating what a pitcher Paige must have been 20 years ago, when there was more steel and rubber in his pitching-arm. That today he could at his age, pitch 10 scoreless innings in top company makes one stand ready to believe any legendary tale they tell of "Old Satch's" fabulous exploits—2,000 games pitched in 20 years, for instance. That's a game every 3½ days, the year 'round! "Satch" probably did it.

An amazing figure, and a notable addition to the list of those who prove that while life may begin at 40, competitive life doesn't end there, in sport, with such exhibits as Willie Hoppe, Jersey Joe Walcott, Bob Fitzsimmons, and Bill Cook offered on behalf of the defence.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Royals Favored To Take Leafs In Series Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals, who have won the International League playoffs five times, will go after the Governer's Cup again tonight when they meet Toronto Maple Leafs in the opener of their series at Montreal.

In the other semi-final series opener, Rochester Red Wings play Syracuse Chiefs at Syracuse.

Montreal is heavily favored to defeat Toronto, which finished fourth in the regular season schedule, then go on to defeat the Syracuse-Rochester winner. Syracuse ended the season Sunday in second place, with Rochester third.

The series will be on a best-of-seven basis, with the winner playing the champions of the American Association in the Little World Series.

LOTS OF SPEED

Montreal, defending the cup won last year, led the International Circuit in batting and has plenty of speed and a fine defence. The Royals have been in 12 playoffs since the Governor's Cup system was introduced in 1933.

Manager Walter Alston, in his third playoff in three years at the helm of the Royals, is expected to send Tom Lasorda to the mound in the opener.

Burleigh Grimes, rehired in July as Toronto manager, listed three "probables" in the opener at Montreal—John Hetki, Duke Markell or Stubby Overmire. Toronto won the cup once, in 1934, and is in its first playoff since 1945.

Bruno Betzel, Syracuse manager, named Alva Holloman as his probable starter. The Chiefs have won the playoff four times, the last in 1947.

Rochester, winner of the cup once, in 1939 under Billy Southworth, is making its fifth successive bid for the cup. Manager Harry Walker of Rochester is expected to start with Ellis (Cot) Deal.

Ennis Hasn't Fractured Hand X-ray Shows

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — X-ray pictures reveal that Del Ennis, Philadelphia Phillies' star outfielder, hasn't a fractured left hand as had been reported.

It was announced Sunday that Ennis fractured a bone in his hand in the opener of Saturday night's twi-night twin bill against Boston Braves.

ALL THIS AND THE FIRST PRIZE, TOO—Cliff McDonell from Cornwall, who drives a 225 class speedboat named "My Folly," has his arms around the Canadian Schenley Trophy, emblematic of speedboat supremacy in Canada. He won it by compiling the highest total of race points throughout the regatta season and it was presented to him at the Canadian National Exhibition. The girls, Miss Therese Vincent (left), Queen of the Valleyfield Regatta, and Thelma Brewis (right), Miss Toronto 1952, offer tangible congratulations to the speedboat king.

Giants Only Five Lengths Behind Dodgers After Dividing Double Bill

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Giants still believe in miracles and Cleveland Indians refuse to vanish from the race. Thus the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees must extend themselves to the limit during the final three weeks of the campaign if they are to meet in the October World Series. The Yankees own a two-game lead in the American League race but must play all but three of their final 16 games away from home. The Indians have the same number of games to play, but 14 of them are in Cleveland. The Yankees and Indians meet only once more this season—in Cleveland.

BETTER OFF NOW

Both the Dodgers and the Giants have 16 to play at home and three on the road. But the Giants are comforted by the fact that they are better off this season than they were a year ago.

Last year at this time, the Giants trailed the Dodgers by 6½ games. Today, following yesterday's split of their day-night doubleheader, New York is only five lengths behind.

The Giants' bid to overtake the Dodgers appeared to have been stopped when the Dodgers crushed them 10-2 in the afternoon clash, but Leo Durocher's gallant crew bounced back to win the night portion of the twin bill 3-2.

A two-run, sixth-inning homer by captain Alvin Dark and a ninth-inning, two-out double by Don Mueller won for the Giants after Joe Black's brilliant relief hurling and Duke Snider's power-hitting had given the Dodgers an easy first-game triumph.

Mueller's double scored Hank Thompson from second with the run that gave the Giants a split. But the outfielder had to share the starring role with Sal Maglie, the Giant pitching ace.

MAGLIE COMES THROUGH

Maglie, returning to the mound after being knocked out the day before, hurled three masterful shutout innings in relief and stopped cold a Brooklyn threat in the seventh, retiring three Dodgers with the score tied, the potential winning run on third base and nobody out.

Black, Brooklyn's ace reliever, yielded six hits in 7 2-3 scoreless innings to receive credit for the opener. It was his 13th success against three defeats.

The first game, which lasted three hours and 12 minutes, was highlighted by a first class rhubarb, constant bickering on the part of both clubs, three hit batsmen, an accidental spiking and other signs of injured tempers.

RHUBARB ERUPTS

The rhubarb erupted with two out in the Dodgers' half of the ninth. Larry Jansen, relieving for the Giants, became irked when the batter, Billy Cox, returned to the dugout. Cox apparently wanted to give Black a little more rest before returning to the mound. The Brooklyn pitcher had just been retired on a close play at first.

Jansen decided to walk over to the Giant dugout but was intercepted by plate umpire Lee Ballanfant, who ordered him back to the mound. Jansen obeyed, but hit Cox in the small of the back with his first pitch. Ballanfant quickly ejected Jansen from the game.

National League President Warren Giles said he would reserve decision until he received a full report from the umpires.

THREE BROOKS HIT

Cox was the third Brooklyn player to be hit by a pitched ball in the game. Jansen also struck Andy Pafko in the eighth and Gil Hodges was hit by Hoyt Wilhelm in the fifth. Monte Irvin of the Giants and Jackie Robinson were hit by pitched balls Sunday.

For the second straight day Hodges, sliding into a base, put a Giant second baseman out of commission. Sunday, it was Davey Williams who had to leave after aggravating a back injury when Hodges hit him sliding into second. Yesterday, Billy Rigney received a spike wound in the calf of the right leg from the Dodger first baseman which required five stitches.

No other clubs in either league were scheduled.

Zulu Tribesman Captures Flyweight Title

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England (AP)—Zulu Tribesman Jake Tuli of South Africa won the British Empire flyweight boxing championship last night by detrhoning Teddy Gardner of England on a technical knockout in the 12th of a scheduled 15-round bout.

It was Tuli's first fight against a white man, and the 21-year-old Zulu had no trouble. The defending champion was on the losing side all the way until the referee halted the bout.

While Gardner banked on his boxing tactics, Tuli just kept coming forward all the time.

The 30-year-old Gardner had blood streaming from both eyes and his nose and his mouth was taking a terrible beating when the referee halted the fight.

Tuli, who has had only 10 professional fights, was previously unknown in Britain.

Gardner weighed 111 pounds, 13 ounces; Tuli 110 pounds, 12 ounces.

Cobourg Errors Help Beamsville Win

COBOURG — Cobourg Cards committed no less than 13 errors Saturday night to spoil Sleep Dawe's four-hit hurling and allow Beamsville Juniors a 9-7 decision in the opener of the OASA Junior best-of-three title series.

Dawe fanned 10 and fielded well. He watched the roof fall in around him in the nighmare when five Cobourg errors gave Beamsville that many runs. In the second the looseness continued and the visitors added three more, enough to win.

The teams meet in the second encounter this Saturday in Beamsville.

Scientists Seek Clue To Crash In Pilot's Words

FARNBOROUGH, England (Reuters)—The last word of ace test pilot Johnny Derry echoed yesterday through a room full of scientists hoping to find a clue to why his experimental jet fighter exploded Saturday.

Derry's voice came from a recording of a radio telephone conversation Derry had with the Farnborough air show control tower a few moments before his De Havilland 110 broke to pieces above 120,000 spectators. For the present, his last words are being kept secret.

The death toll of the explosion rose yesterday to 28. Richard Norton, 14, died from injuries received when parts of the plane plowed into the crowd.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest into the deaths of the 20 persons whose bodies have been identified. They included Derry and his 24-year-old flight observer, Tony Richards.

The scream of jet planes overhead could be heard as the inquest went on.

Group Capt. S. W. R. Hughes, commandant of the airfield here, told the jury he was convinced that Derry had no warning of impending disaster. He said his belief was based on Derry's radio messages.

No evidence was given on what caused the crash. The jury was told its job was to decide what caused the deaths, not what caused the jet to disintegrate.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW CHIEF—Field-Marshal Sir William Slim, above, has been appointed Governor-General of Australia. Slim, 61, who will succeed Sir William McKell in the position, is expected to relinquish his present appointment as Chief of Britain's Imperial General Staff in November.

Sees Helicopters In Taxi Service

OTTAWA—(CP).— You should be able to take a helicopter taxi between such places as Ottawa and Montreal within 10 years. And by that time you should be able to fly from Vancouver to Toronto in four hours.

These are some of the predictions of John R. Baldwin, chairman of the Air Transport Board, the government body which controls civil aviation in Canada.

In a speech to an Ottawa service club he looked into aviation's crystal ball, and predicted that helicabs would be running a 45-minute taxi service over the 125-mile route from Ottawa to Montreal by 1962, and perhaps earlier than that.

At present, he said, the helicopter is too expensive to compete with other types of transportation in that field. The helicopter has to be made larger and has to be operated more cheaply.

Sees U.K. Army Very Backward

BIRMINGHAM (CP)—Lt.-Col. A. Jones, Royal Army Educational Corps staff officer, said at a press conference there is "an awful lot" of backwardness in the British army.

He said that one in four of the army's national service men has a reading standard below that of a 12-year-old child. In the Pioneer Corps (labor) the proportion was much higher, with about 20 per cent backward and 18 per cent illiterate.

At the same time, Col. Jones said the situation has reached its peak and may start to decline within five or six years.

Causes of backwardness, he said, were associated with war, evacuation, split homes and school-overcrowding.

Lively Pupils

LONDON (CP)—Back in London after a year in Ottawa as an exchange teacher, Beryl Ames said she found Canadian children more friendly than British children. "But they seem to have less respect for the teachers," she added.

Healthy Post

CAPETOWN (CP)—Miss D.E.R. Harris, a municipal employee at Krugersdorp in the Transvaal, has worked 32 years in the same office and never missed a day through illness. She works in the Health Department.

Rev. Douglas Explains Work Of Conscience

The Psychology of Conscience, what it is and what role it plays in the life of the individual was the subject of an address given by the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church Monday at a Rotary luncheon meeting.

"Conscience is individual self-judgment and is concerned with standards of right and wrong," the speaker said. "A good conscience is only possible when conduct is in harmony with the convictions that rule the individual's life. A bad conscience is the result of disharmony—conflict between conduct and convictions."

Mr. Douglas explained that the conscience is developed both by pressures outside and within the individual. However it is not just a hangover from parental discipline or childish fears.

"There are two facts that we know about conscience, its universality and the variability of its dictates in different cultural standards" he said. "Conscience is not a Christian product."

"A Christian conscience is self-judgment in the light of Christian learning and thinking."

SENSE OF "OUGHT"

The speaker explained that conscience is based on a sense of ought rather than must. It should be considered not a foe but a friend—a guide. It should be used for superior self-criticism. A conscience is only bad when it is perverted.

The answer for a guilty or troubled conscience is confession to a very good friend or a minister. It can't be stifled and if it is ignored it only retires to the subconscious from which it may break out at any time with serious consequences to a person's mental well-being.

"If you have a troubled conscience regard it as a sign of spiritual help and examine the issue. Admit something is wrong and do something about it" Mr. Douglas concluded.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United Church and was thanked by John McColl.

Many Help Harvest

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP)—Because the Bruce county harvest was completed early this year, many young men rom district farms have left for the west to join harvesting operations there. The National Employment Service reported the movement the largest in several years.

BORN IN AIRPLANE—This Chinese baby born aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane high above the Pacific Ocean on a flight from Hong Kong to Vancouver, provides a citizenship puzzle. The daughter of the 21-year-old wife of Chinn Daniel Yuk Kai, of Heppner, Ore., she is shown in her makeshift cradle — a wooden box — as she is placed aboard an ambulance by Chinese stewardess Evelyn Lee, of Vancouver, for the journey to a Vancouver hospital. Father and mother are United States citizens and an American immigration officer claimed the child is an American citizen. But he also admitted she is a Canadian and a British subject because she was born on a Canadian plane. "But if you ask the Chinese government, they'll say she is a Chinese," said the officer.

Greater Use Of Trees From Forests

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher prices and new methods and equipment are resulting in greater use of trees taken from Canadian forests, the sixth British Commonwealth Forestry Conference was told yesterday.

L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president of the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said from 25 to 30 per cent greater volume of useable wood is being harvested from each acre of west-coast forests.

W. A. E. Pepler, manager of the woodlands section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Montreal, said Canadian lumbermen "are beginning to do some fresh thinking."

"It looks as if a lot of lumbering in future will have to be carried out in second-growth forests and the trees will be smaller."

This meant new methods and machinery. Some operators were thinking about machines made for special forest jobs, rather than adapting machines designed for general work.

Judge Says Don Break Discouraging For Police

TORONTO, Sept 9—Police officers "lay down their lives" to protect the public, Chief Justice McRuer said in a brief address Monday to the grand jury of York County at the opening of the fall assizes.

The chief justice outlined the law on the various cases that will be presented to jury members this week. Then he advised the jury members that despite a thorough jail investigation promised by Attorney-General Porter, they would also be required to report on security measures.

Chief Justice McRuer said he believed it quite likely that the grand jury would be impressed "by the devotion police officers show in apprehending dangerous men—they lay down their lives."

"But it must be disheartening to police officers to learn that the dangerous men they have placed in jail have escaped before they have had a fair trial."

Church Leader Drops Dead At Convention

BOSTON (AP)—An Episcopal Church leader dropped dead at the church's general convention yesterday after urging delegates to "try to push this world a little nearer to the Kingdom of Jesus Christ."

Very Rev. Claude W. Sprouse, 63, collapsed on the stage just after he was elected convention president of the House of Deputies, a legislative branch of the church.

Dr. Sprouse, dean of Holy Trinity and Grace Cathedral in Kansas City, Mo., fell to the stage of Symphony Hall after taking over the gavel. He had suffered from heart trouble.

Streamline Department of Foreign Affairs

Relations With Western Hemisphere Now Handled By Special Division

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Department will establish a division to concentrate on relations with the United States and the rest of the western hemisphere.

The American and Far Eastern Division which has existed for some years is being split into two parts, raising the number of divisions at departmental headquarters from 12 to 14.

MANY CHANGES

This development climaxes one of the largest re-shuffles of higher-level diplomats and officials the department has had in some years. It has extended over several months, and the tail-end of these shifts has just made the following changes at headquarters:

1. Christopher C. Eberts, 39, native of Montreal and one-time Rhodes scholar, leaves the cabinet secretariat to head the new American Division, embracing the United States, Central and South America.

2. Herbert Norman, born in Japan in 1909, son of a Canadian missionary, goes to the Information Division as its head, from command of the old American and Far East Division. An outstanding expert on Japan, he will be getting away from purely Asiatic affairs for the first time in years.

3. Archibald A. Day, 45, native of Collingwood, Ont., leaves the command of the Information Division to go to Paris as Minister—No. 2 man—at the Canadian embassy there.

4. Max Wershof, 43, native of Ottawa, steps up to head the Defence Liaison Division.

FAR EAST CHIEF

T. Chester Ronning, 58, takes over as head of the new Far Eastern Division in an acting capacity, continuing at the same time as head of the Commonwealth Division. He was born in China of Canadian parentage.

6. Benjamin Rogers, 41, native of Vernon, B.C., joins the Defence Liaison Division. He has been charge d'affaires of the legation in Czechoslovakia since 1950 and is replaced there by J.M. Takles, 37, of Winnipeg.

Mr. Day succeeds R. M Macdonnell, 43, in Paris. Mr. Wershof succeeds R. A. MacKay, 58. Both Mr. Macdonnell and Mr. MacKay have risen to the rank of assistant under-secretary, making them among the top six men at headquarters.

The headquarters heirarchy is a pyramid topped by under-secretary or deputy minister Dana Wilgress. Immediately below him are a deputy under-secretary and three assistant under-secretaries. Below them are the heads of divisions. A good number of these top jobs have changed hands in the last few months.

First Jolson Talking Film Had Problems

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"You ain't heard nothin' yet, folks; listen to this."

Those words were spoken almost 25 years ago by a blackfaced minstrel named Al Jolson in the first talking picture, "The Jazz Singer."

The picture had its premiere Oct. 6, 1927 in New York. It revolutionized an industry.

"The Jazz Singer" again is being made by Warner Brothers. By a turn of fate, a number of men who worked on the original picture today are helping to make the new version. I asked some of them for their memories of the Jolson film.

"The picture almost wasn't made," remarked Harold McCord, who cut "The Jazz Singer" and is now head of the Warners cutting department.

JOLSON DISAPPOINTED

"Most people don't know that D. W. Griffith once tried to make a picture with Jolson. After Jolson saw the first couple of days' work on film, he was so disappointed that he took off for Europe and never returned to the picture.

"After watching the first few days of film for 'The Jazz Singer,' Jolson was again disappointed. He didn't realize that all of the film he saw of himself wouldn't be used. He was ready to quit. But we urged him to wait until he could see some of the film as it would appear in theatres.

"The Warner Brothers were desperate, because they had sunk all their money into the sound experiment. So I stayed up all night to cut enough of the picture for Jolson to see. He looked at it the next morning and agreed to stay. If he hadn't, sound might have been set back for years."

Electrician Ralph Owen recalled that the sound sequences, which lasted only six minutes in the picture, were shot in a tin-covered stage. "We had trouble lighting the scenes, because the old lamps made too much noise," he said.

"Noise was a big problem. The director would run around waving a handkerchief for silence. The camera was in a big booth that looked like an icebox. The sound was recorded on a thick disc of wax. If one take was ruined, a layer of wax was shaved off and we tried again."

Says Canada Leading World In Research

TORONTO (CP)—The National Research Council at Ottawa is leading the world in research on free radicals—industrial substances used in the manufacture of chemical products—Sir Charles Goodeve, president of the Faraday Society, said yesterday.

Sir Charles is heading a party from Britain at a meeting of the world-famous society being held at the University of Toronto.

The meeting is the first to be held outside Britain in the society's 49-year history.

The Faraday Society, named after the great English chemist and physicist who laid the groundwork for today's electrical industry, has 2,000 members, 50 of them Canadian.

Harris Sees Canada With 25,000,00

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A population of 25,000,000 or 30,000,000, much stronger economically than today, devoted to the twin causes of production and peace, was predicted for Canada here yesterday by its Citizenship Minister Harris.

A native of Grey county, Mr. Harris returned to what he termed the "heartland of Canada" to open its big annual exhibition, Western Fair.

This is the 77th fair, and President John A. Anderson predicted at the opening directors' luncheon that it will break all records.

Judging in the grain classes opened yesterday with M. E. Hooper and Son, St. Marys, taking the lion's share of the prizes.

Ponies Featured In Light Horses At Exhibition

The judging of light horses at Peterborough Exhibition begins Wednesday at 1 p.m. with the entrance of the ponies. In this class Burritt Mann, chairman of the light horse committee, said recently that the pony section of the show is likely to be the biggest in Central Ontario this year.

This branch opens with pony brood mare and foal, team in harness, pony under saddle, and so on½ half-mile pony race; pony single over 13 hands and under 14.2; single pony in harnes; and child driving pony class.

Three sections are listed for the evening: ponies under saddle; western saddle class; ponies in harness over 12 and under 13 hands.

The Thursday program takes in both hackneys and roadsters, including brood mares, singles and pairs, and one heat of the roadster race. In the evening: high stepping hackney class; road team race, half a mile; running race, second heat.

LADY DRIVER CLASS

Friday afternoon the light horse work continues at one p.m. with brood mares and foals, and includes some roadster classes. Always of much interest is the pairs of hackneys and of roadsters; and the lady driver class.

Friday evening: roadster stake class; gentlemen's road race, hackney tandem, and single hackneys under 15.2 hands.

Saturday afternoon winds up the light horse show. Program offers such items as three year old hackneys, district roadster special, hackney pairs, and three single classes: saddle horses under 15.2 hands, hackneys over 15.2 and roadsters under 15.2 hands.

Many people like to attend the Exhibition horse show, and Mr. Mann has made out the program as it will be followed. Announcement will be repeated in detail for the benefit of the light horse fans.

Would Like Husband, Not Dog Locked Up

TORQUAY, England (AP)—Mrs. Alice Moore insisted in court yesterday there was nothing dangerous about her dog and no reason to have him destroyed.

"It's my husband," Mrs Moore explained.

"He gets terrible storms. He shouts and waves his walking stick and the dog gets over-excited.

"If my husband were put away, the dog would be just like other dogs."

The magistrate, unmoved, ordered the dog destroyed.

Exhibition Grounds Alive With Activity Prepare For Fair

Peterborough Exhibition grounds Monday were a scene of bustle and a good deal of turmoil as exhibitors, exhibition employees and carnival hands were setting up their displays, rides and games.

Tents sprang up along the paved road through the grounds and the clucks, quacks and lowing of the first animal exhibits echoed through the nearly-empty poultry and cattle buildings.

Secretary G. A. Gillespie noted with a smile that sunny, warm weather, the same as today was predicted for opening day Wednesday.

PLEASED BY ENTRIES

Of the entry lists, Mr. Gillespie said he was pleased. Only decrease in entries is expected to be in the horticulture classes; this summer has been a bad one for flowers. Otherwise, entries had reached last year's mark and in the case of cattle, had exceeded last year's number.

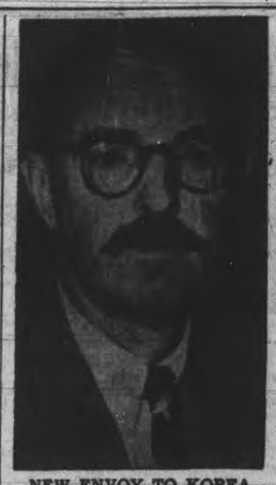
Workmen were rushing to complete interior work in the new cattle shed on the east side of the grounds. This one will replace the shed that burned in May.

First cattle in the barns were a number of Holsteins from exhibition president Norman McConkey's Lifloc herd, and the first poultry in cages were those of W. H. Moore, of London, Ont.

By today, cars wishing to travel through the grounds were rerouted to either Park St. or Lock St.; only vehicles connected with the exhibition were allowed to enter the main gate.

In the manufacturers' building, and the horticulture building, rough starts on exhibits had been made. A few signs were up, and one electrical appliance store had its booth almost ready. It was the only one with any equipment to speak of.

Space allotted for entries in the horticulture building was cut down this year, chairman Bill Wilks of the horticulture committee said. This was because the summer's weather had not been good for flowers.



Each afternoon at the horticulture building, there will be a two-hour organ prelude played by Bob Crone. The number of commercial exhibitors of flowers and cacti has been increased to six from three last year.

SEATS UPHOLSTERED

The reserved seat section in the grandstand has been improved by the addition of upholstering to the seats; tickets are now at the TEM agency for sale.

The track had been raked, and though dusty seemed to be in good shape for the harness races that will feature each evening's performance.

Purses for the harness racing range from $200 for the opening 2.28 trot and pace to $600 for the final race of the fair, the free-for-all Saturday evening. Only afternoon racing will be on Saturday.

NEW ENVOY TO KOREA—Ellis Briggs, above, retiring United States Ambassador to Czechoslovakia, has been reassigned, and will soon take up his duties as United States Ambassador to Korea. He will fill the post formerly held by John J. Mussio, who was recently recalled from Korea.

Vacation Ends In Tragedy

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Nowicki family's vacation ended in tragedy yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nowicki and their two sons, Joseph, 28, and Leonard, 18, of Plains, Luzerne county, were staying at a cottage at nearby Lake Tobyhanna.

Leonard went down to the lake to catch some bass. He caught his line on an object beneath the surface.

Reeling and tugging, the horror-stricken youth discovered his hook was caught on the body of a woman—his mother.

County coroner William A. Anderson said Mrs. Sophie Nowicki, 54, apparently lost her footing while walking along the lake front.

Two Policemen Go Grave-Digging

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Two policemen went grave-digging in Labelle township following a report from a youngster of this inscription on a grave: "Tommy Otter; died—Fall of 1948; from lead poisoning inflicted by Dave Ramsay; God bless his soul." They found the bones of two birds buried in tin cans and an otter. Ramsay explained he shot the otter four years ago.

Students Strike

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Five-hundred high school students went on a six-hour protest strike yesterday because they have to take a new course on President Juan D. Peron's political system. The course is called "justicialism."

Heavy Suit, Boots Cost Diver's Life

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters) —The heavy diver's suit and lead boots, which kept him safe in his underwater work, today spelled death for diver John Sjoeholm.

He had just come up from a job, unscrewed his helmet and was sitting on the rail of the small tender boat. The boat capsized and the 28-year-old diver was thrown into the water.

The heavy suit dragged him down as he struggled to slash himself free.

Ask Federal Mediation

NEW YORK (AP) — Shipping firms yesterday asked federal mediation in a wage dispute with 60,000 A. F. L. longshoremen in ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va. The International Longshoremen's Association is demanding a 50-cent-an-hour increase in rates that now average $2.10 an hour. The companies have offered 8½ cents.

Denmark To Have Clock Eighth Wonder Of World

By GUY BETTANY

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—Denmark soon will have a new clock—such a good one that Danish newspapers already are calling it "the eighth wonder of the world."

It will rival the famous clock in Strasbourg Cathedral which besides telling the normal time of day, gives the day of the week, the date and year, the phases of the moon and other oddiments of astronomical information.

But the Danish clock will be better. It will show an error of only 4-10ths of a second in 300 years. By comparison the Strasbourg timepiece is unreliable. It loses a full 8 seconds in a mere 100 years.

ELECTRICALLY RUN

The Danish clock will be run by electricity and is the dream and life-work of Danish clockmaker, Jens Olsen, who died in 1945 before his masterpiece was completed, but he left complete drawings so that his assistant, Otto Mortensen, has been able to finish it.

The clock will cost more than 500,000 kroner ($70,000). Four-fifths of the money has already been found, and a lottery is to be held to raise the remainder.

The clock probably will be ready to be erected and unveiled in Copenhagen's famous Town Hall before the end of this year.

It has more than 14,445 parts, almost all of which had to be made by hand. Many of the parts have been made in duplicate for use in 3,000 years—by which time, Jens Olsen calculated, the clock will be showing "a certain amount" of wear.

One of the wheels turns so slowly that only one revolution is made, in theory, every 25,750 years. But Olsen estimated the lifetime of the clock at not more than 5,600 years. This particular piece of slow-motion mechanism is designed to correct for the displacement of the polar star.

YEARLY ADJUSTMENTS

Once a year, at midnight on New Year's Eve, a special part of the machinery will adjust the days of the week for the coming year to the dates on the calendar and show the correct phases of the moon.

Jens Olsen's masterpiece takes into account all the usual defects of the calendar—roughly remedied by the institution of Leap Year—shows eclipses of the sun and moon.

In addition to normal time, the clock will show siderial time, as calculated from the stars, which gives a slightly shorter day than the normal 24 hours, as well as solar time, which is again slightly different.

Beliveau Signs Year-Contract With Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Jean Beliveau yesterday signed a one-year contract with Quebec Aces, ending months of speculation that he might accept the third annual bid from Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

The announcement came a week before the big, high-scoring centre was due to report to Canadiens' training camp.

Beliveau, who led the Quebec Senior Hockey League team to the Alexander Cup last year, said:

"I talked over the offers with my father Sunday and decided to stay in Quebec."

He gave no reason for the decision.

TO RECEIVE MORE?

Although no sum was disclosed, it is believed Beliveau will receive more than last season—his first out of junior ranks—when best estimates placed his earnings at about $12,000, including a public relations job with a Quebec dairy.

Presumably, too, the Quebec contract was more attractive financially than the Montreal bid. Beliveau also renewed a contract with the dairy as star of a weekly radio program for children.

The decision of "Gros Bill," who has just turned 21, was front-page news for Quebec newspapers. Radio stations broadcast the announcement at frequent intervals following a noon press conference.

Last year, Beliveau was Q.S.H.L. top scorer with 45 goals and 38 assists, and was chosen all-star centre, best rookie and best professional prospect.

Here And There In Sports

ARGOS LEAD SCORERS

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts were supposed to be a weak link in the Big Four Football Union this year but that isn't apparent on their two-game winning performance to date.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press give double blue players the first three slots in the scoring race with Ulysses Curtis holding the lead with 20 points manufactured on four touchdowns. The American Negro back is far ahead of his 1951 output when he finished the season with six touchdowns for 30 points.

The next two places are also held by imports—both ends. Al Bruno, formerly of the professional Philadelphia Eagles, has 15 points, just one more than Bob Heck who rejoined the Argos this year after a stint in the United States Marines. From there in, its a scramble with six players tied with 10 points each.

Eastern Canada leadership in senior football, however, belongs to home-brew Archie McAffer, Sarnia Imperials backfielder in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The 24-year-old McAffer has 26 points on five touchdowns and a single, a clear 14-point margin over teammate Lloyd Davey who has kicked nine converts and a placement. Corky Duchene of the Imps and George Kunkel, 20-year-old Brantford Redskins end, are tied for third place with 10 points each.

The veteran Joe Krol, long a big cog in the Argonaut machine, is up with the Big Four leaders. The 32-year-old product of Windsor, football, scored his first touchdown in two seasons last Saturday and with ha single and a convert has a seven-point record.

TENNIS TOURNEY ENDS

FOREST HILLS, N. J. (AP)—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Frank Sedgman, the Australian star, won the mixed doubles title yesterday as the 71st United States tennis championship tournament came to a belated end. In a final played a day later than scheduled, Miss Hart, runner-up to Maureen Connolly for the women's championship, and Sedgman, who took his second straight men's title Sunday, defeated the all-Australian team of Mrs. Thelma Long and Lewis Hoad, 6-3, 7-5.

SEDGMAN KEEPS TITLE—Gardnar Mulloy (right), of Miami, Fla., and Frank Sedgman, of Australia, pose with the victory trophy prior to their finals match in the U.S. amateur men's singles championship at Forest Hills, N.Y. Retaining the title he won last year, the Aussie star whipped the 38-year-old veteran in three straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

Masterson Thinks Toronto Blues Have Greater Potential This Year

This is the first in a series of pre-season stories o nprospects of teams in the senior intercollegiate Football Union.

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO (CP)—A team which coach Bob Masterson thinks has the "potential and possibilities of being as good or better" than his championship outfit of last year will carry the hopes of the University of Toronto for its third senior college crown in five seasons.

Masterson, who won the intercollegiate championship in 1948 in his first year as head coach and again last season, has lost 16 men from the 1951 squad. But he believes he has capable replacements from the Blues' intermediate team and the high schools.

Dents have been made in the line through graduations and examination failures but his halfline, except for quarter Alex Lawson, defensive halfback Bob Garside and hard-hitting Bob Rumball, is nearly intact.

PLENTY OF SPEED

The backfield has speed and power and is the big reason why Masterson is enthused about his team. However, he won't predict where it will finish in the league race which starts for the Blues Sept. 27 when they meet the loop's new entry, McMaster University Marauders.

"If we can develop a passer, we should have an even better attack than last year," says Masterson. "We won the title then without much of a passing attack—how I don't know because a good passer is absolutely necessary for a winning team these days. So, if we can come up with one this season to provide that extra punch to our offensive, we're going to be hard to beat."

Masterson, former outside wing with Washington Redskins of the National Football League, is working overtime to find a passing quarterback to replace Lawson from among the five candidates working out with the team at its pre-season training camp on Lake Couchiching near Orillia.

HAVE INSIDE TRACK

Jerry Fitzhenry and Doug Geehie, both with the intermediates last year, have the inside track at the moment. The others making a bid are Pete Potter, from Niagara Falls Collegiate, Don Fawcett, intermediate half in 1951, and Gerry Kilhelm, another high school rookie.

The quarter who finally is picked will direct a T-formation offensive for the most part. But Masterson also plans to use a single wing at times to take advantage of the power in his backfield that includes last year's Steve Oneschuk, Bill Bewley, Bobby Dale, Bill McFarlane, kickers Johnny Adams and Al Haig and Bob Leeming.

The rookies with a chance to catch on include Bob Kimoff, Bill Burley, Ed Ksizek of Hamilton, Bill Horton, Frank Palermo and Bob Pinkney.

BIG HOLES IN LINE

Masterson's major rebuilding job is the line which has big holes to be filled by the departure of 12 of last year's linemen. They are snaps Al Dancy and Gerry Sutherland; insides Marsh Hames, Jack Roberts and Al George; middles Johnny Evans, Vince Colizza and Eric Jones; and outsides Jimmy Bell, Pete Hynbida, Al Brown and Bruce Johnson.

The Toronto coach figures the line will be the big question mark until it is tested in action but he is confident it will stand up once he weeds out the candidates to use with those back from 1951. They are snap Gerry Sutherland; insides Bruce Miles and Roy McMutry; middles Dunc Ellis and Joe Harris and outside Hank Tamowski.

The best line prospects among the newcomers are Bob Dougan, Earl Ford, Baz Mackie, Don Mattison, Alec Macklin, Bill Fullerton, Gene Chorostecki, Ted Lansky, Don Smith and Dan Nelson, Ted Bowers, Wally Morris and Jim Murray.

Omemee Combines Tie Lindsay Squad

OMEMEE (ENS).—The fourth playoff game in the Lindsay Softball League in Lindsay between Omemee Whitmore-Weir Combines and Lindsay Combines ended in a stalemate 4-4. Both teams committed numerous infield errors to mar an otherwise sparkling performance.

Eakins, on the slab for Lindsay struck out three, walked one and allowed six hits. Gordon, hurling for the O's, allowed five hits, struck out one and passed one.

For Omemee Keith Hickson hit a triple and a double for three, and Dracup, Roy Crawford, Jamieson and Gerry Bryans each tallied one.

For the Lindsay crew Bill Cummins hit two for three and brought in a run. Eakins held a three-run homer in three trips to the plate and McDougall and O'Donoghue each collected one safety.

Omemee Combines: G. Dracup 3b, G. Bryans lf, R. Jamieson 2b, O. Crawford cf, R. Crawford ss, R. Gordon p, K. Bryans rf, R. Craig c.

4 Kitchener Golfers Win Playoff In Tilt

KITCHENER (CP)—Four golfers from Kitchener Rockway yesterday shot two birdies and two pars to win an extra-hole playoff from London Hunt Club's representatives in the George S. Lyon Memorial Shield tournament at Westmount Golf Club.

At the end of 18 holes Rockway and Hunt were tied at 302. Scores for the 19th were 14 and 16.

Best individual round of the day came from Gerry Kesselring, who shot a 66—five under par and one over the course record—to help Kitchener Westmount to a 304 score and third place. Toronto Lambton placed fourth with 308.

Eighteen clubs entered teams in the tournament.

Tulyar Firm Favorite For St. Leger

LONDON (AP)—Thirteen three-year-old colts, each carrying 126 pounds, are expected to go to the post Saturday for the 174th St. Leger, the last classic race of the 1952 English racing season.

A firm favorite for the mile, six-furlong and 132-yards test scheduled to be run on the Town Moor, Doncaster track in Yorkshire, is Tulyar, the Aga Khan's wonder horse.

Tulyar already is the biggest money winner ever in British racing with earnings of $170,231. The son of Tehran-Neocracy is regarded as a virtual certainty to add the richest St. Leger purse of $44,577 to the Moslem potentate's bank balance.

Newmarket trainer Marcus Marsh said today Tulyar is 100 per cent fit and he expects him again to beat all the horses he whipped in the Epsom Derby in June and the rich King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot in July.

Veteran jockey Charlie Smirke, who has ridden Tulyar to six wins this season, again will be in the pilot's seat.

GAY TIME A THREAT

Chief rivals to another Tulyar triumph are the Queen's Gay Time; Frenchman Marcel Boussac's Alcinus; and American Ralph Strassburger's French-bred Worden II.

The Queen's Gay Time, runner up to Tulyar in the Derby and the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes, will be ridden by champion jockey Gordon Richards.

London bookmakers' at a call over on the race last night maintained Tulyar as the 6-to-4 favorite. Gay Time was second choice at 9 to 2, the odds against the royal colt lengthening slightly from 4 to 1. Worden II was third choice at 9 to 1.

Medical Men Aid Athletes

LONDON (CP)—An organization of medical men, dedicated to the elevation of British prestige in future Olympic competition, has been formed in London under the presidency of Sir Adolphe Abrahams.

Sir Adolphe, consulting physician and medical officer in charge of British Olympic teams since 1912, will have as his chief executive assistant Sir Arthur Porritt, a surgical specialist and himself a former Olympic hurdler and sprinter.

The organization, to be known as the British Association of Medicine and Sport, will have as its principal aim study and promotion of the medical and scientific aspects of all branches of sport. Both athletes and doctors believe its investigations and practical guidance will lead to better results by British representatives at the next Olympic Games.

K. S. Duncan, secretary of the British Olympic Association, who helped form the new organization, said: "Some governing bodies, for example the Amateur Athletic Association, already have medical committees and it was thought that it would be a good thing to coordinate medical opinion."

Sir Adolphe said the association will be open to all doctors nominated by recognized national sporting bodies as well as other interested medical men and women.

Exchange To Re-open

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Metal Exchange will re-open for dealings in lead Oct. 1, the British Board of trade announced last night. The decision marks the resumption of private dealings in lead after 13 years of official trading.

Quebec Objects To Any Modification

MONTREAL (CP)—The Hydro-Quebec Power Commission yesterday objected to any temporary or experimental modification of basic conditions in the federal application for power development of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River.

Rene Dupuis, commissioner of Hydro-Quebec, told a meeting of the International Joint Commission that in view of the importance of a uniform flow of water, Hydro-Quebec could not agree to the works.

He said his commission's interests in the river were three times greater than those of the other two parties concerned and could not accept a formula by which it could be over-ruled.

Earlier, Leslie Blackwell counsel for the Ontario government and for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, said the Ontario government would pass legislation including principles of just compensation for property owners along the seaway's proposed route. He said the legislation would also provide the right of appeal.

Pleads Prefix Doctor Used

TORONTO, Sept. 9—A plea that professionally trained chiropodists be allowed to use the prefix "doctor" in Canada as they do in the U.S. was made Monday night by Dr. Edward Schwartzenfeld, assistant dean of the Ohio College of Chiropody.

Speaking at a dinner of the Canadian Association of Chiropodists' 27th annual convention, he added that correct use of the term would work to the benefit of the general public.

Men who obtain the degree of doctor of surgical chiropody, he said, spend five or six years studying their specialty. They study anatomy, physiology, bacteriology and other basic medical subjects. Moreover, they study at government approved schools and have to be licensed.

By prohibiting them the use of the professional prefix, he added, "trained and untrained men are lumped together to the ultimate advantage of the quack and the disadvantage of the public."

Lily Lake W.A. Holds Meeting

LILY LAK (ENS) —Mrs.Archie Ackison was hostess to the members of the Lily Lake W.A. for their monthly meeting. Mrs. Hatherly was co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. Arthur Hancock, had charge of the meeting when the scripture reading was given by Mrs. Arthur Eggleston and prayer offered by Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss.

The society was asked to cater to the ploughing match to be held Oct. 1 at the farms of Henry Batten and Fred Campbell. Mrs. Clarence Hancock was chosen leader of the committee.

A card of thanks was received from Mrs. Reg Ferguson.

A lovely lamp was presented to Mrs. Reg. Ferguson for her mother-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Ferguson, who has left the community.

A wrapped article valued at fifty cents was donated by each member and auctioned off at the meeting. Mrs. Evans McConkey was the very capable auctioneer. Four dollars and seventy-five cents was realized by this venture.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

$30,000 To Martin

TORONTO (CP)—Tony Martin, singing star of the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show, was paid $30,000 in United States funds, it was learned yesterday. His contract called for payment in U. S. cash, but because of the discount on American money he will lose about $1,200 in exchange. His fee worked out at around $100 a minute.

Mayor Feared Jail Escape, Took Precautions

TORONTO — A gnawing fear that Boyd, Suchan and the Jacksons might escape from custody became dismal reality for Mayor Lamport Monday.

When Boyd was arrested and sent to join his companions behind the bars, the mayor said at that time: "Now we've got them, I wonder if we can keep them."

News of the jailbreak came to the mayor at his Lake Simcoe cottage. And when Chief Constable Chisholm telephoned from Winnipeg his first words to Mayor Lamport were: "You must have been psychic, Mr. Mayor. Remember the conversation we had about the possibility of an escape when you insisted that we take every precaution because you had a feeling something like this would happen?"

Just before Chief Chisholm left to attend a police convention in Winnipeg, he and the mayor discussed the Boyd gang and the mayor instructed the chief to double his security measures:

Although the administration of the Don Jail is not the city's job, the mayor saw to it that:

1. An electric alarm system was installed—at the city's expense.
2. A microphone was placed in the cells of the four men.
3. Not only that regular patrols from Pape Ave. police station were made, but that cruisers were brought in from other districts.
4. Overcrowding was reduced by the Department of Reform Institutions.

OFFERED TO SCREEN STAFF

Worried by the abortive escape plan revealed by Don Jail guard James Morrison, Mayor Lamport offered to have the city screen all jail personnel.

He also offered to have the city assume costs entailed in extra security measures. He was assured verbally, he said, that everything necessary was being done.

Not satisfied with the information he received, on Aug. 16 he put the city on record by writing Reforms Minister Foote asking for a conference. He obtained little response, he said.

At the same time, convinced that Boyd, Suchan and Jackson, would need funds to escape, Mayor Lamport issued an appeal to all banks to take special measures to secure their cash.

"I was criticized for speaking without thinking," said the mayor, "but one jail guard had been bribed with counterfeit money. That showed how hard up the underworld was for cash."

"Of course, it's no use pointing it out now," he said, "but there's no doubt in my mind or those of the police that the $23,000 robbery last week supplied the funds for the break."

Anglican Synod Approves More Missionary Activities

B JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada yesterday approved efforts to expand and extend missionary activities.

Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of All Canada, proclaimed "Missionary Year" to mark the golden jubilee of the church's Missionary Society.

Because it is not now possible to conduct missionary work in Communist China, the synod gave the society authority to study the situation in Africa and report to the board of management in 1953.

It also accepted a resolution to probe the possibilities of starting missions in the West Indies.

Several foreign missionaries attended the meetings, including Rt. Rev. P. S. C. Powles, suffragant bishop of Mid-Japan, who brought gifts from the Japanese church.

The synod adopted as objectives increased help to the church of Japan and a planned new diocese in the Punjab, near the India-Pakistan border.

A long discussion on missionary stipends ended when Archbishop Barfoot told the delegates they could argue until they were "black in the face" and yet what they wished to accomplish could only be done with more money.

Proposals aimed at increasing the stipend over the curent minimum of $1,800 a year were referred to the budget committee for study after the primate said that if every diocese in the country would voluntarily accept an increase in apportionment, the answer would be found.

WOULD CUT COSTS

Earlier, Chancellor H. C. Farthing of Calgary suggested that a commission be appointed to study ways and means of cutting down expenses in administration and travelling.

Rather than going to the people for more funds, savings could be made by re-organization, the chancellor contended.

Two Hamilton Unions Rejoin Parent Body

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (C.C.L.-C.I.O.), said yesterday that two local unions in the Greater Hamilton area have voted to return to the parent union. The two are Local 721, Woolcombing Corporation of Acton, and Local 1,153, Artex Woollens of Hespeler. The two have a membership of 400.

The two unions previously voted to secede from the T.W.U.A. The reversal raises to 17 of 25 the number of local unions in the area which have voted against secession.

Israeli Cabinet Accepts Agreement

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—The Israeli cabinet last night decided to accept about $822,000,000 damages from West Germany for Jewish losses and suffering at Nazi hands.

West Germany agreed to pay Israel about $715,000,000 in goods during the next 12 years. Another $107,000,000 worth will be delivered to cover separate claims put forward on behalf of world Jewry.

The type of goods selected for delivery include prefabricated houses and equipment for farms and irrigation.

Full terms of the agreement have not yet been published.

Smart Canine

HALIFAX (CP)—The keen nose of an R.C.M.P. dog located two men lost for two days. The dog sniffed its way through three miles of bush to find Kenneth Archibald of Arvida, Que., and Beresford Parker, lost near Parker's home at Middle Musquodoboit.

Honor Farmers

CAPETOWN (CP)—The Cape Province Agricultural Union decided to consider award of "master's certificates" to farmers who have given outstanding service to their industry. A delegate said universities often confer honors on outstanding citizens, but never on farmers.

Obituary

MRS. LILLIAN BEDORE

MARMORA (ENS)—The death occurred in the nursing home at Havelock on Sunday of Mrs. Lillian Bedore, wife of Julius Bedore of Marmora.

She had been confined to her home for the past few years through illness, but becoming worse last week, was admitted to the Nursing Home. She was born in Marmora Township in 1873, the daughter of the late Robert and Margaret Jones (nee Jandrew). Her grandfather on the paternal side was Hugh Jones, reeve of Marmora township for a number of years in the 1860's. All her life was spent in the district.

She was a devout member of the Anglican Church and for a long period of years as health permitted, was a member of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild and helped with other activities of the church. She is survived by her husband and seven daughters: Mrs. S. C. Boyd (Maggie) Belleville; Mrs. Charles T. White (Claire) Detroit; Mrs. Robert J. Gordon (Mamie) Detroit; Mrs. Fred Feeney (Eileen) New Westminster, B.C.; Mrs. R. J. Brophy (Muriel) Verdun, Que.; Mrs. J. H. Berg (Mildred) Bermuda; Mrs. Clifford Watson (Merle) Whitby. She was predeceased by four other children—Robert Eugene, Hannah Helena, Francis Janet and Wilbert, who died this year. Also surviving are 23 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren, and the following brothers and sisters: Cyrus Jones, London, Ont.; Mrs. W. A. Kaitting, Kingston, Ont.; Charles Jones, Havelock; and Hugh Jones, Belleville. The funeral takes place Wednesday afternoon, leaving her late residence at 2.30 p.m. for service in St. Paul's Church, with the Rev. T. H. Good of Madoc officiating.

Burial will be in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Alberta Has Surplus

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government yesterday reported an over-all surplus of $9,501,715 in the fiscal year ended last March 31. Provincial Auditor C. K. Huckvale reported revenue for the 12 months totalled $122,563,952, and expenditures $113,062,237.

Fireworks Kill 7

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A store of fireworks gathered for Mexico's Independence Day celebration Sept. 16 exploded yesterday, killing seven persons and injuring 30. Four buildings were wrecked in the blast and resulting fire. The flames swept through a small hotel, two hardware stores and a billiard parlor.

EARLY CORN GROWERS

The Huron Indians raised corn, maize, beans, squashes and pumpkins before the white man came to Canada.

St. Laurent Kicks Off At Rugby Game

EDMONTON (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent last night made the opening kick-off for the Western Football conference game between Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders to highlight his brief visit to the Alberta capital.

The Prime Minister's boot dribbled 20 yards as some 13,500 fans cheered.

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta held the ball for Mr. St. Laurent who was dressed for the occasion in a heavy black-and-white sweater.

MAKES KICKOFF

The Prime Minister jokingly commented that the kickoff was a reversal of the usual procedure.

"We in Ottawa usually feel we are holding the ball," he said, "and that the kicks come from the provincial premiers."

Mr. St. Laurent, after watching the first few minutes of the game, left to board a train for the east.

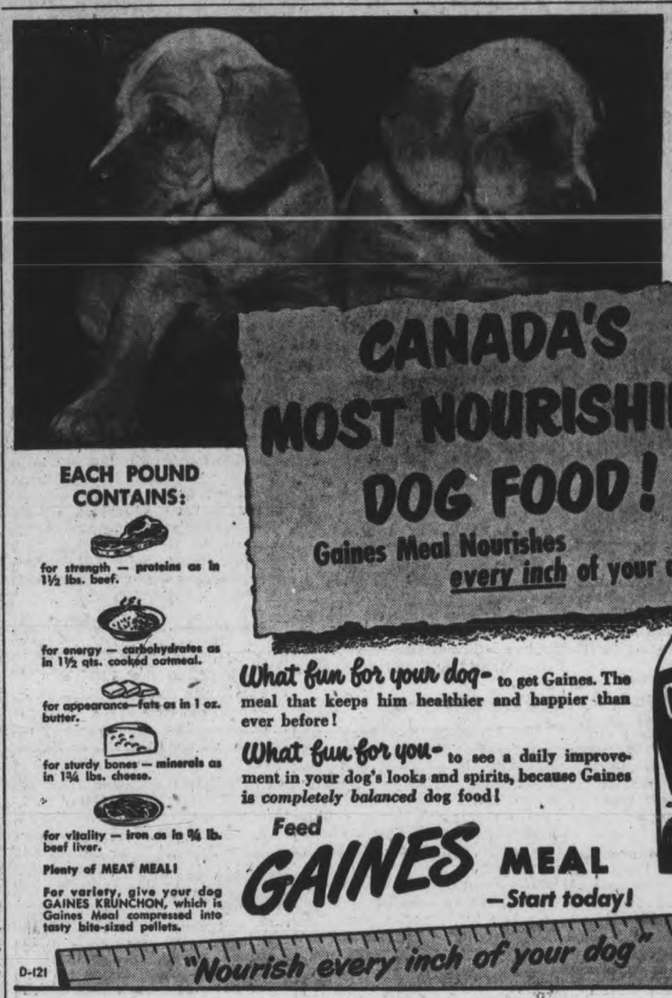
He made the Edmonton stop-over on his return from a British Columbia tour.

Putting Final Touches On Glittering U.N. Building

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Workmen are putting final touches on an odd-looking building which soon will become one of New York's leading show places.

This is the General Assembly Hall, third and last unit of the glittering United Nations headquarters along the city's East River. The other two are the 39-storey glass and marble skyscraper which houses the secretariat, and the plus conference building.

STRANGE SHAPE



From the outside, the Assembly Hall is chiefly notable for its unusual shape: It has a sloping double convex roof topped by a shallow dome. The inside? Well, one visitor described it as a cross between a cathedral and Radio City Music Hall.

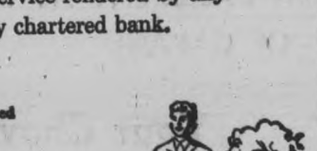
The auditorium is 380 feet long and 160 feet wide. It has 636 seats for delegations at tables on the main floor and its galleries will accommodate 800 visitors and 234 newspaper men. There also are glass-enclosed booths built into the dome for the press, radio and television.

CONFERENCE ROOM

In addition to the main auditorium, the new building has a large conference room where the Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee will hold its debates.

The headquarters buildings have cost $69,000,000 exclusive of the land. The land cost approximately $10,000,000 with John D. Rockefeller Jr., contributing $8,500,000 and New York City the remainder. The city also has spent about $27,000,000 in altering and improving the approaches.

"Though travelling alone..."



Miss S. N., home from Europe, writes to thank her bank for the way the accountant helped her with money arrangements:

"Mr. W. expended considerable effort to arm me with details of various European currencies and methods of procedure, enabling me, though travelling alone, to avoid much of the delay and embarrassment encountered by many experienced travellers whom I met along the way. All of which contributed in no small degree to my comfort and enjoyment."

The bank can smooth the way for people travelling on business or pleasure at home or abroad. Providing Letters of Credit, Travellers Cheques and other assistance is just one small part of the day-by-day service rendered by any branch of any chartered bank.

POLIO CASE

One more polio case, a 37-year-old man from outside the city, was reported today by Civic Hospital officials. This brings the district total to seven.

NO DUST, HE SAYS

Exhibition director Clarence Bacon is guaranteeing to the public that the reserved seats of which there are 732 will be free of dust at the afternoon and evening shows this week. That is his statement. Tickets are available at Tem, and the five for $2 strips of general tickets are still on sale.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Residents along the Chemong Road in the vicinity of the city outskirts were rudely awakened at midnight Monday by rifle shots. A dozen shots cracked in the still night. At first residents thought the Provincial Police were battling the Toronto Don Jail escapees, but police investigation revealed nothing.

BIG PEACH SUPPLY

Tony DeNoble estimates that Peterborough was stocked with 10,000 baskets of peaches Saturday. Obviously there was a week-end surplus, but a large part of the supply reached consumers. Peaches have been a great crop in Ontario this season, and many housewives have been buying them for salads, apart from the quantity that is preserved, and for table fruit.

RICE LAKE LUNKER

After fishing all day Monday with no luck, H. D. Andreas with friend Herbert W. Reed, both of Beach City, O., landed a 28½-pound 'lunge off Black Island at supper time. The fish struck a plug at the end of 60 yards of trolled line and took both men 25 minutes to land it. Instead of gambling with a net to land it, a gaff was used to bring it into the boat.

LANGUAGE CLASSES

Classes every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. will start Sept. 17 for New Canadians who want to learn English. The lessons are offered free at P.C.V.S., said Wesley Switzer, industrial arts director. It is not known how many are likely to attend the classes but arrangements have already been made to have two teachers, Wendell Camm and Al MacQuarrie.

CITY BUSINESS ON SUNDAY

To a suggestion in committee of the whole council Monday night that its proposed tour of the city might be some Sunday afternoon when all the members would be free of work and business, Ald. T. D. Miller said: "I'm not so very religious, but there are enough other days in the week. We don't have to do city business on a Sunday."

POWER CUT BY CRASH

Hydro power in Lindsay and telephone service to Dunsford were cut off for four hours and an hour and a half Sunday evening when a car driven by Hendrick Mayer, Lindsay, failed to make a turn into Queen St. and snapped off a pole carrying two high voltage hydro lines. The lines crashed down to the ground, carrying with them telephone lines that passed underneath. Mayer was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital for injuries and later released.

Report Flying Saucers Seen Over Lindsay

LINDSAY — Flying saucers have again been spotted over Lindsay.

Claude Hannon called the Lindsay Police Department at 12:30 p.m. Sunday to report flying saucers over the town. He explained that he had seen six strange objects travelling towards the east. These were followed later by three more and finally one, flying very high, brought up the rear.

Later that same afternoon Constable Henley was patrolling one of the town's streets when he saw a silver ball in the sky.

Labor Council Applauds Dr. G. R. Langley For Stand In Utilities Commission

Let's accent the positive was the attitude of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) at the September meeting Monday night.

In the habit of denouncing civic officials and civic bodies, the labor council Monday night stepped out of character and decided to pass along a warm word of praise for one publicly-elected official.

Winner of the union members' accolade was Utilities Commissioner Dr. Gordon R. Langley.

There was a unanimous agreement that Dr. Langley is doing a good job in this his first term as utilities commissioner.

"It's the first time a member of the commission ever gave any thought to saving taxpayers' money," observed Thomas Cupoli of Local 570, I.U.E.-C.I.O.

Three things that appealed to the labor council delegates:

His criticism of the high cost of underground wiring.

His questioning of the need for extra hydrants around Civic Hospital which is supposedly a fireproof building.

And his opposition to sending away several commissioners on costly conventions where one delegate, he felt, would be sufficient.

Several of the union members warmed to Dr. Langley because they felt he would speak his mind at all times, despite possible unpopularity among the other commissioners.

The upshot of the discussion was that the labor council decided to send a letter of commendation to Dr. Langley on his work.

Junior Farmers Given Dinner During Fair

Canada Packers will have as their guests at the Empress Hotel Thursday evening the junior farmers of Central Ontario who will be here all day competing in their own branch of Peterborough Exhibition.

Estimate of the dinner attendance is around 300, including representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture who have charge of this branch of the "Ex."

The packing company has been providing this entertainment feature for the juniors some twenty-five years. In fact, reference to the question of period obtained the recollection of Gordon S. Matthews that it has been 27 years of annual dinners for the visiting juniors from six or seven counties. Many of the originals are now established farmers on their own properties.

SPECIAL CAKE

For this anniversary, which has been designated 25th, the head table will have as centre piece a festive cake. If any of the young men and women have birthdays on Thursday, they will be entitled to pieces of it. However, the bulk will be cut in two and sent to the homes of G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager of the Exhibition, and Gordon S. Matthews, former general manager of C.P.C., whose interest in the agricultural show is being continued under the present manager, Lionel Browne.

Peterborough Exhibition receives the credit of having originated the junior department. It has been adopted widely at other exhibitions and fairs throughout the country. At the recent Ottawa Central Exhibition the number of juniors taking part was approximately 600. Many of the juniors during the 25 years have now graduated to full directorships of exhibitions.

E. F. Pineau To Open Fair

E. F. Pineau of the Federal Department of Agriculture, who formally opens the Exhibition Wednesday evening, is widely known among the Junior Farmers of Canada.

He has attended here and elsewhere throughout the country the special junior leadership schools. Locally they have been held at Normal School.

Mr. Pineau is the responsible member of the department in its interests in agricultural exhibitions and fairs, and particularly the federal grants to them. That connection suggests G. A. Gillespie's concern in the invitation to Mr. Pineau in order that he would see Peterborought's Exhibition.

C.C.L. DELEGATE

Edmund S. Humphrey, president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), Monday night was elected the delegate to attend the C.C.L. convention being held later this month in Toronto. It will be a five-day convention.

Man Injured In U.S. Still Unconscious

Joseph O'Leary, Peterborough salesman, is still unconscious in hospital four days after a car he was driving was involved in a head-on crash at Fryburg, N.D., Friday.

His bride, the former Pauline O'Donnell, of Downeyville, who was less seriously hurt, is still in hospital. An American woman in the other car was killed in the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary, married August 23, were on a honeymoon trip to Vancouver.

Council Hall Been Removed

The Indian council hall at Curve Lake Reservation has been torn down. The three-room two-storey building served the Band's needs for many years. It was built about 1910, former Indian Agent V. M. Eastwood thinks, and was used for many years as both a two-room school and council chamber. The former United Church, a wooden structure to the west of the present brick building, was also used for council meetings until it was demolished 15 years ago.

No plans have been made for the building of a new hall to replace the demolished structure. Funds for such a building must come from Band monies with aid from a Federal fund. The Indian council set aside $250 from Band funds to raze the old building.

The new one-room school which contains living quarters for three resident teachers will be officially opened on September 22. The principal, Miss Bertha Long, who has taught at the school for a number of years, is the only teacher on the staff at present. Two more teachers are still to be chosen to complete the two-school staff, according to the Indian Affairs office. The new building cost approximately $12,000.

Registered 157 Normal School

A record number of 157 students enrolled in the Peterborough Normal school today Leo W. Copp, principal, said. It is believed to be the largest in the last 20 years.

The attendance is up about 15 per cent over last year's and Mr. Copp added he was especially pleased with the enrolment of men, this year numbering 35, as compared with only 23 last term.

Tonight the students will begin the school's social life with a get-together party between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. Then they will be the guests of the teaching staff.

Throughout the day the students met with the various masters to discuss courses and learn their needs in books and supplies for the term. They then received medical examinations, a department regulation, by six city doctors under Dr. L. J. Calvert and Miss Ruby Skitch.

FIRE RAZED A COTTAGE owned by Harry Bartlett, 316½ Charlotte St., early today on Chemong Lake near the narrows between Chemong and Buckhorn Lakes. The fire raced through the frame building so quickly that nothing was saved. A bucket brigade of Ennismore people and cottagers kept the fire from spreading to nearby cottages and trees. Volunteers (top photo) stand beside smoldering ruins; only the chimney is left. The fire was noticed by Pat Murray (centre, middle photo) who was helped at the start by brother Tom and D'Arcy Wonders (left to right). Bartlett (bottom) wasn't sure if the cottage was covered by insurance.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

No Charge To Otonabee For Help In Keene Fire

City council will neither send a bill to Otonabee township nor accept any payment from that municipality for Peterborough fire department's helpful response to the emergency call from Keene early Sunday, August 24. That was the decision of the committee of the whole Monday night following the session of the council. It was directed by consistency which affirmed that the fire department's run to the Otonabee hamlet was a "mistake," and was not to be considered an exception to the city council's resolution to the effect that Peterborough could not assume the risk of sending its fire department beyond its borders.

The discussion in committee was not a censure of Ald. Herbert Young, who was acting Mayor in the absence of Mayor Hugh Waddell.

NO REGRET

Ald. Young said he had no regret for his action in authorizing the department to send a pumper and three men to Keene. "In the circumstances of that early morning call, I'd do the same thing over again," Ald. Young remarked, referring to the incident as in the past, and not in the reassertion of the council's policy, which he supported in the substance of the motion Monday night by Ald. T. D. Miller, seconded by Ald. H. T. Rehill.

When the Keene episode was mentioned, Ald. Miller said he wished to present the question as to whether any person had authority to alter the effect of a decision by the council without the council's approval. He said he was not criticising Ald. Young for his action, "but, apart from the circumstances, if a resolution of the council can be broken without the council meeting, then it is just a tissue paper law."

Subsequently in the discussion, Mayor Waddell said simply that "there is nothing which allows the fire equipment to go outside the city."

That statement does not apply to the mutual aid agreements between the fire departments of Peterborough, Lakefield and Smith townships.

"I am not saying anything against Ald. Young," Ald. Miller continued. "But, I remember that the council argued for hours about this matter of letting our department go to fires in the townships. There was a great deal of discussion, and the result is that we have a resolution on our books. The right thing to do is to stick to it."

At the time of the Keene fire, which destroyed a house, Mayor Waddell and Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman of the fire and light committee, were both on holiday absence from the city.

As it transpired last night, authority to reject out-of-town fire calls rested right in the fire department, but apparently in the urgency of the telephone call from Keene about 4.45 a.m., that resident decision was overlooked.

SIX HOUSES IN DANGER

So, the Keene call was transferred to Ald. Young's home. He was told that the fire endangered some six nearby houses, that a line of hose could be laid to the Indian River, and generally that the hamlet was threatened with a calamity. Those were the circumstances which were thrust upon Ald. Young as he was awakened from sleep, and he authorized the department to try to help the Otonabee community.

But, Ald. Rehill recalled the garage and refreshment stand fire just west of the city on No. 28 Highway to which a hose line could have been laid across a field from a comparatively proximate hydrant.

"I am thinking of the position of the Mayor, and the chairman of the fire, water and light committee, and also of the other members of the council, in similar circumstances which may arise again," said Ald. Rehill. "It is for their protection. At the highway fire we had to tell the people we could not send the fire department outside the city limits. I still think it was a mistake in going to Keene, otherwise we were definitely wrong in not going to the fire on the highway. And we can't be both right and wrong on a set policy."

"I have every sympathy with Ald. Young because it was a serious situation that was telephoned to him," said Ald. Burrows. "We would certainly have heard criticisms if we hadn't sent help and those other houses at Keene were burned."

Ald. Burrows quoted a report from Acting Chief Foster that the Peterborough firemen and their hose line helped to save a house adjacent to the fire. He said that this matter of assisting other municipalities was being considered elsewhere.

"At time of the George St. fire a year ago last May, the Belleville fire department was ready to come to Peterborough, if Chief Smith had asked for their help," Ald. Burrows said.

Ald. Miller: "We'd do the same for Belleville."

It was Ald. Rehill who declared: "We cannot accept a dollar from Keene. We are willing to accept their appreciation."

"Put it down as a mistake and not an exception," said Ald. W. J. Beggs, "but from now on it is understood that the council's resolution must be adhered to. As the things are now we might as well let them die."

Ald. Miller moved that no charge be sent to Otonabee for the department's help. His motion was accepted by Ald. Rehill.

Ald. J. A. Dewart said the people of Keene were deeply grateful for the help they had received from the city. He expressed his sympathy with Ald. Young, and said "I don't know what some of the rest of us would have done."

Ald. Dewart said he understood that the Otonabee council was considering a proposal to organize a volunteer fire department at Keene.

Tour City Properties Planned For Tuesday

Mayor Waddell's proposed tour by the council of the civic properties will be Tuesday afternoon next week. Armar Butcher drafted an itinerary taking in the whole works, such as city yard, incinerator, city dump, industrial sites, sewage disposal plant, Civic Hospital grounds and so on.

His Worship said he hoped all the members would make a special effort to go along on this trip. It was important, he said, that every member should have first hand knowledge of the municipal buildings and other properties. It was expected that the trip would take most of the afternoon.

Smith Land Assembly Plan Under Normal Development Will Be Sold In 7 Years

Scheme Provides Cheap Lots For Housing But Officials Will Drop Plan Unless Annexation Secured Board Informed

Lots on the 520 acres of land in Smith township—bought under the Land Assembly scheme to provide cheap lots for housing—can all be sold in seven years. That was the estimate given the Municipal Board on Monday afternoon by W. W. Scott of the housing branch of the Department of Planning and Development. "Our view is that assuming normal development the land can be sold in five or six years," said Mr. Scott. He later increased the estimate to seven years but would not go along with a suggestion by Ralph Standish, counsel for Smith ratepayers opposing the annexation of the land, that it would be more like 10 years.

Isn't it possible the land would not be developed for 20 years?" asked Mr. Standish.

"We wouldn't have bought under those circumstances," said Mr. Scott. . . . The trend, we find, is that these lots go faster than anticipated."

The committee room at the city hall was packed Monday afternoon with Smith council and most of Peterborough city council in attendance, as well as city officials and a large gathering of Smith ratepayers who are strongly opposed to the annexation.

Purpose of the Municipal Board hearing was to consider the application for annexation of a total of 1,256 acres in Smith township. The city wants this land so that it can expand it's housing development to the north.

MANY OPPOSED

Smith township council is agreeable to annexation but a large number of the affected ratepayers (said to be as many as 98 per cent) are opposed. And they have hired Mr. Standish to present their case.

The two members of the Municipal Board who heard evidence Monday afternoon were George A. Lister, Chairman, and C. F. Nunn. Mr. Standish and W. F. Huycke, Q.C., city solicitor, estimated the hearing will require two more days. The dates have still to be decided on for the completion of the hearing.

At the beginning of proceedings Mr. Standish requested the Municipal Board to direct that a vote be taken by Peterborough ratepayers on whether or not they want the Smith lands to be annexed. This could be done under Subsection 2, Section 20 of the Municipal Act.

During the present controvery over annexation Mr. Standish has stated several times that "when the city electors find out what they've bitten off they won't be so crazy about annexation, either."

Members of the Municipal Board noted this request but ordered the hearing to continue.

City Clerk E. A. (Ted) Outram outlined the need for an orderly housing development in expanding Peterborough and the negotiations that went on with the two senior governments, as well as with Smith council, to conclude an agreement.

NO SUITABLE LAND

Mr. Outram said that there was no land in the city suitable for this development.

Otonabee Twp. To Get Costs Fire Protection

Otonabee township residents took the first step towards fire protection Monday night when 50 people met with the township council requesting that full information on fire protection be obtained and presented shortly at a general meeting.

"We're going ahead," said J. M. McCarthy, clerk-treasurer. "It'll be full steam ahead now that they have given us the go ahead sign."

Action towards fire protection has been prompted in the past month by three serious fires which razed homes north of Keene and at Downers' Corners. There is no agreement with Peterborough for protection and no system at present in the township.

DISTRIBUTE PETITION

"They want us to go into costs and possibilities, securing all the information on protection," said Mr. McCarthy. "I think—I hope—that we'll end up with something."

Mr. McCarthy said that petitions now being distributed throughout the township will give the final majority feeling of both the built-up areas and the township as a whole.

As soon as these petitions are returned, he thought perhaps in a week or 10 days, a general meeting or meetings will be called for Downers' Corners and Keene, and others if required.

What The City Council Did

Monaghan Rd. Crossing City Danger Spot

Inspection of the C.P.R. crossing at Monaghan Road, for the Board of Transport Commissioners will be Friday, September 19, at 2 p.m. City council has applied for the placing of traffic signals there. Mayor Waddell asked the members of the council last night to remember the date, and suggested that as many as possible attend.

Sam Bickell, 473 Mark St., was given permission to build a house on his lot at southeast corner of Monaghan Road and Edison Ave. It is zoned for residential purposes, thereby excluding use for a corner store. The lot is 83 ft. by 37 ft., fronting on Wilson Ave. City Engineer Chalmers gave his approval to the application for a building permit. It applies to any owner, in the event of Mr. Bickell selling.

The sanitation committee report, read by Ald. H. T. Rehill, chairman and adopted by the council, included this clause: "That the property committee be requested for additional direction in regard to the operation of the weigh scales, and the use of the former house (on Townsend St.) as offices by the sanitation department, which this department is vacating early in the week of Sept. 8."

Also "that the mayor and city clerk be authorized to sign a new contract with Mr. Levack for salvaging materials at the incinerator and from the city dump, when the city clerk has arranged a satisfactory new contract with him."

Council accepted the invitation of the Public Library Board to visit and examine the library building, preliminary to discussion of proposed renovations. Public use of the library has increased greatly this year, and ampler facilities are required.

Request of the Public Library Board for two additional spot lights on the pole north of the entrance of the library was referred to the property committee.

As proposed recently by City Clerk Outram, the council passed a bylaw authorizing an advance poll at the City Hall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., of the week prior to the municipal elections on the first Monday of December.

Mayor Waddell informed the council that through the good offices of J. K. Hughes, automobile transportation would be provided for Mr. Harmar Nicholls, M. P. of the British House of Commons, who is attending a postal conference in Ottawa this week. to visit here Friday and Saturday. Peterborough, England, is in the constituency of Mr. Nicholls. He will return to Ottawa about noon Saturday this week.

Frank Robinson who has been representing the residents of Bellevue Ave. wrote that they desired the roadway to be left as it is, and that the proposed sidewalk be finished as soon as possible.

A property committee clause read by Ald Stan Langhurst, chairman, directed that City Clerk Outram as property manager be asked to secure more information to assist in considering the rents on the Hunter St., east, stores.

Keeps Reds Busy Making Claims

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians claimed another invention today—the helicopter.

B. Yuriev, writing in the Literary Gazette, declared "creation of the helicopter is one of the glorious pages in the history of our aviation."

"In particular," Yuriev recalled, "I, as a pupil of Zhukovsky, succeeded in 1912 in building a one-propellor helicopter."

(The Encyclopedia Britannica says that schemes for helicopters are found in literature dating back centuries. But, it said, no real progress was made until the 1930s when Britain, the United States, France and Italy all produced craft able to make substantial flights. The reference makes no mention of any Russian contributions.)

SUNKEN SHIP—The Canadian Pacific liner Princess Kathleen which ran aground on a rocky point north of Juneau, Alaska, early Sunday morning and sank later in the afternoon. All 300 passengers and the crew of 115 were saved in a rescue operation which was described by one of the passengers as having gone "smoothly and beautifully." This picture was taken in the Lynn Canal during one of her previous Alaska cruises.

Two Top Officials Deny Troops' Rumor

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Two top United States officials in Formosa — Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, head of the military assistance advisory group, and Howard P. Jones, charge d'affaires—today denied a report that U. S. military officials here had recommended use of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea.

A high U. S. official in Formosa told the Associated Press yesterday that U. S. military officials had recommended use of Nationalist soldiers. The official declined use of his name.

Arab Dentist Does (Magic)

LONDON (Reuters)—A dentist said in a letter to a professional journal here that he saw an Arab dentist at Marrakesh, Morocco, pull teeth "by magic" without instruments or anaesthetics.

William Harper wrote that the Arab placed a charm on the affected tooth, then invoked his "powers."

"He barely touches the tooth with finger and thumb, and there it is on the ground."

Harper said he thought it was a trick but changed his mind after examining two patients before and after the "operation."

"Neither patient changed expression as they stood close to me, or showed fear. Both had slight local bleeding," he wrote.

40 Ontario Mines Produce Six Million

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Mines Department reported today that 40 Ontario gold mines produced gold and silver worth $6,937,805 during the month of July and employed 12,264 men.

The 40 mines produced and milled 778,328 tons of ore containing 200,181 ounces of gold, 32,919 ounces of silver. In July 1951, there were 759,645 tons milled with a content of 176,414 ounces of gold and 30,181 ounces of silver valued at $6,529,65

The department report says: "It is impossible to compare these figures as during this month in 1951 the Hollinger mine, one of the larger producers, was closed down owing to a strike at the mine."

Secret Police Swoop On Illegal Red Party

ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters)—Secret police swooped on the illegal Turkish Communist party and arrested 24 persons while General Matthew B. Ridgway was inspecting troops in the Soviet frontier area of Turkey yesterday, a usually-reliable source said today.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization supreme commander is touring the strategic area where crack Turkish forces guard the country's land frontier with the Soviet Union.

1st RCN Medical Director General Surgeon Cmdr. McCallum Retires

OTTAWA (CP)—Retirement of Surgeon Commodore Archie McCallum, 62, of Ottawa and Toronto, first medical director general of the Royal Canadian Navy, was announced today by naval headquarters.

He will go on retirement leave Sept. 15 and will be succeeded then by Surgeon Capt. Eric H. Lee, 50, of Saskatoon, east coast command medical officer at Halifax.

Eight other appointments of senior medical officers also were announced.

Surgeon Cmdr. T. Blair McLean of Edmonton becomes deputy medical director general. He succeeds Surgeon Cmdr. W. J. Elliott of Ottawa, who in July began a course at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Philadelphia.

Surgeon Cmdr. F. G. W. Machattie of Toronto succeeds Capt. Lee as east coast command medical officer.

Another Toronto doctor, Surgeon Cmdr. R. A. G. Lane, who has been serving temporarily as deputy to Commodore McCallum, this month begins a course at the University of Pennsylvania.

POSTED FROM ONTARIO

Surgeon Cmdr. J. W. Rogers of Port Sandfield, Ont., is appointed to the R. C. N. hospital at Esquimalt, B. C., from the cruiser Ontario. He is succeeded on the Ontario by Surgeon Lt.-Cmdr. J.H. Fleming of Toronto, who has been serving at Halifax.

At present aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent, Surgeon Cmdr. R. H. Roberts of Liverpool, England, will become principal medical officer of H. M. C. S. Stadacona and the navy hospital at Halifax following a medical conference in England.

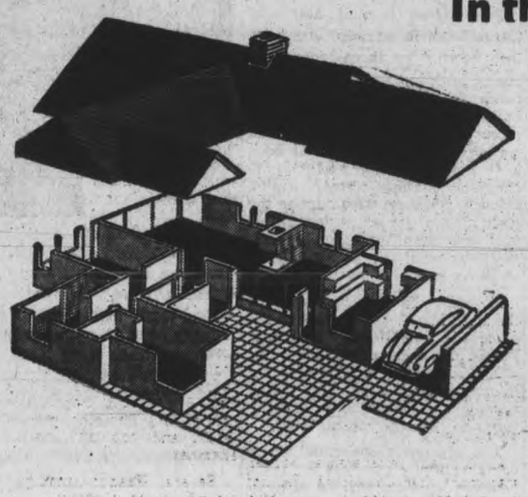
He will be succeeded on the Magnificent by Surgeon Lt.-Cmdr. R.F. Hand of Halifax.

Commodore McCallum ends 35 years' service in the navy's regular and reserve forces. A native of Cartier, Ont., he served in the First World War with Royal Navy minesweeper patrols in the North Sea. Ffrom 1921 to 1924 he was fleet medical officer with the Royal Canadian Navy and then took up private practice in Toronto, continuing as a reserve officer.

He was recalled to active service Sept. 3, 1939, at Halifax and was called to headquarters early the next year. On July 1, 1942, he became the navy's first medical director general.

WIFE ALSO RETIRES

His retirement has also brought about the retirement of his wife, Dr. Arrabelle McCallum, as head of the Ottawa high school dental clinic.



Surgeon Capt. Lee joined the naval reserve in 1941 from civilian practice in Saskatoon. He saw wartime service in the auxiliary cruiser Prince David and shore establishments at Esquimalt and Saskatoon before going to headquarters in 1944. He became assistant medical director general and later east coast command medical officer.

While aboard the destroyer Haida in 1949 he treated the rescued survivors of a U. S. air force B-29 and for this was made an officer of the U. S. Legion of Merit.

Montreal Police Wearing Steel Vests

MONTREAL — Montreal police have taken special precautions in case any of the Boyd gang head that way, Wilfrid Bourbon, chief of detectives, said Monday night.

"Everything is on end here," he said, "but we're raring to go. And we're taking no chances. Special squad cars have been equipped with machine guns and my men are wearing bullet-proof vests. We're ready to face anything."

"We feel very sorry for the Toronto boys," Bourbon said. "They have worked like hang to get these fellows and now they have to start all over again. We wish them luck, anyway."

The Montreal chief of detectives said that from the first word of the break Monday morning Quebec provincial police had blocked all roads leading into Montreal and were stopping and searching all cars.

All Montreal and provincial police cars have been supplied with photos of the four men.

Major Strategy Decision Facing Eisenhower Soon

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower faces a major strategy decision within the next few days when he discusses with Senator Robert A. Taft the Ohioan's role in the presidential campaign.

The Republican nominee then must resolve conflicting opinion in his own camp as to whether an attempt to enlist Taft's all-out help to try to mend the Taft-Eisenhower split in the party will be worth the cost he will be called upon to pay.

The cost will come in Democratic charges that Eisenhower has allowed himself to become a captive of the Taft wing on domestic and foreign policies which the General's backers denounced before he was nominated.

The alternative would be to relegate Taft to a provincial role in the campaign and take the chance that the Ohio senator's followers will fall in line for the ticket by November.

NO 'NEW DEAL'

This reporter comes away from talks with Taft with the impression that the Senator (1) is determined not to permit himself to be used to promote a "me-too" candidate and (2) that he wants Eisenhower's personal assurances that he will not install a "new deal" administration if he is elected.

Taft, too, has an alternative. He can speak for individual Republican colleagues running for re-election to the Senate and mention the national ticket only in passing.

At this point, the senator can be said to be willing to make any reasonable effort to get Eisenhower elected, if he is satisfied with the over-all nature of Eisenhower's views.

But Taft said yesterday this will not include "whistle-stop" tours.

Decoration Service Held At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — A large gathering was in attendance for the annual Decoration Day service held on Sunday at the Congregational cemetery.

The service was held in the open air, with the Rev. V M. Gilbert as speaker.

Warren Buttars was accompanist on the organ for the hymns and Mrs. C. Timlin sang a solo.

Television In Toronto Begins Operating On Airways

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—CBLT joined the airways last night—latest outlet in Canada's pioneering investment in television.

The CBC started operations on channel 9 and officially opened the five-storey station in mid-town Toronto. It was the second television station to get under way in Canada within a week. CBFT was opened in Montreal Saturday.

CBLT made its debut with a smattering of Canadian talent—drama, sport, adventure and pantomime—in a three-hour show from its $2,100,000 building at Jarvis and Carlton Streets. There wasn't a hitch in the operation.

RECEPTION GOOD

Reception was good, officials said, within a 60-mile radius of Toronto. Although TV screens can pick up programs up to a 90-mile radius, results are good only up to about 50.

CBLT thus became the second link in a projected network that will run from the Maritimes to the west coast. For at least a year, possibly longer, CBLT and CBFT will be the only television stations in Canada. An Ottawa outlet is due late in 1953. Stations in Vancouver, Winnipeg and Halifax will come later.

Ceremonies for CBLT's opening were featured by addresses by Prime Minister St. Laurent, Revenue Minister McCann, A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC's Board of Governors, and Fergus Mutrie, director of CBC television in Toronto.

The Prime Minister's speech was recorded in advance for both the Montreal and Toronto TV openings. He said the CBLT opening was "a significant event in the history of our country—the beginning of a Canadian series of television broadcasting. . ."

FREE—FOR NOW

Mr. McCann reiterated an earlier statement that Canadians will not be charged a special television licence fee for the remainder of this fiscal year—up to March 31 next.

"But," he added, "this is Canadian television and Canadian viewers will have to pay for it."

The government has not announced what the fee will be. Reports indicate that it will be about $15 a year.

The CBC started its television service on an $8,000,000 loan from the federal government. The money will be repaid—at four per cent interest—from advertising revenues and licence fees from private-set owners. The government has said it will arrange another loan for the CBC to start its other stations.

Television isn't new to much of southern Ontario because some 175,000 TV viewers can tune in on Buffalo's WBEN-TV.

Mr. Dunton said the country's television "is going to be a new factor in the national life of Canada. It is being built on Canada ability and Canadian talent."

The main program last night was a bit of who's who of Canadian talent. John Fisher acted as master of ceremonies on what he called a "sample menu" of Canadian TV.

Geoffrey Waddington conducted the orchestra. Then came comedienne Jane Mallet with Don Harron, base baritone Jan Rubes, sports commentators Dave Price, Ted Reeve and Bob Masterson, comic Doug Romaine, pianist Glen Gould and bits of dramatic sketches.

Several French-Canadian films wound up the program.

Circus Atmosphere Helps Make Sale Big Success

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A Montreal department store added circus atmosphere to a sale recently with results that brought the retail trade up on its collective heels.

The bargain sale at the north-end warehouse of 107-year-old Henry Morgan and Company was such a success the company hopes to put on a bigger and better show next year.

Although a major section of the sale was carried on in an area set up within the warehouse, four tents fanning out in crescent-shape on the warehouse grounds provided a carnival atmosphere. Also adding to the general gaiety were army and navy bands which entertained nightly during the three-day show.

Newspaper and radio advertisements also lured prospective shoppers. Henry Morgan considered conservative in the field of advertising, blossomed out with such "shockers" as "prices slashed," and "it's a steal."

PROVE EFFECTIVE

Results of the sale proved the effectiveness of the advertising and circus layout, a company official said.

He said up to 25,000 persons turned out each day. Although exact figures were not available, it was estimated the sale brought in daily about half as much as the entire seven-storey downtown store.

Sale goods were generally limited to household furnishings ranging from paper weights and toys to refrigerators and living-room suites.

The store frankly admitted in advertisements that it was clearing out hard-to-sell and discontinued lines and encouraged customers to carry parcels home.

"If they bought anything smaller than a chesterfield, we tried to snag them into taking it home in their cars with them," a company official said.

Like Weiner Roast Custom

Anglo Canadian Club members and friends spent an enjoyable evening Saturday at Wallace's Point at a weiner roast. For many it was the first weiner roast but they quickly decided they would like another chance to enjoy this grand Canadian custom. The party enjoyed some dancing to recorded music before gathering around the camp fire and after they had eaten they began a sing song with Mr. Les Murphy playing his accordion. More dancing, with Bill Coffee at the piano, was enjoyed in the hall before leaving. This Saturday evening the Club is holding a bingo to be followed by a film show.

Anne Boyle Bride Of H. J. Taylor Of Hamilton

The marriage took place in George St. United Church Saturday of Anne Boyle, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Boyle and the late Mr. Boyle, Peterborough, to Mr. Harold John Taylor, son of Mrs. H. G. Taylor and the late Mr. Taylor, Brockville. The Rev. Arnold Mathews offociated.

The church was decorated with baskets of multi-colored zinnias, and the music was played by Mr. Charles Allen.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Donald Douglas, her brother-in-law, and she wore a white Chantilly lace floor length redingote over a yellow taffeta underskirt. The fitted bodice had an open neckline with a standup collar. The gathered skirt joined the bodice at a dropped waist line and the front skirt opening was edged with scallops. Her veil was of white tulle illusion caught to a crescent shaped headdres of yellow taffeta covered with white Chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Attendants were Mrs. Donald Earle, matron of honor; Miss Louise Leslie and Miss Mary Krotkov, bridesmaids; and Miss Kathryn McGarrity, flower girl.

They were frocked in ballerina length taffeta dresses with scooped out neck lines in front and back, and circular skirts joined the bodices at dropped waist lines. The matron of honor wore toffee color, and the bridesmaids wore forest green. They wore curved feathered bands in russet color with matching shoes and mitts and carried basket bouquets of rust and yellow small chrysanthemums The flower girl wore a yellow taffeta dress with scallop trim and carried a bronze 'mum centred with a Talisman rose.

Groomsman was Mr. Craig Swayze of Toronto and the ushers were Robert Carson of Toronto, and William McGarrity of Haliburton.

A reception was held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. where the bride's mother received wearing a two piece dress of lime green taffeta shot with grey and black accessories. She wore a corsage of rust and yellow chrysanthemums. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a toast crepe dress with matching accessories. She had a corsage of yellow and rust chrysanthemums.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Barrys Bay. For travelling the bride wore a two piece cinnamon knitted suit, with cream and brown accessories. She wore a yellow 'mum corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will live in Hamilton.

Dietitian Is Third New Member Of Y.W.C.A. Staff

Third newcomer to the YWCA Madill, who took charge of the Madill. Who took charge of the cafeteria, The Copper Kettle, on Monday.

With this position Miss Madill switches back to the work for which she was trained in the food service course at MacDonald Hall, Guelph. She says that she just wants a little respite from the many problems of being executive director of the Brantford Y for the past seven years, but it may also be that her career is going to continue in seven year cycles. She was dietitian in the cafeteria of Montreal Y for seven years previous to taking the office position in Brantford.

Miss Madill's home is in the garden city of St. Catharines but she has come to Peterborough full of ideas for making use of its scenic beauty in her spare time. She is a color photography enthusiast and says that taking pictures in black and white holds no interest for her since she took colored pictures while on the Y tour to Europe several years ago. She plans to do a lot of driving in the Kawartha district during the colorful fall season, always with film ready to record a view that appeals to her.

On the job Miss Madill intends to work along similar lines to those now in effect, giving a meal of quality for the lowest price possible. That is not easy work, as every housewife knows, but in a cafeteria there are the added problems of wastage, and the necessity of making some profit.

She observes that the attitude of people who "eat out" has changed in the last five years and she feels that if she can give value for the price and a nicely varied menu she can attract the clientele though the location may be slightly out of the way of downtown workers.

Firstly the Y cafeteria caters to the residence girls who are usually on a limited budget and so the price of the food is a prime consideration. Miss Madill adivses a meal costs less here than in Brantford, for the Peterborough system groups several items together, where other cafeterias charge for each serving.

When she was dietitian in Montreal it was war time and it was possible then to provide a meal for 25c. Miss Madill will be quite able to cope with the present situation however, for she has kept in touch all the time and frequently advised or helped out Brantford's food service department.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BROWN are seen cutting their wedding cake at the reception following their marriage Saturday in Christ Church, Belleville. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown of Peterborough and the bride is the former Miss Betty Domosly of Belleville.

Brown-Domosly Wedding

Of much interest here is the wedding of Mr. John Wainright Brown of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown of 607 George St. N., to Betty Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Domosly of Belleville. The ceremony took place in the Christ Church, Belleville, Saturday afternoon and Canon J. B. Creeggan officiated.

The Christ Church boys' choir sang "O perfect love" before the marriage and "O happy home" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white tulle with a lace jacket and lace petal overskirt. Her coronet headdress and fingertip veil were encrusted with pearls and rhinestones and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white baby 'mums, stephanotis and ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss June Domosly was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Dorothy Dobbs was bridesmaid. They were brocked alike in grey tulle over apricot tulle and taffeta. Their headdresses were bandeaux of small apricot colored flowers with nose veils and they carried semi-cascades of silver pennies and ivy.

Mr. Norman Courtney of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, was groomsman. Ushers were Robert Rooke of Brantford, also formerly of Peterborough, and Donald Southcott of Exeter.

The reception was held in the Parish Hall, decorated with baskets of peach and white gladioli. The bride's mother received, wearing a coffee colored lace dress with forest green accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother, wore a navy ensemble with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

When the bridal couple left later on a short motor trip the bride was wearing a navy dressmaker suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white baby 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in High Park district, Toronto.

Gorter-MacNaughton Rites

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Warkworth, Saturday, when Greta Helen MacNaughton became the bride of Ralph Gorter of Kilbride. The Rev. J. M. Ritchie officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. MacNaughton of Dartford was given in marriage by her father. Her gown, designed and made by herself, was a strapless floor length model of nylon net over romance pink satin, topped with a white lace jacket with stand-up collar and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. Her illusion veil of fingertip length was caught to a cap headdress of net over satin. She carried an arm bouquet of cream roses and stephonatis.

Maid of honor was Miss Kathleen Ard of Orono who wore a matching gown of taffeta with lace bolero and mittens. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Darlene Johnson of Hastings, who wore a full-skirted dress of pink taffeta fashioned with Peter Pan collar and wide sash. They both wore shirred taffeta headdresses trimmed with mauve 'mums and carried bouquets of mauve 'mums.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Gorter of Kilbride. He was attended by his brother, Henry Gorter also of Kilbride. Ushers were Arden MacNaughton, brother of the bride and William Green of Aldershot.

The reception was held at the manse. The bride's mother received in a mauve faille dress with a lace bodice with black accessories and corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Henry Gorter, sister-in-law of the groom who wore a black crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Guests were present from Hamilton, Kilbride, Dunnville, Peterborough, Bradford, Bowmanville, Aldershot, Port Hope, Campbellford and Whitevale.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. Miss Lois Fowler played the wedding music and Mrs. J. M. Ritchie sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

The bridal couple left later on a honeymoon trip to Quebec and points east. The bride chose a grey wool suit with navy accessories and a mauve orchid corsage.

The couple will live at Kilbride when they return.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Graduates were honored at the first fall meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday evening at the school. Retired principal Mr. J. E. R. Munro addressed his last class of graduates, telling them that "while education means knowledge, thinking and doing, it is your attitude toward these that is most important."

Top pupil William Barber was presented with the Board of Education prize by chairman Mr. W. B. Gordon, and the second top student, Beverley Bacon, received the Home and School prize, presented by vice-president Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon.

Girl softball champions of the school were also honored and received congratulations and crests presented by Miss Beryl Hart, teacher. They are: Gloria Simmons, Joan Weir, Sharon Shaw, Dorothy Kingston, Ann Arnold, Marie Brawn, Irene Button, Beverley Montgomery, Darlene Dummitt, Clara Hayward, Ann Hutchinson and Geraldine Kemp.

Girl champion swimmers of the school were also called to the front to receive crests presented by Mr. Ken Kingston. They were: Rosemary Epston, Joan Ann Hamilton, Patsy Jobe, Jane Coleman, June Valois, Marie Brawn, Marion Brady, Helen Moore, Joanne Whitton, Lorena Cruikshank, Pauline Evans, Gail Wilkinson, Marlene Thomas, Sandra McGee, Kay Hewie, Margaret Lowrie, Suzanne Shaw, Ann Hutchinson, Clara Hayward, Ellen Curtis, Donna Blewett, Kendra Long, Dorothy Kingston, Sharon Shaw, Joan Weir, Susan Simmers, Ann Arnold, Beverley Bacon.

A presentation was made to exteacher Mr. Norman Gainor by second vice-president, Mrs. G. Coleman.

Principal Mr. K. McKee introduced the four new members of the staff, Miss Amy Curtis, Miss Jessie Haddow, Mr. H. V. Wilson, Mr. W. Dawson.

Association president Mrs. Arthur Black extended sincere welcome to the capacity attendance, soliciting their co-operation for the coming year, Opening devotions were led by religious convener Mrs. W. Johnston.

Gary Ball entertained with two solo, "Flocks are Sporting" and "A Lover and His Lass".

Refreshments included a special treat for the graduates and they were served by Mrs. G. Norris and mothers of last year's grade eight.

CWL To Patronize Only Retailers Of Modest Garments

KITCHENER (CP)—The Catholic Women's League in convention here yesterday resolved to urge its members to "discourage all undesirable patterns of clothing, by patronizing only those merchants who agree to provide a modest yet attractive type of garment."

The organization pleged support of provincial parent-teacher organizations in their efforts to expand libraries in Catholic schools where "easy access to good books is seen as the best antidote to curb young peoples' reading of low-standard comics and periodicals."

Catherine Toal of London, Ont., was re-elected president of the league.

Also re-elected were Mrs. M. F. McGlade, Smiths falls, vice-president; Mrs. Joseph F. McConnell, Seaforth, secretary; and Anne Tierney, Ottawa, treasurer.

It takes about a ton of lavender-plant blooms in England to make a gallon of lavender oil, from which perfume is manufactured.

Bernice Greatrix Marries Ronald H. Manley

The wedding was solemnized at George St. United Church, Saturday afternoon, of Bernice Eileen Greatrix, Reg.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greatrix, of Peterborough, and Ronald Howard Manley of Picton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Manley of Bewdley.

Amid a setting of autumn flowers the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold Mathews. Wedding music was played by Mr. Charles Allen and the soloist was Mr. Reginald Peters. He sang "The Lords' Prayer" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white faille taffeta, with redingote of chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice and standing collar with small covered buttons to the waist. The full skirt ended in a slight train. Her shoulder length veil of nylon tulle was caught with a feather headdress and she carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Stuart Gilgore, who wore an ankle length gown of yellow nylon tulle over taffeta, with matching mittens. Her headdress was fashioned of autumn flowers and she carried a nosegay of the same. The bride's little nephew, Graeme Gilgore, was ring bearer. Murray Manley was his brother's groomsman and the ushers were William Greatrix and Garth Manley, brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception was held in the church parlor where the bride's mother received the guests in a sandstone crepe dress with coffee brown accessories and wearing a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a dress of royal blue with cocoa accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Guests were present from Toronto, Bowmanville, Lakefield, Lindsay, Cobourg, Bensfort, Plainville and Bewdley.

The couple left on a trip to northern Ontario, the bride travelling in a suit of brown poodle cloth, with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

They will live in Picton.

Black's Display Fall Stock To 125 Guests

A private showing of their fall stock of women's apparel was presented Monday evening by Black's of Peterborough to nearly 125 invited guests. Daytime business and dress-up styles for teenagers and adults were paraded on the second floor of their George St. store and then the entire store was thrown open for inspection and trying-on of garments.

The show and open house will be repeated tonight and Wednesday for holders of guest cards. The invitations have been issued to as many of their customers as the managers have record of. They ask that any who have been missed request a card for Wednesday evening when there are some vacancies.

Highlight of the show was the winter coats. Only a few fur-trimmed models were shown and commentator Mr. Isadore Black advised that the season had opened early in August this year and as many sales had now been made as in the entire season last year. He feels it is because fabrics and styles are so different.

The coat receiving most applause was purple wool with grey Persian lamb trim. A red velvet coat and matching hat, treated to be spot resistant, was shown to have full interlining to make it useable on most winter days, and it is available in a range of colors.

Another well-liked outfit was a charcoal grey twill coat and hat and matching two piece suit. This new fall color was also shown in a crisply tailored suit with black velvet collar. A very smart fall dress was of light brown wool with finely pleated side skirt panels, finished with a high neckline yoke of orange wool.

Mother and daughter sets and sister sets were shown several times in suits and all-purpose coats with Mrs. Wm. Collison and her daughters Donna, Judy and Beth taking part. The girls' clothes came from the special teen-age department.

A private upstairs fitting room for the wedding and evening gowns, will be appreciated by the customers who like to take a long time in choosing and have plenty of room for full length views.

The show closed with the modeling of a charming bridesmaid's gown in irridescent rose tafteta with a new idea in the detachable shoulder cape, and of a beautiful wedding gown of nylon net with bare evening bodice, covered with a redingote of nylon lace.

Twenty guests were lucky winners of gifts of hosiery, slips and girdles and a number of others received similar gifts for exhibiting sportsmanship and modelling the garments. The draw winners included Misses Joan Dunk, Yvonne Easterbrook, June Hie Shirley Playford, Shirley Succee, Mary O'Rourke, Carol Caldwell, Shirley Linsey, Kay Roberts, Lois Fredericks, Irene Hollingsworth, Marie Thompson, Shirley Shaughnessy and Mesdames Jean Westlake, Fred Chambo, Howard MacDonald, Don Wood and Drake Jopling.

Coffee and refreshments were served at close of the evening.

Brink-Honey Vows Taken In McGill Divinity Hall

ROSENEATH— (ENS) — A wedding of interest to the residents of Roseneath and Fenella district took place at Divinity Hall, McGill University, Montreal on Monday morning at 10 a.m. when Cynthia Mary Elva Honey, eldest daughter of Mr. W. C. Honey, Binscarth, Manitoba and the late Mrs. Honey (formerly Bessie Brisbin, Fenella) became the bride of Gaylord Frederick Arothur Brink, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brink, Thetford Mines, Quebec.

Rev. E. Clifford Knowles was the officiating clergyman.

Mr. Gary Harmon, Ottawa, was organist. Elaine and Paul Clarke, Montreal, sang a duet during the signing of the register.

Autumn flowers were artistically arranged in the Chancel of the church.

The bride given in marriage by Mr. L. Mowbray Clark was charming in a grey model suit with matching accessories and wearing a corsage of cream roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Irene Brown, Roseneath, a cousin of the bride, wearing an ice-berg blue suit with a cream gardenia corsage.

The groom was attended by Mr. Bernard Barrett, Thetford Mines.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Mowbray Clark, 4076 Grand Boulevard, Montreal.

Mrs. Ella M. Brown, Roseneath, an aunt of the bride, received the guests wearing a black tailored suit with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Brown was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a black velvet gown with a corsage of white roses.

For travelling the bride wore her wedding suit and a squirrel jacket, going via T. A. C. to Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

On their return they will reside at 128 Duke Street, Thetford Mines, Quebec.

The bride is a graduate of Winnipeg General Hospital school of nursing and McGill University.

The groom is a gradatue of University of Alberta in Mining Engineering.

IODE Leader Mrs. Burden Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Margaret Burden, 84, prominent in the Imperial Order Daughters of the mpire, died today. She was the last surviving child of Timothy Eaton, department store founder.

Mrs. Burden, the former Margaret Eaton, was born at St. Marys, Ont. At two years of age she moved to Toronto where in 1890 she married Charles Elbridge Burden who later became president of the E. Harris Company.

She joined the I. O. D. E. in 1913 and for four years was its national president.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Henry John Burden and Eaton Burden. There also are two daughters, Mrs. Gretta Burden Smith and Mrs. William Bishop, wife of Air Marshal W. A. Bishop.

DOROTHY DIX

Accept Friendship Without Any Suspicion

DEAR MISS DIX: How should a person take an unusual invitation such as this? I am in my late 60's and all alone. One evening, while I was reading, a woman in her 40's came to visit and asked me to call on her. I don't know what to make of the invitation. Does it mean that she pities me?

I have heard that people in one generation have little in common with those of another generation. I realize this young woman does not mean to take me into her social life, as she entertains considerably. She does not need my company, therefore I feel it is just a kind consideration for a lonely person who has lost her husband.

I could not accept her invitation if I thought it was given as a good deed. I have fought for my independence all my life and, though broken hearted, am still independent. I like to be with younger people but must be sure I'm wanted.

BESSIE B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are very wrong in believing that two generations cannot mix and be friends. Younger folks can learn a good deal from the experience and wisdom of their older friends; some of the most cherished friendships around me are between people of two different generations. The line of distinction between generations was much more finely drawn years ago; it has almost been obliterated now, especially among older people. The very young, of course, should be restricted to their own age groups for friendship or romance, but in later years these barriers cease to exist.

HAS MUCH TO OFFER

You write a fine letter, Bessie, and have much to offer. The young woman, I am sure, will benefit from a friendship with you.

Perhaps her initial invitation was occasioned by a desire to cheer you up, or, as you put it, as a "good deed." Don't disparage these motives. They are the hallmark of fine people. Accept her offer of companionship as it was given, in good grace. It will be easy to convince her that you too have something to give. Pleasant conversation is always welcome. Don't return the visit with the idea that you are merely helping the lady fulfill an obligation. Accept it cheerfully, gladly, enthusiastically. Be an agreeable visitor, and your neighbor will become fully aware, if she isn't already, that her "good deed" has turned into a most valuable asset.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are three married women all working in the same office. We all have wonderful husbands, nice homes and have enjoyed going places together. Recently two of us discovered that the third was having an affair with our office manager —also married. It's been going on for some years. Our problem is, we don't know how to handle her.

B. B. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't soil your skirts. Let the woman know that you are aware of the double infidelity and want no part of her friendship.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I had been going steady for one year with a nice boy. We broke up a few months ago and now I'd like to get him back. Should I try?

MARIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your efforts would undoubtedly be wasted. If he was interested in you, he would have let you know Forget him and find a new beau.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: This is important to me. I am 12 years old 5' 1", weigh 119 pounds and look every ounce of it. Should I take reducing pills? I will abide by your advice.

DOLORES.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope to heaven you do abide by my advice, Dolores, for the answer is, emphatically, no! No one should take this type of medication without the advice of a doctor, but a 12-year-old should be especially careful. You'll probably lose the extra weight in a year or two without doing anything about it.

What's Right?

You are telling an anecdote, and cannot remember an exact date.

WRONG: Pause in telling the story to try to figure out loud just when it happened.

RIGHT: Don't ruin the story by trying to figure out a detail that is only important to you—not to your listeners.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Easier To Make New Jelly Than Try To Repair Failure

A good many of you girls can sew, besides doing all of the smart cooking you turn out every day, and you know how much simpler it is to make a dress from new cloth than it is to make over an old one.

So it is much easier to start from scratch to make new jelly than to try to make jell some jelly that turned out to be a syrupy flop. Or to take the "winy" taste out of pears that one of you readers has in her basement. (I haven't answered this girl yet but in the event that she sees this the answer is "It can't be done" — by me at least. Once fruit is fermented it remains so. The only change that takes place is that it gets worse—meaning that more alcoholic fermentation is taking place.

But to get back to my syrupy jelly. Yes, dears, I have flops too. But this flop had a happy ending. It is because two of my friends who are good cooks had similar sad experiences that I began to think there might be more among my column friends who would clip out and tuck away this kind of trouble-shooting information.

Don't try to repair syrupy jelly by adding sugar and pectin and boiling it again. It won't work. All you accomplish is to heat the sugar to such a high temperature (above boiling point) that it caramelizes and it gives the sloppy mess a burned flavor. You just add injury to insult, or insult to injury whichever you choose.

PRESTO PEACH PUDDING

Sort out among your cups without handles or custard cups one that is exactly same height as one of your medium-sized pudding dishes. It should be big enough to hold a little more than 4 ounces liquid. Turn it upside in centre of baking dish. Arrange 6 peeled peaches left whole around upside down custard cup. Heat ½ cup of your syrupy jelly (or melt down properly jelled jelly) and pour this hot jelly over the peaches. Cover with:

Shortcake Dough: One and one-quarter cups sifted flour, 1¼ tablespoons shortening and 2 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoon salt are sifted together. Cut into them with pastry blender 4 tablespoons shortening or butter, and moisten with ½ cup plus 1 tablespoon milk. Roll this out to fit top of baking dish with overlapping edge of ¼ inch. Moisten edge of dish and seal it airtight. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Let this stand for about 3 minutes, then place a large serving plate over baking dish and quickly invert. The peaches come to rest on the lovely juicy pastry, and believe it or not, all of the lovely jelly juice is in the custard cup. Pass cream which may be spooned over the dessert with some of the sauce.

REHABILITATED JELLY (Spiced as an accompaniment for meat)

Jelly that is syrup and that has not jelled can be made into a jellied mould with the help of plain gelatin that may be used as an accompaniment to meat. To give mine a spicy interesting flavor I did this: I simmered 1 stick of cinnamon and 4 whole cloves in 1 cup water until it was reduced by half. This ½ cup of spicy water I cooled to room temperature and to it I added 1 tablespoon gelatin to soak for 5 minutes. Meanwhile I heated the jelly that wasn't jelly in top of double boiler so that it was quite hot, then when soaking time of gelatin was up I stirred it into this hot jelly until it was dissolved. I poured it into a small deep bowl that would make a good mould shape and chilled it in the icebox where it congealed as pretty as you please. We had a party (which I will describe to you next week) and the occasion called for something special so we had roast turkey—even though it wasn't Thanksgiving or Christmas—and this mould of spicy jelly we served with the turkey instead of cranberries because we couldn't buy any. I was given more credit for it than I deserve because it was so simple to do.

McMANUS—In loving memory of John McManus, who passed away, Sept. 9, 1950.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by Ernest and family.

FULTON—In loving memory of my dear brother, Leon Fulton, who passed away Sept. 9, 1950.
We are thinking of you today, Leon,
Thinking of you and the past
Picturing you in memory
Just as we saw you last.
If all the world were ours
We would give it all, yes, and more,
To see the face of our loved one
Come smiling through the door.
—Forever in our thoughts, Orland, Stella and Billy.

FULTON—In loving memory of our darling son, Leon Fulton, who passed away two years ago today, Sept. 9th, 1950.
Just when your life was brightest
Just when your years were best
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest
No pen can write, no tongue can tell
Our sad and bitter loss
But God alone has helped so well
To bear our heavy cross.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Mother and Dad.

FULTON—In loving memory of a dear nephew and cousin, Robert Leon Fulton, who passed away 2 years ago September 9, 1950.
We who loved you, sadly miss you
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Lovingly remembered by Aunt Minnie and family.

FULTON—In memory of Leon Fulton who passed away two years ago, September 9, 1950.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Always remembered by Greta and Elmer McIlmoyle and family.

G. W. Lawrence Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — George W. Lawrence, 58, president and general manager of the Sangamo Electric Company of Canada Limited, died today.

Born in Stratford, he received his early education in Stratford and St. Catharines. After graduation from the University of Toronto in 1915, he served overseas during the Second World War.

He joined Sangamo in 1919 and was successively chief engineer, vice-president in charge of engineering and president and general manager.

He was a past chairman of the Toronto branch and the Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and for the last year was the association's first vice-president. He was a past president and director of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association and was serving his second year as president of the Central Ontario Industrial Relations Institute.

Surviving besides his widow are a son, George W. (Alex) Lawrence Jr., and a daughter, Betty, at home and a sister, Louise, of Toronto.

The funeral will be held at his home Thursday.

Grandmother 61 Flies Home To Wisconsin

KITCHENER (CP) — Visitors at the Kitchener-Waterloo airport today watched a 61-year-old grandmother climb into a four-place aircraft and take off for Wisconsin.

Mrs. George W. Borg of Delaven, Wis., wife of a prominent American manufacturer, was flying home. She was as unconcerned about the 3½-hour jaunt as though it had been a short motor trip.

Mrs. Borg first stepped into a plane when she was 49 and soloed after 15 hour's instruction. It was merely a hobby then, but now she wouldn't travel any other way and has covered 112,500 miles in the last four years.

Two Transport Planes Will Drop House

LYNEHAM, England (Reuters)—Two transport planes left here today carrying a house which they will drop in sections to a scientific expedition now in northern Greenland.

The house is a specially built Arctic hut, equipped with heavy insulation, a stove and a chimney.

The expedition will use it as a camp for survey work.

Smith Land

Queried by Mr. Standish on whether he thought Dr. Faludi's estimate of Peterborough's population increase in the next 20 years at 12,500 to 17,000 was accurate, Mr. Outram said "No."

"Would you be surprised to learn that statistics bear Faludi out?"

"Yes."

Mr. Outram and J. E. Davis, city assessment commissioner, told of six or seven alternate sites that were inspected with an eye to housing accommodation. But for one reason or another they were discarded.

Mr. Scott said that there were only three that were seriously considered.

One was the Dixon property of about 200 acres in the southeast of the city, running down to Downer's Corners. Part of this land was too low, and part too hily, said Mr. Scott. Besides he was told it was difficult to service.

Another area west of Sherbrooke St. in North Monaghan township, was found to be low and swampy. Moreover Fred Stenson, an owner, wouldn't sell for less than $1,000 an acre. Mr. Scott said he was looking for land—about 300 to 450 acres—up to $600 an acre.

A third alternative site was just west of the present site, but the land "wasn't for sale."

$400 AN ACRE

Finally the 520 acres was bought for about $211,000 or about $400 an acre.

Mr. Scott said that it was not the normal policy of the Land Assembly scheme to expropriate, and unless the city gets annexation the Land Assembly will drop the whole scheme.

"We'd never have entered into it in the first place if we thought we couldn't get adequately serviced land," he said.

Announce School For Sanitary Inspectors

SUDBURY (CP) — A school, to be established by the Ontario Department of Health for the training of sanitary inspectors, was announced yesterday by Dr. A. E. Berry, director, division of sanitary engineering for the department.

Dr. Berry spoke at the joint meeting of the Canadian Institute of Sanitary Inspectors and its Ontario branch.

He said the course, to be financed by a federal grant, will last about one year and provide instruction in theory and application of sanitary science.

The convention yesterday elected T. H. Jackson, of Toronto, president of the Ontario executive to replace John M. Homer of Hamilton.

Executive members include F. Lunn of Brampton, re-elected secretary-treasurer; W. A. McDonald, Sudbury; D. M. Disher, St Catharines; L. Hancey, Toronto; J.E. Lapointe, Ottawa; T. E. Elliott, North Bay; N. G. Whitaker, Pembroke; W. H. Paterson, Toronto; P. Rogers, Port Arthur; L. J. Griffith, Woodstock.

Three Groups Plan Tour Of Peterborough

Three women's organizations and a group of high school teachers will be touring Peterborough in the near future.

James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, said today that arrangements had been made through the chamber office for these tours to take place during September and October.

The first visiting group will be the Coleridge Union Dufferin County Women's Institute, who will be in Peterborough Sept. 15. The Bogartown York County Women's Institute will be here Sept. 16 and 100 school teachers from Simcoe County, Oct. 3.

The Shelbourne, Dufferin County, Women's Institute are also planning to come, but have as yet to set a date.

The program for these visits are similar. The groups will visit the lift lock, and one or two of the city's industries in the morning. Most of the afternoon will be spent shopping and the visitors will return home following a dinner.

Postal Union Charges Endless Red Tape

KINGSTON (CP)—Charges of federal government "buck-passing" and endless "red tape" entanglements in dealing with Canadian postal workers' demands for a five-day, 40-hour work week, were made today by Daniel C. Cross, national president of the Canadian Postal Employees' Association.

Mr. Cross said in a statement Canadian postal workers still are trying to get what was granted United States postal employees in 1935.

"All we run into is a lot of buck-passing, there aren't enough scissors available to cut all the red tape entanglements."

Recover Youth's Body Drowned In Channel

MOOSONEE, Ont. (CP) — The body of George Mark, 18-year-old Indian, was recovered yesterday from the channel between Charles and Moose Factory islands.

Mark was drowned Friday night when he disappeared with a companion, McKenzie Innes, 20, who still is missing. A small white boat used by the youths was found adrift on the Moose river.

Moosonee is on the southern tip of James Bay, 220 miles north of Timmins.

2,000 Workers Idle As Plant Closes

WINDSOR (CP) — The passenger car plant of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Ltd closed down today, and 2,000 employees were away from their jobs.

A company spokesman said "major plant alterations" are being made, and the plant will be closed from five to 15 days.

Ceremonious Egyptians Pour Salaams Over Telephones At Cairo

WASHINGTON — Near the heart of Cairo, close to the Abdin Palace from which King Farouk has fled, millions of words of blessing will pour through the nation's largest telephone exchange, newly installed near Bab el-Luk.

"Good health be with you, my brother" and "To you good health and the blessings of Allah"—thus Moslems preface their telephone conversations, says the National Geographic Society.

The Bab el-Luk area might be called the Square of the Gate That Isn't There, for a small park has replaced the old gate, or Bab.

The park occupies a key position in the teeming Egyptian capital. Parliament and the various ministries lie to the south, and the Royal Geographical Society headquarters are near by.

The area also is known for its railway station serving a short line to the fashionable suburb of Maadi. To the west there is considerable building activity where the old Kasr el-Nil barracks are giving way to modern buildings.

Within sight is the Egyptian Museum, which houses, among other things, the heavy gold funerary mask of King Tut-Ankh-Amen.

To the north are the hotels, movie palaces, banks, and office buildings of a modern city of more than two million.

SHARP CONTRAST

Perhaps the sharpest contrast, ancient to modern, is observed when pretty Egyptian girls in shorts play basketball at the co-educational American University. They play on a court near the ancient Bab el-Luk, and within a stone's throw of the modern telephone exchange.

Cairo is filled with such contrasts. When it was a walled city, each bab or gate took its name from, or let it to, an area. One of these gates, the Bab ez-Zuweileh, still stands and is a prime attraction for tourist photographers.

Many of the faithful call it the Gate of the Mutawalli, holiest of those who "stand near God," and to its iron bars shreds of clothing are tied as votive offerings.

But none of the ancient gate sites can compete with Bab el-Luk in contrasts. Thus, in the midst of Cairo's political changes and disorders, a stranger listening in at the new Bab el-Luk telephone exchange might well be confused by the expressions of good-will that precede the business of the day. Salaams weave back and forth over a network of wires.

GREAT CEREMONY

If a Moslem is calling a Christian he says, "May your day be happy and white as milk." And the Christian replies, "May your blessing return upon you and bring you peace."

Though the message be one of politics, haggling over a load of sugarcane, or the hiring of a guide the most common words of all will be:

"Es-Salamu Aleikum" (Peace be with you).

And the answer, even if the wrong number has been called in the middle of the night, "Aleikum es-salam" (To you, too, God's peace).

Stress Stalin's Peace Ideas

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda noted today the 25th anniversary of Prime Minister Stalin's statement that "peaceful co-existence" is possible between the capitalist and the communist worlds. Stalin, said the official communist party paper, first enunciated this idea in a talk to a delegation of American workers Sept. 9, 1927.

An editorial taking up the bottom of the third and fourth pages of the newspaper said Stalin's statement has "Immense international significance."

The article said equal importance should be given to Stalin's concept that the world would be divided into two great centres — capitalist and "socialist" — and that the strugle of these two camps would decide their fate in the whole world.

The position given this article in Pravda indicates it is one of party importance. It presages the forthcoming super-peace offensive, probably to be kicked off at the communist party's All-Union Congress Oct. 5, and to be taken up from there by Communist "peace congresses" culminating in the massive congress scheduled Dec. 5 for Vienna.

Collie Drives Off 1,700-Pound Bull

KITCHENER (CP) — A collie today was credited with chasing away a 1,700-pound bull which threatened to gore his master to death.

Richard Krupp, 65, is in hospital with injuries suffered when he was butted by the bull on the farm of Alfred Hahn of nearby Hawkesville.

Krupp was trying to tie the bull when the animal went wild ramming him against the wall. He suffered several fractured ribs before he was able to call the collie to his aid.

Says Lurid Accounts Frighten Investors

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Economics Minister Eric Louw said today that "lurid accounts of conditions which are supposed to exist in the union" are scaring off overseas investors who want to put their money into South Africa.

As a result of these statements, said Louw, newspaper men had flocked to South Africa. Then, with no knowledge of local conditions, they sent back dispatches which could only be described as "a tissue of misrepresentation and fabrication," he said.

Girls From Six Counties Enter Homemaking Contests

Approximately 100 girls from Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham, Victoria, Hastings and Prince Edward counties will be participating in the Homemaking Club activities at the Peterborough Exhibition.

These activities, which will include exhibits, judging and demonstrations, will take place Thursday in the Market Hall.

The morning program will be judging of three groups of homemaking projects which have been completed during the past year. The three groups are clothing, nutrition, and garden clubs.

The afternoon program will be inter-county skits, demonstrations and exhibits. The six counties will have one reprsentative group who were picked at the various Achievement Days held in the spring.

COMPLETED TWO PROJECTS

All the girls participating in this section of the exhibition are between the ages of 14 and 26, and have completed at least two homemaking projects.

Miss Jean Noble, home economist for Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland, will be representative in charge of the homemaking activities. She will be assisted by the following staff members of the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture: Miss Florence P. Eadie, supervisor of junior extension; Miss Lulu Row, clothing specialist; Mrs. Ruth Clarke, home economist for York, Halton and Peel counties; and Miss Elsie Irvine and Miss Eileen Ness, home economists for Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington counties.

Mrs. Donald Hull Buried In Havelock

NORWOOD — (ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. Donald Hull was held Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the McConnell-Warner funeral home, with the Rev. H. K. Wright officiating. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, Havelock.

Mrs. Hull died suddenly Tuesday in Havelock Hospital. She was the former Glenna Kempt, born 23 years ago at Colborne, daughter of George Kempt and Olivia Cornell of Colborne.

Before coming to Norwood a few weeks ago she resided in Lakefield, Peterborough and Colborne.

Pallbearers were Melville Blodgett, Austin Sampson, Richard Cullins, Jack Cullens, Bud Courteny, William Hetherington.

Flower bearers were: Albert Hart, Walter Hart, John Hull, Donald Sampson, Vivian Hull, Barbara Kempt, Betty Kempt.

OBITUARIES

ROBERT JOHN CARTER

An accountant for 40 years with the money order branch of the Post Office Department in Ottawa, Robert John Carter of 198 O'Connor St., of that city, died in a Peterborough hospital on Monday following a very short illness.

Mr. Carter was also a veteran of the Boer War and has lived in Peterborough for the past two years. He was 79 years of age.

Mr. Carter was born in Newbury, Ont., (Middlesex County), son of the late William Henry Carter and Mary Esther Webster. His wife, the former Jesse E. Tierney, predeceased him in 1936.

He leaves one daughter Mrs. Wilfred Crowley, B.A., (Mary Esther) of Peterborough and one son Harold Joseph Carter of Ottawa; there are eight grandchildren. While living in this city Mr. Carter was a member of Sacred Heart Church.

Funeral will be held on Wednesday from the Duffus funeral home to Sacred Heart Church where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

JOHNATHON W. SEXSMITH

Johnathon W. Sexsmith, 182 Reid St., died today in Civic Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Sexsmith was born in Belmont township, son of the late Wesley Sexsmith and Sarah Wilde and has lived in Peterborough for the past 40 years, coming here from Belmont township.

He was employed with the C.P.R. approximately 20 years and was a lay preacher at the Free Methodist church here for a number of years.

He leaves his wife, the former Edna McConnell and one son, J. M. Sexsmith of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Belleghem funeral home. The Rev. Wesley Armstrong of the Free Methodist Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Win Eating Contests Two Japanese Die

TOKYO (Reuters) — Two winners of "eating contests" in Japan died of over-eating at the weekend.

A 30-year-old farmer keeled over and died of suffocation just after winning a bread-eating competition. A 57-year-old baker choked to death while friends were congratulating him as champion noodle eater after a spaghetti-stuffing trial.

Crushed By Hoist

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —Alvin Seibel, 23, was killed last night when crushed bween a hoist and couplings of a coke car at the Algoma Steel Company here.

Gregg Urges Uniformity In Labor Laws

HALIFAX (CP) — Greater uniformity in labor legislation across Canada was advocated by Labor Minister Gregg today.

However, he made it clear the central government will not try to gain uniformity by forcing legislation on the provinces.

Mr. Gregg spoke in an address prepared for delivery at the annual conference of the Canadian Association of Administrators of Labor Legislation, made up of permanent federal and provincial labor officials.

He said it appears a Canadian pattern of labor legislation is developing in which the basic principles are largely similar, despite differences. He was confident the association would continue its work towards uniformity.

Turning to safety in industry, Mr. Gregg suggested the possibility of a national conference on the subject.

Mr. Gregg also urged more uniformity in training industrial apprentices in all parts of Canada.

Firms Reject Wage Increase

LONDON (Reuters)—Employers gave a final "no" today to the claims of 200,000 British shipbuilding workers for a substantial wage increase.

The claim was rejected at a one-hour meeting between leaders of the Shipbuilding Employers Federation and the union.

Union chiefs will report the position to a meeting tomorrow of executives of 38 unions affiliated to the shipbuilding confederation.

This meeting is to discuss proposals for a national ban on overtime and piece work in the engineering industry as a whole in protest against the rejection of a 22-a-week claim by engineers.

The shipyard men's demand is closely linked with that of the engineers and they, too, would be involved in the overtime ban.

Man Slashed Carnie Charged

A carnival worker from Ottawa was charged in police court today with assault occasioning actual bodily harm after a Peterborough man was slashed Monday night by a broken beer glass in a downtown beverage room.

Gerald Goodwin, 23, of 5th Ave., Ottawa, pleaded not guilty to the charge today and the case was adjourned to Wednesday. Goodwin was not represented by counsel.

It is alleged that Goodwin and Herron were quarreling over some money and Herron was slashed with a broken beer glass, opening up a one-inch cut behind his left ear. He bled profusely but was not seriously hurt.

The incident occurred about 9:30 p.m. and a waiter, Walter Collins of Aylmer St., promtly bounced Goodwin for his part in the fracas. Later the waiter helped Constable W. G. Scott look for Goodwin but they were not successful.

About midnight Goodwin was arrested by Constable Louis Rodrogue and lodged in the cells.

Danube Boat Upsets 90 People Drowned

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters) — Ninety persons were drowned today when a storm overturned a River Danube steamer, Belgrade radio reported.

Thirty persons who jumped overboard as the vessel started to sink were saved. The others on board went down with her.

The ship was on the way from Belgrade to Zemun.

Church Members Give $3,191,294

TORONTO (CP)—Members of the United Church of Canada gave $3,191,294 to the church last year, it was announced today in a report prepared for presentation to the Church's 15th general council meeting opening in Hamilton tomorrow. This averaged $4.44 a member.

The 1952 goal has been set at $3,500,000 and that for 1953 at $3,850,000.

Bequests from 88 estates totalled $767,644.

Struck By Truck Man Dies On Highway

OAKVILLE (CP) — Nelson Hill, about 43, of Stratford, was killed last night when hit by a truck on the Dundas highway four miles north of here.

Police said Hill was walking on the highway when struck by a transport driven by Joseph Regan of Toronto. No charge was laid against the driver.

W. Thompson Visits Brother In England After 49 Yrs.

William Thompson went back to England for the first time in 49 years and found that his home was in Canada.

"It was nice to go for a visit," said Mr. Thompson. "but Canada is where I want to live."

Mr. Thompson, who lives at 102 Stewart St., came to Peterborough 39 years ago, 10 years after he had come to Canada. He worked with the DeLaval Co. 25 years and retired a few years ago.

Mr. Thompson, 81 made the trip to see his 74-year-old younger brother Benjamin, with his daughter Mrs. George Seguire, Port Dalhousie, and her daughter, Joan. They arrived home Saturday night and Mrs. Seguire is going on to her home tonight.

Mr. Thompson said he knew his brother as soon as he saw him in Waterloo Station in London. He raised his arm and Ben Thompson pushed straight through the crowd toward him without a moment's hesitation. The brothers look very much alike.

Missed In Crowd

Benjamin had travelled from the Thompson home town of Stratford to Southampton to meet his brother, but missed him in the crowd. However he jumped aboard a train and caught up with his brother in the London station.

In some ways, Mr. Thompson was disappointed during his five-week visit which included two trips to Scotland. The food was tasteless and there was too much ration-free fish.

He found there had been many changes in Straford in the nearly 50 years he had been away. Where once there were green fields, there were now buildings.

Both brothers lost their wives, but each had raised large families. William had 15 children and five great - grandchildren; Benjamin had nine children and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Thompson said he has been happy in Peterborough and is glad that he came to Canada years ago.

Acquiring Ulcers By Remote Control

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mother can and often does give her children ulcers—by remote control—although it may take 40 years.

Dr. Edwin F. Peters, president of the Des Moines College of Osteopathy and Surgery, said during a medical convention here that about 76 per cent of stomach ulcers are the result of emotional disturbances.

He said mothers impart more fears to their children than any other agency. They may do this through excessive "don'ts" and by leaving the bedroom light on during the night. In later years, this may cause emotional conflicts which result in physical illness.

Russia Now Claims Have Champion Liar

MOSCOW (AP) — The youth paper Romsomol Pravda said today paper Romsomol Pravda said Monday the world's champion liar is living in Rostov. It charged that, among other things, he got married three times without divorce by lying about his past.

It also said he got himself a job as literary critic on a newspaper by claiming to be a poet, a job in an electric clock factory by claiming to be an engineer, and was admitted to a teacher's college after claiming to have finished almost four years at the Kharkhov Theatrical Institute.

The paper identified the miscreant as Revold Krylov and blamed his parents for never having taught him that it's wrong to tell a lie.

Then, the paper said, Krylov dodged the draft by telling military authorities he was a graduate of Novorossisk Polytechnical Institute which made him exempt.

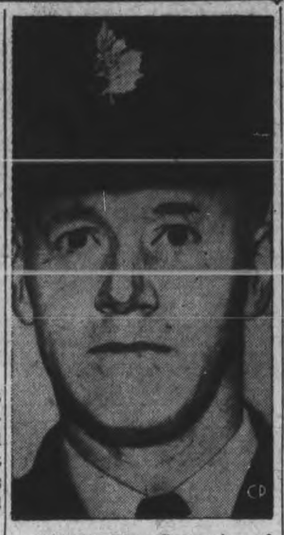
Arrest 53 Canadians Over Visas

Hint Another 50 May Be Held In Cleanup Drive

DETROIT (AP) — District Attorney Philip A. Hart expects to present to a federal grand jury today the first cases involving 100 Canadians accused of entering the United States on fraudulent visas.

Immigration authorities rounded up 53 Canadians here yesterday following an investigation of an alleged wholesale visa racket. About 50 others are expected to be arrested.

The Canadians are alleged to have made false statements of financial worth to gain entrance to the U. S. through Windsor, across the Detroit River.



EXPECTS EVIDENCE

The U. S. Attorney-General, James McGranery, announced in Washington last night that he expects Hart to present evidence of the parts played by Roy H. McBride, Windsor bank official, and two visa consultants, Mrs. Marguerite M. Prest and Mrs. Aline Steigerwald, in obtaining visas for Canadians.

All but three of the aliens rounded up yesterday were released on bond or paroled pending decisions in their cases.

McGranery, in his statement, said an appeal board has upheld a finding that Eugene Glassco, the first person seized, should be deported. Glassco's hearing was regarded as a test case.

The Justice Department said McBride, branch manager of the Provincial Bank of Canada at Windsor, had admitted issuing false information concerning Glassco's finances.

SUSPENDED — Suspension of Alexander Noble, deputy-governor of Toronto's Don Jail, has been announced as investigation continues into the escape of four alleged bank robbers, headed by Edwin Alonzo Boyd. Governor T. W. Brand and six guards also were suspended. Authorities have expressed belief the escapers were helped by someone inside the prison.

Double Prison Police Guard As Provincials Take Over; Royal Commission Inquiry

TORONTO (CP)—Col. Hedley Basher, Ontario's deputy minister of reform institutions, today took over the job of running the Don jail with a squad of Provincial Police for guards as police relentlessly pressed their search for the Edwin Boyd gang. Police frankly admitted they had few clues on the whereabouts of the four men who broke out of the jail Monday. However, Inspector of Detectives Archie McCathie said he believed they are still in Toronto. Police said they fear an attempt may be made to free other members of the gang from the jail. They doubled the city police guard outside the jail, increasing to four the number who regularly watch the prison. A dozen Provincial Police officers were placed in the jail to replace six guards suspended yesterday along with the jail governor and deputy governor.

Prison officials said they would double the night staff inside also because of the possibility of an attempt to free other prisoners.

WILL STRAIGHTEN MESS

As Judge Ian Macdonnel prepared to start his royal commission inquiry into the sensational break of the four men, all accused of bank robbery and two of murder, Col. Basher said he would retain control of the jail "until this whole mess is straightened out."

Archibald Graham, superintendent of Mimico reformatory has been brought in as assistant to Col. Basher.

The deputy minister of reform institutions ordered extra searchlights and floodlights mounted about the grounds. For the first time a regular check of automobiles approaching the building was carried out. Every visitor was questioned.

TAKING NO CHANCES

"We're taking no chances," Col. Basher said.

Armed police set up road blocks and checked dozens of cars. They raided houses in many centres after reports from citizens they had seen men resembling one or more of the four—Boyd, Steve Suchan, Leonard Jackson and William Russell Jackson. The Jacksons are not related.

Their first move was to send 20 prisoners under heavy guard to

McCarthy Wins Landslide On Nomination

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy was the landslide winner of Wisconsin's Republican senatorial nomination yesterday. He called his victory an endorsement by the people of "my campaign to rid the government of subversive forces that would destroy it."

He promised his "all-out support" to Republican Presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower and pledged to continue his Communists-in-government charges.

But there was no truce between McCarthy and Len Schmitt, the man he defeated in yesterday's primary election for the senatorial nomination.

HOAXED CHARGED

Schmitt charged McCarthy had won through "an amazing and fraudulent hoax" perpetrated on the voters. And he added:

"The result of this election is an appalling thing. . .when the full truth dawns, many people will recall their support of Joseph R. McCarthy in this election with shame."

With 2,379 precincts of 3,224 reported, the count was: McCarthy 332,883; Schmitt 130,436.

McCarthy's victory will pit him in the November election against either Thomas Fairchild of Verona or Henry Reuss of Milwaukee, the candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Fairchild held a substantial lead over Reuss early today, but the outcome was uncertain.

HAD DEMOCRATS' HELP

McCarthy's spectacular victory indicated that perhaps he had some support from switch-voting Democrats who crossed the line to give him help. Cross-voting in primaries is legal in Wisconsin where voters are not required to register by party affiliation.

Eisenhower gave McCarthy no help in his fight. But the general has made it clear he will support the senator once he has the nomination.

Chiefs Afraid More Police Die In Gang Hunt

WINNIPEG (CP) — The break from Toronto's Don jail by four hardened criminals was described yesterday by chief constables from leading Canadian cities as a disgraceful incident that may lead to the death of more policemen.

Several police chiefs, here for the annual convention of the Chief Constables' association, said the men would be taken but probably only after an armed battle.

One man who would recognize two escapees, Edwin Boyd and Leonard Jackson, was Chief Constable Clarence Wideman of Markham, Ont., only 15 miles from Don jail.

IN SAME REGIMENT

Both Boyd and Jackson served under Wideman, who was a sergeant in the Royal Regiment of Canada.

"I took Jackson under my wing for five months when we were in Iceland," he said. "He was a good-looking lad. Shy, he would often blush or hang his head when spoken to.

"It could be that he has been led on by Boyd, who was a rough customer. Even in those days, he was always in and out of the 'digger.'"

"Incidentally," Chief Wideman said. "Col. Hedley Basher, deputy minister of penitentiaries, who now leads the hunt for the criminals, was officer commanding the battalion that included Boyd and Jackson."

Think Jet Boat Exceeds Speed Record

DRUMMADROCHIT, Scotland (Reuters) — John Cobb's jet-propelled speed boat was believed to have exceeded the world water speed record in two runs on Loch Ness today.

But the runs were only trials and were not officially timed.

The world record of 178.4 miles an hour is held by Stanley Sayres of Seattle. His was a conventional propeller-driven boat.

Cobb, holder of the land speed record of 394 m.p.h., made two tests in each direction along Loch Ness.

His bullet-shaped silver-and-red boat, the Crusader, earlier this week closed more than 140 m.p.h. in another trial.

The Crusader is an outlandish craft which skates over the water on narrow runners. It is powered by an airplane jet engine pointing out its stern.

Cobb, 52-year-old fur broker, said after today's trial: "I feel justified in saying that I went at a speed around the 180 m.p.h. mark."

He hopes eventually to exceed 200 m.p.h.

Frost Predicts Cigarette Drop

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost yesterday predicted a drop in cigaret prices if Ontario obtains tobacco taxation control from the Dominion government.

Welcoming some 800 Canadian and United States delegates to the opening sessions of the four-day 45th annual conference of the National Tax Association, Mr. Frost said acquisition of the tobacco tax would be the province's next move in the taxation field.

The association, primarily a United States organization, has a considerable Canadian membership. Its members, including federal, state or provincial legislators, businessmen, professors, accountants and lawyers, meet for scientific study of taxation and finance.

Gold Standard Return Urged By Africa

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A proposal that the countries of the world return to the gold standard was made yesterday by the South African delegation to the International Monetary Fund annual meeting.

South Africa also asked for an increase in the price of gold, now $35 an ounce.

Sir Percy Spender, Australian delegate, supported South Africa's move for the price increase.

Spender said an increase in the gold price was not an ideal or a complete solution, but it would immediately increase reserves of the central banks.

DO MORE BUYING

Since the biggest profits from a gold-price increase would accrue to the U. S., that country could constructively use the increased value of its reserves to buy from other countries, he said.

The initial gain would also go to gold producers in Canada, South Africa, Australia and other places and would also strengthen sterling currencies.

The alternative to increasing gold prices, he said, was to allow gold to remain fixed while prices generally rose. In that event, he pointed out, "fences against imports could be raised higher and higher until in the free world there is no freedom of trade."

May Test H-Bomb In Next 2 Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—A test of the world's first hydrogen "hell" bomb may be made during the next two months at the United States' guarded nuclear-weapons proving ground in mid-Pacific. A joint Atomic Energy Commission-Defence Department announcement says a task force will "conduct tests in the autumn months of this year looking toward development at atomic weapons." The announcement left open the question of the specific types of atomic weapons, but earlier official statements had pointed to progress in developing the hydrogen bomb, which may be 1,000 times more powerful than the A-bomb.

SECRECY TIGHT

There were indications of unusually-tight secrecy around the forthcoming experiments at Eniwetok, in the Marshall Island group.

The announcement specified that "only official observers of the U.S. government and members of the task force" would be present. This suggested that quasi-official observers, such as civilian defence experts, might not be invited. It definitely excludes foreign observers and the press.

At least some preliminary steps toward producing a full-scale hydrogen explosion have been taken.

Suddenly Decide Item Valuable

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—For years 70-year-old Bob Dodson, an Oklahoma park service employee, had begged scientists to investigate a hard, black object sticking out of the ground at Lake Murray state park.

Nobody paid any attention.

Today, guards maintain a 24-hour vigil while scientists probe the object.

Dr. Lincoln la Paz, University of New Mexico scientist, said it was a nickel-iron meteorite, probably the largest recovered in the United States.

"I cannot tell exactly when it fell," La Paz said, "but I can say without fear of contradiction that when it screamed to earth it frightened the prehistoric inhabitants out of years of growth."

La Paz estimated later it was probably about 20,000 years old.

No Passports For Delegates

CANBERRA (AP)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies told the House of Representatives today the forthcoming "Peace Congress" in Communist China's capital will be just a fake, and Australian delegates to it will be denied passports.

The congress, summoned in Peiping for late September, is labelled "Congress of Peoples of Asia and Countries of the Pacific Ocean in Defence of Peace."

"The presence of Australian delegates in Peiping undoubtedly would be used throughout Asia for propaganda against the United Nations, to suggest that Australians are not backing the government decision to participate in the United Nations campaign in Korea," Menzies said.

Contracts Let For Highway

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Department of Highways, announcing that contracts have been let for completion of No. 2A highway from Oshawa to Newcastle, said yesterday the job may be completed before Christmas providing the weather remains favorable.

Opening of the road to traffic depends on whether contractors can complete overpasses and underpasses before freezeup, the department said.

U.S. Destroyer Hit By Red Shore Fire

TOKYO (AP)—The United States destroyer Agerholm was hit by Communist shore fire off the eastern coast of Korea Sept. 1 while blasting Red front-line installations, the navy announced today.

One crew member suffered slight injuries to one knee. Only minor damage was inflicted on the ship.

Sunken Cruise Ship Has Been Abandoned

VANCOUVER (CP)—The sunken cruise ship Princess Kathleen has been "abandoned" by the Canadian Pacific Steamships coastal service to the insurance underwriters.

It was announced here yesterday that the $5,000,000 vessel, which crashed on the Alaskan coast Sunday without loss of life, now is the property of the underwriters.

They will decide if the 6,000-ton ship now in 130 feet of water off Lena Point near Juneau, Alaska, can be salvaged.

5 Jets Crash In Great Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Five British jets crashed in Britain yesterday, killing two pilots and underlining a recent call for investigation of the R.A.F.'s mounting accident rate.

The first accident was at Tangmere, Sussex, where a Meteor jet crashed in a backyard, missing a baby sleeping in a baby carriage by eight yards. The pilot, thrown clear by his ejector seat, was killed.

The other fatal accident was at Sutton, Yorkshire, where another Meteor plunged to earth, killing the pilot.

Two other jets collided over a Cambridgeshire village. The pilots parachuted to safety. The fifth plane plunged into the sea off Weymouth. Its pilot was picked up by a tanker.

Yesterday's crashes brought the toll since the first of the year to about 75 crashes and at least 70 deaths. The press has urged a special committee of air experts be established to find the cause of the crashes.

Russians Reimpose Highway Blockade

BERLIN (AP)—Armed Russians today reimposed their blockade of a highway between Berlin's American sector and a United States checkpoint to West Germany, after a brief let-up that followed a strong protest from the U. S. High Commissioner.

Russian troops halted a U. S. patrol due to go on duty at the checkpoint at 7 a. m. today. Three U. S. soldiers in their jeep took a detour which enabled them to reach the checkpoint without leaving the American sector.

The midnight patrol was allowed to pass unhindered shortly after U. S. High Commissioner Walter J. Donnelly verbally protested to Gen. Vasily Chuikov, chief of the Soviet Control Commission for Germany.

Motors Stolen

CORNWALL (CP) — Police are investigating theft of $2,000 worth of outboard motors from boathouses along the waterfront. Six motors were stolen.

Worker Hurt

A construction worker at the new Westclox addition, Johnny Brown, Toronto, fell from a scaffold this afternoon and was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital across the street. At press time, a doctor was on the way but had not seen him and the extent of his injuries were not known.

Rumor From Britain

Ottawa Denies Report To Recall Troops In Japan

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said today there is "no question of withdrawing any Canadian forces at this time" from bases in Japan because of dissatisfaction over negotiations for their rights in that country.

"Progress of negotiations for arrangements relating to the Commonwealth or other United Nations forces in Japan have been disappointingly slow," the minister said.

"However, they are continuing with the expectation that satisfactory arrangements will be worked out and there is of course no question of withdrawing any Canadian forces at this time."

LONDON REPORT

The minister was commenting on a London report quoting the Daily Express as reporting Canada is considering withdrawal of her forces from Japan unless they are accorded the same treatment as United States troops.

The Express report says:

"Canada is so dissatisfied over the long delay in obtaining the same rights for her troops in Japan as the Americans have, that she is considering giving up Japan as a base and withdrawing all her men and ships.

"This possibility has been discreetly conveyed to the United States State Department and has created dismay because a Canadian withdrawal would be highly unwelcome in America."

(In Ottawa, a spokesman for the External Affairs Department said the reports were "without foundation.")

The Washington report, which quotes no source, says all Commonwealth countries using Japan as a base for operations in Korea have become restive over Japanese delays in determining the status of empire forces, although Americans already are receiving most-favored-nation treatment.

It adds that high up in the list of privileges demanded by Commonwealth countries is the right to try in their own military courts members of their forces who infringe Japanese law.

This issue has been underscored by recent sentences of 30 months imposed by a Japanese civil court on two British sailors for holding up a taxi and robbing the driver of about $5. Despite official protests from London and demands that they be turned over to British military authorities, the men are still in jail.

"If Canadians were jailed by the Japanese the Ottawa government would face awkward questions as to why its men were forced to accept a status inferior to U. S. troops," the Express correspondent says.

Recommend Commission

Suggest Commonwealth Immigration Be Studied

OTTAWA (CP)—A commission to study immigration problems on a Commonwealth basis was urged yesterday at a meeting of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

Hector Hughes, Labor member of the United Kingdom Parliament, made the proposal.

Hon. Jules Koenig of Mauritius said the forthcoming conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London might help to solve immigration problems.

The proposals were made at the opening day of the week-long conference, which today turns to business of the association itself. The C. P. A. annual report will be presented.

The association adopts no resolutions and there was no formal action on Mr. Hughes' suggestion. Sessions are closed but summaries of speeches made at the day-long consideration of immigration were issued to the press.

SOUTH AFRICA CRITICIZED

Sharp criticism of South Africa's racial policies was made by Seth Govind Das of India, who said racial prejudices must go. He could not understand the "barbarous treatment" of colored people in South Africa he said and reminded delegates that his countrymen evolved over thousands of years from a fair-skinned, blue-eyed race.

There was no reply to his speech from South African delegates. Senator David Jackonson of South Africa, speaking before Mr. Govind Das, said the great majority of his country's 12,000,000 people are backward.

South Africa was slowly training and integrating its backward races into the life of the country. It did not need immigration of manpower so much as trained artisans and technicians.

Speaking for Canada, George McIraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade minister Howe said the question had been raised as to why Canada could not absorb as many immigrants as after the first World War.

Canada no longer has the great areas of accessible, unoccupied land, he said. Her need now was for skilled workers rather than farmers.

URGES BIRTH CONTROL

T. G. D. Galbraith, Conservative member of the U. K. Parliament, said the problems of over-populated and under-populated countries can be solved better by controlling the size of families rather than by mass migration.

If each family in India were to reduce its size by one, her population would decrease by 50,000,000 in one generation. If Canada were to add one member to each family, it could soon double its population.

Hon. Shri Mavalankar of India said he does not accept the principle of unrestricted immigration. The ultimate end, however, must be one standard of life suitable to all parts of the Commonwealth. World conflict would not be ended unless standards of the less fortunate members were lifted.

P. L. Wells, U.K. Labor member, said: "We must organize ourselves so that we can place the surplus of one part of the Commonwealth into some other part of the commonwealth where it is needed."

Four Ottawa Policemen Have Red Faces Disarm Quarry In Hotel, Find He's Detective

OTTAWA (CP)—Four Ottawa morality squad men walked into a downtown hotel yesterday and spotted a slim, dapper stranger leaning over the lobby desk, talking to the clerk.

Not only did he appear similar to Edwin Alonzo Boyd, kingpin of four escaped Toronto gunmen, but his suit showed the outlines of a revolver on the hip.

The police closed in, disarmed their quarry and demanded his credentials. Red-faced, they found they had cornered Detective Roch Dandenault of the Quebec Provincial Police.

For a minute, said Dandedault, in town on other business, he didn't know what was cooking.

"When I saw the four hard-looking guys, I thought they might be the missing Toronto thugs. It's a good thing the error didn't go any further. Somebody might have been shot."

July Exports Down Due To Prices

Monthly Value Drop First of Year, Imports Lower

OTTAWA (CP)—Volume of Canada's exports climbed slightly during July, but lower prices trimmed the value of shipments to $375,700,000 from $378,600,000 a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. It was the first monthly value drop of the year.

Value of exports to Canada's two biggest markets—the United States and the United Kingdom—were down. Part of the drop was recouped with increased values in shipments to Commonwealth countries in Asia and to Latin-American countries.

The bureau estimated that export prices during July slipped 2.5 per cent from July, 1951, while volume increased 1.7 per cent.

The decline in exports was not without its counterpart in imports. In a preliminary statement, the bureau placed July imports at $342,900,000, down from $370,600,000 last year. This gave Canada a surplus of exports over imports of $32,800,000, about four times as great as last year $8,000,000 favorable balance.

Despite the July decline, Canada's exports for the first seven months of 1952 climbed to $2,490,500,000 from $2,141,100,000 last year, boosted by gains in the first half of the year.

Shipments to the United States during July slipped to $291,000,000 from $205,000,000 last year, while exports to the U.K. eased to $69,300,000 from $74,100,000.

Britons Buying More Liquor

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons, who earned £805,000,000 more in 1951 than they did in 1950, used their boosted incomes to buy more tobacco, liquor and food and less clothing and footwear.

Figures released today by the Central Statistical Office showed that in 1951 Britons spent £801,000,000 on tobacco (an increase of £34,000,000); £788,000,000 on drinks £2,867,00,000 on eating (an increase of £240,000,000).

In the same period, sales of shoes dropped 13 per cent, men's and boys' wear 10 per cent and women's girls' and infants' wear seven per cent.

Iran Debate Postponed, No Quorum

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)—Debate on the recent Truman-Churchill bid to settle the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute was postponed in the House of Parliament today because there was not a quorum.

An unofficial session was told the debate will be held Sept. 16.

Though Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has already rejected the offer verbally, the House must work out the official reply.

This morning only 67 deputies were present instead of the required 69.

The Anglo-American offer proposed that the United States would make a $10,000,000 aid grant to Iran if Iran would agree to:

1. Refer the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's claim for compensation for the nationalization of the oilfields to the International Court at The Hague.

2. Open negotiations with the company on arrangements to resume the marketing of Iranian oil.

Bayonet Charge Retakes Hill

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korean infantrymen recaptured Capitol Hill in a wild night bayonet charge and then threw back counter-attacking Chinese at daybreak today.

In five days of close-in fighting for the central-front hill, troops of the crack capital Division have killed or wounded at least 2,300 Chinese, the U. S. Eighth Army estimated.

Fighting for the hill has produced the heaviest Communist artillery barrages of the war.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, said at the front the shelling amazed him and "indicates they (Reds) have enough supplies and ammunition at the front."

Western Oils Lead General Price Drop

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils continued to lead the general price decline in early afternoon stock market trading, dropping almost four points on the exchange's index.

The western oils index hit its lowest since at least last February and golds reached their lowest index point since June 26.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,300,000 shares.

A few western oils traded actively for small losses but Cons. Rochette moved about 30,000 shares to gain a fraction of a cent. Most losses were not large but among the heaviest losers were Albermont, Del Rio, Home Oil, Peace River and Royalite.

Steels, papers and refining oils led the industrial decline but utilities and banks were a strong point. Most other issues were mixed or weak. Algoma Steel, St. Lawrence Paper and Canadian Celanese each dropped more than $1.

All sections of the gold list weakened but speculative support aided a few prospects to resist the decline. Gunnar gained pennies in a turnover of about 46,000 shares. New Dickenson, a junior, also showed strength.

Hudson Bay was the only base metal leader to show a gain and Bellekeno and Silver Miller traded actively for penny losses.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down 2.63 at 323.52, golds down 1.34 at 89.53, base metals down 2.40 at 192.98 and western oils down 3.92 at 130.64.

New Wage Contract For Longshoremen

MONTREAL (CP)—A new contract providing a 12-cent-an-hour wage boost for 5,000 longshoremen in the ports of Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and Saint John, N.B., has been signed by the Canadian Shipping Federation and the International Association of Longshoremen (T.L.C.-A.F.L.).

The increase will not appear in take-home pay, however. It will be divided into equal contributions to three new funds covering pensions, vacations and sickness insurance.

The agreement becomes effective Dec. 1 next for longshoremen employed at Halifax and Saint John and next April for those in Quebec and Montreal.

Flower Judging Difficult Number Down, Quality Up

Judging was a difficult job in this year's horticultural display at the Peterborough Exhibition, said the two judges, A. E. Hicks, of Lindsay, and Fred Storey, of Peterborough.

Although the number of entries was down from 1951, the overall quality was improved, and the evenness of the flowers made it hard to choose between them. Considering weather conditions and the time of the year, it was one of the best displays they had seen.

Three men who are usually big exhibitors in the horticulture department, George Clark, Herb Cardwell and C. H. Bacon, had no entries in this year's show. Committee chairman Bill Wilks blamed this on the weather, and added that a number of smaller exhibitors failed to show this year.

FEWER GLADS

The gladiolus section was noticeably smaller, particularly because of the absence of Messrs. Clark and Cardwell. Commercial displays in the horticulture building were increased this year to six from three last year, in expectation of a poor flower season and the consequent decrease in entries.

In the annual and perennial classes, the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, of Omemee, a perennial exhibitor himself, and G. W. Downer took the majority of the awards in the amateur class. In the open class, Mr. Downer and Mr. Zufelt again made themselves known, although not to such a great extent.

Women exhibitors did well in the open class, among them Mrs. C. Plunkett, of Keene, Mrs. Gordon Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, Mrs. Allan Heideman and Miss P. Denne, both of Chemong Park, and Mrs. William Gracie, 320 George St.

Police Guard

Burwash industrial farm near Sudbury, a provincial reformatory housing prisoners sentenced to terms of less than two years.

Premier Frost announced the suspension and the royal commission investigation after an Ontario cabinet meeting which heard a report on the escape. He said the suspended men who will continue to draw their salaries while the investigation goes on.

Judge Macdonell of Toronto was named as a one-man royal commission.

Under suspension are: T. J. Brand, jail governor since January; Alex Noble, deputy governor, who has been on the staff for 25 years; and guards J. M. Corrigan, W. J. Kendall, J. McNulty, J. A. Thompson, Gordon Paul and Peter Lee.

The Premier said of the eight men: "This doesn't necessarily mean they are guilty of anything. Maybe others were the guilty parties or were implicated in some way. But they were in charge."

TRUE BILLS RETURNED

A Toronto grand jury yesterday returned true bills yesterday in the murder charges against Leonard Jackson and Suchan, making certain they will stand trial if they are arrested. They are charged with the slaying of Edmond Tong, Toronto sergeant of detectives, last March. He was shot down on the street when he stopped a car he suspected was occupied by the two men.

The search was widespread.

Ontario and Quebec police scoured both sides of the Ottawa river in the vicinity of Hawkesbury after a woman drug store clerk said a man answering Boyd's description bought hair dye from her. The report tied in with another from Masson, Que., 14 miles west of Hawkesbury, that Boyd had been seen there.

Many tips proved fruitless. At Brantford, a woman patron of a drive-in theatre told the manager she had just seen men resembling the four escapees. The men proved they were not the wanted four.

Roadblocks were set up near Hamilton after reports that two suspicious cars were headed that way. For an hour, armed police stopped cars and searched trucks.

MAY BE IN NORTH

In northeastern Ontario, provincial police carried out patrols in pairs, armed with riot guns, on the chance that Suchan, a native of Cochrane, might seek a hideout in that area.

At Powassan, south of North Bay, a motorist reported two cars occupied by suspicious persons heading north. But police could find no trace of them. They also could find no trace of a man whom a North Bay druggist said resembled Boyd. The druggist said the man asked for cigarets and then inquired the route to Ottawa.

So far, there is no definite theory on how the men escaped. Or at precisely what time.

Officials know that the four were in their cells at 8 p. m. Sunday. At 6:45 a. m. Monday they were gone.

There were two means of escape. One was a small hole where bars were cut in the window of a jail corridor. The other was out the door of the cell-block and down to the main floor out to the back door of the jail. A piece of wood shaped like a key was found in a cell but it would not open any door.

There was doubt that any of the men could have squeezed through the opening in the window.

Escapes From Jail

GUELPH (CP) — A 21-year-old Indian identified as Eon Benoit of Buffalo, N. Y., today escaped from the Ontario reformatory here.

The youth is described as five feet, seven inches, weighing about 121 pounds with dark hair and complexion.

No Beer In Can As Fight Cuts Off Flow

A disillusioned carnival worker slumped sadly in the witness box today and told how he was cut off in a beverage room simply because his two table companions were fighting on the floor, both of them covered with blood.

Worse still when the mess was cleaned up—one of the scrappers was bounced and the other was having a slash wound attended to—he was collared by the city police and whipped off to jail.

"So I didn't even get another beer," he said.

The unlucky tippler was Harvey Jackson, a carnival employee who is no hockey player but a conscientious man when it comes to downing a beer.

He appeared as witness today in a charge against another carnival employee, Gerald Goodwin, 23, of 5th Ave., Ottawa. Goodwin was charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm on James Herron of Charlotte St. He was fined $30 and $11 costs or 14 days in jail.

NEW CHARGE LAID

Another unusual feature of the case was that a charge of common assault was laid against Herron, the Crown's chief witness and alleged victim, immediately after the Goodwin case was heard.

Jackson and Goodwin were sitting in a downtown beverage room Monday night discussing carnival problems when they mentioned a name that Herron, sitting nearby, thought he recognized. Thus Herron moved over to the table, got into the conversation and had a few beers.

Things seemed friendly enough until Jackson went out for a night-edition paper.

"I wanted to read about those four guys that escaped," explained Jackson. "When I came back Herron was saying the 50 cents he was holding was Goodwin's and Goodwin had his $2.

"Herron told me not to get mixed up in it, so I said 'Go right ahead, do what you want, just don't get the table cut off'."

But as Jackson told the tale, his overtures were in vain.

"The accused grabbed a glass," continued Jackson, lounging in the witness box. "He smashed it on top of the table and by this time they were both rolling around on the floor.

READING PAPER

"I was just sitting there drinking my beer and reading the newspaper . . . if they want to fight let them go ahead."

Others thought differently however. Goodwin was bounced out the front door by big Walter Collins, a waiter. ("Your head struck both double doors as you went out," said Collins softly as he told the tale to Goodwin under cross examination.)

Herron had to get the cut on his neck and head attended to—seven stitches in all.

After Herron had been bathing his wound in the men's room for some time, Jackson put down the newspaper he was reading and strolled in to see how things were getting along.

"The next thing I know," Jackson concluded, "is that a big policeman comes along. Boom, I'm in the can. No more beer."

Tough luck all around. A $41 fine for Goodwin. A charge of common assault facing Herron. And a thirsty and still resentful Jackson.

May Test

In the spring of 1951 scientists conducted experiments which apparently included studies of the method of detonating a hydrogen bomb.

A first test of a hydrogen bomb probably will be made from tower instead of an air-drop. Among other reasons is the size of any test device, far too big and perhaps too heavy for present aircraft.

It is doubtful if observers of an H-bomb explosion would remain on other islands of the Eniwetok atoll, even though some of them are more than 20 miles from the 'shot' islands.

In addition to the vastly increased area of blast and heat, other factors might have to be considered.

Some scientists think the terrific explosion and the creation of intense heat may produce dangerous air turbulence after the blast—perhaps winds of super-hurricane force.

Moreover, the immense force of such an explosion only about 300 feet above the level of one of the small coral islands might blast away the island and create submarine landslides which could set off a tidal wave.

Cupid Facing New Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—On your toes, girls. There now are more women than men in the marriageable age groups of between 20 and 34.

Census takers, looking over the 1951 population figures today reported 551,000 women between the ages of 20 and 24, up from 514,000 in 1941. This compared with 537,000 men in that group, an increase from 517,900 in 1941.

Women between 25 and 29 increased by 100,000 to 578,000 from 478,000. Men in this group trailed with 552,800, up from 488,000.

In the 30 to 34-year group, women totalled 530,000, a gain of more than 100,000 from 412,000. The number of men increased to 512,000 from 431,000.

No Tax Cuts Likely - PM Says

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated last night Canadians should not look for any big cut in defence bills—or taxes—as long as present dangers exist.

Homeward bound from a trip to the west coast, Mr. St. Laurent addressed a public meeting of 1,700 during an evening stop here. He also attended a private reception and spoke briefly to children on the steps of a city school. He will address a Canadian Club luncheon in Winnipeg today.

Speaking in the Portage Arena, Mr. St. Laurent said the government feels it would be unfair to give the Canadian public the impression the world situation has so improved that Canadian defences can be cut as an easy way of reducing the tax burden.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States dollar was at a discount of 4 1-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, down 1-32 from Tuesday noon, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EDT. The pound sterling was $2.67, down 1-16 from Tuesday.

Holding Wheel Not Enough Says Magistrate

Irwin Emery, 30-year-old mechanic from Bridgenorth, was today sentenced to seven days in jail when convicted of drunken driving.

Commenting on Emery's admission that he partially was affected by alcohol, Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., made this comment:

"Getting home all right in a car is not enough. The fact that a man is able to hold onto the steering wheel and not fall onto the floor boards is not the test of intoxication."

Constables Andre Dalton and Louis Rodreque said that they were driving south on Water St. shortly before 11.30 p.m. on August 1 when they saw Emery's truck coming north from Charlotte St. They turned the police panel truck around and gave chase.

TRUCK WEAVING

Both constables said that Emery was weaving from side to side and Constable Rodreque claimed that the accused man struck the curb at least six times.

They said they tried to pass him in the Brock to Murray St. block three times, but they failed. They shone the police spot light on him and honked the horn. However they nosed him to the curb just after he turned west on McDonnel St.

Both constables said Emery was drunk. Constable Rodreque said he had to help him up the police station steps and down the stairs into the cell.

Emery entered the witness box on his own behalf and said he had five draughts of beer that night, but he wasn't drunk.

"I knew I wasn't exactly perfect so I drove up Water St.," he said.

Emery said some of the erratic driving described by the constables was probably caused by a loose steering wheel.

Would Outlaw Strike If Crops Involved

CHATHAM (CP) — Legislation to outlaw strikes during the harvesting of perishable crops and to prohibit lockouts by management was sought last night at a meeting of the Kent Federation of Agriculture.

The motion, proposed by Clarence Nichols of South Harwich, was prompted by the recent strike this season at Heinz Company's Essex and Kent plants, which threatened an unsold tomato crop. Some federation members did not support the motion.

All the 300 passengers and 115 crew members were safely taken off the ship before she slipped back into the water and sank. Passengers said there was no panic during the rescue operations and that everything went smoothly.

Havelock Men Complete 7,000-Mile Trip

HAVELOCK (ENS).—Five local young men, Gordon Bales, Albert Smith, James Chase, Kenneth Nobes and Robert Watson, have returdned from a motor trip in the latter's car, to the Pacific coast, very much enthused with their tour of 7,000 miles in 16 days.

The first day they reached Paris. The next day they crossed the border into the U.S.A. going by the Straits of Mackinaw through the State of Michigan, then passing through Duluth and the iron fields of Minnesota.

ROBBERS IN HILLS

They followed route 2, which took them in North Dakota and as far as Shelby, Montana. In northern Montana they were warned at various points that there were robbers in the hills, and many towns had a nine o'clock curfew on acount of this threat to the safety of the residents. The ground at this point was very flat and they were able to see 10 miles in the distance. This, they said, made it very difficult for the police to control the robberies as a car could travel over the surrounding flat ground almost as well as on the highway. At Shelby they turned north and crossed the border into Alberta, stopping at Calgary, there visiting St. George's Island.

The next stop was Banff where they camped overnight near Lake Louise to enjoy the beautiful scenery. Here they bought ten gallon hats which they wore for the balance of their tour. The next day was a long tedious one over the Big Bend Highway in British Columbia, covering 192 miles on a gravel road. On one side there was a sheer drop of several hundred feet while on the other the mountains rose to a great height.

The boys said the valleys of B. C. afforded very beautiful scenery and lots of fruit which they thoroughly enjoyed. In Vancouver they took in Stanley Park, and had a good view of the Sound and Lion's Gate Bridge which is the largest bridge in the British Commonwealth. The next day they again entered the U.S.A. and proceeded onward to the Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River, then to Yellowstone Park in Wyoming.

BEARS IN PARK

A very interesting feature at the park was the number of bears that run wild among the tourist camps in this 100 mile area. The boys said it was a common occurrence when out for a walk to find a big bruin travelling alongside and to be awakened by the noise caused by the lifting of tops from garbage cans. In fact after they got settled for the night in their tent they almost expected to see a large black paw being thrust into the tent. Nevertheless, they say that they had a good sleep. Other items of interest they found here were the paint pots (consisting of boiling mud) and the geysers. Within a short distance of Yellowstone Park they entered Cody, the home town of Buffalo Bill. Then they passed Big Horn Mountains. There the spiral route took them with a gradual rise to the top, stopping at certain points where pipes furnished running cool water from the mountainside. From the top the journey downward was also in a spiral route.

In South Dakota they travelled through the Black Hills which got their names from the growth of spruce and pine which gave them a black appearance. Two spots which interested them in this section were the reptile garden and the petrified forest.

The latter part of their journey was via Chicago, and crossing into Canada at Sarnia. Reaching Toronto, they took in the Exhibition before returning home. They slept in motels when necessary but most of the time they pitched their tent using sleeping bags and blankets.

BAMBI nibbles at ice cream offered by Mr. and Mrs. John Previs at their King William country home near Lanesville, Va. The ice cream habit is the result of 15 months' domesticity. Bambi was found abandoned in a honeysuckle patch when he was one day old. The Previs family protected him through the 1951 deer hunting season and gave him his freedom in January. Now the young buck prefers civilization and wanders unharmed about the county. He drops in at the post office for an occasional lump of sugar, sleeps in the woods and visits "home" each Sunday for dinner.

STILL LOVES BOYD—Mrs. Edwin Alonzo Boyd, wife of the escaped Toronto bank robber, said she has only one loyalty—to her husband. She said: "The reward for him now is several thousand dollars—I wouldn't give him up for a million. You know what it's like when you love a man."

Miss Emma L. Tully

The funeral for Miss Emma Louisa Tully, R.R. 2, Peterborough, who died Sunday, was held Tuesday from the Kaye funeral home.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were: Herbert, William and Wallace Darling; Harold, Harry and Max Archer. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Horrified Professor Sees Son Stab Father To Death

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A horrified woman college professor watched her son stab his father to death yesterday.

The son, a 27-year-old psychiatric patient, was found unconscious beside the knife-carved body of his father.

Police said a charge of murder had been filed against Frank Deupree Jr.

Frank Deupree, 58-year-old vocational agriculture instructor, was stabbed and hacked at least 25 times with a butcher knife.

Young Deupree's mother, Mrs. Irene Deupree, told police she found her husband and son fighting in a rooming house.

Mrs. Deupree, professor of home economics at Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex., said she and her husband had been in Galveston about a week visiting the son, an outpatient at a hospital.

Monday night, she said, doctors decided her son was so despondent that he should be re-admitted to the hospital.

After his readmission, the mother said, the son—not kept under close confinement—came to visit them. "He seemed perfectly normal," she said.

Polio Case In Millbrook

COBOURG — (ENS) —Eleven new cases of communicable disease were reported for the week ending September 6 to the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Infectious jaundice has been rather prevalent this summer and five new cases were reported last week. A case of polio, non paralytic, was diagnosed at Millbrook. Three delayed reports of infectious jaundice were listed at Port Hope.

Cobourg Investigation Sends 2 Back To Jail

COBOURG (ENS) —Investigation by Provincial Constable Bill Baluk of Cobourg into a housebreaking at Garden Hill last week led to the arrest in Montreal, Saturday, of John Currie and Douglas Black, escapees from jail in Quebec.

After they broke jail they stole a car in Perth and abandoned it at Port Hope. They worked for a while on a tobacco farm near Garden Hill and stole a car there after being scared away from an attempt to break into Frank Cauley's house at Garden Hill.

Police had a good description of them and they were picked up in the stolen car at Montreal. They were sentenced to four years in St. Vincent de Paul's Penitentiary.

Junior Farmers

COBOURG (ENS) —Fall and winter program of the Northumberland County Junior Farmers was discussed at a meeting held at the office of the county agricultural representative, Ralph Banbury. It was felt that greater attention should be placed on the county events and more constructive speakers secured for the various meetings. Plans were laid for the exhibits at Port Hope Fair to be held on September 27.

TO THOSE WHO WANT TO GET AHEAD: A Statement by CANADA'S FIRST BANK...

It's good to go into debt ...TO YOURSELF

It's the streamlined way to make financial progress. Some of our most successful customers use this system.

It means putting yourself on your own pay-roll ... making up your mind that you yourself have a claim on your income just as much as the landlord, the butcher and the tax-collector.

You'll do this, of course, because you have a definite objective — a strong reason for saving. It may be a general goal like family security ... or it may be something specific like a new refrigerator, a house, or even a place in the country.

You can go into debt to yourself in two ways — by saving and by borrowing.

Saving comes first, of course ... so much a pay-day owing to yourself.

A bank balance gives you personal confidence as few other things can. It gives you a good foundation for your financial plans ... and it makes it easier for your B of M manager to lend you money when you want to realize an objective sooner than you otherwise could.

When you have a sound financial program, but need money for some useful purpose, borrowing at the B of M is just as sound as systematic saving. Indeed, it is another form of saving. It is the B of M's business to lend you money, when it's good business for you to borrow.

A B of M Personal Loan simply enables you to enjoy sooner the things you plan for, and you pay it off in regular instalments just as you have built up your savings balance.

Why not make up your mind to get what you want this streamlined way — and open your special-purpose savings account at "MY BANK" tomorrow. And while you're in the Bank, have a chat with the Manager or Accountant. You will find them ready and interested to discuss your plans and problems.

Whose Fault?

Four of Canada's most desperate thugs have escaped from the Don Jail. The fact that three of them had escaped from the same institution only ten months ago leads us to suspect that all is not well there. The public is indignant and bewildered. The blame for the incident is being bandied about by public officials and private citizens alike. Naturally an escape of this sort is a difficult and hazardous undertaking, even with accomplices within and without, and the first reactions of the community must be to fasten the responsibility somewhere.

* * *

Let us not be too hasty in coming to conclusions. Men have escaped from prison before, and they will doubtless continue to do so in the future. The amazing escapes of prisoners-of-war rank amongst the annals of "escapology," and incidents such as those portrayed in the film The Wooden Horse make the difficulties of the Boyd gang childish by comparison. The public will demand a full enquiry into the causes of this most recent incident at the earliest opportunity; until then we can only make a series of guesses. We should avoid prematurely fixing the blame on any one particular circumstance.

* * *

We feel that too much stress is being laid in some quarters on the alleged inadequacies of the Don jail. It is admittedly old, though that in itself is insufficient reason. Princetown jail, on Dartmoor, England, was built originally to house American prisoners-of-war in the War of Independence; it is still used as a prison, and few indeed have escaped from its walls. A more cogent reason against the Don jail is its situation in a densely populated area. Dartmoor, on the other hand, has the advantage of being surrounded by miles of desolate moorland, with treacherous swamps.

* * *

But the greatest responsibility must inevitably lie on the human element—the warders and prison staff. It has always been practically impossible to attract sufficient men of the right type to prison work. The pay and social prestige are low, and there are many more attractive and remunerative jobs to be had by men of more than average character and ability. A bribe of $5,000 is a very serious temptation to these men. It is easy to exercise the greatest care in selecting men from a large number of applicants, but when there is less competition standards must inevitably be lowered. We suggest that the whole question of salaries of prison officials and the recruitment of new personnel should be reviewed. We do not suggest that prison officials are riddled with venality; the great majority of them are honest and competent; but one or two corrupt officials are sufficient to undo the good work of the rest. Those unreliable elements must be rooted out even if a temporary shortage of staff results.

* * *

In conclusion the police deserve every sympathy for their wasted efforts in capturing these criminals at the cost of the life of one of their number. These men are dangerous, and their recapture will not be easy. When they are recaptured, as we trust they will be, it is up to the jail officials to take effective measures to prevent any further escapes of these criminals, exposing the police to risks that could have been avoided.

The Language Of Prayer

We have received a sheet containing 36 prayers written by 36 clergymen in the U.S.A., with an invitation that we use them during the six weeks to come; as we have other arrangements for the religious content of our daily edition, we shall not do so. But we have read the prayers with interest, and have found most of them sincerely and well expressed. We do not like the style of the gentleman who seeks to catch the ear of God with a panegyric on the beauties of his native California; nor do we like the prayer which addresses God as "my senior partner," and asks Him to prevent the petitioner from being "an obstacle man." But this latter prayer stands out because it is the only one in which a form of petition which has become traditional has been set aside. The others all bristle with the "thees" and "thous" which have not been heard in common speech since the eighteenth century; they employ the vocative case which is now rare in spoken English. Of the thirty-six, at least twenty-eight might have been taken from a book of devotions written two hundred years ago.

We have no intention of finding fault with this. Indeed, we like it. But does such language not fall strangely upon ears which are less attuned to the style of an earlier day? Can the language of the twentieth century be used in prayer without incongruity, and without appearing to diminish the glory of God? It is still usual to hear God and the Kingdom of Heaven spoken of in terms which strongly suggest the medieval kingdoms which were the common forms of government in the great age of faith; but what does "King of Kings and Lord of Lords" mean in a country which has no kings and no lords, and is inclined to look down upon countries which have? In short, does the archaic language associated with religion remove religion from everyday life for thousands of people who find that language strange?

The language of modern life appears ill-suited to the purposes of religion unless the concepts of religion also change. To speak of God as a king, and us as his subjects, is strange talk to the millions of the U.S.A., but God can hardly be addressed as "the democratically appointed President of us all"; there is no democracy in the hierarchy of Heaven, and its rulers are not voted in and out of power. The concept of Heaven is more deeply rooted in the concept of monarchy than we realize.

Similarly, some of the agricultural similitudes used in the Bible are unfamiliar to the ears of urban workers, and even to modern farmers. Even the word "shepherd" seems to be falling out of use; we read recently in an American paper that a group of "sheep-herders" had been brought in from the Basque region to work in Texas.

We have no solution to these problems, but we think the time is not far off when the churches will have to find some solution or compromise between a democratic world and a religion much of which is expressed in monarchical and aristocratic terms.

For Our Own Good, No Doubt

A dispatch from Toronto informed us last week that the provincial liquor commissioners have decided to continue the wartime practice of watering proof spirits by at least thirty per cent., for another year. No explanation is offered as to why this should be so, and we therefore suggest that it is done (a) because it is a way of making more money for the provincial governments, and (b) because they are in a position to get away with it.

Perhaps the liquor commissioners would say that what they are doing is for our own good, and to that we would reply that we do not support a liquor commission to do us good, but to administer a government monopoly, and to do it honestly. Watering liquor is just as dishonest as if a government sugar monopoly were to put sand in the sugar. They have not reduced the price of what they sell, and they have lowered its quality.

The Ottawa Journal recently published some prices taken from a list used by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario in 1938. At that time brands of rye whisky which now sell for $4.30 were selling for $2.50. Scotch whiskies, which are rarely less than $5 now sold then at prices between $2.70 and $3.25. Gin, which used to be around $2 a bottle is now $3.55. These increases are almost entirely increases in tax, not increases in cost of the goods, and the extra money goes not to what some people call "the liquor interests" but to the Government of Ontario. All prices have risen since 1938, but why reduce quality, as well?

This is dishonest, and the government could not get away with it if there were not a great deal of crooked thinking on moral matters in this country. Gambling, which is wicked when pursued for private gain, is winked at when it is for charity. Cheating, which would be execrated if it went on in the tea trade, is condoned in the liquor trade, because a vast amount of guilt has been associated with the liquor trade, and the government cynically takes advantage of that condition. If the people could be convinced that there was something shady about electric power, the Ontario Hydro could double its prices in a year, and quadruple them in five years, without a murmur.

It is this same crooked-mindedness which affects liquor advertising, imposing upon it the strange forms which it sometimes takes. Either it is legitimate or it is not: a crooked-minded law is bound to produce crooked-minded results.

The Ontario government ought to make its mind up about the liquor trade. If it is wrong, it is wrong for the government to be engaged in it. If it is legitimate, it should be run honestly, like any other trade.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A township official at Fort William has been fined for biting the ear off a taxpayer. And rightly so! When an official wants to feed off a taxpayer, let him do it in the time-honoured way.

In Australia an Australian Governor-General is to be succeeded by Field Marshal Sir William Slim, a distinguished Englishman. Which suggests that the appointment of a native son is one way, but not the only way, to get a good Queen's representative.

THE AMERICAN SCENE:

Bishop Homer For President

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

AS THE American Presidential Election campaign increases in speed, volume and ferocity, the veneer of disinterested statesmanship that covered the attitude of the candidates during the first month or so is becoming badly cracked. General Dwight D. Eisenhower is now making scathing denunciations of the incompetence and corruption of the Democratic Administration in Washington. President Harry Truman, campaigning on behalf of Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, has accused the Republicans of resorting to "gutter politics". All over the country the words "liar", "thief", "rascal" are being taken down from the shelf dusted off. The game is getting rough. It is therefore most refreshing to welcome a new Presidential candidate to the scene, whose political programme is nothing less than "Peace on Earth". This week Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, of New York, came to Washington and announced his candidacy from the pavement outside the White House. The Bishop, who is the presiding head of the sect called, simply, The Church of God, appeared accompanied by his wife, and brandishing a five-foot, home-made broadsword and a seven-foot spear.

"I believe", he said, to the straggling crowd of sightseers and reporters who gathered round him, "the President Truman has done his best for peace, and that Eisenhower and Stevenson would do their best—but it is not enough."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BISHOP is no believer in such timid, lazy politics as rearmament and containment. The way to get peace, he explained, is to organize a wholesale migration of two hundred million people from the crowded countries of Europe to America and Africa. Of these the United States would take sixty million. But the Bishop, born in the South, is no great admirer of negroes; so the thirty million coloured people in the Western Hemisphere would be shipped off to found a new country in Africa.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN ASKED what he thought about his chances of being elected, Bishop Tomlinson said he thought that Eisenhower and Stevenson would destroy each other like Kilkenny cats, leaving the eighty-eight million Christians in the United States with no alternative but to vote for him. With that the bishop hopped into his car and departed for a tour of the South, during which he will beat his sword into a ploughshare.

There will probably be quite a few such candidates in the lunatic fringe of the election race, and they serve a most useful purpose in keeping the public from getting deafened by the thunder of the two main contestants.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NEW a subtle weapon for testing the relative popularity of Eisenhower and Stevenson has appeared. A tobacco company has put out a line of cigarettes which says—both on the packet and on the weed itself—either, "I like Ike", or, "Stevenson for President". Two Washington tobacconists report that Ike cigarettes are outselling Stevenson cigarettes by about three to one. Perhaps this means that Eisenhower is going to win: perhaps it means that Eisenhower supporters are heavier smokers.

✧ ✧ ✧

A SMALL incident has given enormous pleasure to the State Department. A few days ago a young British Member of Parliament, Mr. Fred Mulley (Labour, Sheffield) who is in the United States at the invitation of one of the universities, called upon a senior American diplomat in Washingto. The official politely asked where the Englishman had come from; and on being told, Boston, he enquired whether Mr. Mulley had come by train or plane. "Neither", came the reply, "I hitched a ride on the back of a lorry." To the State Department, perpetually harried by the demands of American Senators and Congressmen who demand nothing less than a special train or aeroplane when they go abroad, this incident is a nice illustration of the democratic habits of British legislators.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE STATE Department has itself given considerable pleasure to all sensible people this week by adopting a more liberal policy in regard to passports. Official policy is to refuse an American passport to anybody who is a Communist, or who is considered still to have Communist affiliations. Until this week the passport division has had absolute power to refuse a passport without giving its reasons, and in several cases has certainly exercised that power arbitrarily and on very flimsy evidence. From now on, anyone who is refused a passport can first present his case with the aid of legal advice, and can thus force the passport authorities to disclose the evidence they have against him. If that fails, he can now take it to a board of passport appeals. Thus some of the gross injustices to people's reputations, which have done such harm to the good name of the United States, will be avoided.

✧ ✧ ✧

YOU THINK that the attention of Americans is engaged at this moment only by the Presidential election; but you are wrong. There is an annual election in which the candidates are very much more interesting that either General Eisenhower or Governor Adlai Stevenson. This is the election of "Miss Rheingold". Few products are more competitive than beer, and for the past decade or so Rheingold Extra Dry has outsold all its competitors in New York by running a beauty competition in which its consumers elect from a selection of the pretties young models a Miss Rheingold, who figures in the company's advertising for the following year.

The winner gets five thousand dollars in cash and a great deal in modelling fees. More than that, for her brief reign she becomes one of the best known faces in America and part of the American scene. The queenly Jinx Falkenburg, whose photograph gladdened thousands of barrack rooms throughout the war, and who now runs a highly successful newspaper column (and is even something of a power in Republican politics) started her career as Miss Rheingold 1939. So I am now sucking my pencil and trying to decide between Miss Tippi Hedren, Miss Mary Austin and Miss Joan Tebbe. Last year twelve and a half million people cast a vote, which means, since the figure is far larger than the total male population of Greater and Outer New York, that women as well as men enjoy this annual contest for the reigning Helen of Troy.

THE U.S. PRESIDENTIAL HANDICAP

Letter To The Editor

FORESEES RUIN, SUSPECTS MOTIVES

Sir—In regard to the current report many ratepayers of that unfortunate area of Smith township that the City of Peterborough proposes to victimize, I will say that report like many others is absolutely false.

For reference to the charge that Smith Council are anxious to dispose of this area, will say as near as we have been able to ascertain that worthy body claim they will be unable to solve, which being interpreted might mean they wish to shirk responsibility. The world is full of people like that, who even when weighed on their own scales are always found wanting.

Speaking of the City Council and the various spending bodies connected therewith, it would appear that an idea of a greater Peterborough has taken possession of their mind — for they are all of one mind. That brilliant idea well nourished by a most fertile imagination has grown spontaneously until it has apparently developed into a malignant case of "swelled head." This council is confronted with a tax rate of at least 66 mills—11 mills more than last year. This is the tentative levy for 1952 according to the arithmetic of Chairman Ald. F. D. Millar. Few councils in this province would have the temerity to jump a tax rate 11 mills in one year; but the end is not yet, for with their numerous commitments it is inevitable that the tax rate should be less than 70 mills for 1953. When they commence developing this new area of 1,000 acres, taxation will be ruinous. Unable to develop what is inside the city (I am told some areas are ill-served, others not served at all and some that show delapidation) they aim a colossal development outside. They already have 600 acres of unoccupied land inside the city and wish to grab 1,000 acres more outside. Speaking of development would any industry locate in a city with a 70 mill tax rate? Would any sensible person knowingly walk into a hornet's nest of that kind? The finances of this city might easily be in a precarious condition? They have nothing to offer us but debt and ruinous taxation. Does anyone wonder why we object to annexation. They have told us our assessments will be advanced but very little. If they are sincere then they should not object to giving us a fixed assessment for a number of years. If not sincere then cease trying to deceive. Incidentally, speaking of deceiving, what has become of that $250,000.00 subscribed for a memorial? We have a lingering suspicion that that amount was appropriated to the city's own use?

The most serious part of this whole affair is that this elaborate planning, colossal debt and ruinous taxation is confronted apparently by the steady relentless approach of the worst depression that ever struck this world. The terrible signs of its approach should be apparent to the most careless observer. Interest rates have climbed from 4½ to 6½ per cent — some are willing to pay 7 and others 10 per cent to obtain a loan. Money is tight and it is difficult to obtain a loan. If any one doubts this, just try to obtain a loan from any bank. Unemployment increases and there is a worried look on many faces owing to the constant grind for the demand for money from many sources.

JOHN SERVIUS,
Secretary, Ratepayers' Association of proposed victimized Area.

Noted Scottish Song

(Brandon Sun)

Once upon a time Edinburgh was noted for the street cries of women selling herrings through the streets. They were noted for their haggling for price, demanding about three times as much as they would finally take. One of the fisherwomen closed her argument with "Lord bless ye, mem; it's no fish ye're buying it's the lives o' honest men." This story was the basis of that fine old song, "Caller Herring'." Neill Gow, composer, was listening to the bells of St. Andrew's church in Auld Reekie and at the same time hearing the raucous cries of the fisherwomen. He put two and two together and from that came the song. Baroness Nairne wrote the words and Gow's music is highly descriptive of the blended sounds. The clever plea of the Scotswomen in the song thus:

Wha'll buy my caller herrin',
The're no brought here without brave darin';
Buy my caller herrin',
Ye little ken their worth.
What'll buy may caller herrin',
O you may ca' them vulgar farin';
Wives and mithers, maist desparin',
Ca' them lives o' men."

NOT DANGEROUS

"Well," said the insurance agent to the newly-wed Angus, "now that you're married I'm sure you'll want to insure your life."

"Awa' wi' ye," said Angus. "She's no' that dangerous."

SEPTEMBER 10

1922 M. H. Park, new principal of Queen Alexandra School, is welcomed by the Home and School Association.

The death occurs here of Andrew Webb, well-known local resident and curler.

The fuel committee of the city council has decided to order 400 tons of anthracite coal.

1932 The Young Judea Club makes a presentation to Louis Chesler, who leaves to study law at the University of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Archibald return from a four-months trip to their former home in Scotland.

A new memorial font has been dedicated in Knox United Church.

1942 Norman Bowler, who served overseas, gets his commission at the Brockville Officers' Training Centre.

Norma Elcombe wins a scholarship at Victoria College, U. of T., for general proficiency.

Citizens are asked to conserve power, which may be rationed soon by the Ontario Hydro.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord openeth the eyes of the blind: the Lord raiseth them that are bowed down: the Lord loveth the righteous. (Ps. 146:8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold my servant, whom I uphold; mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my spirit upon him: he shall bring forth judgement to the Gentiles . . . I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; to open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house. (Isa. 42:1, 6, 7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15:29-31.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"I've had a worrying time with the insurance people. They ask such awkward questions. They even wanted to know the state of my mind!"

"How absurd! I suppose you left that blank."

✧ ✧ ✧

An Indian in New Mexico was smoke-signalling angry messages to a rival chief several miles away. Suddenly an atom bomb test went off, covering the sky with smoke for miles. "Gee," said the Indian, "I wish I'd said that."

Macpherson was in love, and after a walk one evening he invited his girl to have a drink, feeling sure she would ask for nothing more expensive than lemonade. "Well, Jeannie, dear," he said. "and what'll I order for ye?"

"Why, thank you," she replied. "I'll have a large port."

"A large port!" gasped Macpherson. "Gosh, woman, come on oot and I'll buy ye a picture post card of Liverpool!"

Stage Now Set For Drama In Divorce Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—The stage is set, the rehearsals are over, the stars are cued and today the curtain rises on Broadway Billy Rose's biggest production yet—his divorce suit with Eleanor Holm.

A big chunk of alimony is at stake—reported to be as much as $500,000—and many a show has gone for less.

In the words of the vest-pocket-sized Billy:

"If it's drama they want, I'm prepared to give it to them!"

Billy is well cued to carry out his boast. He claims evidence that Eleanor, a fading but still-glamorous 38, committed adultery with at least five men.

He also holds an affidavit that purports to describe wild, all-female parties involving Eleanor, Mrs. Dorothy Bernie and others. Mrs. Bernie—widow of radio's "Old Maestro," Ben Bernie—has filed a criminal libel suit against Rose in California in denying the allegations.

EQUAL BILLING

Eleanor has all but guaranteed the 53-year-old Billy equal billing for misbehavior. She has named as correspondent beauteous, blonde Joyce Matthews, who used to be television-star Milton Berle's wife.

It was Joyce who first set the stage for the battle of the Roses, Broadway's juiciest scandal in years.

She slashed her wrists in a suicide attempt July 15, 1951, in Rose Ziegfeld Theatre apartment. Her wounds weren't serious but the publicity was. Two months later Billy and Eleanor separated.

Billy claims to have offered a generous out-of-court settlement. Eleanor said he's a tightwad and always has been, although he's believed to be worth millions.

Then Rose complicated matters by questioning the legality of Eleanor's previous divorce from band leader Arthur Jarrett.

This is the first point to be decided in court. If the Jarrett-Holm divorce wasn't legal, then Billy and Eleanor never were legally married and he is free and not responsible financially to her.

Finds Head Hunters Friendly Briton Says

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters)—Sebastian Snow, 23-year-old adventurer who claims to have discovered the source of the Amazon, reported yesterday that he found South America's dreaded head-hunters "quite friendly when they were not drunk."

He told reporters on returning from a 10-month raft trip down the big river that he doesn't believe the stories about bloodthirsty Amazon natives.

"I never had any difficulty with them," he said.

"When they were drunk on chicha, a drink they make themselves, they were not quite so friendly."

Snow travelled 3,500 miles down the Amazon to its mouth.

Coldsprings Couple Serenaded By Friends

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)—About 50 friends gathered on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Artless Taylor to serenade their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor (nee Myra Cowper) who were recently married.

The evening was spent dancing to music supplied by Mary and Cecil Jibb, Harold Minifie and Gordon Buttars.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are residing in Port Hope, where the bride is a teacher on the public school staff.

Australian Court Considers Wage Cut Application

By GRAEME BROOKS

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Against a background of depression talk, the Australian federal court, for the second time in 20 years, is considering employers' applications for a cut in the Australian basic wage.

The court has also before it union applications for an increase in the basic wage.

The basic wage now is 11 pounds, seven shillings Australian ($25.40).

Australia's first basic wage as such was fixed by the federal arbitration court in 1907. It was about $2.60 a week and was considered adequate for a family of five.

CUT DURING 30s

In 1922, the court approved the principle of "loadings" or lump additions to the base rate and quarterly cost-of-living payments.

With the depression of the 30s the court approved a 10-per-cent cut, but in 1934 fixed a new schedule which brought the over-all average to $7.27.

UP TO $8.37 IN 1937

In 1937, the combined unions received a loading averaging 55 cents, which brought the base wage up to $8.37.

Hearings on union pleas for a further loading were put off in 1940 by the war, but in 1946 the court granted an interim raise of 77 cents and in 1950 the average base rate rose to $18.14. The 1950 increase added $246,400,000 to the national payroll.

The cost-vs-wages battle entered another round as adjustment after adjustment sent wages up and by August of this year the average base wage was $25.40.

Wage rates actually paid in the Commonwealth vary from state capital and town to town, but few if any workers earn less than several pounds (an Australian pound equals $2.24) above the basic wage, since the labor supply only now is beginning to catch up with demand.

EVEN POLITICIANS

Also, the quarterly cost-of-living adjustments are added to all pay envelopes—in Victoria State even to those of politicians.

Base rates for women now are generally 75 per cent of the rates for men and in their application before the court, the employers ask that women get only 60 per cent of the male rate and that the 44-hour work week be reinstituted.

Boys Tour Jet Base

TORONTO (CP)—Two 12-year-old students at a suburban school told yesterday how they penetrated military security to spend two hours at the R.C.A.F. jet base at nearby Downsview Sunday. Guards caught the pair in late afternoon and gave them a stern lecture. They caused minor damage to the tail surface of one plane by working the cockpit controls.

Wants Canada-U.S. Work Together On Civil Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—A New York state civil defence official said yesterday Canada and the United States must study their joint problem of civil defence organization "as though no boundary line existed."

Alden E. Bevier, director of civil defence welfare services for New York state, told the opening session of a national C. D. welfare conference that joint planning between the two countries was not "just another international gesture." He added:

"When we say that we need you and that we think you will need us, we are in dead earnest. The test exercise in Niagara Falls, N. Y., last month made our mutual dependence very clear.

"Thousands of people would have suffered and died had it not been possible for New Yorkers to cross into Ontario and for Canadian aid to come across into New York."

Mr. Bevier said all C.D. planning is directed toward the possibility that atom bombs will be dropped on the principal cities, and all at once.

Health Minister Martin, who administers federal C. D. planning, opened the conference of more than 50 delegates from federal, provincial and municipal governments.

He said civil defence has become an "inescapable duty" for every Canadian. He reviewed Canada's steps to date—provision for a warning system, fire fighting, training instructors, stockpiling medicines and the like—and said welfare was an important part of the total plan. It might appear that welfare planning had lagged but actually it has been going ahead quietly but steadily.

Second Trial For Wife's Murder

WELLAND (CP)—Chris Kovich went on trial yesterday on a charge of murder for the second time this year. Accused of the revolver slaying of his wife, Violet, at Niagara Falls last Dec. 14, he was freed at his first trial in January when the jury disagreed.

Evidence yesterday was that when Dr. James C. Davidson arrived at the Kovich home he found Kovich lying unconscious across the body of his wife. He had bullet wounds in the chest. Mrs. Kovich died a few minutes after his arrival.

Suspended Sentence On Besetting

KITCHENER (CP) — Vincent Charbonneau of nearby Bridgeport, charged with besetting in connection with picketing at the strike-bound Sunshine Waterloo Co., Ltd., plant here, Friday was given two months' suspended sentence. He was ordered to pay court costs.

The charge against Charbonneau was laid after the general manager's car was allegedly prevented from leaving the premises of the plant Aug. 11.

Forty-nine other workers also are to appear in court on charges of besetting and 14 on charges of common assault.

Any Nickel in our house?

"Sure, son! There's nickel all through the house. The heating elements in our toaster, iron, range and percolator are made of nickel-chromium wire. Our knives and forks are made of silver-plated nickel silver. There's nickel in the electric clock and thermostat. There's a lot of nickel in our car too."

"That must take a lot of nickel!"

"It does! International Nickel alone produces over 250 million pounds a year. Last year Inco spent 23 million dollars so that they could produce more nickel. It's a good thing we don't have to buy nickel from other countries—because right now a lot of it is needed for equipment for our defense."

Hepburn Three Captures Local Tourney

With rinks entered from Kingston, Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope and Lindsay, the Peterborough Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club held their last open tournament of the 1952 season Tuesday. The day was ideal.

All rinks played the usual three 15-end games and the three-game winners were: Mrs. Hepburn, Peterborough; Mrs. MacTaggart, Port Hope and Mrs. Bearne, Peterborough. It was just another one of the many events that have helped to make the ladies' season a success.

The games were concluded around 6:00 p.m. and after the prizes had been distributed, the ladies wound up the tournaments for this year.

The committee would like more entries for the Review Trophy competition. Play commences Thursday evening.

WINNERS

Peterborough: Mrs. J. Cullen, Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. W. Hepburn, skip —first.

Port Hope: Mrs. Highfield, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. MacTaggart, skip — second.

Peterborough: Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Bearne, skip—third.

Peterborough: Mrs. Aitkenhead, Mrs. Bartley, Mrs. Arnold, skip—fourth.

Cobourg—Mrs. Pratt Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Erskine, skip—fifth.

Belleville: Mrs. Thompson's rink.

Busy Schedule Concluded For Cricketers

By C. H. IRESON

The Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club has finished a lengthy and busy season, generally a successful one, though there were some disappointments. They had opponents in three different classes, the county championship for the R. C. Matthews Trophy, the more important Toronto and District Council matches, and friendly exhibition contests.

The club played 17 matches, winning seven, losing seven and tying three. The team lost in the one county match played. The club won six, lost five and drew one in the schedule. Wins were over Grace Church B, St. Edmund's B (2), Parkdale B (2) and North Toronto. They lost to Avro A (2), Avro B, North Toronto, Grace Church B, and drew with Avro B. In friendly matches, they won over Grace Church, lost to Port Hope and drew twice with Lakefield Grove. Exhibition games were not included in the averages.

SOME AVERAGES

Only batsmen with an average of 10 or over and bowlers who have taken 10 or more wickets are listed. Batting: F. Booth with an average of 50.6 in nine completed innnings; B. Roberts, 22.4 in eight; W. Freeman, 10.25 in five; E. Cotton, 10.00 in five; W. Wright 10.00 in five. Bowling: F. Booth 74 overs, 204 runs, 27 wickets for a 7.55 average; R. Smith 20, 80, 10 for 3.00; F. Dyer 63, 179, 22 for 8.13; G. Boardman 47, 123, 14 for 9.14. In batting H. Ward, 9.6 for eight innings, and T. Scott 8.1 in nine, closely followed the leaders.

The club provided matches for some 25 players and increased interest in the game locally. Frank Booth had a fine season with a batting average believed to be a record in the century-old cricket sport in Peterborough, and he also led in bowling.

F. Dyer also had a real good season. Frank joined the club in 1924, was elected captain in 1927 and then in 1931 began a term of office as captain which lasted 14 consecutive seasons. The veteran was again captain in 1952, but resigned during the season due to uncertain health, though he continued to play at times. The 60-year-old player has performed great service for the local club and has taken over 1,000 wickets during 29 years as a player.

ROUGHRIDERS WIN — Eyes shut tightly and straight-arm out, Calgary Stampeder Davey West is about to be pulled down by Saskatchewan Roughrider tacklers. Mel Whitehouse is piling on while Roughrider Phillips (41) comes in fast from the right. The Roughriders, sparked by the unerring arm of the great Glenn Dobbs, and helped by two fumbled pitchouts by the Stampeders, won 18-8 in the Western Interprovincial Football Union game at Calgary.

Ghosts' Raiding To Be Protested

COBOURG.—A protest by Oshawa Red Raiders over the loss of two players to Cobourg Galloping Ghosts will be heard in Toronto tonight by an O.R.F.U. intermediate committee under Bill Prentice.

Mel Taylor and Cec Armstrong who played on the championship Oshawa team last season, have joined the Cobourg team. This was permitted by the issuance of new O.R.F.U. certificates. There was a short period between the time the old certificates became null and void and the new ones became effective.

Oshawa representatives will base their protest on a "gentlemen's agreement" reportedly entered into by all members of the league. The teams allegedly agreed not to approach other teams' players during the between-certificates period, but nothing was put in writing.

Cobourg and Oshawa have met once so far this season. With Taylor and Armstrong on the bench for fear of protest, Cobourg won, 21-0.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Talking to Jack Lebarr the other day, and the former classy O.H.A. goalie remarked: "There are few if any all round athletes any more." Which is quite true. There are players who star at two or three sports, but how many today are outstanding in five or six different games? Not so many years ago, we could name several in Peterborough right off-hand. Fellows like Ira Dundas, Red Creighton, Mick Magee, Don Crowe and some others. They could play on our top intermediate or senior clubs in hockey, lacrosse, baseball, softball, rugby and basketball. And some of 'em also found time to box, wrestle or race. Uusually starring in every line.

* * * * * *

These are just a few names—there were quite a few more, and a whole lot who were outstanding at three or four sports. Not so today. Reason is that sports overlap and the season's play is longer. Schedules have been lengthened since artificial ice became the thing, and lights were introduced for ball, lacrosse and football. Some of our lacrossers, for instance, are puck aces as well, yet they hardly hang up their skates in the spring till it's time to pick up the gutted stick, and they're still on the prowl for the Mann Cup when it's time for hockey workouts again. What time have they for any other sports, or for that matter what strength have they left? No, the day of the all-around athlete appears to be over.

Monarchs Are They, Hah!

Kingston Monarchs finished runners-up to the Petes in the C.O.B.L. by knocking off Belleville Redmen, right in the Quinte city, to make loop finals. So, weather permitting, they'll be here tonight at 8:30 to open the big series under the Riverside arcs. A best-of-seven series, running nightly (except Sunday) till a winner is declared. They're here tonight, in Kingston Thursday, back here Friday and in the Limestone City on Saturday. A winner must be named by Sept. 18 for O.B.A. senior "A" playdowns. Let us hope the weather is reasonable for this crowded playoff schedule—and we hope it is warm enough to attract real crowds for such important frays.

* * * * * *

Playing-manager Joe Stewart said yesterday that he'd start Phil Clancy on the mound, since the youthful right-hander—who shared pitching honors this season with Bill Dadson—is off next day for the States and a military call. Can't say who will go for the K's, but the Scrutton-Levandoski squad has some real twirling talent. It promises to be a dogfight all the way. The Petes finished higher in the standing and should win it, but Kingston has long claimed the teams from there are a jinx to the Liftlock City comes playoffs. They maintain they have the Indian sign on local clubs since Knotty Lee's day. Jinx-minx and Indian sign-pigeon rind! Stuff and nonsense. The Monarchs will have to live up to their name and prove it this time.

Just One Puck Club Here?

According to the Oshawa scribe, Peterborough will have but one O.H.A. senior "B" club this winter. He says: "You don't have to be a mind-reader to see that the O.H.A. will not grant a new franchise down there, now that one team has been wiped out by suspension." It might be that the scribe has been sounding out his fellow townsman, Stew McTavish, new president of the O.H.A. As it stands now, all of the Eagles' players have been re-instated by the Ontario body, but club officials of the Eagles are still under suspension. Their next move is to pay Kingston $75 for expenses incurred, and then apply to the O.H.A. for re-instatement. Meantime, a group meeting is being held in Oshawa on Sunday and possibly a schedule will be drawn up then.

* * * * * *

George (Red) Sullivan and his classy Seabrooke softballers are awaiting their first O.A.S.A. senior "B" playdown series which opens next week with Oshawa. Seabrooke's captured the men's city title and the Taylor Trophy after a good series with U.E.W., holders of the Dormer Trophy for ending the schedule on top. Red may not be with the club too long now as Boston Bruins are preparing to open their puck training camp at Oshawa this weekend. The Seabrooke-Oshawa winner has a bye till Sept. 27 whilst Brantford, Hamilton, Kitchener, St. Catharines, Sarnia and Chatham are eliminating each other down to the semi-finals. Finals open Oct. 11.

Coach Not Too Optimistic About McGill Redmen's Chances

By BARRY WEST

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Vic Obeck isn't optimistic about the showing his senior McGill Redmen will make in the Intercollegiate Football Union this year.

"The prospects aren't good," Obeck said. "How could they be when we lost 16 members of last year's team? But don't count us out."

The 1952 version of the Redmen will be built around a nucleus of experienced veterans, mainly around quarterback Geoff Crain, who Obeck says is the best forward passer in the league.

LOTS OF SPEED

The McGill coach said his team is short on experience, but long on speed and youth.

"We'll use the wing-back and T-formation, but will toss in plenty of hipper-dipper patterns. You can't expect a group of young colts to fit into a series of slow-moving plays."

Only other members of last year's backfield are flying wing Harry Beiwald and halfback Len Shaw. Returning linemen are Wally Kowal Clyde Whitman, Garnet Bertrand, Jack McGill, Vince Capogreco, Jim Miller, Rod Foster, Don Kepron and Gerry O'Flanagan.

Fred Wilmot and Bob McAllister returned to studies this fall after a year's absence. Wilmot is a strong backfield player and a good pass catcher, while McAllister will lend strength to the outside wing department.

Obeck was critical of a league ruling which cancelled McGill's loan fund to athletes. The league ruled a loan fund of this type was illegal, unless administered by the university itself. McGill's was handled by the alumni and the university refused to take it over.

"I still believe this is the only honest way to help athletes, academically qualified but financially unable to attend university," he said.

HITS SHADY DEALS

He said he preferred this method to the "under-the-table deals still going on in other universities."

Cancellation of the loan fund cost McGill the services of Jim Mitchener, Cec Findlay, Hank Sliwka, Bill Pullar and Dave Tomlinson.

They told Obeck they were forced to find jobs or play professional football to continue studies. Mitchener and Findlay are with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four and Pullar is with Calgary Stampeders.

Despite the gaps in ranks, McGill will probably have the best starting team in the league. The great trouble is depth. Here Obeck will be forced to rely entirely on men up from McGill's intermediate team of last year and a few newcomers.

Best of the new crop to show in drills are Don Williams, a passing back, and Ken Wright, a quarter. Others expected to plug some of the holes are Cameron Kenny, a long-ball booter from Southshore Combines of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, and backfielders Bevans Giles, Allen Thompson, Alex Sulyok and Don Menard.

Obeck reports his team in fine condition for the opener against McMaster University Sept. 20. Light drills have been held twice daily for some time and the team got down to scrimmaging this week.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting: Solly Hemus and Red Schoendienst, Cardinals — Hemus batted in two runs with a bases-loaded double and Schoendienst followed with a two-run triple to feature a five-run, ninth inning that gave the Cardinals an uphill 7-4 triumph over the Phillies.

Pitching: Warren Hacker, Cubs—Pitched a seven hitter to vanquish the Dodgers 7-1 for Hacker's 13th victory and his second over the league-leading Brooks.

Dawe Fans 20 To Set New Record

COBOURG.—Sleep Dawe established a new record for strikeouts in the Cobourg and District Softball League here Monday night when he fanned 20 Port Hope Mathews players in the second game of the semi-final playoff round.

Dawe held Port Hope to just four hits and pitched the Cobourg Card Juniors to a 9-3 win which sent Mathews into the discard for this season. Juniors now meet C.G.E. in the best-in-five final which starts tomorrow night.

Dawe had fanned 17 last Wednesday night, 11 Saturday night and came back to set up the new record last night.

Great Czech Runner Promoted To Major

VIENNA (AP)—It now is Major Emil Zatopek.

The great Czech runner finally got his expected army promotion, Radio Prague reported last night. Zatopek, a triple winner in the recent Helsinki Olympic Games, was only a captain then.

In 1948, after Emil the Great set an Olympic record in winning the 10,000-metre run at London, he was promoted from a second grade lieutenant to first grade.

Zatopek won the 5,000, 10,000 and the marathon at Helsinki.

Sacred Heart Wins

Sacred Heart defeated Douro 18-7 last night at Brinton field in their Parish Softball League semi-final clash. Immaculate Conception and St. Peter's tangle tonight at the Bowl in a twin bill to begin their best-of-three semi-final series, according to Max Board.

The southenders Tuesday tallied three runs in the second inning, adding four next time up, one in the fourth, six more in the fifth and four to end it in the sixth. The losers counted a pair each in the first and fifth chukkers, with three scoring in the second. Teams:

Douro: R. Allen, B. Heffernan, F. Leahy, Woodhouse, J. Leahy, J. Heffernan, Loucks, Meagher, J. Allen.

Sacred Heart: O'Brien, Doris, Hayes, Fitzgerald, Farley, Doherty, Dobson, Clancy, Longo.

DUROCHER SUSPENDED

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of New York Giants yesterday was fined $100 and suspended for two days by National League President Warren Giles as the result of Monday's "bean ball" epidemic at the Polo Grounds. Pitcher Montia Kennedy was fined $50 and pitcher Larry Jansen $25 but Jansen's fine was "remitted" because of his good record.

ORIOLES RETAIN HEFFNER

BALTIMORE (AP)—Owner-president Jack Dunn of Baltimore Orioles said yesterday that Don Heffner will be back again next year as manager of the International League team. The Orioles finished sixth in the league race.

Yanks Hold One-Game Lead After Bowing 5-4 To St. Louis Browns

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The weary New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, stumbling along the rocky road to Pennantville, are finding their paths blocked by revenge-minded former teammates. The Yankees' lead over Cleveland was a skimpy one game today following last night's 5-4 loss to the Browns in St. Louis and the Indians' 6-1 triumph over Bobby Shantz and Philadelphia Athletics. Brooklyn's once seemingly-safe 10½-game bulge over New York dwindled to four as a result of yesterday's 7-1 loss to Chicago Cubs, several hours after the Giants had thrashed Pittsburgh Pirates 11-7.

Brooklyn's woes were further increased by the rapid climb of St. Louis' "longshot" Cardinals, who pushed back into the pennant picture with a 7-5 victory over Philadelphia Phillies that left them 6½ lengths off the pace.

TEAM UP

Two former Yankees—Dick Kryhoski and Clint Courtney—teamed up to bring victory to the Browns. Kryhoski, pinch hitting for winning pitcher Dick Littlefield, doubled off Ray Scarborough to open the last of the ninth, An intentional walk and an intentional pass, sandwiched around an out, loaded the bases.

Scarborough's third pitch to Courtney hit the catcher to force home Ray Coleman, running for Kryhoski, with the winning run. It was four-time loser Littlefield's first win of the season.

At Ebbets Field, former Dodgers Dee Fondy and Toby Atwell proved the big hatchetmen as knuckleballer Warren Hacker stifled the Brooklyn hitters with seven safeties. Fondy smashed a run-scoring triple and Atwell chipped in with a single that drove in one of the tallies in Chicago's big five-run, fourth-inning rally against loser Ray Moore and Joe Landrum.

20 FOR WYNN

Early Wynn reached his 20-victory goal for the second straight season as he pitched the Indians to their sixth straight triumph. It was Shantz' fourth straight loss in an attempt to gain his 23rd win. Al Rosen banged him for three hits to pace the Tribe.

A dozen Giant hits, including homers by Monte Irvin, Don Mueller and Alvin Dark, helped rookie Bill Connelly rack up his fifth straight success since joining the club in mid-August. Five Pittsburgh errors helped considerably, presenting the Giants with six unearned runs. Ralph Kiner hit his 32nd homer of the campaign for Pittsburgh.

Solly Hemus' bases-loaded single and Red Schoendienst's two-run double featured a five-run, ninth-inning uprising that gave the Cardinals their uphill triumph over the Phillies. Stan Musial got one hit—his 2,000th major league hit for St. Louis.

Chicago's White Sox advanced to third place in the American League, taking a pair of 3-2 decisions from Washington. Pitcher Saul Rogovin batted in the first two runs and scored the winning run on an 11th-inning single by Nellie Fox in the opener. Pinch hitter Sam Mele homered in the last of the ninth to give Harry Dorish the second-game win.

BOSOX SLIP

Successive homers by Cliff Mapes and Joe Ginsberg in the last half of the 11th gave Detroit a 4-3 victory over Boston. It dropped the Red Sox into fourth place.

Cincinnati and the Braves swapped shutouts in their twi-night twin bill in Boston. The Reds' Harry Perkowski bested Max Surkont, 2-0 after the Braves' Warren Spahn had taken a 1-0 hurling duel from rookie Joe Nuxhall.

CRICKET COSTLY

Canada imported $6,847 worth of cricket bats, balls, gloves and leg guards in 1950.

Royals Dominate All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The pennant-winning Montreal Royals, as expected, dominate the International League's 1952 All-Star team.

Five Royals made the team selected by the loop's baseball writers with second-baseman Junior Gilliam, voted the league's most valuable player, capturing the most votes, 32 of a possible 33.

Here's the team:

Toronto May Bid For Empire Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possibility of Toronto putting in a bid for the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games was reported here at a meeting of the British Empire Games Society.

Reports to Monday's meeting, attended by leading politicians, publishers and business men, showed Vancouver is rich in plans but poor in funds.

Bob Osborne and Fred Rowell of Vancouver, executive members of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, warned that unless more concrete preparation is accomplished by Christmas, Toronto may plished by Christmas, Toronto may make a strong bid to have the games switched from Vancouver.

"Toronto now has the huge Canadian National Exhibition stadium," said Rowell. "Eastern A.A.U. officials believe it is far better equipped to handle the games than Vancouver will be."

The Games society has budgetted for a $1,373,000 expenditure. The estimated revenue up till now is $556,000, made up of $200,000 from the city of Vancouver, $50,000 from concessions and programs, and $301,500 from admissions. The remaining $800,000 is still to be raised.

It had been reported that the federal government would be asked for $750,000 to $1,000,000. Some reports, however, say the federal government is considering only a $75,000 grant.

Genovese Winner For Blind Golfers

HAMILTON (CP)—Nick Genovese of Hamilton won the Canadian blind golfers championship yesterday, shooting a 113 over his home Dundas Valley course.

The long-hitting Hamilton player had a nine-stroke edge over defending champion Phil Lederhouse of Prince Albert, Sask., and Harold Mitchell of Hamilton Glendale who tied for second with 122.

Genovese, who has been known to tour the 18-hole course in the high 80s, had a slight touch of the jitters. But his putter was still hot enough to bring him down in front.

Royals Trample Maple Leafs In 7-3 Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals, pennant winners of the International League, and Rochester Red Wings were one game up on their opponents today in the semi-final playoffs of the best-of-seven Governor's Cup series.

The Royals scored four times in the first inning in their series opener against Toronto Maple Leafs before 10,638 fans at Montreal, and went on to win 7-3.

At Syracuse, a crowd of 4,819 watched the Red Wings and Chiefs battle to a 6-6 tie after seven innings before Rochester shoved three runs across in the top of the eighth for a 9-6 decision.

Tom Lasorda tossed one-hit ball for Montreal for six innings, and gave way to reliefer Jim Hughes in the ninth when Toronto made a mild threat. Hughes got pinch-hitter Charlie White to bounce into a game-ending double play after the Leafs had scored twice.

Johnny Hetki opened on the mound for Toronto, but four hits including Carmen Mauro's homer routed him as he retired only one batter in the first inning. Duke Markell replaced him, but was taken out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

BREAK TIE IN 8th

Charlie Kress smashed a bases-loaded infield hit at Syracuse to break the tie in the eighth. Then insurance markers across the plate.

Jack Crimian, last of three Rochester hurlers, got credit for the victory. Jack Griffore, who succeeded Bobo Holloman in the eighth, was charged with the loss.

The teams are scheduled to play their second games tonight at Montreal and Syracuse before moving to Johnny Bucha singled two more Toronto and Rochester for the next three. If the sixth and seventh games are needed, the teams return to Montreal and Syracuse.

Mal Mallette is expected to pitch for Montreal tonight, with Stubby Overmire on the hill for the Leafs. Jim Keegan is the Syracuse probable, with Jackie Collum going for Rochester.

Says Canada Not Using Up All Cancer Control Money

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin said yesterday it is a "bitter truth" that Canada is not using all the money available for the control of cancer.

Speaking at the opening of the Ontario Cancer Foundation's new clinic at the Ottawa Civic Hospital, he said there is no lack of money for "worthwhile programs to detect, treat and defeat cancer."

In the last four years, the federal government had set aside $14,000,000 to be used on a matching basis with provincial funds for cancer work. Canada had every reason to be proud of the efforts of her cancer experts.

"But I would be derelict in my duty," Mr. Martin added, "if I left the impression that we are satisfied with present progress. The bitter truth is that money is available for cancer-control work which is not being used.

"Of course, I realize that there are reasons for this, which are not based on lack of interest in this important problem."

The chief difficulty no longer was lack of technical knowledge, facilities or staff, but "the lack of proper co-ordination of available facilities to give the patient the best chance."

$100,000 Loss In Fire

HAMILTON (CP)—A spectacular fire swept a two-storey factory building last night. Unofficial estimates said the loss may amount to $100,000. Hundreds of persons climbed to the roofs of nearby buildings to watch the blaze on Jarvis Street which blanketed the central s tion of the city with a dense cloud of smoke.

GALE SPLITS TANKER—Split in half by hurricane-swept seas, the 5,500-ton tanker Foundation Star rolls helplessly in Atlantic waters east of Charleston, S.C., with one crewman reported still aboard. Air-sea rescue squads sped to the disaster scene to pick up the seamen who had abandoned the storm-crippled ship. Eighteen were immediately rescued; search goes on for the others.

Apple Industry Has Comeback In Nova Scotia

By KINGSLEY BROWN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nova Scotia's apple industry is staging a comeback after losing a costly battle to specialization.

During the "good years" when Britain wanted hard, cooking apples and overseas requirements were geared to the province's production, growers produced an average yearly crop of 1,800,000 barrels.

Then Britain's currency problems in post-war years cost Nova Scotia its traditional market. In many cases whole orchards were ripped up and the uphill battle started against the British Columbia and Ontario products, popular on the Canadian market.

Specialization had been carried to such an extent that it was often easier to buy a B. C. apple in Nova Scotia than one from the Annapolis Valley, where virtually all the province's fruit is produced.

REPLACE OLD VARIETIES

Growers were paid $4 a tree to clear their orchards of the old varieties. Gravensteins, Ben Davis, Baldwin and Golden Russet apples were waived for the McIntosh and Delicious.

Last year's crop — 500,000 barrels — was lowest in recent history. With the trees beginning to bear this year, a 10 per cent increase was forecast by agriculture officials.

The $3,000,000 worth of Canadian apples that Britain received in 1949—about half were an outright gift—slowed to a trickle last winter. No shipments are scheduled for overseas this year.

Meanwhile, growers have been searching for new markets. But this is not expected to be a problem this year. Nova Scotia alone will take some 100,000 barrels, Newfoundland will want about 40,000 barrels and New Brunswick and Quebec are good customers. Last year, markets even probed as far west as Winnipeg with satisfactory results.

Major problem this year is to secure some 600 pickers to harvest the apples.

Farm Equipment Sales Hit New Peak

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales of new farm implements and equipment in Canada hit an all-time peak in 1951 of $235,620,000—e i g h t per cent greater than the previous high of $218,187,000 in 1950, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Ontario's purchases totalled $58,736,885 compared to $51,922,436 in 1950.

Teachers Can't Agree On Any Single Salary Plan

TORONTO — The rift between teachers in public schools and those in secondary schools on the question of a single salary schedule was widened Tuesday when representatives of the two groups despaired of finding a solution to their differences.

Toronto teachers reported, after three meetings chaired by Director of Education Goldring, that they were unable to agree on a compromise. The issue was passed on to provincial parent bodies of the groups to see if any progress can be made at that level.

Although only Toronto teachers are involved in the dispute, since Toronto is the only centre in the province which has a single salary schedule, the issue is actually a provincial one.

The province-wide Secondary School Teachers' Federation is firmly opposed to the idea and earlier this year blacklisted the Hamilton board of education when it proposed the single schedule. The Hamilton board dropped the idea.

The two federations representing public school men teachers and public school women teachers in Ontario are just as much in favor of it as the secondary school teachers are opposed.

RIFT DAMAGING

The teachers were warned yesterday that the rift is damaging to their professional standing and they are not as strong as they would be with a united front.

The issue came to the fore last year when the Toronto board implemented the schedule, giving teachers with the same length of training the same salary, regardless of whether they taught in public or secondary school.

Previously, secondary teachers had always been on a separate and higher scale than those teachers in public school who also had a university degree.

The futile attempt to solve the deadlock was revealed at a meeting of the teacher-board committee.

"I am deeply disappointed," commented board chairman Herbert Orliffe. "It would be to their common advantage to get together but if they can't there's nothing we can do about it."

Trustee Harold Male said teachers still think of themselves as ill-used citizens and there was no doubt that not many years ago they were grossly underpaid.

"They talked about it all the time and it became part of their being," he said: "Now they forget that the conditions which caused their complaints have been largely modified."

He saw the resistance of the secondary school teachers as a move to get more money. He suggested, too, that some high school teachers resented public school teachers who got their university degree at summer school getting equal salaries.

SET OUT IDEAS

In separate briefs, each side set out its views. The men and women public school teachers said their federations, which favor the single schedule, represent 18,000 teachers while the secondary school federation represents 9,000.

They argued that qualified teachers, without financial penalty may find the level at which they can give best service anywhere between kindergarten and Grade 13 under the single salary scale. It recognizes the fact that the teaching of young children is just as valuable to the community as the teaching of older children.

They noted too that it provides incentive to improve qualifications, since a teacher who wins his B.A. will be recompensed for it, either in public or in secondary school. Trustee Mrs. Mary Temple added that it was the long range hope of the board that the schedule would result in all teachers havving their B.A. degree.

FEAR MINORITY

The secondary school teachers, on the other hand, argued that salary negotiations would be conducted by teachers representing both groups and the secondary teachers would always be a minority on such a committee. They said determination of salary policy is the prerogative of each individual federation.

"So long as one teaching group is firmly opposed to the principle of single salary schedule," they said, "the arbitrary imposition of a single salary scale tends to promote serious discontent and dissension rather than unity, and lessens the chances of effective co-operation among the teaching groups."

The problem will be the major topic at the Toronto secondary teachers' anual meeting on Sept. 23. Teachers will be asked then to indicate to what extent they are willing to press for scrapping of the present system and re-establishment of the double schedule.

Doctor Made Fortune Out Of Indian Rajahs

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Henry Bottrell, who made a fortune treating Indian Rajahs during an outbreak of the black plague in Calcutta in 1878, celebrated his 100th birthday yesterday by treating his patients "as usual."

"I eat and drink what I like and do what I like," he said in an interview. "All this talk about dieting is piffle. A sound constitution is what makes for long life and that is something you have to be born with."

His treatment is free, though he does not work under Britain's national health plan. He inherited enough money "to give my life to medical research without the need for patients, but what use is a doctor without someone to doctor?"

Obituary

HUGH EARNEST SHANNON

MARMORA (ENS).—After an illness of two years Hugh Earnest Shannon died at his home on Forsythe Street at 9 a.m. on Tuesday.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Shannon, Mr. Shannon had lived at Marmora and Deloro throughout his life. He was in his 65th year.

For 40 years he was an employee in the laboratory of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited, and was a charter member of the Deloro Quarter Century Club. He resigned his position there two years ago owing to ill health.

He was an ardent fan in all lines of sport and never missed a game of his home team when health permitted. He was a member of Sacred Heart Church and the Holy Name Society.

He is survived by his wife, the former Dora Driscoll of Iroquois, Ont.; one son John, of Croydon, England, and two daughters, Mrs. William Monk (Margaret), Toronto; Mrs. Brock Cooper (Teresa) Ajax. One son Charles predeceased him eleven years ago. He is also survived by three sisters: Mrs. A. A. McGibbon (Josie), Montreal; Mrs. J. A. MacPherson (Rose), San Antonio, Texas; Miss Genevieve Shannon, Marmora.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning leaving his late residence at 9.30 a.m. for Sacred Heart Church, where requiem mass will be celebrated by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill. Burial will follow in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Useful Waste

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A plant producing liquid fertilizer from fish waste has started operations here. The fertilizer has been tested on northern B.C. farms and one farmer who sprayed his field early this spring produced a five-pound head of lettuce.

When days are hot and sticky, there's nothing like a quick cooling dip in one of the many swimming pools in and around the city. Take a minute and cool off... and you'll be ready to work again, refreshed.

NEW FAIR DATES

Dates of two district fairs have been changed since the original list was published. The Coe Hill fair is being held today instead of next week and the Stirling fair has been moved back from next week to Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

COMMISSIONER RESIGNS

Lindsay's industrial commissioner, Dan McQuarrie, submitted his resignation to the town council Monday night. He explained that increasing business at the registry office forced his resignation. He will remain as commissioner until January.

NEW COUNCILLOR

Victor Wilson, R.R. 1, Port Hope was made a member of the Hope township council by acclamation when David Ford, Welcome, withdrew his name at a nominating meeting. The nomination was necessary because of the death of councillor Cecil Mercer.

$576 FOR LOT

Purchase of a triangular property on the east side of High St. from Alex S. Mervin and Mrs. Effie Mervin at the option of $576 was authorized by the council Monday. The lot is south of the C.P.R., and is an advantage to the city in the widening of High St.

$100,000 FOR SCHOOL

A bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $100,000 by sale of debentures for a new public school on St. Catharine St., with furnishings and equipment, was introduced by Ald. T. D. Miller at the council session Monday. Third reading was deferred for reference of the bylaw to the Ontario Municipal Board.

A TRAFFIC TANGLE

Work on George St. virtually closing it to 5 p.m. traffic in the vicinity of Sherbrooke St. caused Tuesday a diversion to Water St. Resulting traffic tangle held up one complaining citizen eight minutes near the beer store. He said he was more than a quarter of an hour getting to King St.

CAR DROPS ON MAN

Wesley Lockwood, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lockwood, 36 Durham St., Lindsay, suffered a fractured skull Saturday when the car he was working on, suddenly dropped, pinning him to the ground. In a similar accident about two weeks ago another Lindsay resident, Peter Silver, was killed when a truck dropped on his chest.

SITE QUEST POSTPONED

Hon. John Foote, Minister of Reform Institutions, and his deputy, Col. Hedley Basher, examined properties in the vicinity of Millbrook last week. They were expected to return Tuesday Sept. 9 in the preliminary of selecting a site for a new reformatory. The escape of the four notorious prisoners from the Don jail in Toronto made a swift change in their plans. It is understood that several locations have already been singled out for consideration.

M.O.H. APPOINTED

A bylaw appointing Dr. J. P. Wells of Picton as Medical Officer of Health was introduced by Ald. J. A. Dewart, chairman of the Board of Health, at the council meeting Monday night. It was given three readings and passed. Salary $5,800, including $500 cost of living bonus. This is the remuneration of Dr. R. A. Kelly when he recently resigned. Dr. Wells may not report for duty here until about the middle of October.

FAIR WEATHER

Probs today: fair and about the same for Thursday, indicate that the weather is taking the side of the directors of the Exhibition who voted for the switch of dates from August to September. Their aim was to attract farmers of the district after the harvest was off and much of the fall plowing and seeding done. Today was shirt sleeve temperature, with promise of more of it tomorrow.

PURPLE PEPPER

Mrs. A. McLaren, 534 Chamberlain St., is puzzled and a little awed by the actions of her ornamental pepper plant. She was given the plant last winter when it had small red peppers on it. In the spring she planted it outside in her garden. Now she is surprised to see that as a second crop of small peppers ripen, they are turning not red, but a deep bluish purple. A local florist, told about it, was just as surprised as Mrs. McLaren.

DON JAIL DUTIES

An N.C.O. and three constables have been dispatched from provincial police headquarters here in Peterborough for special duties ta the Don jail in Toronto. They are Cpl. Joe Hanson, and Constable Douglas Ross, Douglas Barber and Bert Howden. Provincial police are replacing guards at the jail who were suspended after the escape Monday of the two Jacksons, Suchan and Boyd.

Safety Council For District To Be Formed

The organization of a Peterborough and District Safety Council was approved by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at the regular monthly meeting of the chamber executive Tuesday night.

Harry Baptie was appointed chairman of a committee which will spark-plug the organization of the council.

The idea behind the chamber's promotion of the organization is to co-ordinate the efforts of all city and district organizations interested in safety into one definite channel of action.

The concern of the council, as the chamber sees it, will include all types of safety in the city, on the highways and in the rural areas and smaller communities in the district.

ORGANIZATIONS

The council will include, according to the chamber's blueprints, representatives from the City Council, County Council, Service Club Council, Board of Education, Peterborough Automobile Club and any other organizations, city or rural, that is interested in the promotion of safety measures.

The immediate impetus for the interest in such a group is the increase in the number of automobile accidents that have been reported so far this year as compared to last year.

The chamber believes that such an organization can be a major factor in not only cutting down accidents involving automobiles, but all types of accidents which are caused because of neglect of safety measures.

Doctors Dislike Teeth Pulling

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three dental and medical authorities today condemned wholesale removal of healthy teeth in an attempt to cure arthritis.

Dr. James R. Cameron, oral surgeon from Philadelphia; Dr. William E. Wellman of the Mayo clinic medical division, Rochester, Minn., and Dr. Kenneth A. Easlick of the University of Michigan school of dentistry, voiced their views in a panel discussion at the American Dental Association convention.

Dr. Easlick said evidence is "very poor" of any relationship between diseased teeth and chronic disorders such as arthritis, kidney infections, eye ailments and skin diseases.

Hold Service To Rout Ghost

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) — The assistant Anglican bishop of Perth said today he has held an "exorcism service" to drive away the ghost of a woman said to haunt a suburban house here.

Bishop C. E. B. Muschamp said the service was performed at the request of a housewife who said she had been "troubled for months by a queer sort of feeling of a presence." Sometimes, she reported, it appeared by her bedside.

At the service the bishop prayed aloud for a blessing on the house and its occupants and then ordered the spirit away. Afterwards, holy water was sprinkled around.

103 Took Part In Handcraft Guild

Approximately 103 people participated in the Peterborough Handcraft Guild activities in the 1951 and 1952 terms.

This figure was included in the annual report of the Guild, given by Mrs. Charles Pilon, chairman of the craft committee of the Recreation Commission, at the commission meeting Tuesday night.

Mrs. Pilon reported that the outstanding activities of the Guild during the year, in addition to classes, were the exhibits of the work displayed both at the 1951 Peterborough Exhibition and the Oshawa Hobby Show in May. Twelve award ribbons were won by guild members at the Oshawa show.

Approximately 40 people attended the potters' guild classes under Mrs. H. Warner.

The enrolment in the fall term leatherwork class was 51 and 36 in the spring. Twelve people were instructed in metal work by Stanley Hayman and Mrs. J. Miles.

City Installs 3 Hydrants At Hospital

Council Follows Recommendation Of Marshal, Chief

The placing of three additional hydrants at Civic Hospital was approved by the council Monday night in adopting the report of the fire and light committee as read by Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman.

Text of the clause was: "That the committee is in accord with the recommendations of the Fire Marshal and the local Fire Chief in regard to the installation of additional hydrants at Civic Hospital, and that the Mayor and the chairman of this committee now meet with the Utilities Commission to discuss installation of the hydrants and payment thereon."

Ald. Burrows had Fire Chief Smith's report of his tests of the water pressure at the hospital.

Ald. T. D. Miller suggested that a copy of that report be sent to Ontario Fire Marshal as definite information. Ald. Burrows said that the recommendations of the Fire Marshal were made prior to Chief Smith's tests.

Ald. W. J. Beggs said he was not disputing the merit in Ald. Miller's suggestion, "but those who have made the tests feel that there is an adequate supply of water at the hospital. It would be a waste of time to wait any longer after having the approval of the Fire Chief and Fire Marshal."

Ald. Beggs spoke of the serious position of the council and others if fire were to occur at the hospital, at least a possibility.

NO DELAY

Ald. Miller said he did not wish to cause any delay. Two or three years have gone by without the added hydrants, and sending the report to the Fire Marshal would not hold up matters any length of time.

The Burrows report carried as presented. The information from Chief George Smith was as follows:

"This is in reference to a pumper test that was made at Civic Hospital August 26. Ald. Burrows was present. Two pumpers were used, one connected to each hydrant. Each pumped through two 200-foot lines of 2½ inch hose, using one inch nozzle tips. Pump pressure was raised to 120 pounds, showing nozzle pressure of 70 pounds, giving 206 gallons of water a minute.

"Longer hose lines would be necessary in the event of a fire to assist the inside standpipe hose lines. The longer the hose lines, the more the decrease in pressure and supply.

"A report was sent from this office to John Horaal, Superintendent of the hospital in November 1950, recommending that the three other hydrants be installed. The tests made today show there are insufficient hydrants for use in the event of fire."

Ald. Miller commented that there was no provision in the estimates for hydrant expenditure this year. It was also said the original plan of hydrants was not completed because the supply of money ran out.

Turnkey, Artist Mistaken For Gunmen

COBOURG (ENS)—Two Cobourg men, Ed Mottershed, turnkey at the counties jail, and artist Frank Taylor, were mistaken as members of the Don jail escape quartette Tuesday at Port Hope.

Mottershed and Taylor went to Port Hope yesterday afternoon to see gunsmith Walter Jacobs. The three were sitting in Mottershed's car on main street looking at some revolvers when a woman, passing by noticed the guns and also the fact that it was a green car. Her mind at once flashed to Boyd, Jackson et al and she called the police.

In a moment the provincial police radio had dispatched cars from Bowmanville and Cobourg to the scene but unaware of the excitement Mottershed and Taylor went back to Cobourg. Provincial Constable Bill Baluk of Cobourg recognized the license number given by the woman as that of Mottershed's car and he learned that Mottershed had driven it to Port Hope that afternoon.

Taylor and Mottershed got a good laugh out of the incident when they learned of it.

"I guess we must look like a couple of desperate characters," mused Frank Taylor.

Great Cricketer Dr. W. E. Dean Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. William Ernest Dean, 78, regarded as one of Canada's greatest cricketers, died yesterday. He played in international matches against the United States and captained the interprovincial team in games between Ontario and Quebec.

Born in Ridgetown, Ont., he attended McGill University at Montreal. He practised medicine near Mount Pleasant 1900-1904 and at Tillsonburg and settled here after the First World War, in which he served as a medical officer with the British navy.

CATTLE, HORSES, PIGS and sheep were trucked into the exhibition grounds early today in preparation for the annual Peterborough exhibition judging. Norm Armstrong Heads Executive Music Festival

Norman Armstrong is the chairman of the 1953 Peterborough Kiwanis Festival to take place in May.

The announcement of appointments to the festival executive was made Tuesday night at a festival committee meeting.

Wilson Gemmell is vice-chairman and George Cheatle, treasurer.

The following are committee chairmen: Ken Wilson, entries; Stanley Northrop, music program; A. B. Collis, advertising and publicity; Bill Hughes, awards and certificates; Laurie Mitchell, transportation and signs; Jim Lillico, halls and equipment; A. S. Plaskett, crest competition; Chas. Spearin, syllabus.

Two committee chairmen have as yet to be named. One is the program manager and the other the conference chairman. The conference chairman will be in charge of arrangements for the annual conference of the Federation of Music Festivals to be held in Peterborough for the first time in July, 1953.

PREPARE SYLLABUS

Mr. Armstrong announced that the draft syllabus is now off the press and it will be ready for mailing Nov. 1.

He also announced that music and speech and drama references of the selections in the 1953 syllabus will be available for inspection Nov. 1.

The closing dates for entries has been set at Feb. 28.

It was decided that the festival would continue to be open to amateurs only. The maximum that a festival entrant can earn annually and still be eligible for the festival has been set at $250.

District Gun Club Creates Excitement

WELLAND (CP) — A report of two men carrying guns, one limping, who entered bushland near Thorold last night, brought a dozen provincial police armed with riot guns into action in a four-hour manhunt.

It was feared that the men were members of the Boyd gang which escaped from Toronto's Don jail Monday but they proved to be members of a district gun club.

Thorold is 10 miles north of Welland.

Brantford Faces Problems Of Annexing More Land

Brantford township has expressed assent to annexation of 500 acres by the city of Brantford. Project of the city council was to annex 3,400 acres in a long term provision for industrial and residential growth. Although this is a Brantford problem, it is somewhat pertinent to the present proposal of Peterborough to annex a large section of Smith township.

Brantford township council sets forth their attitude toward the city's encroachment in a long letter. In part, it outlines a taxation prospect in Brantford not only in anticipating increased property for urban occupation, but other necessary improvements within the city.

That part of the letter follows: "Mr. Mayor and Aldermen of the City Council, you have first to decide how you intend to raise approximately twelve million dollars to meet the urgent and long delayed projects of your city, plus an amount far in excess of this if you endeavor to carry out an annexation as you have proposed, and to keep the promises for servicing such areas, so that there will be reasonable equity for taxes paid at the city level.

TWO MILLS ADDED

"The annual payment of one million dollars at 4½ per cent interest, repayable in 20 years, amounts to $76,876.15 or two mills on the present city assessment. Will your taxpayers face an increase of about 15 mills to meet urgent needs of the city, and at the same time approve almost half again as much for the extension of sewers and other services to the areas which you propose to annex."

Brantford township has a population of 16,000, has built more than 30 miles of water main and storm sewers, improved streets, first class schools, and has carried on a campaign for some years of clearing out undesirable buildings.

Of interest to Peterborough is Reeve Walter Madden's reference to the municipal works which Brantford has not yet tackled within its own borders.

Council Buys Supply Of Coal

Tenders for supply of coal were accepted by the council Monday in the property committee report presented by the chairman, Ald. H. S. Longhurst.

For the fire hall—60 tons of bituminous lump for blower, H. B. Taylor & Son, $12.75 a ton.

For public rest room—10 tons of anthracite nut from H. B. Taylor & Son at $25.50 a ton.

The following order for office equipment for the Police Sergeants' office was placed with Steel Equipment Co. Ltd.: one double door cupboard, etc., $272; double door storage cupboard, $103.50.

Purchase of filing equipment for the storage of addressograph records as requested by Assessment Commissioner Davis, approximately $176.

Another clause: "That City Clerk Outram take up with the Ontario Department of Health the matter of a rebate the city was to be paid by that department as a credit for the purchase made by the city of equipment installed in the laboratory at the City Hall."

Also: "That Mr. Outram be authorized to secure the services of a heating expert to prepare specifications for heating the city garage on Townsend St., and to call for tenders from local heating firms."

The City Clerk is also asked to arrange for additional dumping grounds for the sanitation department.

Peterborough Exhibition Opens Gates For Crowds In Perfect Fall Weather

People Begin To Swarm For First Afternoon Expect To Set Attendance Records As Children Lead Off On Their Day

Opening day of the Peterborough Exhibition offered fairgoers perfect exhibition weather. Skies were clear and seemed likely to remain so and the temperature was up around 80 by noon. Few spectators attended in the morning, and exhibitors in the manufacturers' building and elsewhere on the grounds had an opportunity to put the final touches on their displays. By 1 p.m., crowds began to throng through the gates, many of them separate and public school pupils who have a half holiday today. An estimated 1,500 were in the grounds, paying most of their attentions to the displays, not so much to the midway.

Don Milburn, one of the exhibition board's vice-presidents, said he expected with good weather that the crowds would set a record this year.

"I think this is the best time of year for the fair," he said. "The farmers have their crops almost all in and they have no pressing work at this time." In addition, city people were mostly returned from their holidays.

FIRST JUDGING

Only judging completed by noon today was in the horticulture and agricultural products departments. Pony judging started at 1 p.m., and poultry judging, which started early in the morning, was expected to conclude by mid afternoon.

Balloons and whistling birds on sticks filled the hands of children, who were decked out in novelty hats and the coolest clothing they could find. Harried mothers looked here and there to keep their children within reaching distance and to make sure not too much sweet stuff was consumed.

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAYS

Eye-catching displays on the grounds included the R.C.A.F.'s exhibit of a jet engine, working displays and the hydraulic and electrical equipment of a Sabre jet fighter. Television sets, though not so much of a novelty, continued to attract crowds.

On the south half of the paved road cutting through the grounds, tractors, combines and all sorts of farm equipment were more plentiful than last year.

In front of the grandstand, a jeep-assembling team from the army was practicing its show for the afternoon and evening performances, and harness horses were warming up around the track.

The city's big show was ready for its biggest year, its directors hoped.

Builders Invited To Hear Experts

John W. Wocker, Peterborough manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, announces a dinner session at the Empress Hotel Wednesday, Sept. 17, at 6.30 p.m. to discuss various aspects of present day housing projects.

Two original executives of the Corporations will be speakers. They are Raymond Card, Toronto, architect, and Fred Burnaby, Toronto, manager of loans.

Mr. Wocker has sent out invitations to some 33 builders, including the 15 who are directly interested in the Queen Elizabeth subdivision, bank managers, real estate men, heads of lending institutions and building supply firms, and also members of the city council.

Ideas and policies relating to larger land assemblies will be one of the topics. Others will be types of houses, set-backs, location of schools, details of financing, and subjects generally affecting subdivisional and other housing enterprises.

Discussion will follow the dinner for which tickets are $2.50.

Victims' Families Invited To Unveiling

For the unveiling of the Firemen's Memorial bronze at the City Hall Sunday, Sept. 14 at 4 p.m., attendance will be only by official invitation.

Ald. A. B. Burrows said Monday night that the space in the main office was limited, and for that reason a general invitation could not be extended to the public. At the head of the list are the widows and children and other relatives of the four men who were killed on active duty May 19, 1951 — Grover Deck, George Reynolds, Earl Spencley and Orville Rome.

Other letters are to: The Ontario Fire Marshal, with request to unveil the plaque or to send a deputy; the Rev. Ivan Morgan, who is invited to deliver a message appropriate to the occasion; Major H. Roberts of the Salvation Army; Belleville Fire Department.

Allan Clark, Lakefield, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs.

The members of the Fire Departments of Lakefield, Smith township and Bridgenorth; to William France, president of the Federation of Fire Fighters, Fort William.

His Honor, Judge J. D. Kennedy; T. J. Carley, Q.C.; Chief Smith and the members of the Peterborough Fire Department.

Lakefield Firm Installs Sewers In Lindsay

LINDSAY—The Redpath Construction Co. of Lakefield were awarded the contract of digging the water and sewer lines in the federal-provincial housing project on Colborne St. E.

Three tenders were received; the accepted one offering to dig the water line at 25 cents per lineal foot and the sewer line for 75 cents; one from the Tracey Construction Co., of Lindsay, offering 55 cents and 80 cents; and one from the Haight Construction Co., of Sunderland, offering the same as the Lindsay company.

Mayor Lamb requested that due consideration be given to the Lindsay company, but it was decided to accept the lowest tender.

U.S. Race Track Attendance Has Fantastic Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—A preliminary survey of attendance and betting at major United States tracks showed today a fantastic gain as compared with 1951.

Racing is riding along on its biggest boom since the record postwar years.

An Associated Press compilation from the 24 racing states disclosed betting is up at every one of the tracks, by from eight per cent to 67 per cent.

The biggest pari-mutuel betting year in the country's racing times came in 1946 when the mutuel machines handled $1,830,287,455. Last season the survey showed $1,629,239,777 wagered, an increase of 17.01 per cent over 1950.

DO BIG BUSINESS

Tracks still operating or with race meetings still to be held this year are reaping the golden harvest. The Florida, California and Louisiana winter tracks did a landoffice business. It carried through to northern tracks.

Bowie posted a 67-per-cent jump in mutuel play. Atlantic City, still operating, reports betting up 29 per cent. Saratoga Springs, N. Y., broke all records with the handle up 17.7 per cent.

Hollywood Park closed with betting up 16 per cent.

Narragansett, Lincoln Downs, Suffolk Downs and Rockingham in New England reported boosts up to 18 per cent. Gains in Michigan are as high as 22 per cent at Hazel Park.

Florida looks for another big winter, as does Santa Anita and Fair Grounds, New Orleans.

Decide Sugar Ray Robinson Must Defend Title In 60 Days

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Boxing Association wound up its 33rd annual convention here yesterday, cleaning up what was termed "one of the heaviest agendas" ever to come before the major body governing boxing in the United States.

Highlight of the three-day sessions, which attracted delegates from all over the United States and Canada as well as representatives from several other countries, was disposal of the controversial suspension by the British Boxing Board of Control of light-heavy champ Joey Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns.

RAY MUST FIGHT

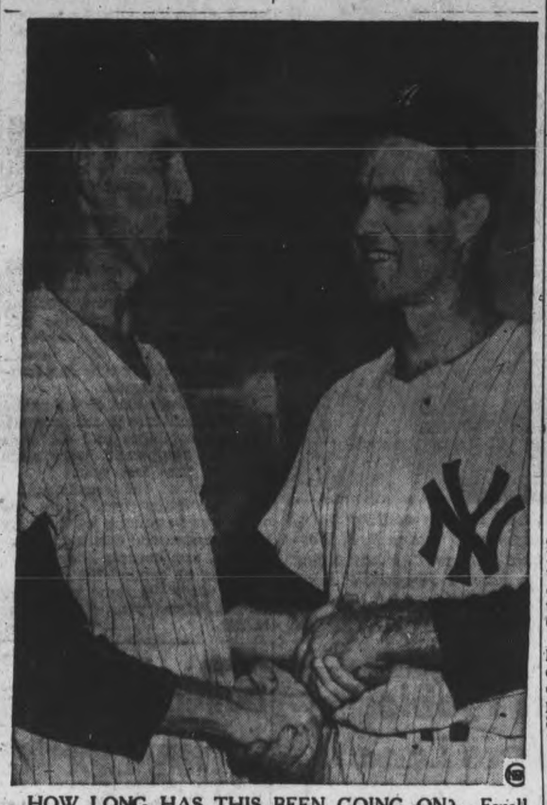
Delegates also decided yesterday that middleweight Sugar Ray Robinson should defend his title within 60 days and recommended acceptance of the divisible 10-point rule to bring about uniformity in scoring.

Also approved was a motion to invite the New York State Athletic Commission, only major state not affiliated with the N.B.A., to effect a working agreement with the national body.

This agreement would not affect working arrangements already in effect between various N. B. A. states and New York.

The convention elected George Barton of Minneapolis as president, succeeding Dave Rochon of Montreal, and decided to hold next year's convention in Las Vegas, Nev.

A compromise agreement was reached on the Maxim-Kearns suspension aimed at keeping unanimity in the boxing world.



The suspension was made by the British Boxing Board of Control on the grounds that Maxim failed to go through with a contract to fight Randy Turpin in London.

Kearns contended he was under no obligation to promoter Jack Solomons of London with regard to the Turpin fight. The only contract he had signed was one to meet Don Cockell, a six-month contract that became null and void after March 11 last.

TO MEET MOORE

Delegates unanimously passed a resolution agreeing there was a "reasonable difference of opinion between Kearns, Maxim and Solomons as prsented by the British Boxing Board of Control" in its request asking for backing of its suspension.

Maxim was ordered to defend his title against Archie Moore, agreed to have been a logical contender for more than a year, within 60 days. The winner of this bout would then fight Turpin within 90 days.

DOESN'T LIKE NHL DRAFT

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe drew a bead yesterday on a new National Hockey League draft system drawn up by President Clarence Campbell for presentation to the league's board of governors in Chicago.

The Toronto club manager said he is agreeable to a draft but he doesn't go along with the president's plan because it covers only professional hockey players. Smythe wants the amateurs subject to draft, too.

The plan calls for each club to name 15 players and a goalie as exempt from draft. April 30 was suggested as the draft date and $10,000 as the price. The team finishing last in the league race would have first draft choice and so on up to the top.

Smythe disagreed with the price, because it costs $100,000 to develop a player, and with the date, because he favored a time at the end of the fall training season.

2 IMPORTS FOR REDSKINS

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Krol said last night he wasn't trying to rub salt into Montreal Alouettes' wounds Saturday when he faked a placement and then ran for the convert after Toronto Argonauts' last touchdown in their 43-0 conquest of the Montrealers. He just wanted the ball.

Joe explained that if he had kicked a Montrealer might have taken the ball home. Under Big Four tradition, the player who last touches the ball in a game keeps it. The play was the last of the game.

Canadian Nurses Aid 4 In Crash

GARY, IND.—(CP)—Two Canadian Army nursing sisters Tuesday saved four persons from possibly fatal burns in a fiery highway collision which claimed the life of a baby boy.

Police said the nursing sister, Ellen Willis and Mabel Delaney, en route from St. Johns, Que., to Chicago, stopped at the scene of the crash and pulled the victims from the cars, cut off burning clothing and administered first aid.

Escaping gasoline apparently touched off the fire when a car driven by Mrs. Alice Jackson of Chicago crashed into the rear of a car owned by John Daniels of Gary.

One-year-old Alvin Daniels was burned to death.

Burned, all critically, were Daniels, 28, and Lizzie Daniels, 21, and Willie Taylor, 33, all of Gary; and Mrs. Jackson, 24.

Bell's 2 Horses Trying Out At U.S. Tracks

By HARRY WITTSCHEN

NEW YORK (CP)—Max Bell's two newest investments in turfdom, Indian Hemp and Royal Serenade, are in the United States for a try at American race tracks.

The thoroughbreds arrived last night from London by plane and were met by Bell and jockey Johnny Longden, life-long friend of Bell, who will ride Indian Hemp in the first running of the $50,000 Washington International at Laurel Park Maryland Oct. 18.

The International is an invitational 1½-mile handicap run on turf with a walking start. In addition to Indian Hemp, there will be 11 other horses entered including three from the United States which have not yet been chosen.

Bell, publisher of the Calgary Albertan, declined to say how much he paid for the horses at the Newmarket auctions last April but did say Indian Hemp is insured for ~~$35,000~~ and Royal Serenade for $40,000.

Both horses were taken to Belmont Park where they will be under the close watch of trainer Norman R. McLeod of Arcadia, Calif. McLeod will have charge of Indian Hemp at least until after the Washington race.

The four-year-old Royal Serenade will be sent to Longden's ranch at Riverside, Calif., for training. Bell hopes to race the mare in the New Year's Day Stakes at Santa Anita.

Longden, a native of England who grew up in Taber, Alta., last May 15 became the second man in racing history—Britain's Gordon Richards was the first—to ride his 4,000th winner. He feels it won't take him long to get used to Indian Hemp, former stable-mate of the Aga Khan's Derby-winning Tulyar.

Safety Medal Given To Canadian Pacific

MONTREAL—The Canadian Pacific Railway has been awarded one of the coveted E. H. Harriman Memorial Gold Medals for its safety record in 1951 among the railroads of the United States.

On the basis of records of the Interstate Commerce Commission for last year, the CPR, which has operations in the States of Vermont and Maine, won the Harriman medal for Class B railroads, the ICC designation of medium sized railways in that country.

The award will be presented to N. R. Crump, vice-president of the CPR, at a dinner in New York on Sept. 17.

Police Chiefs Told Work Not Appreciated

WINNIPEG, —(C)—The internal war is just as important to the safety of the state as a cold or a hot war..."You are too little appreciated," Lieutenant - Governor R. F. McWilliams today told Canadian police chiefs.

He was welcoming more than 200 delegates and wives to the opening of the 47th annual conference of the Chief Constables Association of Canada. The meeting concludes Friday.

"We live in a country whose first principal of government is the rule of law," Mr. McWilliams said. "We rely on you, with confidence, to see that rule of law upheld."

Premier D. L. Campbell and Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg also addressed delegates.

President Charles MacIver, chief of Winnipeg police, presided at the opening session.

"COOL CONTROL"

FLY CASTING

1 Begin with basic grip—thumb on back of rod checks the back cast, gives essential control. With rod extended, clear line and leader from water by tensing rod upward slightly.

2 When fly is surfaced, snap rod upwards sharply—this sends line smoothly behind you. This pick-up should be swift and snappy. Movement is done with wrist and forearm. Check movement of rod when it is straight up.

3 When rod is perpendicular, wait for line to straighten out behind. When tip bows with back pull snap rod forward to horizontal position. Do not use force—a smart snapping movement with wrist and forearm will give proper control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in fishing as in every sport—control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

PRIZE LIST for the Exhibition to be held in the TOWN HALL, Peterboro', on THURSDAY, the 10th SEPTEMBER, 1863

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

Above is reproduced the heading of a handbill circulated among the lusty burghers of Peterborough 89 years ago, advising them of what was afoot in their Town Hall, on Thursday, September 10, 1863.

A smiling Ceress doubtless hovered near, as The Man with the Hoe prepared for his gala day. A vertible cornucopia, bursting with flowers, fruit and vegetabls, was made ready by green-fingered enthusiasts who had been at work through the summer in gardens and fields.

Three classes of products were listed for the prize competitions: Plants and Flowers; Fruits; and Roots and Vegetables. The exhibition could scarcely be described as a "Spending Bee" though the wards doubtless were congruous with the resources of a struggling society in those days when a dollar was a dollar.

The maximum First Prize for any of the collections or specimens displayed was $1 the minimum being 50 cents. Second prizes were 50 or 25 cents. Only members of the society were eligible to compete, the membership fee being $1. The secretary, Richard White, then publisher of the Review, who later acquired the Montreal Gazette, was to be in attendance at the Town Hall from 9 to 12 a.m. to receive the entries.

Flowers exhibits included: Green House and Window Plants, Roses, Dahlias, Balsams, Stocks, Asters, Verbenas, Pansies, Petunias, Hollyhocks, Phloxes, Chinese Pinks, Plants in Flower, Annuals (cut flowers), Designs, Bouquets and Baskets.

Fruits: Apples, (Winter, Table, Cooking), Siberian Crabs, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Melons.

Roots and Vegetables: Cauliflowers, Broccoli, Savoys, Cabbages, Carrots, Parsnips, Turnip, Beets, Celery, Onions, Tomatoes Capsicums, Potatoes, Squash, Herbs.

James Hall was President of the Society and William Ogilvy, Treasurer.

The handbill was found recently by the writer among the books and papers of his grandfather, Thomas Choate, founder of Warsaw.

THE YOUTHFUL DRIVER of this car and his teen-age companion walked out with only minor cuts after a shunting freight had smashed into the car and knocked it down a ten-foot embankment. Jean Moreau, of Montreal, said the accident happened so quickly that he is not sure just what went on.

United Church Commences 15th Biennial General Council

HAMILTON (CP)—The 15th biennial general council of the United Church of Canada opens here today for a 10-day session.

Moderator Rev. C. M. Nicholson, recently returned from Germany where he served as a chaplain with the 27th Canadian brigade, will open the conference with a communion service.

He then will report on his two-year term and preside over the council until the election of a new Moderator tonight.

The 400 delegates will hear many reports from the various committees of the church.

CHURCH UNITY SOUGHT

The reports include one which recommends more co-operation with the Church of England in Canada with an eventual aim of unity of action. Others are civil rights and liberties, world peace, alcohol and tobacco, home and foreign missions, Christian education, including religious instruction in Ontario's normal schools, and problems in rural charges.

The commission on church and international affairs headed by Harry E. Langford, a lay delegate from Toronto, may bring the liveliest debate.

The report says the time has come for the Christian church to take the initiative for the establishment and maintenance of peace adds:

"Our communion believes that now is the time for a larger program of peace building by the churches. It should be done in a more public way and reveal that Christian bodies have taken the initiative. A vigorous campaign for peace will have the support of many United Church people who believe that this area of Christian work and witness has been left exclusively to the Canadian Peace Congress and related groups."

MAY EXPEL ENDICOTT

The chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress is Dr. James D. Endicott, a former United Church missionary for many years in China. A one-time advisor to the Nationalist regime he later leaned towards the Communist regime. Recently he attracted wide attention by agreeing with Communist China's charges that the United Nations are using germ warfare in Korea.

Although Dr. Endicott no longer is a minister of the United Church it is expected that some delegates will demand that he formally be expelled from the church.

Polio Outbreak Takes 103 Lives

REGINA (CP)—Western Canada's polio outbreak has claimed 103 lives so far this season. The case total stands at 1,461.

This is by far the worst year for the disease in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Although new cases and more deaths continue to be reported daily, there are some indications that the outbreak may be tailing off.

Saskatchewan now has had 603 cases and 35 deaths compared with 12 cases and 22 deaths in 1937, the province's previous record year. Alberta has counted 30 more cases and six more deaths than its previous record totals of 380 and 8 in 1948. B. C. lists 274 cases and 21 deaths, an increase of 66 cases and nine deaths over its former record year of 1947.

Manitoba reports 174 confirmed and 146 suspected cases and 13 deaths. In 1941 it had 1,011 cases and 20 deaths.

Farm Food Prices Off

OTTAWA (CP)—Food prices at the farm, which climbed during June for the first time in almost a year, dropped again during July, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. The index of farm prices of agricultural products, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, eased during July to 263.4, down from 264.8 during June and from the peak of 308.2 in July last year.

Hold Funeral Service For Lord Robinson

OTTAWA (CP)—Funeral services were held yesterday for Lord Robinson, chairman of the Forestry Commission of Great Britain who died suddenly Friday.

The 69-year-old first Baron of Keilder Forest and Adelaide was heading a 14-man British delegation to the Commonwealth Forestry Conference when he took pneumonia.

Christ Church Cathedral was crowded with delegates from the Conference and the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

Lord Robinson's body will be sent to Montreal for cremation. The ashes will be sent to England to be scattered over the forest of Keilder.

Irrigation Can Aid 2,000,000 Acres

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government estimates that more than 2,000,000 acres of Alberta and Saskatchewan land can be irrigated with surplus waters from three Alberta rivers.

The estimate was made in a proposal released yesterday by Water Resources Minister David Ure. The plan will be submitted to the federal royal commission studying the proposed South Saskatchewan River scheme when the commission holds hearings in Edmonton Sept. 15.

Alberta's plan has been suggested as an alternative to the South Saskatchewan River irrigation project which proposes construction of a dam at Outlook, Sask., at a cost of more than $100,000,000.

Report Many Illiterates

LONDON (Reuters)—More than 1,200,000,000 persons—half the population of the globe—cannot read or write, the 1951-52 report of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization said yesterday.

NB Polio Toll Mounts

FREDERICTON (CP)—Eleven new cases of polio were reported to health department officials here, sending the summer's total to 212. Officials will decide this week whether public schools will open next Monday. Originally set for Sept. 2, the opening date has been delayed twice because of the polio situation.

May Test H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defence Department and Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday a new series of atomic weapons tests will be held at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the mid-Pacific this fall. There have been reports that at least some preliminary form of the hydrogen "hell" bomb might be tried out.

Two Boats Capsize 25 People Drown

VIJAYAWADA, India (Reuters)—Twenty-five persons were drowned yesterday when two boats capsized at the same spot in two separate accidents on the Krishna River.

Five persons were drowned when their boat collided with a steam launch. Shortly afterward, a boatload of workers capsized, drowning 20 of its occupants.

Hear Union Petition Asks Removal Of Hal C. Banks

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette in a front-page story today says a petition demanding the removal of Hal C. Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers International Union (A.F.L.), is being circulated by former union members who claim to have 400 signatures.

James Todd, who claims to be the last union official elected before Mr. Banks' appointment four years ago, heads the group which said the Canadian director has placed more than 2,000 of the 10,000 members on a "do not ship" list. Masters of ships are forbidden by the union to hire any seaman placed on this list.

The petition said Mr. Banks does not allow the membership to conduct regular union meetings; that no financial statements are issued and that seamen placed on the "do not ship" list must come to Montreal at their own expense to see the director.

Mr. Banks was not available for comment.

The S.I.U. moved into the Great Lakes shipping picture in 1948 when it absorbed the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and announced it intended to chase the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union from the lakes.

The C.L.S.U. had been formed by J.A. Sullivan after he dropped out as head of the C.S.U. and charged it was led by Communists. The death of the C.S.U. came in December, 1950, when the Canadian Labor Relations Board said it was no longer a trade union.

Forest Fire Menacing

HALIFAX (CP)—More than 400 firefighters last night checked a forest-fire threat to a score of homes at Goodwood south of Halifax. The fire crews battled the four-day-old flames for more than eight hours before bringing them under control. Officials said a heavy rain appeared the only hope of extinguishing the blaze which threw a pall of smoke over sections of Halifax.

UNWELCOME RESCUE — Would-be suicide Arthur Colleran struggles with police as he is taken from the roof of a 12-storey Boston, Mass., office building. The 27-year-old navy veteran, despondent over his failure to find employment, had threatened to jump from the roof, but was grabbed and pulled to safety when police distracted him with a job offer.

Some Progress In Grain Talks

WINNIPEG (CP)—Deputy Labor Minister Arthur J. MacNamara last night reported some progress in negotiations for a new contract for 1,500 Lakehead grain haudlers, threatening to strike next Monday.

Mr. MacNamara made the report at the conclusion of the second day of negotiations between representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and 15 terminal elevator operators.

The union voted to strike in support of demands including higher pay and a shorter work week.

Believes U.S. Has Bad Effect On Canadian Schools

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — United States' education trends have exerted a bad influence on Canadian schools, the 18th synod of the Church of England in Canada was told last night.

Canon R. K. Naylor, in an official report, told the synod that a three-year investigation showed the separation of church and state—and thus church and schools—was endangering the Christian teaching in Canadian schools.

U. S. education was basically secular and its influence became more evident the "farther west you go in Canada," said the canon. The influence also was to be seen in the Maritimes.

"We've got to give up this idea that schools are a neutral place," said Canon Naylor. "We've got to get in with our Christian teaching, with our idea of God."

Committee studies of provincial education systems had shown serious lacks ranging from "qualified hedonism in Alberta, where the aim of education is the happiness of the individual, to the exclusion of the Bible from the schools of Prince Edward Island."

The schools teach "good citizenship with as little reference as possible to Christianity," he said. ". . .It was the adoption of the American idea that played the decisive part in our schools. This influence has been emphasized by the fact that our best teachers have gone to American colleges."

Rev. R. R. Latimer of Montreal said school work throughout the country has been hampered by distrust among clergymen of various denominations and called for "sympathetic understanding."

Canon Naylor's report said the church inherited from "English non-conformity the fear of an association of church and state. The demand of our own church in the early days of Canada that it should be the state church did nothing to allay the fear."

This and other factors had resulted in a situation where, "on the whole, the philosophy of education is secular humanism."

"The schools were supposed to be neutral and neutrality breeds a vacuum. There are groups today ready to fill that vacuum and overcome that neutrality."

Stating that many psychiatrists take an unChristian approach to education, Canon Naylor said "psychiatrists generally are quite ready to step in and take over the schools generally, and run them without Christ."

Scientists Study Ways To Combat Pin-Hole Borer

OTTAWA (CP)—The pin-hole borer, a minute but destructive beetle which attacks freshly-fallen trees, got a scientific going over yesterday by some of the best forestry brains in the world.

The delegates to the sixth Commonwealth Forestry Conference spent most of the day discussing the depredations of the little bug whose scientific name is ambrosia beetle.

The delegates' conclusion: They believe foresters are slowly but surely getting the little fellow's number with the aid of poison sprays.

Dr. F. Y. Henderson, director of Forestry Products Research Laboratory in Britain, said a team of biologists is being trained in England to investigate ambrosia beetle damage and means of control.

C. R. Ranganathan, president of the Forestry Research Institute and College, India, said that in his country successful experiments have been carried out impregnating logs with a fluid lethal to the bug. It is forced into the log under slight pressure.

Dr. M. L. Prebble of Canada's Division of Forest Biology said various sprays have been tried in this country. He believed one way to help beat the pin-hole borer was to speed up movement of logs to water, then spray their upper sides. The beetle can't stand the water and it can't stand the spray.

US Deer Hunters Restricted By F-M Ruling

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Deer hunters will be restricted on the bag they may bring to the United States from Canada this fall, because of the possibility the animals may have foot-and-mouth disease.

Although Canada has lifted quarantines imposed because the disease had been found among cattle, U. S. import restrictions still stand, a state Agriculture Department spokesman said yesterday.

Dr. L. R. Barnes said hunters will be allowed to bring in 15-pound hunks of boned deer meat that "have a thoroughly cooked appearance."

A February regulation bans importation of "fresh, chilled or frozen meats."

Inspectors may certify entry of antlers and other deer bi-products that are "clean, thoroughly dried and free from pieces of undried hide, flesh or sinew," Dr. Barnes said.

The federal order says:

"Hides or skins may be imported without other restrictions if found by the Bureau of Animal Industry inspector at the port of entry to be hard-dried."

Fire Razes Barn

UXBRIDGE (CP)—A fire truck carrying 11 firemen to a barn fire last night collided with a plumber's truck and a police car. No one was injured. The barn, owned by Thomas Arnold, was destroyed. Uxbridge is about 35 miles northeast of Toronto.

Hits B.C. Text Books

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Very Rev. T.L. Leadbeater, Nelson, B. C., told the 18th Anglican synod last night that three text books in British Columbia schools "show the Anglican church to great disadvantage." He said the books, which he did not name, cast a reflection on the origin of the church.

It was decided to hold sewing meeting on September 22nd. An invitation from All Saint's branch to attend a meeting Friday evening when there will be a special speaker on missionary work in Quebec was extended. It was also announced the Deanery meeting will be held in All Saint's Church September 25th. Mrs. Marshall spoke with regret of the loss of two members, Mrs. S. Jolly and Mrs. E. E. Young who have died since the last meeting. After the closing prayer, refreshments were served by Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. W. Langford.

Mothers To Collect Members

A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Peter's High School was held with Mrs. J. Paquette presiding. Acting principal the Rev. John Coughlan spoke encouragingly to the mothers. Sister Clothilde introduced the physical training instructor, Miss Scanlon, who outlined the activities the girls will have this year in the new gymnasium. Basketball, dancing and gymnastics are to be given in three weekly periods and one period will be for health. The Auxiliary decided to collect memberships through class mothers who will be responsible to convener Mrs. Leo Sullivan. Mothers of all high school students are invited to join. The class mothers are: Grade 13, Mrs. F. Daley, 12A, Mrs. G. Rutherford; 12B, Mrs. A. Brioux; 11A, Mrs. Wm. DeNoble; 11B, Mrs. J. O'Neill, 11C, Mrs. J. Kearns; 10A, Mrs. Leo Martyn; 10B, Mrs. W. J. Creally; 10C, Mrs. D. Campanaro; 9A, Mrs. F. Sullivan; 9B, Mrs. G. Armstrong; 9C, Mrs. B. Hickey and 9D, Mrs. C. Rowatt.

Plan For 25th Anniversary

Helen Rogers Evening Auxiliary of Knox United Church met at the home of president Mrs. Donald Richardson, Sherbrooke St. W., with 16 members present. An appeal was made for contributions of clothing and money for a bale for overseas relief. Donations will be received the week of September 14 to 21. Need for a new mission secretary for the Sunday School and a new leader for the Explorers was discussed and names of possible leaders suggested for contact. Plans for the October meeting which will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Auxiliary were made. It will be a supper meeting with a special speaker. A committee was appointed to assist Mrs. S. Whitfield, social convener, and Mrs. A. Gertley is to look after decorations. Mrs. Harold Murduff led the worship, assisted by Mrs. D. Hubbs, Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. C. Rose at the piano. A "buzz-session" on "What do you know about Africa" preceded the introduction of the new study book by Mrs. Murduff. A letter from the honorary president Miss Annie Crocker was read. A brief worship period closed the meeting and refreshments were then served by Mrs. Whitfield, assisted by the hostess and Mrs. G. James and Mrs. Ross.

Omemee Rector Inspires Circle

Mary Nicholls Mission Circle of Murray St. Baptist Church had as guest speaker Tuesday evening the Rev. Charles Richmond, rector of Omemee Anglican Church. Mr. Richmond showed slides and gave an inspiring address about his years of missionary work in Kenya, British East Africa, in the Lake Rudolph area. He expressed conviction that the spiritual needs of people anywhere are their supreme needs. He urged his audience to write letters to missionaries and to become prayer partners, giving incidents in his own experience of the worth and need of such interest. "We should share in the problems and responsibilities of our missionaries, and, as we uphold them in prayer, we will share in the reward." The speaker was introduced by Miss Ethel Smedmor and thanked by Miss Ethel Garbutt. President Mrs. P. W. Johnston presided for the meeting and a devotional service was conducted by Mrs. H. Sellon and Mrs. S. Gillespie. Mr. Richmond pronounced the benediction.

African Mission Is Studied

President Miss Myrtle Sargent conducted an interesting meeting of the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary in Trinity Church parlor Monday evening. Following the report of treasurer Mrs. M. Hart, considerable business was discussed. Mrs. G. S. Fallen, Mrs. H. W. Gray and Mrs. F. W. Horton were named a committee to arrange a rummage sale in October. Announcement was made of a lecture to be given by Miss Edna Jacques, September 22nd, sponsored by the Girls' Work Committee of the church, and also of a W.M.S. family party at the church on the 19th. Miss Sargent centred thoughts on work being done in Africa through the worship period. Miss Joyce Harris gave a meditation on the theme "God's Grace, the Water of Life," followed with prayer by Mrs. Horton. As the study is on the work of the United Church in Angola Mission, Miss Jean Armstrong gave a meditation "I remember Africa" which was adapted from the original by a representative of the Disciples of Christ after his visit to Africa. The study book was introduced by Miss Catherine Hodgens and afterward Mrs. Horton read a letter written by several people in Angola as an introduction of Maria Chela Luciano who is visiting Canada as a representative of the Angola mission. Miss Harris gave a resume of another book on Africa "Angola Air Mail" which contains letters from people serving in Angola to friends in Canada. The meeting closed with the hymn "Thanks to Thee." The committee in charge served refreshments during a social hour following.

THE FIRST SATURDAY of September proved a popular wedding date. Three of the couples married in local churches are pictured here. Friends Honor Alnwick Couple ROSENEATH — (ENS) — Approximately eighty-five guests gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams north of Roseneath, on Friday evening on the eve of their 30th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent playing cards and reminiscing with friends and relatives.

A. J. Campbell congratulated the bride and groom of yesteryear on this anniversary occasion and Jas. L. Timlin made the presentation of a purse of money. The family presented their parents with a coffee table, a tiered wedding cake, a corsage of cream roses for their mother and a cream rose buttoniere for their father. Many other gifts and cards were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams, nee Annie Thackeray were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Corelli Thackeray, Alnwick township, on September 6, 1922 by Rev. H. A. Bunt, pastor of Roseneath church. The greater part of their married life has been spent near Roseneath. They have three daughters and five sons: Mrs. Eric Darling (Noreen) Sudbury; Barbara and Myrna with Bell Telephone Staff, Cobourg; Everett of Norham; Neil, Don, Gerald and Dean at home. All were present with their parents on this occasion with the exception of Mrs. Darling (Noreen).

Mrs. Adams is an active member of the Women's Institute and the W. A. of the United Church. Mrs. Adams is a member of the Board of the Alnwick Township School Area and Roseneath Agricultural Society. Both are members of Roseneath United Church.

Included among the guests was the groom's mother, Mrs. Thomas Adams, Fenella. She is eighty-two years of age.

The hostess served refreshments assisted by her daughter, Misses Barbara and Myrna Adams.

Golden Wedding Thornhill Couple

ROSENEATH —(ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. John Steele, Thornhill celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday afternoon with open house to friends and relatives, Mrs. Steele was the former Cassie Jackson of Roseneath. Guests were present from Roseneath, North Bay, Peterborough, Keene, Hastings, Toronto, Milliken, and Thornhill. Afternoon tea was served Mrs. H. Harper and Mrs. Elkins, North Bay poured tea. Many beautiful gifts were received.

At 6.30 a buffet luncheon was served on the lawn. In the evening Mrs. D. Cooper read an address and a large plate glass mirror was presented by the members of Thornhill Presbyterian Church, of which the bride and groom are members. The recipients made appropriate replies thanking the congregation for their gift and kindnesses shown through the years.

The remainder of the evening was spent in music by Peter Gillespie, Keene, violinist; W. Brampton guitarist, Gordon McCallister on the accordion and Don Steele on the harmonica.

Civic Hosp. Aux. Readying For Membership Drive

A busy summer season was evident from committee reports presented at the Board of Directors' meeting of the Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon. The library, visiting and travelling tuck cart conveners all reported an increase in contacts with patients and the committee in charge of bootees reported 213 pairs given out in the summer months The occupational therapy committee assisted the hospital in August by taking some chronically ill people out on the grounds or for a drive.

The annual membership campaign was the subject for discussion and convener Mrs. E. Chambers announced it will officially open September 24th with a tea for canvassers. Board members were instructed to contact their canvassers immediately and to organize so that the drive will be completed by October 31st.

A good increase in membership is sought as the increasing number of patients makes additional demands on the Auxiliary. Receipts from this drive are used to give added comforts to the patients.

President Mrs. W. E. Fanning announced the appointment of Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy as second vice president, replacing Mrs. J. H Mathews. Mrs. Fanning, Mrs Chambers and Mrs. Fanjoy were then appointed delegates to the Ontario Hospital Association convention being held the latter part of October.

Hospital superintendent Mr. John Hornal made a short talk on the continuing growth of the hospital and outlined the attached problems.

Correspondence included many letters of thanks from patients as well as letters of appreciation from the Board of Governors for decorations and prizes for the nurses' graduation and a new oxygen tent supplied the hospital.

What's Right?

WRONG: Say, "Thank you for taking me to the dance."

RIGHT: Say, "I had a lovely time" or "It was such fun."

Delegates Named To W.I. Convention

LAKEFIELD (ENS) —Mrs. E. Waldon and Mrs. Howard Bullock were named delegates to attend the annual convention of the Women's Institutes to be held in Toronto, at a meeting of the Lakefield branch of the W.I. held at the home of Mrs. Roy Farrow. The President, Mrs. Howard Bullock presided.

Mrs. J. McKerchar, Historical Research convener, gave an interesting and instructive paper on the history of the village of Lakefield.

Further plans were made for the Chest Clinic which is coming to Lakefield September 25th and 26th. Mrs. Clarence Foster is convener of this project.

The ladies of the Institute will again have their refreshment booth at the Lakefield Fair and are bringing a "workshop" to the village for 10 days early in the new year.

Assisting the hostess in the serving of refreshments were Mrs. E. Dunford, Mrs. T. Payton and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt.

Straight, Waistless Look Of 1928 Returning for 1953

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Men who like women in wasp-waisted, big-skirted dresses with fitted bodices and frothy hats are in for a big disappointment.

Miss 1953 is on her way back to the straight, waistless look of 1928.

Photographs of London and Paris winter styles clearly show that the shapeless "jumper suit" look with draped bust and hip emphasis is tenaciously holding a front place in fashion—despite initial unpopularity.

The post-war styles with unpadded shoulders, microscopic waists and rustling skirt fullness introduced by Christian Dior have been whittled down to such as the Schiaparelli hobble-skirted, moss-green suit with bolero-backed jacket fronted by enormous hanging lapels of beaver lamb.

SLOWLY DYING

So far, the big-skirted look is making a slow exit—but worse is yet to come, fashion writers predict.

They say that such "surprise" outfits as the black cocktail suit with dead-straight skirt and unshaped, box jacket shown by Norman Hartnell gives the shape of things to come. This unromantic suit with jet fringing at skirt hem and jacket is much different from the rustling feminity of Hartnell's royal ball gowns.

It seems that whether or not we like it, the straight silhouette is on the way back. Since the 18th century, dresses have alternated from tiny-waisted crinolines to straight skirts with waists coming anywhere from under the bust to the hips, and back again.

The stately swan look of the 1900s gave place to the hobble skirts of 1910, followed by the tango dress of 1913, the tunic look of 1915 and the Dresden shepherdess style of 1916. And from the wide skirts of 1916, it was an easy swing to the waistless, Oriental styles of the early 1920s.

BACK TO 1920s

Now we're at it again. Skirts may be longer than in 1928, but the unwaisted jackets, slim skirts and short-cut hairstyles are not so different. Even the cap-style hats of the present day are an up-to-date version of similar 1920 styles.

In the recent collections a typical, unattractive straight style is a beige tweed suit by Balenciaga of Paris, its casual unfitted jacket buttoned from neck to waist and fringed at foot. The skirt is tight and tapering to the calf.

One of the smartest waistless styles is the big-shouldered gaucho jacket shown in London by Lachasse and featured in Paris by Bruyere as the poncho jacket. This makes a smart casual top to straight-skirted suits and dresses and should be a winner on the winter fashion rails.

DOROTHY DIX

Nervous Wife Needs Professional Help

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I both agreed to take our problem to you since we can't afford a psychiatriist. I had a hectic childhood and vowed, before I married, that I would never try to dominate my household or make my children and husband as unhappy as I had been.

When I did marry, I don't know what came over me. I began to feel frustrated, fell in love with another man for a brief spell, then had a nervous breakdown. I also suffered a loss of faith in God. That, however, has returned to me. We now have a nice apartment, after five years of marriage, three lovely children, and I feel the worst of the storm is over.

All my troubles, however, are not at an end. My husband and I argue constantly over unimportant things, mostly in front of our children. It's getting to be unbearable. I seem to be repeating the situations of my own childhood — which are the very things I was so determined to avoid. I feel if we continue like this I'll flare up and have another nervous breakdown. My husband and I are 14 years apart in age and both artists. I do portrait painting; he does scenery. While we love each other very much, we don't see eye to eye on bringing up the children, or in what makes life worthwhile. I love to go out—he likes to stay home

E. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While I do appreciate your confidence in rating my advice so well, I really cannot compete with the personal attention of a psychiatrist—which is definitely what you need. Your problem is, in itself, not insoluble, but you have overlaid it with so many fears, apprehensions and worries over the past that it's almost impossible to extrat the meat of your trouble. The effects of your nervous breakdown, coupled with an artistic temperament, make it difficult for you to see things in a good perspective. Actually, your only difficulty now seems to be continually quarreling—and, I suspect, a good portion of nagging on your part—over inconsequential things. A firm resolve to keep these arguments away from the children, and a little patience with your family, could overcome this trouble in no time. However, you cannot achieve the necessary consideration and patience until your nervous and physical ailments are professionally treated and cured.

YOU CAN TRY

If you want to try by yourself —and you would certainly deserve a good deal of credit if you could—get to work at once and learn to overlook minor flaws in your husband. You both have interesting work so, if he doesn't take you out as often as you think he should, don't nag! Set aside a definite and limited portion of each evening — or better still, stretch it out to each week end—to settle your differences. This can be the "argument" period, and should be held entirely away from the children.

Since you had a harried childhood yourself, and are sensible enough to realize the damage you can do to your own youngsters by repeating the pattern with them, pull yourself together. It will take a tremendous effort, but you know it will be worthwhile. The answer to your dilemma is in your own hands; don't let it slip.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The boy with whom I am going steady is starting at a military academy this fall. He doesn't want to go because he's afraid I'll break up with him while he's away. He'll only be home twice a year. I don't believe this will happen, but how can I assure him of it?

LOUISE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The boy, at his age, should be more concerned with acquiring an education than with romance. First things first! If you care enough for each other, time won't cause a separation.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two months ago I met a very nice boy. Several weeks later he invited me to a party and we had a wonderful time. Now I haven't heard from him in over a week. Do you think he is ending our frendship, or that perhaps he doesn't have the money to take me out?

DORIS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER A week really isn't giving the boy a chance. If you want to see him again, give him a little more time, then invite him to a get-together at your house. From there on, it's up to him.

Tulip Silhouette Shown In Styles At Winnipeg

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In Quebec City they have adopted the "tulip" silhouette, in Winnipeg, "fuzzy" hats, and from coast to coast women are choosing "poodle" cloth for autumn gear.

These are the outstanding fashion fact The Canadian Press has gathered in a Canada-wide survey of the autumn clothes parade.

Skirt lengths, always news, only are mentioned in Montreal where those close to the Paris grapevine vow they're due to descend.

In Halifax, experts find a "noticable" trend toward knobby "poodle" cloth and tweeds. They also forecast that coats will be slimmer than in the spring, and remarks on the prevalence of the french-inspired "middy" look.

At Winnipeg, princess-style coats have disappeared. Most stores now are showing loosely fitted toppers, often half-belted.

"Achieved simplicity" say Winnipeg fashion specialists, stressing the two-piece dress or sweater-dress for both afternoon and evening. Suits will be less fitted and the "pinched" waistline and padded hips replaced by cardigan-style jackets and narrower skirts.

In Quebec City fashion experts claim the new "tulip" style coats make the short woman appear taller. Adjusted coats with wide skirts still are popular.

Charcoal grey, caramel and burnt almond are among colors in demand everywhere. "Alarm" red, claret and a new shade known as Banff blue also are favored.

At Toronto, Canadian designers will be given their due by at least one large store which is featuring Canadian-made garments in a fall promotion campaign.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Menu, Pan-Roasted Sweet Potatoes

One-half of a boneless tenderized ham turned out to be a lifesaver for me this past weekend.

For one meal over the barbecue fire I cut off ¼-inch thick slices of it with a very sharp knife and fried them in our outsize frying-pan. With that I served marble-sized whole new potatoes that had been parboiled for 10 minutes, peeled, then fried in the ham fat. Yummie.

Next time we had it was as described in today's menu. After that it was ready to slice cold for Pete's lunches. (This is his last week as a dolomite heaver and sweeper in the open hearth department of the steel company before he stops to go to medical school.) Now it is ready to slice cold when the family has to get dinner for themselves because Mother is going out for dinner tonight.

(I'm betting some of you oldtimers are muttering "Next week she'll dish up that old reliable Ham Custard Pie of hers." Sure.)

SEPTEMBER MENU

Baked Tenderized Boneless Half-Ham
New Mustard Pickles
Pan Roasted Sweet Potatoes
Broccoli With Mock Hollondaise
Cucumbers In Sour Cream Dressing
Melons With Ice Cream and Blueberries or Sliced Peaches
Coffee

BAKED TENDERIZED BONELESS HALF-HAM

DIRECTIONS: Remove pliofilm casing from ham. Place on open baking pan. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. allowing 18 minutes per lb. if desired, this may be glazed by spreading over outside surface a mixture of ½ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon mustard and 2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar or honey or syrup from canned fruit. This glaze, if used, would be spread over ham about 45 minutes before it is finished baking.

NEW MUSTARD PICKLES

Four quarts medium - sized cucumbers which have been sliced and measured after slicing, ¼ cup salt, 1 quart sliced onions, 1 quart sliced red sweet peppers, 1 quart vinegar, 2 lbs. sugar (less if desired), 1 tablespoon mustard seeds, ¼ cup flour, 1 or 1½ teaspoons tumeric. Sprinkle the sliced cucumbers with the salt and let stand overnight. Drain well. Add the sliced onions and peppers to them. Mix together dry the sugar, spices, flour, turmeric and sugar and stir in the vinegar until smooth. Bring this to boiling stirring until thickened, then add mixed vegetables and bring to boiling point. Pack into jars and seal.

Pan Roasted Sweet Potatoes are especially good with baked ham when it is glazed as described above, for some of the glaze drips on them and they should be basted with the pan drippings and turned once or twice. They should be parboiled for 15 minutes, peeled, halved and added to pan about 45 minutes before baking time for ham is finished.

MOCK HOLLANDAISE

I am giving you this because it is less expensive than true Hollandaise and because there is no possibility of it curdling, if you happen to be a timid cook. In top of double boiler, mix together 2 tablespoons each butter and flour and when melted stir in ¾ cup milk until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, shake of cayenne, then stir in 2 beaten egg yolks, having pan standing off heat. Now return to bottom of double boiler but have water simmering. Stir into it 1-3 cup butter bit by bit, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. This is delicious on broccoli and cauliflower.

Cucumbers in Sour Cream Dressing are a Garny Special and this is what she does: Beat 1-3 cup sour cream until stiff and add gradually while beating 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and ½ tablespoon finely chopped parsley or chives. Partially or completely pare a cucumber and score lengthwise with fork and slice. Line small salad bowl with tiny inner lettuce leaves, pour dressing over them, stick cucumber slices sidewise into it and sprinkle with paprika. Very decorative.

Home And School Asociation News

HAVELOCK SCHOOL

HAVELOCK (ENS)—"Kindergarten" was the subject of an address given by Miss Gladys Hunter of the teaching staff of the public school when the Havelock Home and School Association commenced their activities for the season.

When your child enters school for the first time it is a great undertaking for him Miss Hunter said. The jump from home to Kindergarten is a big one and his happiness and future success may depend on his getting just the right start during the first day at school. Habits and attitudes are formed very early in an individual's life and regular attendance and punctuality are habits of far-reaching importance the kindergarten being one of the places where they are formed.

In speaking on "The Parents' part in the child's school life," Miss Hunter pointed out that it will help if the child can put on and take off its outer clothing and tie its own shoes; if it knows how to take care of its toilet needs; if it can follow simple directions and is learning to finish one thing before starting another; if it has learned to obey; if it has been given responsibilities at home; if it speaks clearly and avoids baby talk. Miss Hunter said that if a child had many stories read to it in the home it was an advantage in its school life. Under the part "Your child's health" she advised rest and sleep for 12 hours and a rest during the day, nourishing food and simple, comfortable clothing big enough that it will have no trouble in dressing itself. Under the third division of her subject, "Help your child grow naturally," Miss Hunter said: "These first days at school leave lasting impressions of the room, schoolmastes, and the teacher. The parents are rare who can put themselves in the place of a child, think, plan and act as a child. Parents, by their superiority of size, often impose their ideas, plans and aspirations without due consideration for how the child will be affected. In kindergarten children are accepted as individuals having separate needs, interests, abilities and limitations. They are given respectful consideration but not appeasement, encouragement not repression. The kindergarten is the place where the child will grow as a child and not as a miniature adult."

George Kennedy, as the accom-soloist singing "My Wonderful One" with her mother, Mrs. George Kennedy, at the accompanist. Mrs. George Hubbel was the acting program convener.

The president, Mrs. Burness Johnson, presided for the opening exercises and the business session when it was decided to give the usual support to the oratorical contest to be held on October 17 in the town hall, the matter of a donation for prizes to be decided by the executive.

A health talk was given by the health convener, Mrs. W. J. Nobes, on how the home can co-operate in furthering the good health of the children, pointing out that the government grants were based on the attendance.

The president announced that the following conveners had been appointed: health, Mrs. W. J. Nobes; publications, Mrs. W. Corneil; membership, Mrs. D. Kirk; publicity, Mrs. Grenville Rutherford.

There are three offices still vacant: program convener social convener and music convener.

The membership shield and prize of one dollar was won by Miss G. Hunter's room. Refreshments were served.

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Parkhill Home and School Association met Tuesday evening at the school, president Mrs. V. Ferguson presiding. An opening devotional period was conducted by Mrs. H. Lewis.

Many new parents from the large kindergarten class, were present, and this class won the attendance prize. New teachers, Mrs. Osborne and Miss M. Fleming (of the kindergarten) were introduced by principal Miss Cora Bailey.

Guest speaker was Miss Phyllis Moore, primary supervisor. She explained what mothers can do to prepare their children for school and also what teachers can do for the child at school. She stressed the importance of the pre-reading program of the kindergarten.

Mrs. V. Howson introduced Miss Moore and she was thanked by Mrs. R. Parnell.

Mrs. J. D. Jory was in charge of the membership table.

A light lunch was served at the close by Mrs. A. Lester and her committee.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Graduates of the Queen Elizabeth School were honored at the meeting of the Home and School Association Monday evening. They are Marcia Worton, Velma Hughey, Shirley McGrath, Marie Mason, Iona Dillman, Robert Drummond, George Heard, Raymond Willis and Robert Dargan.

Velma Hughey gave a short valedictory speech and the graduates were addressed by Mr. W. H. Frise.

A clever and amusing puppet show was presented by members of the Public Library staff and at close of the meeting the young people were served cake and ice cream.

Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Doll's junior grades.

President Mrs. Roy Hancock presided for the meeting. Reports were given by secretary Mrs. E. Hughey and treasurer Mrs. R. Kingdon. The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. W. Weaver and her committee.

MILLBROOK SCHOOL

The members of the Durham Area High School Board, were special guests at the opening meeting for the fall of the Home and School Association held in the high school auditorium on Monday night. Alex Gilbert, the new president, was in the chair.

Mrs. Bruce Dawson, vice-president, and program convener, introduced the chairmen of the boards, Stewart Ryan, Q.C. of Port Hope of the Durham High School Area Board, and David Fowler of the Millbrook board. They in turn introduced the other board members Reid Budge of Port Hope, H. W. Mitchell of Port Hope, Weston Bannister of Campbellcroft, Louis H. Winslow of Millbrook and Dr. M. E. Hobbs of Millbrook of the H. S. board were present.

Public school board members introduced were: Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, Dr. M. E. Hobbs, Louis H. Winslow, Ed Nattress, Fred Lowery and the secretary, Miss Edith Clarke. Mr. Ryan also introduced the principal of the high school, Miss Helen M. Black who in turn introduced her staff,Miss Bernice Mintha of Barrie's Bay, who replaces Miss Rita DeGuire of last year's staff, Harry Williams, and Bruce Ingham. Percy Hamilton introduced his staff also, Miss Jean Burnham and Mrs. Henry Gray. Both principals reported an increase in enrolment from last year. Mr. Hamilton also introduced the new music teacher, Miss Diann Hogaboam of Brockville, and the school nurse, Miss E. Raikes.

Slips of paper had been passed out on which the meeting had been asked to write any quotations they would like the boards' members or principals to discuss. Questions were asked regarding school grants the advantages of belonging to a high school area the formation of a student council, the advisability of sending five-year-olds to school where there is no kindergarten, and whether or not Millbrook was likely to get a new school in the near future.

At the close of the question period Mr. Ryan himself asked if the Home and School members would be willing to use their influence to encourage the council to give the high school area board permission to hire architects to plan a new school at Port Hope and an addition to the present school at Bowmanville. There was overcrowding in both schools he said, and the permission of the councils involved was necessary to get the work under way.

The musical part of the program was supplied by the male quintet comprising Gordon Might, Donald McKnight, Fraser Carr, Homer Ouellette, Melville McDowell who sang two numbers. The first was a sacred one, "Jesus Paid It All", and the second a secular one, "Cool Water."

Mr. Gilbert announced that the date of the Family Fun Night would be November 14. On that night Ed Nattress will be in charge of food, Percy Hamilton of films, Mrs. Herbert Bremner of the baking table and Mrs. M. E. Hobbs of the fish pond.

The prize for having the most parents out went to to the pupils of Miss Burnham's room.

Mrs. Wilfred Elson, the new social convener, and her committee served refreshments to the large attendance.

MAY'S SCHOOL

First fall meeting of the May's Home and School Association was held Monday night in the kindergarten room. President Mrs. A. Downer welcomed a large crowd.

Mrs. R. Williams read the Home and School creed and Mrs. A. Downer told the parents the aims of the Association.

Miss L. Kidd read the scripture and gave a very inspiring reading followed by a prayer.

Mrs. Downer then introduced the new executive members and conveners for the year: Vice-presidents, Mrs. R. Williams, Mrs. F. Spencely; treasurer, Mrs. P. Dyer; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Vogelsang; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. MacDonald; executive members, Mrs. S. Craig, Mrs. J. Cooper; conveners, membership, Mrs. O. Wells; health, Mrs. R. Waldie, press, Mrs. R. Armour, sunshine, Mrs. J. Holden, social, Mrs. O. Weese, and Mrs. W. Bugg; program, Mrs. F. James, Mrs. O. Dantzer; publication, Mrs. V. W. White.

Room mothers: Kindergarten, Mrs. G. Messervey, Mrs. G. Snelgrove, Mrs. J. Peel. Grade I, Mrs. R. Lucas, Mrs. G. Martin: Grade II, Mrs. W. Watt, Mrs. H. Darling: Grade III, Mrs. E. Connell, Mrs. G. Curtain: Grade IV and V, Mrs. E. English and Mrs. R. Bell.

Mrs. R. Waldie had a large display of health pamphlets and Mrs. V. White had a publication table set up which was well patronized.

Principal, Mr. G. Ball, introduced the new teachers: Miss J. Grills, Kindergarten teacher and Miss S. Plowman, Grade I teacher. Miss Grills then spoke to the new mothers telling them a few of the activities of the kindergarten.

Miss Phyllis Moore (supervisor of junior grades) speaker of the evening, was introduced by Mr. Ball.

Miss Moore said "every child is different and one must try to meet their needs. Their emotional pattern is set at five years of age and parents and teachers have to help the child live with his emotions among other people. Children differ mentally and we should not underestimate or overestimate a child's ability. We must also help a child to develop the right attitude toward reading."

Mr. Ball then showed two short films on the new film strip projector bought by the Home and School Association.

The attendance banner was won by Miss Grill's kindergarten room.

Mrs. F. James thanked the speakers of the evening.

Lunch was served by Mrs. O. Weese and Mrs. W. Bugg and their committee.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL

LAKEFIELD (ENS) —Speaking on "Opportunities", J. Howard Moebus, guidance director of P. C.V.S., urged students to obtain as much education as possible, when he spoke at the opening fall meeting of the Lakefield Home and School Association on Monday night in Memorial Hall. Present were the students who recently graduated from Grade eight into high school as well as many parents and friends.

"Twenty years ago industries considered the holder of an entrance certificate capable of taking a job, now they require at least Grade 10 and many are raising it to junior matriculation," said Mr. Moebus.

"If you want to get advanced education or into trades you need the assistance of vocational guidance", continued Mr. Moebus.

The greatest causes of failures in school were classed as; (1) no ambition—the child who goes to school because he must; (2) no system or method of study; (3) irregular attendance; (4) lack of concentration in class; (5) too many activities and (6) lack of ambition to excel.

Mr. Moebus was introduced by president Mrs. Stanley Burger and thanked by Walter Walker.

The many guests were received by Mrs. J. L. Fraser and Mrs. Harold Deeth, and the evening's entertainment was opened with prayer by the Rev. George Dowling of the Lakefield Baptist Church.

In a brief business period the treasurer, Mrs. Thos. Payton reported the balance on hand to be $102. The budget for the coming years was given by Public School Principal, E. G. Sloan.

Mr. Sloan also presented certificates to the successful candidates of Grade 8, who are now attending high school and Mrs. Charles Hunter on behalf of the Home and School Association presented the children with a school crest. The staff of the public school was introduced by Mr. Sloan.

An executive meeting for September 16th at the home of Mrs. E. Johnston was announced and also a tea for the mothers of beginners, to be held in Miss Kidd's room at 3:30 on Wednesday, September 17th.

Miss Connie Valance sang "The Bells of St. Mary's", accompanied by Miss Pauline Fitzgerald. Mrs. Harold Trude was at the piano for other numbers sung by the audience.

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

Opening meeting of Rifle Range Home and School Association was held Monday evening with president Mrs. W. Amos presiding. Devotional period was taken by Mrs. H. Quinn whose theme was "The Art of Fellowship".

A membership drive was announced for the October meeting with Mrs. K. Mann and Mrs. D. Flint as conveners.

Program convener for this year will be Mrs. P. Lavictorie with co-conveners as follows: Health, Mrs. A. Clark; Parent Education, Mrs. W. Muir; Visual Aids, Mrs. R. Stover. Social conveners will be Mrs. L. Welch and Mrs. H. Hope.

Plans were made to supply the school children with cod liver oil during the winter months.

A social half hour followed with Mrs. W. Muir and Mrs. L. Welch in charge, assisted by Mrs. J. Quinn, Mrs. J. Trennum and Mrs. H. Hope.

Robert John Carter

The funeral of Robert John Carter was held this morning from the Duffus Funeral Home to the Church of the Sacred Heart where the funeral mass was said at 9.00 o'clock by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan. Also in the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler and the Rev. W. C. McCarney.

An accountant for 40 years with the money order branch of the Post Office Department in Ottawa Mr. Carter died in hospital here on Monday after a short illness. He was 79 years old.

Mr. Carter, born in Middlesex county, was a veteran of the Boer War.

Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery with the Rev. G. Gaughan in charge of the graveside prayers. Pallbearers were Michael O'Keefe, Tony Basciano, Harold Whaley, Patrick Gahagan, Wilfrid Crowley and James Laing.

Man Dies 24 Hours After Tunnel Rescue

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (Reuters) Athanassios Athanassiades, 26-year old Greek tunnel worker trapped more than 24 hours after a cave-in, died in hospital today shortly after being rescued.

He had been trapped when huge beams fell across his legs in a railroad tunnel cave-in in the Rimutaka mountains north of here. The rest of the crew of 26 were rescued.

Rescue workers managed to talk to him during the operation through ventilation pipes.

He asked how many men were digging towards him.

When told there were 30 or 40, Athanassiades said: "Give each man five shovels and dig like hell."

Sets Fire To Clothes Man Dies Of Burns

SUDBURY (CP)—Wilfred Mellleur, 46, of Sudbury, formerly of Noelville, Ont., died in hospital today 36 hours after suffering body burns.

Police were outside the man's house when he allegedly poured gasoline over himself, and set fire to his clothing. He jumped through a window, 10 feet off the ground, and ran a quarter of a mile through nearby brush with his clothes flaming.

Police said they had visited the house to take the man for mental examination.

Hamilton Man Dies In Head-On Crash

BRANTFORD (CP) — William Paddock, 29, of Hamilton, was killed today in a head-on crash of two trucks during heavy fog on No. 2 highway two miles west of Paris.

Paddock's heavily-loaded tractor-trailer rolled over a steep embankment and was wrecked.

The other truck, which police said was driven by Lloyd Cook Jr., of Warwick, was extensively damaged, but remained upright on the highway. Cook was severely shaken up but escaped serious injury.

DHOWS, A TRADING VESSEL

Arab trading vessels that have long plied the Arabian Sea and East African coast are called dhows.

BILL, who really is a nanny goat, was born with only two stumps for hind legs, but can climb up and down steps and has no trouble at meal time. The 2½-month-old goat was rescued by Buddie Koontz, 12, shown feeding her, from a neighbor who had planned to destroy the animal. Now Billy is Buddie's pet.

Sales Technique Criticized By Magistrate

KITCHENER (CP)—Magistrate J.R.H. Kirkpatrick yesterday criticized Harvey Krotz' technique as an automobile salesman.

But he dismissed a charge against nurse Bernice Hinsperger, a prospective car buyer, of driving with the driver's seat crowded.

Evidence was that while Krotz was trying to sell her a car Aug. 21, he had one arm around her shoulders and was helping her drive by shifting the gears for her.

Said Magistrate Kirkpatrick:

"The terrible thing about this case is that Miss Hinsperger would not know whether Mr. Krotz was putting his arm around her to sell her a car or because he was fond of her."

Turning to Krotz, he added:

"I don't think your sales tactics are altogether commendable."

Few Books Beyond Repair In Parliament Library Fire

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Only a few of the valuable volumes damaged by water in the Parliamentary library fire Aug. 3 are beyond repair.

With the use of fans and humidifiers, experts from Canada and the United States and a small army of paid and voluntary workers, the books have been dried and salvaged, with perhaps the loss of about 100. Felix Desrochers, general librarian, believes these can be easily replaced.

Mr. Desrochers declines to estimate the cost of damage and repairs. It may run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, but it is not likely to reach $1,000,000. Main damage was caused by water.

Much of the library's 600,000-book collection soon may be stacked away out of the public's eye and reach for months to come.

FOR NATIONAL LIBRARY

In fact, if current plans are developed, these hundreds of thousands of volumes, covering a vast range of writing, from theology to fiction, may be locked away until the new National Library is constructed—and when that will be is anybody's guess.

Thousands of the damaged books, their covers hit by mildew, must be rebound, but when that is done, Mr. Desrochers believes they can be put back in use—when space for them is found.

The question of space—and repairs—now forms the library's biggest headache. The fire, believed caused by an electrical short circuit, hit the dome of the building, some 140 feet from the ground.

Thousands of gallons of water were poured into the flames which ate at the 87-year-old timbers supporting the glass and stone dome. Water poured down the varnished oaken walls and swirled over the inlaid mahogany-and-birch floor and the basement book storehouse below.

HUGE REPAIR JOB

The walls must be scraped and revarnished. Officials are thinking of making the basement fireproof and of generally modernizing the library, without changing its character. The ornate structure was built in 1865.

Meanwhile the excess volumes will be stored as soon as a storage spot can be found. Some of the volumes, which have been dried, are lining the corridors of Parliament's Hall of Fame. Others are in the Supreme Court of Canada building and still others in the old Bureau of Statistics building in lowertown Ottawa, recently vacated by the statisticians in favor of a new, modern structure.

With a new session of Parliament approaching, some book service must be provided Senators and Members of Parliament when the session begins Nov. 20. A temporary service of reference books on legislation may be set up in the Commons big railway committee room on the main floor.

PLANNING COMMITTEE

Dr. Kaye Lamb, Dominion archivist, has been placed in charge of a special committee to consider repairs to the Parliamentary library and development of the National Library.

The likely location of the National Library will be on the extreme left edge of the parliamentary grounds, on a cliff overlooking the Ottawa River and at the end of Ottawa's busiest thoroughfare—Bank Street.

Dig Up Old Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda warned today that when the West German army is built up by the Allies, it may strike towards the east—like Hitler did. Comparing the situation with that existing after the First World War, the Communist party organ said the United States has allied itself chiefly with West German "revengists."

Fashion Expert Sees Return Of Buxom Era

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Women are entering a new buxom era with Marilyn Monroe's figure being the norm, a fashion expert said today.

If the Monroe chassis is the norm, this may be the beginning of the wonderful postwar era we were promised but never got. Anyway, that is the prediction of Bill Thomas, fashion designer at Universal-International.

"Monroe's figure is a sign of the times," said the handsome young designer. "American women are realizing there is nothing wrong with flesh, as long as it is in the right places. It is certainly in the right places on Monroe.

BACK TO 90s

"I think we are seeing an end to the thin, emaciated look that has been the height of fashion ever since the '20s. In those days, women went for the straight, pencil-like form that denied the normal contours of the body. That look was sustained for years by the designers of Paris and New York.

"But now we are going right back to the '90s. The hour-glass figure is coming back. Fashion is finally returning to what men like best—women with meat on their bones."

Thomas said men have expressed their tastes in the film stars who have found the most favor. Among the masculine favorites, none of these could be considered slim — Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Jane Russell, Judy Garland, Shelly Winters, Elizabeth Taylor, Betty Grable

He mentioned other stars who have dieted themselves so painfully that they have to be padded for their film roles.

Thomas remarked that the new, upholstered era was made possible by the introduction of gadgets for slimming the waist. "With these devices, women can let themselves go," he said. "As long as their waistlines can be cut down, they will look fashionable."

Prisoners Surrender

First 813-Pound Tuna Gives Competitors Mark To Shoot At

By JACK BRAYLEY

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP)—Fair weather and near record pre-competition catches favored the start of the ninth international tuna tournament here today as six teams in a fleet of stout Cape Island boats tossed in the white water of Soldier's Rip fishing ground at the opening of the world series of big game fishing.

Last night the teams representing Brazil, British Commonwealth, Cuba, Mexico, the United States and Venezuela discussed the fish that cost them up to $50 a pound to land. The cost estimate for the wealthy sportsmen is figured on the basis of the total expense that goes into an expedition to this lucrative fishing hole in the North Atlantic.

NEWSMAN GETS ONE

A member of the press party gave the competitors something to shoot at yesterday by landing an 813-pounder after a two-hour fight. The tournament record is 871 pounds.

The big kill went to magazine man Rodman K. Tilt of Mount Kisco, N. Y. His biggest previous fish was an eight-foot sailfish off the Florida coast.

The other big battle of the day saw Daniel Coetzee set an impressive example for his brother, Dr. Edwin Coetzee, captain of last year's championship commonwealth team. He spent nearly an hour landing a 743-pounder—one of the half-dozen taken on the eve of the competition.

Daniel had never fished for tuna before, had listened to his brother's tales of fighting action in the turbulent waters of the tidal rip and had flown from Van Rhynsdorp, South Africa, to try his luck unofficially and cheer the British team.

BRITON CONFIDENT

If Daniel set the example, there is at least one veteran member of the British team who stands a good chance of following it. This is Maj. Cyril Frisby, the Victoria Cross holder who won the championship last year by landing the most fish.

"I think I'm going to be lucky again this year," he said.

"I certainly had all my bad luck in pre-tournament warmups. In the last few days I've broken my line when it snagged a rock, I've broken my leader and I've lost a hook. I've landed only two out of the five fish I've hooked. So I must be in line for good luck starting tomorrow."

The major has lost only six of the 56 tuna he's hooked over the last few years.

EUROPE - BOUND — This pelican is one of 14 captured on Lake Johnstone, southwest of Moose Jaw, Sask., and bound for a park in Scotland. They were captured by Ralph Stueck, an Abernethy, Sask., naturalist, shown here, assisted by Saskatchewan provincial museum workers. The pelican has no stomach and no tongue. It digests its food in the pouch under the bill which can hold 25 pounds.

Scotland Plans Helicopter Run

GLASGOW (CP)—Lord Douglas of Kirtleside, chairman of British European Airways, says that helicopters will soon be "popping in and out" around the western isles of Scotland. In fact, he said, Scots will operate what amounts to a flying bus service.

"Soon," however, means 1958. Helicopters are still in early stages of development. "You cannot make a helicopter with fewer than 35 seats pay," said Lord Douglas. Until these are forthcoming, it will be unprofitable to use that type of machine commercially.

Earlier, Lord Douglas talked about the experiment of using the south bank of the Thames as a possible helicopter base—with a view to cutting time of travelling to airports outside London and to nearby cities. Several trial landings were made in central London and the result provoked considerable optimism.

Careless Parents

MONTREAL (CP) — The city spends thousands of dollars each year in medical inspection of school children, but still there are many parents who pay no attention to the notices they receive regarding their children's health, says Health Director Dr. Adelard Groulx.

Exotic Bangkok Now City Of Intrigue

By WILLIAM PARROTT

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Exotic Bangkok, once tucked away unobtrusively in the folds of the Menam Chao Phyn (mother of the waters), is taking over Shanghai's place as a Far Eastern centre of intrigue and cosmopolitanism.

A city of graceful temples and muddy canals, it now is also a headquarters of international organizations, a centre for Far East trade, a listening place for spies and an operating base for smugglers.

It has become almost the Far East capital of the United Nations, with a rapidly increasing cosmopolitan foreign population and a crossroads for airlines running to Burma, India and Europe, Hong Kong and Japan, the Philippines and the United States, and Singapore and Australia.

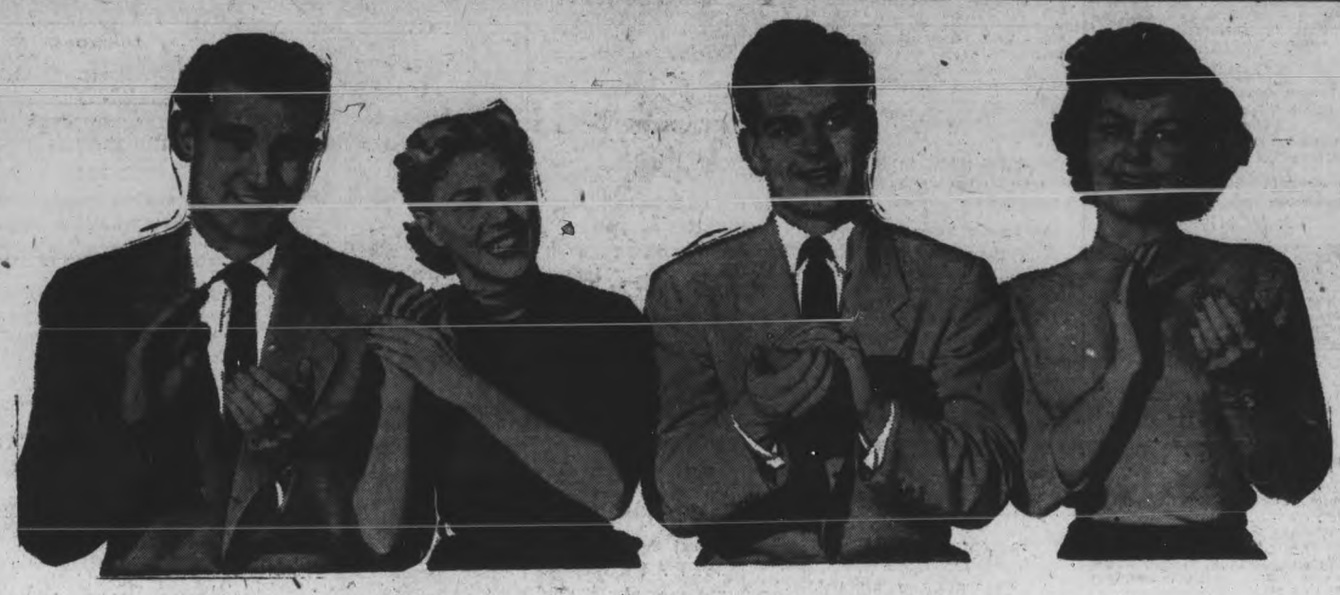
U.N. AGENCIES

Three United Nations agencies have made their headquarters for southeast Asia in this city of more than 1,000,000—the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, the Food and Agricultural Organization and the U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund

Many foreign firms made Bangkok their headquarters for southeast Asia. Commercial and general foreign interests are represented by about 25 diplomatic and consular missions.

The city has also acquired postwar importance as a listening post and plotting ground in connection with events in China, Indo-China, Malaya and Burma.

Communists, Nationalists of various origins and innumerable other political agents watch and spy night and day with a cloak-and-dagger technique.



MUCH SMUGGLING

Gold, opium and other high-priced commodities are smuggled in and out of Thailand. Bangkok, with a free money market, has become an important financial centre and smart exchange manipulators have made huge fortunes.

The narrow- ill-formed city streets can scarcely cope with the wealth of modern motor cars which move crowds of many nationalities.

Half a dozen languages can be heard at a time in the lounges and bars of the modern hotels.

Night clubs, under European or American management, offer anything from T-bone steaks to shaslick in an atmosphere of shrill excitement which is anything but typically Siamese. And the prices are startingly Western.

Broadway Marquees Dim In Tribute To U.K. Actress G. Lawrence

NEW YORK (AP) — Theatre marquees dimmed along Broadway's Great White Way last night in final tribute to a fallen star, Gertrude Lawrence.

The dimming of the lights at 8:30 p.m.—curtain time on Broadway—was duplicated in London's theatrical west end in memory of the English-born girl who died of cancer Saturday at the height of her career. Her funeral was yesterday.

The St. James Theatre on west 44th Street was closed last night. There Miss Lawrence scored her last and perhaps her greatest stage triumph in "The King and I."

Some 5,000 persons stood in sombre silence outside the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church for the afternoon funeral service. Inside, 1,800 others attended the service. Among the mourners were some of the biggest names in show business.

ROSES ON COFFIN

A blanket of red roses covered the coffin. Miss Lawrence lay dressed as she was on stage in her last performance.

From an English country garden came a one-pound box of her native soil with a note which read:

"Please do all possible to deliver this as soon as humanly possible as this carton is from a personal friend of Gertrude Lawrence to be buried with Gertrude Lawrence."

The note was unsigned.

The little mound of soil was delivered to the church in its wooden box.

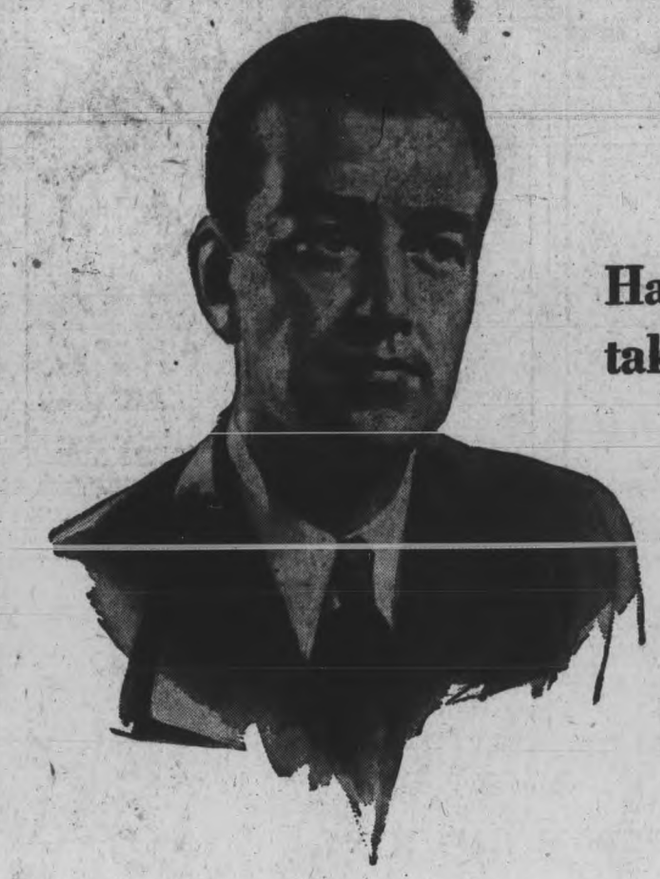
Hear General Cuss On Radio

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower cussed a bit in the middle of a political speech here last night.

The Republican presidential nominee was talking about the nickel cigar being a lost hope in this era of soaring prices when his audience broke in with applause. Eisenhower, who was speaking with the aid of a teleprompter, was heard by a national radio audience, but not those in the hall, to say this:

"Go ahead! Go ahead! Go ahead! Yah, damn it, I want him to move up."

A teleprompter is a device on which notes to prompt a speaker are written in large letters. It is used frequently in telecasts. An assistant operates it to reveal new notes as the speech progresses.



U.S. Gov't. May File Suits In Oil Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mutual Security Agency has turned over documents to United States Justice Department which may result in government suits against two U. S. oil companies, alleged to have overcharged for crude oil paid for by foreign aid funds. M.S.A. announced this action Tuesday.

The federal government already has filed charges against four other big U. S. oil companies, accusing them of overcharging the U. S. by $67,000,000 for oil shipped to Marshall Plan countries.

In today's action, M. S. A. said "possible claims for overcharges" are involved in shipments made also by Gulf Oil Company and the Atlantic Refining Company. These companies and Socony Vacuum Oil Company, which already has been sued in district court here, are alleged to have overcharged for oil delivered from the tiny sheikdom of Kuwait on the Persian Gulf.

These shipments covered the period from May 3, 1949, to Aug. 31 of this year.

Have I enough insurance to take proper care of my family?

"If I were not here to provide for them, could they go on living in our present home—or would they have to give it up and move away?

"Would my boy and girl get the education we've planned for them—or would they be forced to quit school part way through?

"Would my wife have some income as long as she lives—or might she run out of money some day?

"How much insurance is enough—in my case?"

Squads Of Police Seal Off Homes Of Officials

CAIRO (Reuters)—Special army and police squads today sealed off the offices and homes of a number of senior Egyptian government officials after carrying out wide-spread searches in connection with the Palestine arms scandal. Investigators claimed to have seized "important documents" during searches of the offices of Abdul Aziz Nasser, undersecretary for finance; Abbas Abdou, controller general of purchases at the ministry of finance; and Ahmed Niazy, finance secretary to the ministry of war and marine.

The Palestine arms scandal has been a red-hot issue in Egyptian politics since Gen. Mohammed Naguib took over control and ousted King Farouk. Various high officials are alleged to have bought up obsolete military equipment cheaply and sold it to the Egyptian Army at fat prices when Egypt was fighting Israel.

HASN'T RETURNED

Nasser left for Europe July 23, the day of Naguib's coup d'etat, and has not returned.

While the main raid was in progress another force swooped on the ministry of commerce and industry and removed 24 bulky files from the office of Hanafi el Sayed Fahmi controller-general of the industrial department. He is also out of the country on leave.

Tax Agreement With Ottawa Declared Poor

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario government economist yesterday criticized tax agreements between the Dominion and provincial governments.

George Gathercole told the National Tax Association that the agreements bear little relation to tax potential and the payments to the provinces are not made on a logical basis.

His criticism stirred keen interest among the Canadians at the conference because the Ontario government recently signed a tax agreement with the federal administration. Quebec is the one province without an agreement.

Mr. Gathercole said the criticisms were not aimed at the authors of the agreements but at the weaknesses of the plan itself.

Chief defect was that agreements with the different provinces did not confirm to a sound principle. Payments varied from province to province "without rhyme or reason." Ontario had the largest tax productivity yet it received the second lowest per capita payment. The agreements also failed to satisfy any accurate test of fiscal need.

Drive Reds Back From Outpost

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The Communists today blanketed Capitol Hill with mortar and artillery fire after failing in a night of bloody grenade and bayonet fighting to capture the central-front outpost from South Korean troops.

The U. S. Eighth Army said Red big guns poured 30 rounds a minute throughout the day at Korean infantry which had chased Chinese troops from Capitol Hill at dawn.

Two hundred dead Chinese were counted on the mud-caked slopes after the night-long battle, the Eighth Army said. Another 300 were estimated killed.

United Nations B-26s, using radar-aiming techniques flew through overcast skies to bomb Red western-front positions.

Cheese, Sugar Prices Up In UK

LONDON (Reuters)—The price of cheese, sugar and shortening goes up in Britain tomorrow—in the midst of growing living cost complaints and wage claims from organized labor.

The government will announce the new prices tomorrow as part of the policy undertaken by Prime Minister Churchill's administration to cut down on the food subsidies.

After election in October, 1951, the government slashed 40 per cent off the £400,000,000 which the former Labor government was paying food producers in an effort to keep retail prices down.

Up to July 1 food increases had amounted to about 11 pence per month per week. Tomorrow's jump will bring the figure to one shilling and sixpence.

The government spread out the increases so as to gear them with the operation of certain compensating social benefits. These include increased pensions and higher family allowances under the social security system and cuts in income tax. Most of these now are in operation.

Sign Israeli Agreement In Glacial Silence

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Agreements under which West Germany is to pay Israel the equivalent of $822,000,000 to compensate Jewish victims of Nazi persecution were signed in glacial silence here yesterday.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany and Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett of Israel were the principals in a frigid, 10-minute ceremony at the Luxembourg City Hall, the first formal diplomatic exchange between the two countries.

There was no public handshaking or conversation, though press officers said Adenauer and Sharett shook hands amiably at a meeting beforehand.

In a treaty hammered out in months of negotiations, the Germans promise to pay Israel a total of 3,450,000,000 marks—roughly $822,000,000—over a period of 12 to 14 years, depending on their ability to pay.

Killed Countess Man To Die

LONDON (Reuters)—Three minutes ticked by on the clock of Old Bailey criminal court.

In that time a murder trial opened, ended, and a man was sentenced to die for the jealousy slaying of a beautiful Polish countess who became famous during the war as a British spy.

That was the way Dennis Muldowney, 41, wanted it. He confessed his guilt, refused to have a lawyer and would not say anything in his defence.

Muldowney had admitted a tempestuous love affair with 37-year-old Christine Granville, countess, beauty queen, British agent and heroine of the underground struggle against Hitler. He confessed he stabbed Christine to death because she was seeing another man.

When the judge sentenced him to "hang by the neck until you are dead and may the Lord have mercy on your soul," Mulrowney replied calmly:

"He will."

$300,000 Damage Suspect Sabotage

BOSTON (AP) — Naval headquarters disclosed today that metal chips found in the reduction gears caused $300,000 damage to the destroyer Pritchard in what may have been sabotage.

Rear-Admiral John L. McCrea, commandant of the first district, said a naval intelligence investigation to determine if it was sabotage has not yet been completed.

He said the damage was discovered about a month ago just before the Pritchard was to leave on a training cruise.

Bank Robberies Soon Ended By Arrests

MONTREAL (CP)—Wilfrid Bourdon, chief of Montreal detectives, predicted today arrests will be made "soon—perhaps tonight"—to break up a gang which has raided seven banks in this city since Aug. 1.

About noon yesterday, a lone bandit held up the head office of Imperial Bank of Canada and collected $1,500. Less than three hours later, two gunmen robbed a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce of more than $5,000.

Drought-Ridden Texas Now Battling Bad Floods

DALLAS (AP)—Heavy rains, gold-laden for ranchers, dented Texas' drought today and continued in dwindling local showers as flood-threatened towns fought back surging streams.

But for most of the state the long, costly drought—estimated to have cost Texas farmers up to $400,000,000—continued.

The downpours, centred in the hill country of southwest Texas, smashed small dams and were blamed for loss of at least three lives. They were mostly too late to help the drought-stricken cotton and grain sorghum crops.

TOWNS CUT OFF

Late last night the flood waters isolated five towns in south central Texas as once-shrivelled streams burst from their banks.

Kerrville, Fredericksburg, Johnson City, Comfort and San Saba, police said, were cut off by high water. One man was drowned after an embankment collapsed beneath him. Two other persons died in an auto accident blamed on a rain-slick highway.

Before Fredericksburg became isolated, townspeople said two creeks which run through the town were at flood stage. Joshua Dam, near the tiny town of Welfare, broke and caused a flood in the Guadalupe River.

Hennings dam, two miles upstream from Fredericksburg, burst and threatened serious damage to the area.

Railroad and highway bridges were washed away. The Llano River was reported up 30 feet and still rising.

Lower Colorado River officials estimated flood level on the Pedernales River at Johnson City as 50 feet early today. Gauges registering only 40 feet were far under water.

Freighter Knocks Lighthouse Over

AMHERSTBURG (CP)—A freighter hit a lighthouse in a dense fog early today.

The impact of the freighter Kulas toppled the Livingston Channel lighthouse into the Detroit River. Lightkeeper Everett McGuire of Windsor swam to shore.

Marine officials, who said the light will be out of commission indefinitely, could not recall any similar accident in this area.

In another mishap blamed on fog, the 532-foot ore carrier George R. Fink ran aground on the Canadian shore near here after striking a navigation marker in the channel. Its stern came to rest almost on the front lawn of the summer home of Don R. Webster.

Predict Heat Wave Last Till Weekend

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's heatwave will last until Friday night or longer, weather officials said today. Temperatures of 85 to 90 degrees are expected for southern Ontario tomorrow, with a low of 65 tonight.

A high of 90 was predicted for Toronto today. The Toronto record for Sept. 11 is 96 degrees, set in 1931.

Temperatures were some 20 degrees warmer than normal across the province last night.

Constitution Undertaken Immediately

Preserve Sovereignty In Most Matters; Moving Carefully

LUXEMBOURG (Reuters)—A draft constitution for a United States of Europe should be ready in six months under a resolution approved yesterday by six west European foreign ministers.

The new political community would tie in with all the other "United Europe" organizations—the working coal-steel pool, the European Defence Community and the Council of Europe.

The United States of Europe would be a confederation of six countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—preserving their sovereignty in all matters except those specifically delegated to the common Parliament.

WILL DO JOB

The constitution-drafting will be done by the high authority of the Schuman coal-steel pool in Strasbourg, France. Agencies of the Council of Europe will help. This is designed to satisfy Britain, which refuses to join the United States of Europe, but wants to be closely associated with it. Britain's reason for staying out is that she is the mother country of the British Commonwealth and could not cede sovereignty which belongs to the Commonwealth.

The plan is to set up a two-house Parliament in Europe. The lower house would be filled by direct elections in the six countries. The upper house menbers would be elected, or nominated, by the participating governments.

HOW MUCH ? ? ? Three young misses, part of the thousands who attended the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Wednesday, rushed from the main entrance gate to a gay midway stand. Attracted by a display of fluffy canes they clutched spending money in hot little hands while bargaining with the concessionaire; they appeared to be taken aback at the price. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Elect Missionary Moderator Of United Church

HAMILTON (CP)—A jovial 65-year-old college principal from India was elected Moderator of the United Church of Canada last night—the first time the church's highest office has gone to a missionary.

Rt. Rev. A. A. Scott, principal of the Christian College at Indore in central India, and a missionary there for 40 years, was elected on the fourth ballot at the 15th biennial General Council. He was chosen over five others.

In a brief address to the 400 commissioners attending the 10-day meeting and representing the church's 2,000,000 members, he expressed surprise at his election because he knew few of the delegates.

Other candidates for the office, which runs two years, were Rev. Denzil G. Ridout, secretary of the missionary and maintenance department, of Toronto; Rev. T. T. Faichnery, minister of the first United Church, Galt; Rev. W. G. Willan, Queen Avenue Church, New Westminster, B.C., and Ivan C. Robison, Calgary, one of the few laymen ever to be nominated for the office. Mr. Robison is president of the Alberta Conference Lay Association.

SISCO WITHDRAWS

Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the General Council and one of the church's most prominent officers, also was nominated but withdrew.

Voting was by secret ballot and on each ballot the low man was dropped.

In a simple, but impressive ceremony after the election, the retiring Moderator, Very Rev. C.M. Nicholson of Halifax, installed Dr. Scott by placing the stole of office, with the crest of the United Church embroidered on each side, on his shoulders.

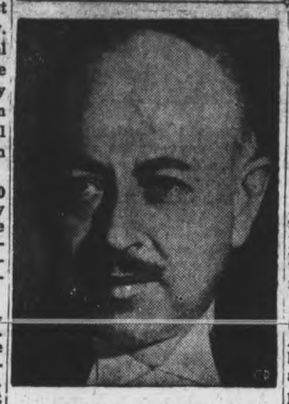
Mexican Plan Being Studied

LONDON (Reuters)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Mexican proposals to settle the prisoner-of-war deadlock in Korea will be given "the close attention they deserve."

The Mexican government is reported to have suggested that:

1. Prisoners refusing repatriation should be divided among United Nations countries and given opportunity for employment.

2. Prisoners taken out of Korea under the plan would be given assurance of safety on their return when conditions are normal.



Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was expected to discuss the plan today with Trygve Lie, the U. N. secretary-general.

Lie, who said in New York yesterday he supports the Mexican plan in principle, arrived today and was to lunch with Eden.

L. B. Pearson, the Canadian external affairs minister, is also expected to see Lie today.

Exhibition Reports Record Attendance

Attendance jumped Wednesday to a record for opening day at the Peterborough Exhibition when 15,881 people passed through the gates. Of these 9,977 were children. Exhibition officials described it as one of the most successful days the fair has had. And as clear warm weather looked ready to prevail again today, they were even more hopeful of a record year. By 6 p.m. Wednesday, well over 10,000 people had passed through the gates. Nearly all of these were children, who were given a half holiday by public and separate schools and free tickets by the exhibition board.

TO PROBE ESCAPE—Judge Ian Macdonell of Toronto will conduct an Ontario Royal Commission inquiry which is to investigate how four desperate criminals escaped Monday from Toronto's Don Jail. Premier Frost, announcing the investigation, also said the jail governor, deputy-governor and six guards on duty at the time of the escape were suspended. The escaped gang members are Edwin Alonzo Boyd, wanted for bank robbery; Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson, wanted for murder and attempted murder, and William Jackson, convicted bank robber.

On their heads the children jammed novelty hats, and in their hands were jammed everything from whistling birds and balloons to samples of plywood, candy floss, and taffy apples.

The rich food reacted in its usual way, too. At the St. John Ambulance Brigade tent, a number of children showed up lost and with queasy stomachs.

LOOK EVERYWHERE

Looking everywhere, the kids jammed every road on the fairground, hurried in and out of buildings, and wandered wide-eyed through cattle barns and the midway.

They made the grandstand their home for both the afternoon and evening performances. Nine hundred and sixty-six of them were in the grandstand for the afternoon show; 366 for the evening performance.

Paying no attention when the stage show bored them, they rushed up and down the seats, across the track, in front of the stage, and along the walk in front of the stands.

Some of them found a new way to get into the grandstand free. Somehow they would get on the grass in the infield, then run over near the stage.

Police Watching For Automobile

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Provincial Police, in a province-wide hunt for the Boyd gang, today broadcast over its radio network an order to investigate an automobile reported to have left Fort William at 3 p.m. yesterday carrying four men, one with a limp.

The bulletin described the car as a 1952 model (Chevrolet) with Quebec licence plates.

In Fort William yesterday a waitress told police she had seen a man resembling Edwin Alonzo Boyd, believed the leader of the gang that broke out of the Don jail here Monday.

Friday's Fair Fare

Judging: beef cattle 10 a.m., swine 10 a.m., horse judging in front of grandstand during performances.

Racing: 2.24 trot and pace ($300 purse), 2.15 trot and pace ($400 purse). First heat at 8 p.m.

Grandstand shows at 1:30 and 7 p.m.

Province-Wide Gang Aided Jail Escape—Frost

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Edwin Alonzo Boyd today appealed to her jailbreaking husband to give himself up. The appeal, in her own handwriting, was reproduced on the front page of a Toronto paper. It read: "My dearest Eddie: Am I asking too much of you under the circumstances to give yourself up? If to anyone to me, or to the men both you and I know would give you a fair deal. I have thought this over so much in the past three days, and knowing me as your devoted wife, I'll wait for you no matter what the outcome may be. God willing, we will have the privilege of growing old together. This is all I ask of you and Eddie Remember always I love you dearly. Yours, Frances Boyd."

Mrs. Boyd said she and the oldest three of her children will broadcast a similar appeal tonight.

PRAISED BY MAYOR

Mayor Allan Lamport praised Mrs. Boyd's action and said:

"If he ever wants to be with his wife and children again, he should listen to her appeal. He could come in and take his medicine before he is killed.

"The hunt is on and the police are never going to give up. They have instructions to shoot to kill and even if Boyd doesn't want to show consideration for his wife and children, at least he should come in to save his own skin."

There were no new developments overnight in the hunt for Boyd and his gang who escaped Monday — Leonard Jackson, Steve Suchan and William Jackson. Rewards totalling $26,000 have been offered for them.

PROVINCE-WIDE GANG

Premier Frost said today he believes the escape and the continued freedom of the Boyd gang has been made possible by "a province-wide underworld organization with a link in the Don Jail."

He said he is baffled by the ease with which the gang made its getaway after escaping from the cell block believed the safest in the jail.

"We hear of hacksaws, doors open, and then the gang quietly slipping over the wall. I am unable to understand it. We will get to the bottom of it, no matter where the chips fall."

Investigators, reluctant to comment on the premier's suggestion of an underworld organization, said they have little hope of capturing the men through underworld cont-

Sixth Army Cadet Dies After Accident

TORONTO (CP)—The death toll in Saturday's army truck accident in the Owen Sound area rose to six today with the death in hospital here of Cadet W. J. Smith, 18, of Moncton, N. B.

Four officer cadets were killed when the truck swerved off the highway near Meaford to avoid a dog and crashed into a tree. One other died of injuries the next day and Smith early today.

Smith, John T. Lauder, 18, of Halifax and Charles J. Cheverie of Charlottetown, all officer cadets, were brought to Sunnybrook hospital here.

Hospital authorities say Lauder is progressing well, although still on the serious list and Cheverie is "coming along fine."

Tito Doesn't Believe Reds Planning To Attack Soon

SPLIT, Yugoslavia (AP)—Premier Josip Tito says he is convinced the Russians are not planning an attack on Yugoslavia in the near future. If it does come, he warns, it will spark a Third World War.

In an interview with a group of visiting Norwegian newspaper men, released last night, the Yugoslav leader emphasized that his country would resist any attack.

"We are ready," he said. "Our people cannot be bluffed." He described the chances of such a Soviet move as a "constant and latent" but not "imminent" danger.

Tito reasoned that Soviet aggression would bring on world war because, he said, the west was aware that Russian conquest of country would mean Russian domination of the Mediterranean life line to the east.

TITO CONFIDENT

In his answers, Tito showed confidence in the strength of his regime despite the hostility of his Cominform neighbors and economic troubles stemming from one drought in 1950 and another this year. He also made clear his reasons for believing the west would continue to send him military equipment.

"The question of defence of Western Europe depends to a very large degree on Yugoslavia, no matter what the propagandists say," he declared.

Among his other answers, Tito made these points:

1. Yugoslavia could defend herself successfully against any attack by one of the Soviet satellites. A general assault with Russian backing would be a different matter.

WANTS MORE ARMS

2. Yugoslavia needs more military equipment from the United States, especially jet planes, heavy armor and radar.

3. Yugoslavia will not give up her claims on Trieste, the strategic Adriatic seaport which is the subject of a bitter dispute between this country and Italy.

Russians Free 2 British Army Officers

BERLIN (Reuters)—Two British officers arrested Tuesday in Communist East Berlin were released today. The two, vacationing from their posts in West Germany, were arrested while sightseeing.

Maj.-Gen. F.C. Colen, British Berlin commandant, protested to the Russian authorities, saying the officers were in uniform and consequently had freedom of movement anywhere in Berlin.

A British spokesman said the two had no complaints to make of their treatment.

He said they had been arrested for taking photographs while touring East Berlin on a motorcycle. The machine was returned with them.

Colen also asked for information about three British soldiers who disappeared Tuesday on the Berlin-West Germany highway.

Russian troops stopped allied military police cars on the highway today for the third straight day. United States and British patrols were refused permission to cross a half-mile strip of Soviet territory and had to make a detour to reach the checkpoint at Dreilinden on the outskirts of Berlin.

British authorities last night reported that Pte. Frederick Wells, 24, had returned to his unit after being in East Germany for seven months. He was under close arrest and no details of his absence or return were disclosed.

Five Parachute From Plane

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—The pilot and four passengers parachuted safely from an air force C-45 north of Utica last night, and the plane headed northwest under automatic controls.

All five men were found uninjured.

About 70 minutes after they had bailed out, police reported an unidentified plane had crashed into Lake Ontario near Oswego, N. Y., miles northwest of here.

An investigator for the Civil Aeronautics Authority said he believed the Lake Ontario plane was the C-45.

Maj. Wilton Hodges, air adjutant general at Griffiss, said the plane had apparently developed trouble in one engine.

Want Prove Chivalry Not Dead In South

ATLANTA (AP) — An aroused group of southern gentlemen believes the south should rise again—on trolleys, that is, when the ladies are standing.

Chivalry isn't dead. It's incorporated.

The Order of Southern Gentlemen, Inc., has been granted a charter to promote "appreciation of the characteristics of southern chivalry."

"There just isn't enough chivalry left in the south," observed one member. "You get on a trolley and all the men are sitting while the ladies are standing. It used to be the other way around."

Everyone In Village Helps Fight Fire

CASSELMAN (CP)—Practically every adult in this village 35 miles east of Ottawa turned out early today to battle a blaze which threatened the $150,000 co-operative flax mill.

Volunteer firemen and residents, from parish priest to postmaster, were roused when the blaze was discovered in the roof about 2 a.m. It was brought under control about two hours later, with damage limited to about $15,000. It is believed a short-circuit may have started the fire.

3 Armed Thugs Rob 2 Banks, Take $6,500

MONTREAL (CP)—Three armed bandits robbed two banks here within less than three hours yesterday and escaped with more than $6,500.

In the first holdup, a gunman walked into the head office of the Imperial Bank of Canada just before noon, pointed a gun at a cashier and gave her a note ordering her to hand over $3,000.

The cashier, Miss E Mein, pushed $1,500 across the counter and the bandit pocketed the money and darted out into the crowded street.

GET $5,000

In the second, two men held up a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Notre Dame and Duquesne Streets and fled with a little more than $5,000.

The pair entered the bank and casually placed a duffle bag on a chair, then pulled out revolvers and pointed them at cashier Marcel Hetu. One of the men, in French, said "This is a holdup."

Hetu, manager Detek Pearce and two other cashiers were herded into a corner and told to sit on the floor. One of the men covered them with a gun while the other raided the bank tills. They apparently were frightened away when a telephone rang.

MENNONITE NOMADS—A Mennonite family of nine, en route from Manitoba to southwestern Ontario in an old jalopy, was forced to spend the night near Kitchener in the car when unable to find anyone who could understand Spanish or the German dialect they spoke. The family, originally from Mexico, expects to work in tobacco fields at Tillsonburg. Back row (left to right) they are: Abraham Loewen, his wife Elizabeth and daughter Margaret, 2; Elizabeth, 16, Anna, 14; front row, Helen, 3, John, 5, Abraham, 14, and Jacob

Elect Missionary

Then after his brief address and the doxology, Dr. Scott pronounced the benediction.

Later when Dr. Scott met reporters, he said his election will be an inspiration to all missionaries and those interested in missions. He said he hopes to visit all areas where the church maintains missions as well as visiting as many churches in Canada as possible.

Both Dr. Scott and his wife are natives of Carleton Place, Ont., where his father was a clergyman. He graduated from Knox College, Toronto, in 1911 and the following year did post-graduate studies at Edinburgh and Glasgow on a travelling scholarship. In 1912, he was ordained and went to Indore, then a Presbyterian mission, where he has served ever since. It became a United Church mission at church union in 1925.

NOW ON LEAVE

Dr. and Mrs. Scott arrived in Canada five weeks ago on a 1½-year furlough.

One of their daughters, Mrs. Lyle Wilson of Toronto, was at the council to offer congratulations. They have two other children, a son, Donald, of Collingwood, Ont., and a daughter, Mrs. David Lewis, who recently went to Nairobi, Kenya, where her husband is an architect.

Before the election Dr. Nicholson called for eventual union of the United Church, the Church of England in Canada, the Presbyterian Church in Canada and the Baptist Church.

Discussions are being held between United and Anglican churches concerning the eventual organic union of the two bodies. Until that is accomplished they are seeking ways to co-operate closely in many fields.

Today the council turns to consideration of church reports. Before it ends its work it will consider a wide range of subjects such as liquor advertising, smoking by minors, civil and religious liberties and the leftist Canadian Peace Congress headed by Dr. James Endicott, former United Church missionary in China.

A report from the commission on church and international affairs calls for a campaign for peace which would have the support "of many United Church people who believe that this area of Christian work and witness has been left exclusively to the Canadian Peace Congress and related works."

DEPLORE RED SYMPATHIZERS

A memorial from the Markdale United Church deplored the actions of "certain clergy and missionaries in supporting the cause of communism in China" and called on the General Council to repudiate them. The memorial mentioned no names but some ministers and laymen said they think it is directed at Dr. Endicott, among others.

The Markdale memorial may not reach the general meeting. It first will be considered by the resolutions committee which will decide whether it goes before the General Council.

Dr. Sisco said in an interview that although the church no longer has jurisdiction over Dr. Endicott because he has resigned from the ministry, his name could easily come before the council when the sessional committee on overseas missions makes its report.

Television Star Attraction In Manufacturers' Building

Everyone at the Peterborough Exhibition goes to see the exhibits in the Manufacturers' building and this year everyone saw television.

TV has become common enough in Peterborough that many could take the television shows in their strides. But for the majority, both from the city and the rural areas, it was still pretty much of a novelty.

Under all the attention, the sets behaved very well and reception was fairly good. One or two sets developed flop-over occasionally —very occasionally.

The AV sets may have been the star of the show, but every attractive display in the manufacturers' building received considerable attention from the opening day crowd. The people peered and poked and asked prices.

One of the most popular booths, partly because it was children's day was a Cherney Bros. booth that featured a mechanically bucking horse. An attractive young cow girl stood by and held on one tiny rider after another as the horse got no rest all afternoon and most of the evening. The boys and girls paid a nickel to try to break in the bucking bronco.

The Order of the Eastern Star operated a booth where fair goers get fresh energy from hot dogs, pop and an assortment of other refreshments.

WIDE VARIETY

The T. Eaton Co. booth showed a wide variety of things for the home in their display. There were sewing machines, pianos, refrigerators, stoves and many other household items.

The Rehill Co. had an attractive display showing many of fuel and building products they feature. Right next door there were two 1952 Austin cars on show and many people had a look at the cars' new features and design.

In two booths, the Sanitary Ice and Fuel Company showed furnaces and stoves that are the company's headliner products. Kool Vent metal awnings were shown in another booth.

The J. Lnych drug store showed many of its products in another booth. Blackood and Co. had a large display of everything in the household furniture and appliance line, including television.

The Beaver Lumber Co. had an attractive display showing how their many building products could be used in building homes. At a booth operated by Abbott of England, a candy company, most attention was being paid to a wide variety of knives also offered for sale.

Cherney's had a double booth display showing television and much of their other merchandise for the home.

Many fine rugs and carpets were on show at the Bassells booth and next door, the Hoover Co. was showing off its vacuum cleaners.

Facing each other on the centre aisle of the building were two of the largest displays—C.G.E. and R.C.A.F. The C.G.E. was displaying all their home appliances from washing machines to television sets. The R.C.A.F. equipped their booth with working parts of jet aircraft and with men who know what it is all about and are ready to explain it to everyone.

The Investors Syndicate of Canada sponsored a daily draw and issued pamphlets explaining how they can help people to make the right investments with their spare cash.

FOR HOME BUILDERS

The Peterborough Lumber Co. showed many of the new materials being used in their display. In a neighboring booth Norman Graham was telling all of the advantages of his paint.

Another big display in household appliances was at the Gibbons and Knox booth. They too showed everything in the appliance line that could be used in the home.

Furnaces are featured in the booth of W. J. Cripps. Superior Propane Ltd. has a large display of stoves and refrigerators that use gas to give both heat and cold.

Many of the latest fashions in men's and women's shoes are shown at Neill's Shoe Store exhibit.

The H. C. Downhman nursery of Bowmanville has a booth showing colored pictures of the flowers and shrubs that they grow.

The St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary at its booth is selling a wide variety of knitted and crocheted baby's clothes as well as tea cloths and many other attractive articles made by the members themselves.

The Sealdaire Co. has a booth to show their product and men there will tell you of the advantages of insulating your home.

GOVERNMENT BOOTHS

Both the Federation of Agriculture and the Department of Labor have booths which extend to the fair the services they offer in their offices. Across the aisle the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation have placards and pamphlets explaining the workings of the National Housing Act and how it helps individuals build their homes.

Wearever kitchen pots and pans are shown at another booth.

Brickcote, a building siding was shown as it would appear on a house.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind had a booth in a corner where articles made by blind people of the district were being shown for sale. They showed a wide variety of goods, including dresses and many kinds of wickerware.

A type of sliding door was being demonstrated by local agent A. Steele in the Roly Doors booth.

And finally at the far end, the T. J. Cavanagh booth featured many other brands of home appliances and television. Like every other booth that showed television sets at work, they were drawing a crowd.

Gold Industry Slipping Fast

KIRKLAND LAKE — (CP) — The gold mining industry is rapidly being exterminated, W. S. Row, manager of Kerr Addison Gold Mines Ltd., told the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

Causes for the desperate situation are today's continuing inflation and the fixed price of gold. Said the mine manager: If the industry is to be saved and is to recover, people of the world must be free to exchange their paper money for gold. The survival of the industry depends on a return to the gold standard. If the industry is exterminated it will be solely due to the action of governments in respect to the fixed price for gold and inflationary policies."

Both provincial as well as federal governments are to blame because both are concerned with the control of inflation trends, Mr. Row intimated.

Stock Market Prices Gaining Strength

TORONTO (CP) — Stock market prices continued to gain strength in early afternoon trading today as a recovery from a three-day decline set in.

Trading picked up after a slow opening as Bellekeno traded more than 350,000 shares in three hours for a gain of pennies. Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,457,000 shares.

Western oils gained more than a point on the exchange's index as the section recorded a majority of advances. Leading issues generally gained and a number of others advanced, led by Britalta, Mid-Continent, Trans-Empire, Western Homesteads and New Superior, Del Rio and National Pete slipped.

Base metal leaders recorded gains but Ankeno traded about 60,000 shares for no change. Silver Miller and Ankeno traded actively for gains.

Papers recovered from an early weakness to join steels, banks and foods in leading the industrial upswing. Liquors, utilities, agriculturs and manufacturing companies weakened.

Senior and junior gold producers held firm but prospects and holding companies slipped. Kelore traded actively for a penny gain.

The exchange's closing indices showed industrials up .25 at 324.04, golds down .13 at 89.28, base metals up .28 at 192.89 and western oils up 1.21 at 132.66.

Mother 14, Fed Up Sues For Divorce

WAVERLY, O., — (AP) — A 14-year-old mother has decided she has had enough of married life—at least with her 21-year-old spouse. Mrs. Edith Ann Manbevers, married at 12, sued for divorce Monday from Ervin L. Manbevers, a cab driver. She charged her husband with gross neglect, non-support, desertion and extreme cruelty.

On Wanted List 3 Yrs. Man Shot Down

MONTREAL (CP) — Aime Desmarais, sought by Toronto police since 1949, was shot down by Montreal police early today after a wild automobile chase.

Desmarais, about 35, was wounded in the arm and leg by three bullets shot by Det. Sgt. Romuald Dubuc.

Car Rolls Over

DURHAM (CP) — Charles Buckingham of Oshawa suffered bruises last night when his automobile rolled over twice in a ditch two-and-a-half miles west of here. Durham is 30 miles south of Owen Sound.

First Polio Death

TORONTO (CP) — Desmond O'Brien, 24, died today of poliomyelitis. It was the first polio death of a Toronto resident this year. The youth was admitted to hospital Monday.

Expect To Call Road Tenders

TIMMINS (CP)—Mines Minister Philip Kelly announced today that tenders for the construction of the Warren Lake road west of Timmins would be called for immediately.

The announcement was made at a meeting of M.L.A.'s presently on tour of the north and in Timmins for the opening of the Northern Ontario Exhibition.

Mr. Kelly said engineers and surveyors who have been working on the road for the past two months have almost completed their work. As soon as a contract is made, construction of the extension would begin. He said he thought the extension would be completed by the fall of next year.

The road will run from the end of the Warren Lake road in Keefer Township 35 miles west of here to link up with a Spruce Falls Co. road at Tionago on the C.N.R.

Stolen Gold In Post Office

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP) — Police today said two men arrested on charges of "high-grading"—illegally possessing gold-bearing ore—were smelting gold in the basement furnace of the federal post-office building.

They said Postmaster Pat Paterson encountered Romeo Laflamme and Paul Plouffe, both 37, and both of Val d'Or, when he was inspecting the basement of the post-office early Sept. 5. He ordered them from the building and noticed they carried a bucket bearing a substance that resembled mining concentrate.

He notified police and the men were arrested. They were arraigned in court yesterday and remanded to Sept. 23.

An official statement from police said none of the postal workers were involved in admitting the men to the building, but it did not disclose how the men obtained entrance.

Val d'Or is a northwestern Quebec mining town.

acts. They said one tipster who helped bring about the capture of Leonard Jackson more than a year ago has gone into hiding since the escape. Nor has the reward offer yielded a worthwhile clue.

PREDICTS DEATHS

Mrs. Winnifred Fernside, Toronto spiritualist, today predicted that by Sept. 28 two members of the gang will be shot to death and two captured. She said she does not know which two will be brought to trial. She added that one of the men, not Boyd, will be betrayed by a woman.

Meanwhile, preparations went forward for an investigation into how the gang broke out of the 88-year-old jail beside the Don River.

Hon. Dana Porter, provincial Attorney-General, said Judge Ian Macdonell has been given widest possible powers for his royal commission investigation in to the escape. "There will be no holds barred," said Mr. Porter. "No attempt will be made to shield anyone, from the minister down."

MAKE MANY RAIDS

Police continued their widespread activity. In the last three days they have raided scores of houses in Toronto and checked a dozen or more reports farther afield that one or all of the men had been sighted. None has born fruit. Heavily armed on all their raids the police got more weapons—a Brengun and six rifles—from the army.

The royal commission inquiry is expected to start in another five or six days. In a letter to Judge Macdonell, Mr. Porter listed the following specific points to be investigated:

1. All circumstances connected with the escape;
2. Control and management of the jail;
3. Adequacy of the jail building with respect to accommodation and security;
4. Appointment, duties, discipline and personal history of the jail governor, turnkeys, guards and all other members of the staff;
5. Treatment and discipline of prisoners.

INVESTIGATE DRUG REPORTS

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto suggested that the commission "no doubt will inquire" into reports that jail guards slipped narcotics to prisoners prior to the break However, Toronto police and R.C.M.P. doubted the reports.

Once there, they would be ordered to get over to the grandstand and keep out of the performers' way. Only too gladly they went to the grandstand.

Of the nearly 10,000 children who came to the exhibition on their day, 9,655 of them came in free, 322 paid their way. Adults number 5,904, most of whom came in the late afternoon and evening.

Total attendance was up 6,256 over last year, but grandstand attendance dropped slightly, from 2,446 to 2,361. Receipts were up $306.30, from $2,694 to $3,000.30. Grandstand rdeceipts were $845.-40.

Digging more deeply into statistics, more children attended Wednesday's fair than there were children and adults at opening day in 1951. Last year's first day drew 9,625; children this year number 9,977.

Hogs 300; too few sales to establish a trend.

Sheep and lambs 400; choice nearby ewe and wether lambs averaging 88-lb 30.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coarse grain prices showed a steady tone in moderately-active trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Most of the commercial interest was in barley. Hedging and other offerings were fairly liberal in the deferred months but continued light in the nearby contracts.

Seaboard support was indicated in flax. The occasional American order appeared in rye.

11 a.m. grain prices:

Oats: Oct. ⅛ higher 85B; Dec. ⅛ higher 82½B; May unch 83½A.

Barley: Oct. ¼ higher 1.35¾B; Dec. ¾ higher 1.25⅞B; May ¼ lower 1.23B.

Rye: Oct. ⅛ lower 1.74½B; Dec. ¼ lower 1.76½B; May ⅛-⅜ lower 1.82⅜.

Flax: Oct. 1½ lower 3.82¼; Dec. 1¼ lower 3.78½B; May not open.

Potato prices were unchanged.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market opened with a good demand for grade A large at a higher price. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 62-63; A medium 49; A small 31; grade B 38; grade C 27. Wholesale to retail: A large 65-66; A medium 54; A small 36; grade B 42-43; grade C 33-34.

Butter solids: first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57½-57¾ (nominal); no second grade price established; western 58¾.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle trade today at the Ontario stockyards was dull with a few steers selling $1.00 lower for the week. Receipts: Cattle 180; calves 30; hogs 120; sheep and lambs 50. Holdover from yesterday was 1,200 cattle.

Medium to good weighty steers brought $23-$24 with a few choice at $25. Good heifers sold at $23.50-$24 with good cows at $15.50-$16.50. Medium to good stockers made $19-$24.

Common to medium calves were at $12-$23 with a few choice vealers at $26-$28.

Hogs sold at $26 for grade A with sows $16 dressed.

Sheep brought $25 for good ewes and wethers with bucks at $24.

Turkeys, Rabbits Missing At Fair

Look as you may at the exhibition this year, you'll find no turkeys, no rabbits, no golden bantam corn, and only one Belgian horse entered.

Judges are not sure why there should be no turkeys entered; there are several breeders in the district, but none brought their birds to the fair. Rabbit raising is becoming a thing of the past, they feel, and that explained the absence of the long-eared fellows.

Golden bantam corn has fallen by the wayside and hybrid corn has the buyer's eye. The golden bantam cobs were small, despite the juicy sweetness of the kernels. Hybrid corn's larger ears have made it more acceptable in the buyer's eye.

Why there should be only one Belgian horse—a colt—entered, is another question that puzzles judges. "I guess owners just didn't bother," one judge said.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States dollar was at a discount of 4 1-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, down 1-32 from Wednesday noon, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT today.

The pound sterling was $2.67, unchanged from Wednesday.

Radio Station Share Transfers Now Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC Board of Governors has decided to defer action on a request from radio station CHNO in Sudbury, for a supplementary transmitter.

At a meeting of the board in Montreal last week, the bilingual station asked for the additional transmitter to permit simultaneous broadcasts in French and English.

In an announcement today of recommendations made as a result of the Montreal meetings, the board said that action on the Sudbury request was deferred to permit further study.

"The board also notes that the applicant has submitted a new technical brief to the Department of Transport," said the announcement.

ALTERNATE BROADCASTS

The Sudbury station now broadcasts alternately in French and English. Station representatives told the board that with an additional transmitter, separate French and English programs could be broadcast at the same time from the station's present transmission tower.

The board also deferred action on an application from station CKLS in La Sarre, Que., for permission to transfer control from Radio la Sarre Inc., to J. J. Gourd, D. A. Gourd and R. Charbonneau.

"The board desires more inforsaid the annucemet.

The board, whose recommendations are almost invariably accepted by the transport department, approved of a change in frequency for station CJEM in Edmundston, N.B. The station will change from 1380 on the dial to 570.

The defence department's station —CFYT—at Dawson in the Yukon will switch to 1230 on the dial from 1400.

APPROVE TRANSFERS

The board approved share transfers sought by stations CHEX, Peterborough; CKWS, Kingston; CHOK, Sarnia; Windsor, N.S.; CKLD, Thetford Mines, Que.; CKLN, Nelson, B.C.; CKX Brandon, Man.; CJON, St. John's, Nfld.; CJBR, Rimouski, Que.; CKLW, Windsow; CHEF, Granby, Que., CJOR, Vancouver; CKRD Red Deer, Alta.; CFCH North Bay, CJKL, Kirkland Lake and CKGB Timmins.

Higher Price Urged For Gold

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—A higher price for gold and more capital aid from the United States for the British Commonwealth were proposed today to help solve the sterling area's dollar problem.

Economist Sir Douglas Copland, vice-chancellor of Australia's national university, also suggested a U. S.-Commonwealth conference on freeing trade.

He told the international congress of Junior Chambers of Commerce the main hope of the dollar problem lay in development of commonwealth resources to fill America's ever-increasing needs.

This development would require U. S. capital and a reduction of U. S. import restrictions.

He gave Canada as an example of a country which had been able to abandon trade and exchange restrictions. This, he said, was due to the heavy influx of American capital, ambitious domestic development, increased production and a sound financial policy.

What had been done in Canada could be done for the entire Commonwealth, said Copland.

Fined On Liquor Count

Albert Leahy, 52, of R.R. 10, Peterborough, was fined $50 and costs in police court today on his second liquor charge conviction within a year. He pleaded guilty to having liquor in an illegal place and admitted that he had a previous conviction for drunkenness.

Magistrate E. A. Gee handed out the minimum penalty.

Suggest Charge Outside Pupils

COBOURG— Township pupils attending Cobourg public school may be charged a fee based on the cost per pupil of education in Cobourg, it was hinted at the meeting of the public school board. The amount might reach a maximum of five dollars per month per pupil.

More than a dozen pupils from outside the corporation are attending the public school, it was pointed out by the principal, Grant Sine. With the expansion of the town several residents of Cobourg have moved outside the town limits. In one housing development just east of the town the householders pay taxes to Hamilton township but send their children to Cobourg schools. It was proposed to investigate the possibility of working out some agreement with the township council and pending more information the matter was laid over to the next meeting.

SCHOOL LIGHTING

Outmoded lighting in the public school was discussed, following a report from an electrical firm. Minimum standard set by the department of education calls for 20 to 30 foot candles light measurement per room whereas the present illumination is only 11 foot candles. To bring the lighting up to standard it would be necessary to rewire the building, as the present wiring would not stand the heavier load, the board was informed in the report. It would cost $3,000 for new fixtures alone and an earlier estimate on rewiring quoted $10,000 for the job. A new estimate will be procured before any decision is reached.

Cobourg Board Sells Property

COBOURG. — The Niles property, owned by the public school board and subject to considerable attention when residents on that street petitioned against its sale to Nikolai Grabko, was sold Wednesday night to John Walton for $4,700. Mr. Walton is a resident of Centreton. Mr. Grabko's tender was for $4,400. The petition was withdrawn a few days after it was sent to the board and before it would have officially come to the attention of the school board. At the time, members of the board intimated that the property would go to the highest bidder no matter what his nationality was.

Suspend Betty Grable

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Suspension of Betty Grable was announced yesterday by 20th Century-Fox studio which said she refused to report for work on "Blaze of Glory," a gangster picture, with Richard Widmark.

Presentations Made To Retiring President, E. H. Howson

Top Canadian and American executives, working members and pensioners of their Quarter Century Club and of the social and athletic club of the Peterborough Lock Company gathered on Wednesday night to honor retiring president Ernest H. Howson. He has completed 50 years of service with his organization.

Chairman of the board of Bowser Incorporated, Chicago, parent company of Peterborough Lock, termed Ernest Howson one of the pioneers of the industrial age. He made a presentation of a gold watch. Newly-appointed president Bob Maybee, on behalf of Peterborough executive staff and office workers, presented Mr. Howson with a set of binoculars. President of the company's Quarter Century Club, Patrick O'Toole, gave a suitable speech on behalf of the old timers who made a presentation of a pipe and tobacco pouch. The social and athletic club gave Mr. Howson a barometer-thermometer with its president, Bert Bloom, doing the honors.

Some of the speeches from several head table guests had this to say, in part:

S. Zavoico, president of Eagle Lock and director of Peterborough Lock: "A job well done."

J. R. Jobe, vice-president and sales manager: "Masterly leadership from Mr. Howson at all times."

W. Mason, president of Bowser Ltd., Hamilton: "He has earned the respect of everyone."

Further eulogies were given by secretary-treasurer Bob Bastable, president of Belleville Lock D. L. Story, works manager C. Cameron and Ed Hannrahan, of Durand Hardware, Montreal. Purchasing agent and personnel supervisor Allen Heideman was master of ceremonies.

Mr. Howson replied to the good wishes of his fellow employees and was visibly moved by their appreciations of his long association.

Remainder of head table guests, not mentioned above, were Paul Rioux, G. H. Thompson, H. Willerton, vice-president and works manager of Belleville Lock, and secretary-treasurer of the same company, Mark Vanner.

Members of office staff and supervisors, some of them of the Quarter Century Club, who were present were: J. Smith, W. Marshall, C. Lockwood, R. Sanderson, W. Perry, B. McWilliam, W. Robinson, R. Mowry, G. Wainwright, K. Mann, H. Black, W. DeNoble, W. Collinson, J. Cocks, N. Carravaggie, E. Mattucci, Mrs. L. Liddell, Miss M. E. Clysdale, Miss H. G. Lytle, Mrs. G. L. Murduff, Mrs. J. Varcoe, Mrs. B. Stephenson, Mrs. B. Thompson, Miss B. Whitmore, Miss B. Middleton, Mrs. A. Lewis.

Still other working members of the Quarter Century Club present were: J. Primeau, P. O'Toole, W. Liddell, J. Carr, J. Jenkinson, J. Burke, O. Jinks, H. Collins, W. Jenkinson, G. Adamson, A. Chichetti, J. Guerin, H. Nichols, M. O'Brien, E. O'Brien, J. Kent, A. Fuller, F. Hickey, A. Simmonds, S. Burke, D. Campanero, W. Shannon, P. Adamson, C. Morgan, F. Murphy, M. McMahon.

And club pensioners: W. Whaley, F. Whaley, M. Whaley, B. Moher, B. Heideman, S. Wainwright, Geo. Kent, R. Page, H. Archambault, H. Hill.

Honky-Tonk Defence Spending

A Group Captain in the R.C.A.F., a doctor heading a branch of its medical services, is leaving this country for a year's postgraduate study at an American university. A Group Captain is a high-ranking officer, drawing high pay. Is this gentleman drawing his full pay for the year in the United States, and getting his tuition fees, travelling expenses and living allowances paid into the bargain? He is being replaced, on the straight line of duty, by a Wing Commander. This Wing Commander doctor's pay and allowances must presumably also be added to the cost to Canada of the Group Captain's year in the United States.

* * *

We realize that doctors need to keep abreast of the medical times, but we fail to see the necessity of Canada paying the shot for it—to a Group Captain. Most doctors take a year's leave of absence, or several months, from their jobs and pay, in order to keep up with their studies. However, Canada has bags of money, and many Canadians are howling that Canada is not spending enough on defence, so naturally the R.C.A.F. feels that it can deal liberally with its senior hired help.

* * *

The Navy is a liberal spender, too. Free junkets—even for Lieutenants—to Britain, to California, to other places under the sun, to confer, to look around, to take a short course—such are the given reasons for their travels. These naval officers—going first class, of course—must also get handsome away-from-home or away-from-base living allowances.

* * *

The Army, too, has its travellers: by staff cars, by compartments in transcontinental trains, and (this is the favourite especially with arm-chair brass who, it seems, must go everywhere in a hurry) by plane. They fly to the West Coast, to the East Coast, to the Bahamas, to California, to England, to Italy. The Canadian brass in TransCanada and TransAtlantic planes is so plentiful that the glitter rivals the stars. Well, Canada has lots of money, and in these days, the military arm which can spend the most money in the shortest time seems to get the most praise.

* * *

Canadian taxpayers are not niggardly in providing millions of dollars for defence, but it is time that a thorough accounting was given. How much is there to show for the hundreds of million dollars already spent in the name of National Defence? How does the number of men in uniform, the machines and equipment, stack up against the hundreds of thousands of railway and aeroplane travel stubs, and all the shining Canadian brass kept in comfortable offices, limousines, lounges and linen on the seven continents?

British Farm Efficiency

Farming in Britain is remarkably efficient, as is proven by the fact that Britain produces approximately as much food annually as Canada, on one-quarter the area of cultivated land. But in the drive to pull the country out of its economic difficulties the Churchill government is imposing a heavy burden on farmers; they must increase food production by 16 per cent. during the next four years. In order that this may be done a system of farm surveys is being instituted, and farmers who do not appear to be making the best use of their land will be compelled to give place to others who are better at the job.

We know nothing of the details of this plan, and we presume that a great deal of tact will be needed in putting it to work. Even though a great many—perhaps a majority—of British farmers rent their land, they rent on long leases and sometimes have enjoyed uninterrupted tenure for several generations. Just how a man is to be put off his farm in favour of another man who appears to a committee to be a better farmer, we do not understand. The announcement of such a scheme, however, shows how desperate the situation in Britain is, and how sharply British liberty is being curtailed. For if a man is not at liberty to farm his own land as he likes, what's the world coming to?

Intensive cultivation is the rule in Britain, and it is even more closely observed on the Continent. Fields there have none of the wide borders, left to weeds and stones, which we are accustomed to see on Canadian farms; every inch on a good farm serves its purpose. Where the British farmer is to raise the extra 16 per cent. we cannot imagine, but the word has gone forth that he will do so, or another man who knows the trick will take his place.

An Unpopular Profession

The suspension of the governor, his deputy and six guards at the Don jail draws attention to the peculiar difficulties which the surround the profession of jailing. When the birds have flown, public opprobrium and loss of employment is their reward. But when the birds are all safely in their cages, who ever thinks to give the jailer a kindly word? Every job has its peculiar difficulties, but that of being a jailer seems to us to be especially unfortunate.

Nobody admires a jailer. What has been the fate of the jailer in art? Shakepeare's jailers range from the case-hardened Hubert, in King John (who disobeyed orders, and was lucky enough to get away with it) to such amusing but reprehensible types as Elbow and Abhorson in Measure for Measure. In opera the jailers are, upon the whole, a bad lot, though Rocco in Fidelio has some good characteristics. But in The Beggar's Opera who could be more obliging than Lockit, the jailer who says "When a gentleman uses me with civility I always do the best I can to please him." Is it suspected that there was some civility used by the Boyd gang toward the guards at the Don jail?

Seriously, the task of jailer is a hard and ungrateful one. Who wants to do it? Yet, in an imperfect world, we must have jailers. It will be suggested, of course, that higher wages might bring more men to this unusual calling, and raise the status of jailing in the public estimation. But we think that any such plan should be undertaken with discretion; no very great improvement can be made in any type of work simply by paying more for it than it is worth. It must be decided what jailing is actually worth to the people of Ontario, and jailers' wages must be kept in accord with that decision. We know all too well what such an escape as that at the Don jail costs the public; the price may run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, and in the end it may cost the life of more than one good man.

Naguib—And After

The surprise upset of Premier Aly Maher's government in Egypt has brought General Naguib into the open as the real strong man in the country. He has taken over the premiership apparently to hasten the drive against corruption in high places and possibly also to expedite agrarian reform. It appears likely that the general will make a bid for popular approval of his policy in the forthcoming elections. It is always a sound move to imprison one's political opponents before the elections, as is shown in various countries of South America and elsewhere. It is certainly not democratic; the only excuse is that previous governments were not democratic either with their liberal use of bribery and corruption in obtaining votes.

We hope that General Nagdib will take to heart the lesson of Turkey, which under the benevolent autocracy of Kemal Ataturk progressed from a primitive and ramshackle state to a powerful and progressive nation enjoying a good measure of free democracy. This is the path that is most promising for Egypt in her present condition. It is hopeless to give votes to peasants, who for all their native shrewdness can neither read nor write: they must first be educated and brought into touch with the issues that transcend their own immediate locality. If Naguib follows the development of modern Turkey under Ataturk as a blueprint for Egypt he will find a place for himself in history as a leader not to be confused with the tub-thumping dictators. Egypt needs a strong hand to guide her destinies and lift her out of the morass of corruption. Naguib is the man for the task: we shall see if he is equal to it.

As With The Tartan

The Manchester Guardian comments on the fact that haberdashers' shops in New York exhibit and sell striped ties which are, in fact, the distinctive ties of several distinguished British regiments and public schools. Customers buy them because they like the pretty colours, ignorant of their associations and sometimes, with true American thoroughness, have hatbands made to match.

Probably nothing can be done about this. In England a man who wore a tie belonging to a school or regiment with which he had no connection would court severe social disapproval, but American buyers of ties might say, with perfect justice, So what?

This is what has happened to the tartan. Since the eighteenth century certain tartans have been associated with particular Scottish clans, and to wear somebody else's tartan simply was not done. But tourists have chosen tartans because they liked them, or because the tartan matched their eyes, or for some purely aesthetic reason, and when the Laird o' Cockpen meets Mr. Dubinsky of Cedar Rapids wearing an evening jacket made of his tartan, there is nothing in the world the Laird can do about it.

We have some sympathy for the outraged clansmen, Guardsmen, and products of the Dear Old School. But we can only suggest that they devise for themselves tartans and ties so unspeakably hideous that nobody would dream of pinching them.

Secondary Schools Of France

By ANDRE BEUCLER

THE SECONDARY schools of France, the "Lycees", are now a hundred and fifty years old. The anniversary was celebrated quietly, but with all due dignity, in Paris some time ago in a hall at the Pedagogical Museum in Rue Ulm, which in itself recalls the foundation of the Imperial University and the Act of the 2nd Florial Year X, providing for at least one secondary school per Court of Appeal ward: A little celebration that was a small affair, symbolic and more significant than might at first be supposed, and colourful too because the secondary schools are part of the countenance of France, of her real tradition, her familiar appearance and her everyday existence. Since 1802 they have preserved a form of continuity, and account rather well for the Frenchman, whether he be minister, jeweller, inspector of finance, workman or doctor. Not long ago someone aptly said that everything was contained in the "lycee". In other words, that the secondary school handed over the keys or, at any rate, offered them to young people. That is largely true.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN EVERY French establishment of this kind, the population always consists of masters, governors, assistant masters, day-boys, boarders, day-boarders, swotters, duffers, boys (or girls) with influential families, scholarship children, remarkable specimens and old types who never go any further, to which must be added the subordinate staff, the servants and the porter, not to mention the parents and other school-parlour visitors. That generally homogeneous population, with its customs and character, is a foretaste of the society in which the pupils will one day find their place and play their part.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE IS even more to it than that. In the secondary schools of some large towns, some masters of higher forms responsible for preparatory courses for the institutes of higher education are also university professors. In this way they bring about the first contacts between secondary education and higher education, and this encourages many scholars to continue after the school-leaving certificate. The men who frequent theatres, cafes and cinemas, who read periodicals and sometimes write themselves are also led to compare 17th century plays, featured in the school syllabus, with those being given in town, and novels published nowadays with those by Voltaire, Madame de Stael and Balzac.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHETHER SUCH be their intention or not, they introduce something modern, some life and topical interest into lessons and give reality to the notion that all aspects of cultural, active and intellectual life in France are taught and formed at school. That is why the establishments that evoke so many memories and are called Lycee Bossuet, Lycee Corneille, Lycee Condorcet, Lycee Victor Hugo, Lycee Theodore de Banville or Lycee Jean Giraudoux belong to both past and present and occupy such an important position in the general life of the country. Every speaker at prize-givings and ministers at openings make a point of calling this to mind. In France, the state secondary school is the great gateway to government service, industry, magistrature or the arts.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN, WHAT is more, not content with their groups at Rennes, Dijon or Poitiers, with all they imply (by way of chairmen, dinners, magazines, etc.), the old pupils of the secondary schools of France try to meet in Paris, soon find each other and finally form clubs in honour of the secondary school in Belfort or Nice where they were young together. Nothing is more instructive, more genuine and more friendly than these places where librarians and officers, actors, politicians and company directors meet regularly and delight in the informal atmosphere.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SECONDARY school continues; it has kept its promise. It provided the various branches of activity with qualified men who all reason fundamentally in the same way, who know the same things and almost always react in unison. Hence that Teachers' Republic about which Albert Thibaudet wrote, himself a sixth-form master, and what a celebrated one! Hence, too, that "France secreted in the most complete education that exists", that so greatly pleased Giraudoux, who had found time to be a master at the begining of his career, too, before becoming what he was. All his life long, in his prose work especially, the word, "lycee" with all that fills and glorifies it (diligence, the sufferings of a young boarder, masters' names, rags, prospects opened, pals, feeling the way in Latin, algebra and philo . . .), will come with affection from his pen, like the expression of his gratitude.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE excellent fair and interesting speech he made at the Pedagogical Museum on the occasion of the celebration of the founding of the secondary schools, Mr. Louis Francois, Inspector-General of Education, drew attention to the fact that in a hundred years the pupils at State secondary schools in France had risen from 30 to 375,000. While many may have lived all that was "best or worst in their youth" there, all at least owe to them their future, their turn of mind, their inspiration and their oldest friends.

✧ ✧ ✧

SINCE THE decree of March 17th, 1808, which regulated their instruction, administration and discipline, the State secondary schools have known many a reform and transformation, in particular as regards the subjects taught. From 1815 to 1848, they were called royal colleges, and at one time boarders had to get up at 5:30 a.m., earlier than soldiers! But their fundamental features and existence have never been touched, and in all the towns of France, in all the books where they are mentioned, in the memory of those who owe their "send-off" to them, and in life as a whole, from first duties to posts, professions and honours, they remain tokens.

Unconsidered Trifles

"Here you are, my dear, a $10,000 policy on my life. Now if anything happens to me you won't starve."

"Oh, you darling! Now you won't have to go to the doctor every time you have a pain."

✧ ✧ ✧

"Lookit this suit you made for me. The sleeves are a mile too long!"

"Maybe they are a trifle."

"Trifle! I said a mile!"

"All right. So they're a mile. How much shall I take off?"

"Half an inch at least."

C'MON NOW, BIG BOY, ALLEZ OOP!

Election Shameful Farce

(LONDON NEW STATESMAN AND NATION)

THE SHAMEFUL farce that passed for a presidential election in South Korea has ended, as arranged, in triumph for Dr. Rhee. It is as ludicrous for him to pretend that he was chosen against his will as it is for General Mark Clark to acclaim his "inspiring" victory. The law under which the election was held was passed by the Korean Assembly under duress, after the arrest and intimidation of members of the dissenting majority, and after Syngman Rhee's ruthless contempt even for the forms of law had led to stinging protests from the U.N. Powers concerned with Korea. Syngman Rhee, whose record is black with violence and political chicanery, had effective control of all the election machinery and of the enormous police and para-military forces which were used to ensure that South Koreans understood how to vote. Nothing was omitted from the catalogue of fraud and pressure to ensure the intended result—not even an alleged Communist plot within the Assembly to seize power and assassinate Syngmen Rhee.

In all the unhappy history of Korea in the last two years, there have been few more disgraceful episodes than this election. If the United Nations had taken steps to see that it had been reasonable and fair, under the present difficult conditions, they might have done something towards making peace possible in Korea one day, as well as providing a much-needed demonstration that they meant business when they talked of Korean democracy. But all it has done in the event is to bring further discredit upon the South Korean regime, and upon those Powers, regrettably including this country, which countenanced the fraud.

Letter To The Editor

DISPUTES ELECTION FORECAST

Sir: Answering your editorial "What sort of Contest in Peterborough". I wish to comment at follows. As a member of the Executive of the Ontario Liberal Association, and one who has been engaged in organizing for several elections and partly responsible for preparations for the next general election, I can assure you that there will be a good contest in Peterborough.

Regarding your opinion that if Mr. Fraser chooses to run again he will win without difficulty, I am puzzled as to how you can foretell the future as history has proven that there is no one, including Gallop poll, who can foretell the outcome of any election so far in advance, and especially when you do not know who Mr. Fraser's opposition will be. He has won three straight, but so have many others in the province before him, and they have gone down in defeat. Not only men classed as good campaigners, but men who were national figures. I wish to mention only one, the late Mr. John R. MacNicol of Toronto Davenport. After four straight wins with his last majority of 5,428 votes, he met defeat in 1949 to a rookie politician, the Hon. Paul Hellyer, who was only in the contest a few short weeks prior to the election. History has proven this in dozen of other cases.

I may add that the local Liberals have prospective candidates, and good ones, and it is the belief inside Liberal circles that a victory in Peterborough can be ours in the next general election. It is true that a candidate never lost an election because he was in too soon, and possibly some have lost an election because they got in too late. However, it is the opinion of several outstanding successful politicians to whom I have talked that the election is won in the few weeks prior to the election. To prove this may I point out the long drawn out campaign of U.S. elections and the much lower percentage of votes cast by eligible voters than in countries where short campaigns are held.

Regardless of who the candidate may be, the enlightened public, who do elect the M.P.s, are inclined to vote for the party which they believe will handle the affairs of the country most efficiently. Also the leading men in the party, particularly the Leader, is a deciding factor in any election, and elects more candidates than the candidates' machines electing the candidate. Looking at the achievements of the Leader and the leading men in our party compared to those of the Conservative party, I believe that the local Liberal candidate, whoever he may be, can look forward to being in there until the last ballot is counted and can discount any pre-election forecasts.

Yours truly,
GUS FAUX,
Vice-President O.L.A.,
Bridgenorth

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, the one by a bondmaid, the other by a freewoman. But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise. . . .

Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are the children of promise. But as then he that was born after the flesh persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so it is now. (Gal. 4:22, 23, 28, 29.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would . . . . But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: aginst such there is no law. (Gal. 5:17, 22, 23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. (Gal. 6:8.)

No More Mermaids

(From The Manchester Guardian)

The mermaid is the most gracious of legendary beings, yet she had found little but hostility or unbelief among men. This seems especially true of Japanese mermaids, to judge from an article on the subject by Professor Uchida, of Kyushu University (Maritime Products Department), published in the English-language paper "Mainichi". The earliest mermaids on record, he says, got short shrift for mediaeval fisherman. Though "they cried out with the voice akin to that of human being".

The fisherman cut up one of them and ate. The meat was not different from that of any other fish, and it tasted all right.

This hard-headed attitude, stiffened by the claims of experimental science, seems to have prejudiced the professor in his review of the later history of mermaids from the days to Go-Fukakusano-In ("cloistered Emperor Go-Fukakusa, A.D. 1247") to the eighteenth century. No one can say that the mermaids did not do their best. They smiled as passing ships, displayed cascades of flowing red hair and "hands and breasts the same as any human woman," besides singing with voices "tender like that of sky-lark-flute"—all to no avail.

The professor will not even allow them their female sex, the only proof of which, he seems to think (and that a doubtful one), is their long red hair.

Then he deals them their death blow. The mermaid, of course, is a fish. Not, as some have supposed, the jugon (which is grotesque—"one can never mistake it for a beautiful woman") but another fish called Messenger of the Dragon Palace, whose meat is thought to cure leprosy and make one live forever.

But even here the sad science of Bacon and Descartes continues on its destructive course. The professor has eaten the Messenger; of cures for leprosy he cannot judge, but alas for longevity! "My hair has become thin; I feel I am young but my colleagues in my laboratory sometimes refer to me as Old Professor."

No, poetic legend has not a chance when pitted against the Maritime Products Department.

WAGES DAY AT MARGATE

Gregg Tells Americans They're Missing Good Bet

KANSAS CITY (CP)—Canada's labor minister, Milton F. Gregg, said today the St. Lawrence seaway is "so great in its economic impact that Canada would have liked to share it with its American neighbors."

"But we are now proceeding to develop it alone, for all this hydro power cannot be allowed to live undeveloped any longer," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the grand lodge of the International Association of Machinists.

Gregg said iron, oil, aluminum, nickel and water are the "five ingredients that are making Canada a very favored nation under providence today." He listed the seaway as one of the five major projects being harnessed to these ingredients.

MAJOR PROJECTS

The other projects were the Seven Islands railway stretching north through Quebec to tap the iron ore of Labrador-Ungava; the Redwater and Leduc oil fields of Alberta; the Kitimat aluminum development in British Columbia and Manitoba's Lynn Lake nickel project.

The minister said Canada and the United States are trying successfully to gear defence production with the civilian economy.

"In defence production, we are each following the sensible plan of producing for the common reserve what each of us can best produce," he said. "In so doing, we have confounded the Reds who thought we would both crack up either economically or politically under the strain."

BOMBERS' VICTORY — Calgary's Johnny Bright is stopped by the line of Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Western Interprovincial Football Union game at Calgary. Bright swept past three defenders but is locked up tight by Dick Huffman on the ground and Dean Bandiere. The Bombers edged Calgary 7-6.

Pastime Vern Gets Two In 2.28 Class

Pastime Vern, owned by L. J. Ryan of Toronto, took both heats of the 2.28 harness horse racing class at the local Exhibition on Wednesday night. Ross Dawson's Buddy C. Gratton of Port Perry won both in the 2.20 event. Times were good to start off the four-day meet, with a large grandstand crowd viewing the trotters and pacers in the two races. Result:

British Entrants Leading In Tuna Tournament

By JACK BRAYLEY

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—The cart-sized reels whined on Soldier's Rip tuna ground yesterday in an exciting opening of the ninth international tuna tournament which saw last year's championship British Commonwealth team, with the most fish, slightly ahead of the United States, with the heaviest.

The scoring, based on poundage with bonuses for biggest and most, showed the British with 1,061 points, the United States with 870 and Cuba with 500. Brazil, Mexico and Venezuela didn't score.

This second day of the three-day world series of big game fishermen promised continued fair weather and good fishing. And, as the 18-boat fleet started the opening draft, there were signs that caution was the order of the day, especially in the Cuban team which fought three fish an hour apiece yesterday and landed only one.

TUNA BREAKS ROD

Frederico Mejer of Havana waved a new, seemingly flag-pole-sized rod at the press boat in the predawn light today to indicate he had replaced the one a big bluefin snapped in yesterday's battle, carrying some of his gear overboard.

Yesterday's successful fishermen were Louis Mowbray and Duncan Hodgson of the Commonwealth team with the fish weighing 550 and 303 pounds.

Bill Carpenter of Wilmington, Del., took 53 minutes to land the biggest fish of the day for the United States—a 670-pounder—while Ramon del Collado of Cuba had the shortest battle—only 29 minutes to catch his bluefin, weighing 500 pounds.

The use of words like cart-sized and flag-pole-sized belong to this king-sized fishing hole caused by a tidal disturbance 12 miles off in the North Atlantic from this little Acadian port. Everything seems exaggerated but the weights of the fish.

100 Tombstones Vicar's Problem

CARLISLE, England (CP)—The vicar of 130-year-old Christ Church and the town council would like to know what to do with 100 tombstones.

Here is the problem: The church, closed since 1938 because of small attendance, is being demolished. The ground is to be used for new houses, to be built with material from the dismantled church.

But there are 100 tombstones and 100 graves. The vicar has advertised, but no one will claim a stone, nor a grave. The law says that all dead must be exhumed and reburied elsewhere.

A number of those Oshawa hockey commuters of last season to this city will be playing against local puckists in the coming senior "B" campaign. Columnist George Campbell of the Motor City writes: "Wren Blair and Jerry Scott are prime movers of the senior setup here and they're selling shares at one 'C' note a share to various sports-minded citizens, stores and companies to raise enough money to carry on the full season. Among the players interested are former junior 'A' stars like Ron Nelson, Jack Thaler, Sonny Hooper of Bowmanville, Jerry Scott, Sammy Samolenko, Les Colvin, a goalie of Memorial Cup fame; Bob Holden, Doug Williams of Whitby, Bill Berwick, Red Peters, Gar Peters, Jack Marshall and others."

* * * * * *

Ernie Dickens of Bowmanville works in Oshawa and may come out with the team, too. He had N.H.L. experience with Leafs and Chicago. So, the Oshawa entry could be pretty potent in a senior "B" setup of Peterborough, Belleville, Kingston, Oshawa and perhaps Orillia and Stouffville Play won't be commencing for some time yet but it's re-organization time right now, and a group meeting will be held this Sunday in the Motor City. Mayhap the schedule will be drawn up at this time. No further word has been received on Eagles' plans for the ice semester looming not too far ahead. Our junior "B" I.O.O.F. club reorganized some time ago, and a grouping ought to be lined up in the near future.

On The Playdown Prowl

Local minor lacrosse clubs are away this weekend in highly important playoffs. Harry Wipper's peewees go in a playoff tourney at Brampton on Saturday. Same day sees Gary Robinson's bantams hike to St. Kitts to open home-and-home O.L.A. semi-finals, return tilt here on Sept. 20, and the winner to meet Sarnia in "A" finals. Local juveniles, under Doug Miller Jr., play in St. Catharines also on Saturday to commence home-and-home O.L.A. "B" finals, return joust in Peterborough the following weekend. It's money time for the local lads, and they must win these series or hang 'em up for a year.

Petes' ballsters got off to a bad start in their best-of-seven C.O.B.L. finals here last e'en, dropping a 6-2 decision to Kingston Monarchs. They clash in the Limestone City tonight and here again on Friday. Mind you it was a pretty diamond duel and was a 2-1 game for Kingston on earned runs. But a walk, two miscues and three timely thumps in the seventh stanza broke up the tie tilt and that was that. Our side looked a bit off-form after a rather lengthy layoff, but hope to square it and go on to the loop title. They may be minus Al Menzies a spell, though, as he was gashed on the knee in a slide into the plate in the fourth and had to retire.

Phils' Farewell Fling

Phil Clancy came up with an okay slab performance in his final appearance ere returning to the U.S.A. Kept eight hits scattered but for three in the fatal seventh, and struck out nine. A little better backing and a few clutch clouts would have meant a win for him. Al Lenard pitched good ball for the K's and they hit with ducks on the pond. Gilmour and Carnegie led 'em at bat, as Lowrey was best of the Petes. Don Bigford played right field and then caught when Al was hurt, and the big junior drove in a run. Edger and Rank came up with nifty catches, and Petes had a double-play. The game, delayed by lack of power at the start, lasted less than two hours.

Owing to the annual exhibition being on in Morrow Park this week, the soccer playoff listed for there will be staged Saturday at 5.30 p.m. in King Edward Park. Same day but a different field. Kingston United tangles with Peterborough U.E.W. to open their home-and-home final series for the provincial intermediate cup, won last year by Peterborough. Return game will be the following weekend in Kingston. Last time these clubs clashed several weeks ago, it wound up in a 3-3 tie. With goals to count, the rival footballers will really hustle from start to finish. President Les Digby of Belleville will be on deck to represent the Eastern Ontario Soccer League, while Secretary Simpson of the O.F.A. is expected, too.

35 Prospects Due At Black Hawk Camp

GALT (CP)—Some 35 prospects, including 12 members of last year's team, are due in Galt the week-end of Sept. 20 to open Galt Black Hawks' training camp for the 1952-53 Ontario Hockey Association Junior A campaign.

Galt opens its season Oct. 10 at Barrie. It has arranged a pre-season exhibition series with Kitchener at Galt Oct. 4 and at Kitchener Oct. 7.

The club announced it has signed three players obtained in the OHA draft: Fred Perlini of Sault Ste. Marie, Jack Whalen of Kirkland Lake and Doug Vaughan of Milton.

PETER G. LEE, owned by Charlie Quinlan and driven by Hugh Davis, ran first in both heats of a special harness racing event Wednesday afternoon. A Peterborough man donated a purse for local horses which hadn't started this year. In the first race Lee ran in 2:28.2 minutes to edge out Parsons, owned by Andy Price; Lee bettered the time in the second heat by seven seconds (top photo), showing heels to second place Little Abner, owned by Orv Fallis. A kid's day special saw Jim Mitchell, of Markham (left, bottom photo), edge out brother Gary while Phyllis Blight (right) placed third. — (Examiner Staff Photos).

Kingston Takes Opener Against The Petes In Central Loop Finals

A four-run outbreak in the seventh inning at Riverside Park last night broke up a 2-2 game and gave Kingston Monarchs a 6-2 win over the Petes before a fair-sized crowd. It was the first tilt of the best-of-seven C.O.B.L. finals, second one being tonight in Kingston and third here on Friday. The joust was held up for half an hour in starting when the lights dimmed down to half power, but the trouble was eventually corrected. Catcher Al Menzies of the local club suffered a bad cut on the knee in the first half of the fourth frame when accidentally spiked at the plate by Clark Carnegie, who was out in a desperate slide for the platter. Don Bigford came in from right field to finish the catching chore, Gunner Whitehill taking his place. Fred Garvey was an absentee owing to his wife's illness.

PHIL DID OKAY

In his final pitching performance for the Petes—before returning to the States—young Phil Clancy turned in a creditable chore. He allowed but eight hits and two earned runs while fanning nine and walking three. His support was shaky. Al Lenard threw six-hit ball for Kingston, whiffing three and walking one, getting good support most of the route. It should have been 2-1 on earned runs. The game was run off in less than two hours.

Monarchs scored a pair of runs in the third inning with one out. Don Gilmour walked and scored on a triple to right by Joe Levandoski, the latter tallying on a bad throw over third. Carnegie was nipped at the plate next heat after a single, stolen base and an error on the peg. A double-play, Pagett to Huntley to Edger, killed off a fifth-inning threat, but they scored four to wrap it up in the seventh.

AS FOUR SCORED

Ed Deans walked and moved up on a hit by Carnegie, both advancing on Lenard's roller. Deans scored when Rank was safe on a miscue and he and Carnegie tallied on a hard triple to left by Gilmour. The latter later counted on a hit by Ferguson.

Petes got a run in the third when Joe Lowrey singled, stole and raced in on Bigford's bingle. Their other one came in the third when Manager Joe Stewart singled, was sacrificed by Bill Huntley, pilfered third and tore home as Deans threw to third with no one covering. They didn't get a man to second the rest of the way.

Gilmour topped the winners at bat with three for four, including a triple, and Carnegie had two in four attempts. Levandoski got a three-bagger. Lowrey led the losers with two in four appearances. Smart catches were pulled off by Rank, Ferguson and Edger, and the Petes had the only twin killing of the contest. The box score:

Summary—Earned runs, Kingston 2, Petes 1; RBI, Gilmour 2, Levandoski, Ferguson, Bigford; left, Kingston 6, Petes 5; stolen bases, Ferguson, Carnegie, Lowrey, Dugan; sacrifice, Huntley; three-base hits, Gilmour, Levandoski; double play, Pagett to Huntley to Edger; struck out, by Lenard 3, Clancy 9; walks, off Lenard 1, Clancy 3; time of game, 1.55; umpires, Whitman and Townsend, of Belleville.

PHIL'S FAREWELL—Youthful Phil Clancy turned in a tidy twirling chore for the Petes here last night before departing for the States, but Kingston came through with a 6-2 win to open C.O.B.L. finals. On earned runs, it should have been 2-1 for the K's.

AL INJURED — Catcher Al Menzies, of the Petes, was injured in the fourth frame of their 6-2 loss last evening to Kingston, suffering a bad cut on the knee when accidentally spiked at the plate. He will likely be out of action for some time.

Raybestos Goes One Ahead In Final Series

Raybestos yanked out a 4-2 decision over Outboard Marines last night at Quaker Park to take a two-to-one edge in the best-of-five Industrial Fastball League finals. Like preceding playoff games, this was a real display of fastball at its best. The loop draw was held, too. The same clubs clash there Monday and, if necessary, next Wednesday.

Rays broke in front early with two runs in the first inning, and they settled it with a brace in the fifth. They were held well in check otherwise, being held to but four hits. Marines were limited to but three safe blows and they pushed over a run each in the sixth and seventh chukkers of a swell pitching duel, marked with snappy fielding. Teams:

Rays — Crampton, Caccavella, Batley, Crary, Greenlaw, Giles, Greenhalgh, Maudsley, Nichols, Northcott, Fennell.

Marines—Plumpton, Gordonier, Downer, Corrigan, Halliday, Wellwood, Montgomery, Mongraw, Broadhurst, Doris.

Yorks Subdue Mimico 14-11

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto West Yorks downed Mimico Mountaineers 14-11 last night in the opening game of a best-of-five Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A semi-final. The winner plays Peterborough in the final.

The Toronto club got off to a fast start and stayed out in front all the way despite a desperate Mimico rally in the last two quarters. The winners had a 5-2 lead at the end of the first quarter, 9-4 at the half and 12-9 at the three-quarter stage.

Jim McNulty led the winners' attack with four goals and an assist. Playing Coach Don McPhail was the key man for Mimico with two goals and an assist.

FIGHT MANAGER SUSPENDED

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Boxing Commission last night announced the suspension of Led Bouchard, manager of bantamweight champion Fernando Gagnon and ordered middleweight champ Roy Wouters to defend his title within 60 days. Bouchard's suspension for 60 days, was for "actions detrimental to boxing." There was no explanation.

Brampton Downs Manitoba, Enters Finals

WINNIPEG (CP)—Brampton Excelsiors last night advanced into the Canadian junior lacrosse final for the Minto Cup, defeating Manitoba All-Stars 10-9 in the second game of the semi-final.

Excelsiors showed just a faint flicker of the spark that carried them to the Ontario junior championship. They had to come from behind in the fourth quarter for an 8-8 tie to prolong the game into overtime after trailing 5-1 at the end of the first quarter and 8-7 at the end of the third.

The half ended in a 7-7 split.

TO MEET B.C.

Brampton now meets the British Columbia junior champions for the Minto Cup. Only the place—New Westminster—has been announced. An Ontario team has taken the trophy two years running.

Brampton took the best-of-three semi-final 2-0. The opener here Monday ended in a scoring splurge for them as the Manitoba team crumpled.

Excelsiors showed little of the same drive last night. Except for a brief period in the second quarter, their deadly passing attack was off.

Both teams at one time or another had just about every player sitting out a penalty. Forty-nine were handed out.

Manitoba, as in the first game, started well and ended poorly. Their big moment came in the first quarter when they held off Brampton while three All-Stars were on the bench.

NEITHER TEAM FLASHY

Neither team showed any sign of scoring ability after the half.

Jack Bionda was the big man for Excelsiors with three goals. Bill McLaughlin scored two and one each went to Joe Caruso, Gordie Laidlaw, Ken Watkins, Jack Sibbald and Watson.

Two each were scored for Manitoba by Gord Horner, Doug Smallwood and Lionel Merrick. Singles were added by Ralph Lyndon, Merrill Wozniak and Jack Kirby.

Royals Whip Leafs 5-3 For Second Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs and Syracuse Chiefs had better hurry up and do something about it, because the way things seemed today Montreal and Rochester are going to be finalists in the International League Governor's Cup series.

Montreal, heavily favored to capture a second straight league title and meet the American Association playoff winner in the Little World Series, turned back Toronto last night for the second straight time, 5-3.

At the same time, Rochester made it two straight over Syracuse, with a hard-earned 2-1 victory in the best-of-seven series.

Syracuse and Rochester shift the scene of action to Rochester for the third game tonight, while Montreal and Toronto take the evening off. The Canadian clubs play Friday and Saturday—as well as Sunday if needed—in Toronto.

Lefty Mal Mallette went the route for the Royals last night at Montreal and got spectacular fielding behind him as he scattered nine Leaf hits. Third baseman Don Hoak was the batting star with three for four, including a triple.

ROYALS POUND OVERMIRE

The Royals got all of their runs and nine of 10 hits off Stubby Overmire, who started for Toronto. One was a homer by Joe Lutz.

Rochester belted Red Keegan for 13 hits at Rochester, but had trouble turning them into runs.

In the first inning, Don Richmond's single, a double by Johnny Bucha and a fly ball scored one run. Bucha and Steve Bilko singled in the third, and Rip Repulski brought Bucha home on a squeeze bunt.

Jackie Collum held the Chiefs to four hits, one a homer in the sixth by Andy Carey.

Jack Faszholz will take the mound for Rochester tonight, opposed by Arnie Landeck.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Sure Dodgers Won't Blow It

NEW YORK (AP) — Confident Chuck Dressen said in a magazine article "the Dodgers won't blow it again," but he hedged a bit yesterday when interviewed about the story.

"Things have happened to our pitching staff that we didn't visualize then," Dressen said when asked about the article in the Sept. 13 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The Dodgers "are a better ball club," Dressen said in the article written July 16 when Brooklyn led New York by five games.

"They're better because the glaring weakness that cost them the pennant last year has been strengthened—the lack of reserve strength."

Easter Spearheads Drive As Indians Clout Athletics In 5-3 Victory

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Luke Easter, former target for Cleveland's "boo birds," today is top man on the hit parade of Indian fans. Big Luke's blazing bat is spearheading the Indians' bid for the American League pennant, a drive that finds them only one game behind New York Yankees. Both combatants have 14 games to play. Easter drove home two runs last night on a single and his 29th homer to lead the Indians to a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia Athletics. But the Yanks protected their slim lead as Allie Reynolds pitched the Bombers to a 6-1 victory over St. Louis Browns.

Meanwhile, Brooklyn Dodgers moved 4½ games ahead of New York Giants in the National League race. The Dodgers swept a twi-night twin-bill from Chicago 4-1 and 6-2 after the Giants had won a 13-inning battle from Pittsburgh 3-2 on Don Mueller's home run.

Easter, who failed to hit his weight during the first half of the campaign, has been making up for lost time since he got back into the line-up July 15, following a sojourn with Indianapolis of the American Association.

The 240-pound first baseman departed unmourned with a .208 average. Since his recall Easter has been banging away at a .340 clip and has driven in 55 runs in 52 games.

The Indians were playing .568 ball and trailed the Yanks by 3½ games when Easter left. Since his return the Indians have won 36 and lost 23, a .610 pace.

Easter, who has hit safely in 13 straight games, singled home the Indians' first run in the opening inning with his 100th hit of the season. He led off the eighth inning with his 29th homer, the most he has ever hit in a major league season.

Reynolds was in top form against the Browns. The righthander, seeking his first 20-victory season, allowed only five hits and fanned 13 in racking up his 18th win. The Yanks collected 15 hits against Duane Pillette and two relief pitchers but Reynolds couldn't take it easy until the eighth, when the Bombers scored twice to up their advantage to 4-1. Joe Collins sewed it up with a two-run, inside-the-park homer in the ninth.

Johnny Rutherford, with assistance from Joe Black, and Carl Erskine turned back the Cubs at Ebbets Field. Rutherford bowed out for a pinch-hitter during a game-winning, four-run rally in the seventh of the opener. Hank Sauer's 36th homer accounted for Chicago's run.

In the second game, the Dodgers staked Erskine to a 4-0 lead in three innings. Duke Snider and Andy Pafko drove in five of Brooklyn's six runs.

Mueller's homer sent game Murray Dickson down to his 20th defeat.

The Giants engaged three pitchers to stem the Pirates with Hoyt Wilhelm gaining credit for his 13th victory. Jim Hearn started for the Giants and surrendered both Pittsburgh runs in the first when Ralph Kiner clouted his 33rd homer with Gus Bell aboard.

In other games, Philadelphia Phils defeated St. Louis 6-3 and Cincinnati nosed out Boston 6-5 in 10 innings in the National League and Chicago turned back Washington 6-3 and Detroit upset Boston 6-2 in the American.

Will Ask Robinson About Title Defence

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Boxing Association will ask Ray Robinson what he intends to do about defending his world middleweight boxing championship.

Robinson's case came before the N.B.A. which concluded its annual meeting here yesterday.

Retiring president Dave Rochon of Montreal noted when the matter came up Tuesday that Sugar Ray had not put his world title on the line in the last year.

The meeting decided to write the fighter and ask him what he intends to do about a title defence.

The Canadian Press reported in error that the N.B.A. had decided Robinson should defend the title within 60 days.

Remember When—

Vancouver's fighting Irishman, Jimmy McLarnin, scored a three-round knockout over Al Singer, lightweight boxing champion, at New York 22 years ago tonight, but the title was not at stake because McLarnin was over the weight limit. He entered the welterweight class and held the welter title twice between 1933 and 1935.

N.H.L. Bigwigs Meet In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Bigwigs of the National Hockey League were in Chicago today for, annual preseason discussions which they expect will lead to some new agreement on methods of acquiring players.

A league announcement said the conferees will "endeavor to formulate new rules governing the drafting of players from the minor leagues and to changing the present methods of acquiring outstanding youngsters from Canadian amateur organizations."

The final 1952-53 schedule will be worked out, a league spokesman said, and it is expected that there will be some trade talk by the various club representatives attending.

Those on hand, in addition to President Clarence S. Campbell, were William J. Tobin of Chicago Black Hawks, James Norris of Detroit Red Wings, John Kilpatrick of New York Rangers, Donat Raymond of Montreal Canadiens and Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Situation Far From Bright For Queen's Team This Season

By MURRAY KENNEDY

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Queen's Golden Gaels have no place to go but up in the senior Intercollegiate Football Union this season.

They ended 1951 with a large goose egg in the win column and lost 10 men through graduation and low marks in classes. Coach Frank Tindall has picked up 11 players from Queen's intermediates in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference and a flock of newcomers whose football abilities are of unknown calibre.

That's the situation facing Tindall as he prepares for the union kick-off at home Oct. 4 against the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. The tricolor hasn't won the intercollegiate championship since 1937 when Toronto sports columnist Ted Reeve was coach and the prospects are that they'll have to wait at least another year.

LIKELY A DARK HORE

At best, Tindall says only that his Golden Gaels will be the "dark horses" of the five-team loop.

Two intercollegiate all-stars are missing through graduation. Ross McKelvey, practically a one-man team in the backfield for the winless Gaels last year, has joined Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four. The other is Harry Lampman.

Also missing are Jim Charters, Denny Fleming, Ike Lanier and Eric McIlveen.

Tindall has been counting heavily on some of the intermediates to bolster his crew but three—Al Kocman, Doug Hargreaves and Bob McIntyre—will sit out this season. Up from the second are halfbacks Pete Cranston, Al Poutanen, Emil Uhrynuk, Bob Bevan, Bill Surphlis, Don Bell and Grey McKelvey; outsides Keith Hawkins and Roy Hircock; inside Vic Uzbalis and middle Roy Hircock.

Back with the seniors are outsides Pete Beck, Tony Arnoldi, Jack Cooke; middles John Varcoe, Stu Kennedy; insides Pete Johnston, Ron V. Suksi, Walt Waddell; snaps Hank Sandlos, Gord Fleming, Fred Wright; backs Wally Mellor, Norm Dyson, Don Griffin, Jack Roberts, Jack Sisson, Ken Atwood, Chuck Ramsden, Don Ball, Don Bahner and Bill Gatfield.

TOO MANY QUARTERS

Tindall's big trouble seems to be weeding out a big array of quarterbacks. He has six trying out for the slot, all from last year's seniors or seconds. They are Mellor, Dyson, Poutanen, Griffin, Cranston, and Uhrynuk.

Among the newcomers Jack McGee, 195-pounder from Toronto Mimico, and Bob McCrae, 205-pound middle from Ottawa Glebe, look promising for the line. Sherman Hood, another middle from Sault Ste. Marie, will give last year's light line added boost. Tindall lost his first-string snaps in Charters and McIntyre, but has four men battling for the job They are Sandlos, Fleming and Fred Wright and Joe O'Brien, 185-pound six-footer from Ottawa Glebe.

At outside Claude Roote from Montreal Westmount and Lou Bruce from Toronto Riverdale are showing up well. Jack Sisson, star from Peterborough, who didn't play last year after a season with the Gaels, will be fighting for a job.

KICK-OFF—Prime Minister St. Laurent, wearing a colorful sweater, kicks off to start a Western Interprovincial Football Union night game at Edmonton between Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos. Premier E. C. Manning, of Alberta, holds the ball while Reginald Ken Charlton is in the background. Eskimos won 19-15. Mr. St. Laurent stopped briefly in Edmonton on his return to Ottawa from a British Columbia tour.

Announce Boxing Ratings

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Boxing Federation at its annual meeting Wednesday rated Canadian boxers for 1952, detailing title-holders, top contenders and others in the running.

The rating list changed the term "outstanding boxers" to "others listed" when referring to men not considered actual contenders for the crown in their respective divisions.

Ratings follow:

HEAVYWEIGHT

Champion, Earl Walls, Toronto; Contenders, Vern Escoe, Toronto, Baby Face Saunders, Winnipeg; Others listed, James Parker, Toronto, Billy Wallace, Vancouver, Sonny Mathiason, Edmonton, Eddie Smith, Calgary, Doug Harper, Edmonton, and Bill Carter, Vancouver.

Bratton Awarded Unanimous Decision

DETROIT (AP)—Johnny Bratton, 150, back-pedalled to an unanimous 10-round decision over Ralph Zannelli, at 37 one of the oldest men in the ring, before a handful of bored fans at Olympia Stadium last night. Zannelli also weighed 150.

Bratton, the fancy dan from Chicago, boomed after Zannelli in only three rounds.

He floored Zannelli in the second with crashing rights and lefts to the head and body. Zannelli, an unknown except in New England, bounced to his feet at the count of two but had to take the required eight-count.

The fight, arranged in the last week as a substitute for the scheduled Archie Moore-Clarence Henry battle, was televised and broadcast.

McKenzie Rolls High

J. McKenzie rolled high three of 791 and R. Pearson top single of 327 in the Major Bowling League this week. Crowley's led teams with 3621, including leading single game of 1379. Other good scores were: J. Wade 770, A. Pilling 763, (323), J. Dormer 750, J. Hollingsworth 744, R. Bennett 739, H. Killen 730, C. Milheron 727, D. Schweier 722, M. Mackey 716, R. Pearson 715, M. Doris 711 and singles by G. Baird and W. Howes 313.

Seven to nothing wins went to Crowley, Clapper's, Selkirk, Bickell, Hollingsworth, Studebaker and Herb's over Silents, McLeod, Revenoors, Wonder, Brewers, Deeth & White, and O.P.P. respectively as 5-2 victories were taken by Cherney, Examiner, Odeon and Edwards over Plazas, Sunshine, Irwin-Godson and U.E. Also, E & B edged Flint's 4-3.

City Bowlers Start

A dozen teams will go in the men's City Bowling League at Duffus' this season, commencing tonight. Madill and Post were winners of the circuit last lengthy season, with McGillis the runners-up. Many of the 1951-52 teams are back in competition with this loop once again.

Jack Playford was elected president of the City League for the 1952-53 campaign, with Bill Stanbury vice-president, and Stew Richardson the secretary-treasurer.

Here And There In Sports

SYNOD CONDEMNS N.H.L.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The Church of England handed an ecclesiastical bodycheck to the National Hockey League yesterday.

But the synod meeting here complimented colleges on their efforts to improve sport.

Very Rev. R. L. Seaborn stickhandled without difficulty a resolution through the synod condemning the "ruthless and irresponsible way" in which hockey players are developed in Canada. It was a restatement of a resolution proposed at the last synod in Halifax three years ago by Dr. J. C. Flanagan of Montreal, who scored an assist on yesterday's play as seconder of the resolution.

Regarding college sport, the synod adopted a resolution by Dr. Flanagan commending universities for their "stand on intercollegiate athletics as a means to an end rather than an end in itself."

The synod took a different view of youthful players who come under the wing of the N.H.L.

Mr. Seaborn said boys are moved up and down the country without regard for their moral or spiritual development. It is not good for them and it is not good for hockey, he said.

The synod reaffirmed the 1949 action, condemning "the modern form of exploitation of juveniles through the medium of juvenile and junior hockey leagues." It also condemned the "limitation of free choice and consequent injustice imposed on Canadian hockey players by the system used by the National Hockey League clubs and authorities in assigning unsigned players to designated clubs and their affiliates."

BRANDON SIGNS FRASER

BRANDON (CP)—Bill (Legs) Fraser, former goalkeeper of Ottawa Senators in the Quebec senior league, yesterday was named coach of Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League. He succeeds Riley Mullen of Edmonton, who resigned for business reasons.

Fraser, currently attending the Sault Ste. Marie, training camp of Detroit Red Wings, National Hockey League sponsors of Wheat Kings, will report here Sept. 22.

BILTS START TRAINING

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Biltmores, last year's Memorial Cup champions, started workouts yesterday in preparation for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season. Coach Alf Pike has 12 members of last year's team back. Some may move up to the Biltmores' parent club—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

TEBBETTS TO BRAVES?

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The Concord Monitor reported yesterday it has learned from a reliable source that Birdie Tebbetts, Cleveland Indians' peppery 38-year-old backstop, will replace Charlie Grimm as manager of Boston Braves next year.

GARDNER QUITS RING

LONDON (AP)—Teddy Gardner, 31-year-old British and European flyweight champion, quit the ring yesterday. Gardner lost his Empire flyweight crown to the South African Zulu, Jake Tuli, by a 12th-round technical knockout at Newcastle Monday night. Gardner, a pubkeeper, said pressure of business and age forced his retirement.

GOLF CHAMP NOMINATED

SEATTLE (AP)—The new U. S. amateur golf champion, without getting into the rough, won an easy first-round victory in his bid for a seat in Congress next November. Jack Westland, 47, of Everett, was far ahead for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives in Washington's second district.

ALY KHAN WINS RACE

PARIS (AP)—Prince Aly Khan yesterday turned jockey and won the 2,100-metre Prix des Lions race for amateur riders at Longchamps track. The distance is about 1¼ miles. The prince, estranged husband of movie actress Rita Hayworth, was up on Nearque II. He won going away in a field of six. The win was worth 350,000 francs ($1,000).

RECOVER FOSSILS

Thousands of fossils of ancient animals have been recovered from Rusinga Island in Lake Victoria, East Africa.

"COOL CONTROL"

PUNTING THE FOOTBALL

2 Timing and control are essential. End-over-end punt comes when ball is dropped on instep of foot, with length of ball pointing ahead. Left foot should point in direction of kick. Spiral punt results from pointing front end of ball slightly to the left.

3 Toe turns slightly inward and instep of foot strikes belly of the ball for properly controlled kick. Power and control come with 'follow-through' — kicking leg swings high, often carrying kicker completely off ground. Always keep your eye on the ball until kick is away.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

IT ISN'T VERY "KNEESY"—Jose Ferrer's role as French painter Toulouse-Lautrec, in the film "Moulin Rouge," has literally forced Ferrer to his knees. In order to play the part of the famous dwarf, Ferrer has to walk on his knees, and has been fitted with special padded "shoes." Ferrer, in costume, is seen as he discusses his role with director John Huston on the set in Paris.

Feels Indians Not Getting Square Deal

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The only Indian at the 18th synod of the Church of England in Canada spoke on behalf of his race yesterday.

Canon E. Ahenakew, D.D., 67, a clergyman for 42 years, told of the "strapping Indian boys, honorably discharged from the schools, who become hewers of wood and drawers of water."

From Kinistino, Sask., he was one of several speakers from the west on the plight of Indians.

The synod voted that matters relating to the welfare of Indians should be the subject of a special study.

Rt. Rev. R. J. Pierce, Bishop of Athabasca, said sickness, hunger and drink are the plagues of the Indians. Hunting in his missionary diocese of Alberta was poor, complicated by the reckless methods of oil crews, "who shoot game on sight."

Indians often were pressed into work they do not like—"you cannot pin an Indian down to our way of life," he said.

Canon Ahanakew, a Cree, said "not all Indians are farmers by inclination. They would prefer some calling but they are untrained."

Rt. Rev. N. R. Clarke, suffragan Bishop of Moosonee, said the 1951 Indian Act gives the Registrar General dictatorial powers.

Long Service

WINNIPEG (CP)—Donald Sayer and Roderick E. Spence of Selkirk, Man., have received long-service medals from Queen Elizabeth in recognition of the 26 years they have spent at isolated lighthouses on Lake Winnipeg. Both were retired recently.

AIRCRAFT WORKERS STRIKE—Strikers at the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in Burbank, Calif., boo a non-striker as he enters the plant in his auto. An estimated 25,000 workers walked off their jobs, thus halting production of Air Force jet fighters.

Soldier's Family Welcomes Young Japanese Bride

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Pte. E. R MacMillan and his wife, the first Japanese bride of a Canadian serviceman to come to Canada, arrived home yesterday at 1:10 a.m. The couple then was whisked by relatives to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hashizume, market gardeners here, for a lavish Oriental meal.

The 23-year-old bride of a year and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Leo Venne of Medicine Hat, clinched in a 70-second buss on the station platform.

She was given a large-scale welcome and several gifts at the Calgary railway depot last night. But several Japanese folk assembled at the Brooks station, about 50 miles west of here, had to settle for sign-language greetings through the pullman coach windows when the train stopped there for only a minute.

The attractive war bride, the former Toasaka Matsuno of Kure, was impressed by the vastness of the 900-odd miles between Vancouver and Medicine Hat.

More than 300 persons were on the platform to welcome the pair

Canada's Babies and Toddlers Take Lead In Population Gain

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's babies and toddlers, ranking third in population age groups in 1941, took the lead in 1951 for the first time in 30 years.

The Bureau of Statistics, in a further analysis of the 1951 census, placed Canada's baby population, up to the age of four years, at 1,722,000, a gain of almost 600,000 from 1,051,000 in 1941.

Census takers said the big boost was caused mainly by a high marriage rate during the war and post-war years.

1,000,000 INCREASE

The total youngster population—up to the age of 15 years—was estimated at 4,200,000, an increase of 1,000,000 from 3,200,000 in 1941.

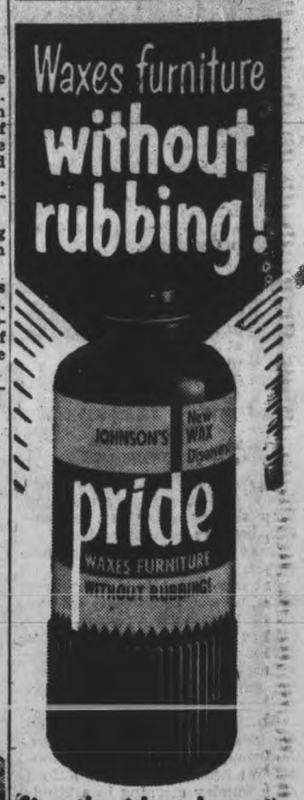
The baby and toddler population was more than 300,000 ahead of the second highest age group, those between the ages of five years and nine, estimated at 1,397,000 in 1951, up more than 350,000 from 1,045,000 in 1941.

Canada's total population during 1951 increased to 14,000,000 from 11,500,000 in 1941.

While youngsters made big gains last year, so did the old folks. Those of 70 years and over numbered 652,000 last year, a jump of 190,000 from 460,000 in 1941, the biggest increase in history.

Ask More Aid For Immigrants

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Delegates to the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada today asked the federal government for a "more generous policy" to attract more British immigrants to Canada.



Canon W. W. Judd, general secretary of the church's council of social services, criticized the federal government for the "limited and disproportionate" numbers of immigrants from Britain. He said the government was influenced by Quebec province.

Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of All Canada, said "there's no great clamor on the part of the British to leave their native soil.... for mass immigration you'd have to deport them."

Rt. Rev. G. N. Luxton, bishop of Huron, and Chancellor H. C. Farthing of Calgary also deplored the situation but added they were not criticizing the government.

Team Of UK Experts Suggests Ways To Ease Power Shortage

LONDON (Reuters)—A team of experts today came up with a string of ideas on how Britain can ease her chronic post-war electric power shortage.

Coal is the key. It is the main source of power and heat in Britain, yet output from the mines now is lower than before the war while fuel and power demands are growing.

Some of the ideas, drawn from a report on which the experts have been working more than a year, are:

1. The railroads should step up trials of non-coal-burning locomotives.

2. Electricity rates should be varied—with lower charges during off-peak periods than in maximum-demand hours.

3. A publicity campaign should be waged to encourage use of new ideas in housing insulation and improved heating appliances.

4. A 100-per-cent purchase tax should be placed on radiators and heating stoves that do not meet a high standard of efficiency.

5. The Coal Board should try to persuade miners to accept cash instead of the free coal they receive as part of their pay. This concessionary coal totals 5,000,000 tons a year.

6. Remove purchase tax from fluorescent lighting tubes which burn less electricity than ordinary incandescent bulbs.

Thieves Steal Silver From Mine Vault

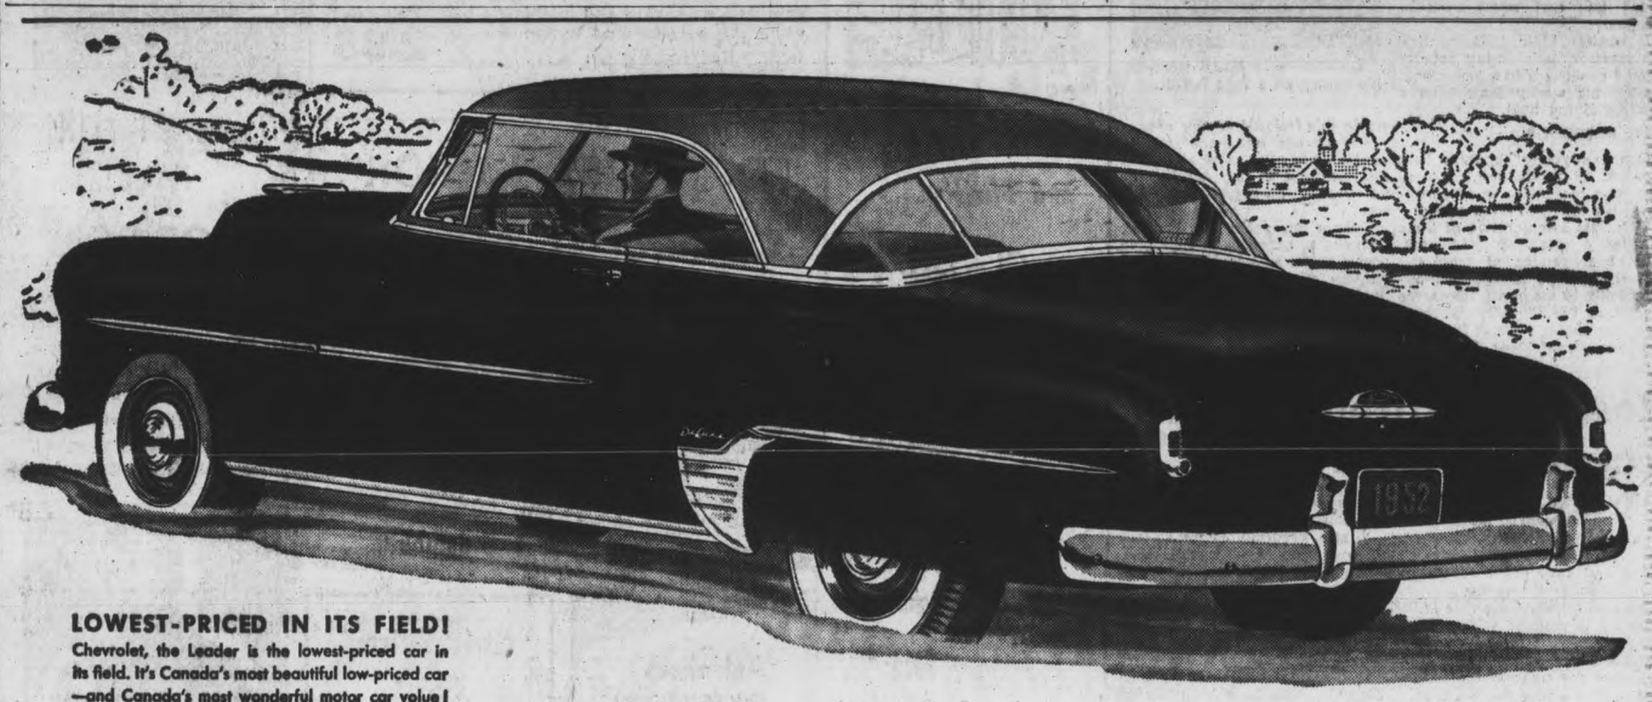
COBALT (CP)—Jim Price, manager of the Penn Cobalt mine, said today thieves some time during last week escaped with silver ore worth $300 from the vault on the 140-foot level.

The theft was discovered Friday but not disclosed until now to aid investigators.

A steel lock was forced to enter the vault and replaced to delay discovery.

Cobalt is 95 miles north of North Bay.

Big Winner



BARNACK, England (CP)—Ernest Reedman, 42-year-old manager of the general store in this Northampton village, won prizes for 59 of his 62 entries at the Barnack agricultural show. Included were three silver cups and two medals.

Label Red Dean Dangerous Lunatic

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Hewlitt Johnson, the "red" Dean of Canterbury, was described yesterday at the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada as "the wickedest apostate of modern times or a dangerous lunatic."

Chancellor H. C. Farthing of Calgary made the brief reference to the dean while the synod debated foreign affairs.

Bankers Taste Frontier Life As Northland Opens Up

By JAMES MONTAGNES

TORONTO (NEA) —"Banker's hours" has long been a synonym for a short working day. In Canada, bankers have other ideas.

Take young Ed Muir, for example.

An accountant in a Vancouver bank, he was uprooted to become acting manager of a branch in the middle of nowhere—400 miles north of Vancouver at Kemano, where a big electric power development is underway on a mountainous coast.

To serve several thousand workmen who are his customers, Muir may start out from his quonset-hut headquarters at 6 o'clock on a Sunday morning in a blinding snowstorm, as he did one day last winter, and drive 10 miles to meet the weekly supply boat.

On that Sunday, there was a 60-mile wind off shore. The steamer couldn't get into the dock, so Muir chased the steamer in a tug, delivered his mail and money orders by climbing a rope ladder, then hauled his heavy money bags dack down the swaying ladder. His "banker's hours" ended late that night back in Kemano.

If banker Muir isn't meeting the steamer, he's facing equally rugged conditions in a motor boat getting his money bags from a bobbing flying boat.

BANKER ED MUIR pursues his money on a rope ladder.

NEW OPENINGS

Canada's young bankers look forward to rapid promotion as managers these days as new frontiers like Kemano open up.

This past summer two of them boarded a plane at Edmonton, their baggage loaded with the money to go into business. A thousand miles to the north, they were landed at the Canadian government's uranium mine at Port Radium on Great Bear Lake, just south of the Artic Circle. Their branch bank is the most northern one in Canada.

On the Atlantic coast, on the Gaspe Peninsula, a couple of young bankers were given three small rooms in a contractor's bunkhouse—one to bank in, the other two to live in. They'll send out money orders for 500 workmen at the camp and handle financial business for the contractors with the few woodsmen and farmers in this isolated copper area.

The air age has made frontier banking life a lot more attractive than it used to be, despite the adventures managers like Muir face.

Only a few years ago, bankers assigned to branches at new gold camps in the sub-Arctic spent the winters in a tent. Log cabin banks are not uncommon in new mining and lumber camps. And not so long ago, bankers went into new territory by canoe.

Rose Drops Divorce Action Coudn't Stomach Mud

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway Billy Rose refused to let the show go on Wednesday. He dropped his divorce action against Eleanor Holm and gave her a separation after 13 years of marriage.

He also gave a blank cheque for alimony to a judge with a Solomon-like genius for settling husband and wife quarrels. But Billy reserved the right to contest the figure if it comes out too high.

The alimony hearing was set for Oct. 15. The 38-year-old Eleanor, one-time swimming queen, now gets a record $100 a day temporary alimony. She probably isn't anxious to take a cut.

Billy made it sound gallant and gave it the big smile as he rang down the curtain on the biggest production of his life, a sensational year-long battle that had Broadway reeling.

His lawyer, Arthur Garfield Hays, said Rose had neither the stomach or heart to engage in a mud-slinging contest with Eleanor.

Bill said he was convinced by State Supreme Court Justice James B. M. McNally that a man has no chance of winning in a fight with a girl.

Eleanor regarded her triumph "as a complete surrender by him and a complete vindication of me."

AIR OF BITTERNESS

But an air of bitterness still lingered after the War of the Roses.

Just to nail her triumph down, Eleanor got the court to add a cruelty charge to the original one of abandonment in her separation suit. She called Billy's adultery charges against her inhuman and cruel treatment.

Rose snapped to reporters afterwards:

"I apologize for nothing I have done and I withdraw nothing I have said."

As for a criminal libel charge that grew out of the case, the bantam 53-year-old showman added:

"I most certainly expect to face these charges in California and when I do, a lot of people had better start running."

The libel charge was brought against Rose by Eleanor's old friend, Mrs. Ben Bernie, widow of radio's Old Maestro. It was based on an affidavit Rose holds purportedly describing wild parties involving Eleanor and Mrs. Bernie. Rose also accused Eleanor in his divorce suit of adultery with at least five men.

Originally, Mrs. Rose sought the separation, naming as the other woman blonde Joyce Matthews, once the wife of television's Milton Berle.

If Billy ever had any hopes of marrying Joyce, they went out the window for the time being with Eleanor's victory today. He will have to get an out-and-out dicorce, not just a separation, if he wants to marry again.

Can't See Toronto As Deep-Sea Port

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Toronto will probably never become a major deep-sea port when the St. Lawrence Seaway becomes a reality, Dr. E. G. Pleva, an authority on the Great Lakes, said here last night.

Probably only Sarnia and Hamilton in southern Ontario will become major ports, Dr. Pleva, a geography professor at the University of Western Ontario, said in an address to the Purchasing Agents' Association of Western Ontario.

Reason for Toronto "missing the boat" is that its harbor never has been practical, Dr. Pleva said.

STEEL PRODUCTION UP

Canadian steel furnaces produced 3,446,125 tons of steel ingots in 1951, or 148,054 tons more than in 1950.

Hollywood Life Too Costly, Stars Cut Down

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP).— Not many years ago, everyone knew what it meant to "go Hollywood."

It immediately brought to mind a starlet who found fame overnight and blossomed out with mink-lined swimming pools and block-long limousines.

But that descriptive phrase seems to be fading from the American language. Janet Leigh gives a hint as to why new stars can no longer afford to "go Hollywood."

The question arose: How can today's film stars, hampered by lower salaries, higher taxes and bulging expenses, put up a front and appear to live like film stars?"

NO SENSE IN TRYING

"They can't," Miss Leigh replied flatly. "There's no sense in trying, because it just isn't possible financially."

She described how she and husband Tony Curtis live. It's a spartan life compared with the lavishness of former days in Hollywood.

"We live in a one-bedroom apartment," she said. "We never go to the night clubs. Only recently have we gotten to the point where we can each own a car.

"I don't lavish money on clothes. I bought some dresses in New York last year and I'm still wearing them."

"We must have a maid. I can't leave the apartment at 6:30 in the morning, return at seven and do the cooking and housework. We must have a secretary. And we have to hire our own fan-mail service.

SUED BY AGENT

"This year we had serious drains in our finances. Tony's father was very sick. Tony was on suspension from his studio. And he was sued by an agent in New York. To avoid a long and expensive suit, we settled for $5,000. It takes a long time for us to make $5,000 in the clear."

The blonde actress hinted that there are no longer the pressures on young stars to go Hollywood.

"Certainly the studios don't foster it," she explained.

"The studios now realize you can't afford to live like movie stars used to. If they need a fan magazine layout at a swimming pool, they take you to a house with a swimming pool. They don't expect you to have your own pool any more."

BOY CRUSHED BY TRUCK

WINDSOR (CP)—Thomas Meritt, 1, was killed yesterday when run over by a bread truck in the driveway of his home.

BARKING LOT—To keep his butcher shop from going to the dogs, a butcher in Chandler's Ford, Hampshire, England, has established this "barking lot" for his customers. Hooks are provided for leashed dogs, and the butcher supplies chains for footloose pooches.

Windsor Voters May Reconsider Sunday Sports

WINDSOR (CP) — Voters here may again consider the contentious subject of Sunday sports. Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said yesterday he would like to see the city "opened up."

Last December, the electors favored Sunday sports in a plebiscite, but the mayor said this restricted the events to the hours between 1 p. m. and 6 p. m.

The Board of Control seemed to think Sunday should be left open for sports activities, regardless of the hour, and Mayor Reaume suggested that opening of theatres might be made a part of the question.

Mayor Reaume said the city can be called "hypocritical" as things stand now, because the Lanspeary Park swimming pool remains open after 6 p. m. Sunday, and an admission is charged.

The board decided to wait while the city solicitor's office prepares a bylaw for the electors to consider.

Secret Formula Required To Remove Tattoo Marks

TORONTO (CP)—Out-of-date affairs are John V. Branting's stock-in-trade. The 34-year-old Swede makes a living removing unwanted tattoo marks.

He says he has a secret formula for removing love-knots and has treated customers in many parts of the world men and women alike.

Nothing, he points out, can be more embarrassing than having the name of last year's girl friend —or boy friend—tattooed complete with heart and arrow in a spot where the new one can see it.

"People usually get tattooed on a folish impulse," he says. "They soon regret it."

Most of the tattoo addicts are young people. "I'll bet not one in 100 gets tattooed after the age of 25," he says.

LESS POPULAR NOW

Mr. Branting believes tattooing is declining in popularity these days but he isn't worried. He figures there are enough old tattoos to keep him busy indefinitely.

In six years of removing tattoos in Sweden, Australia and Canada, he thinks his biggest job was the tattooed lady of a circus in Australia. She had herself covered with markings to get the job, then lost it when the circus went bankrupt.

Then there was an Australian man who had the names of his girl friends inked on to his arm—all 25 of them. He had them all taken off.

Fighter Planes Familiar Business To Canadian RCAF Ace In Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Fighter planes have become the stock-in-trade of Flt. Lt. Ernest Glover of Leaside, Ont. He's never done much else than fly them during his young life.

In the Second World War he flew Hurricanes for the R. A. F. until shot down by German ack-ack in 1943 and taken prisoner. Now it's Sabre jets in Korea and the 29-year-old R.C.A.F. pilot is on his way to becoming an ace.

Reports from Seoul say Flt. Lt. Glover has the best score of the half-dozen R.C.A.F. pilots serving with the U. S. Air Force against the Communists to gain experience.

In two days he destroyed two Red MiGs, the first one without shooting. He outmanoeuvred the Red pilot and forced him to crash his Russian-built jet.

In addition Ft. Lt. Glover has damaged three other Communist planes in the little more than two months he's been flying in Korea. His score brings the bag of the six Canadian pilots in the Korean theatre to five destroyed, two probably destroyed and three damaged.

Other Canadian pilots serving with the U.S.A.F. in Korea are Sqdn. Ldr. James Lindsay, Arnprior, Ont.; Flt. Lt. Claude A. Lafrance, Loretteville, Que.; Flt. Lt. Lawrence Spurr, Middleton, N.S.; Sqdn. Ldr. E. G. Smith, Navan, Ont., and Flt. Lt. R. E. Lowry, North Bay, Ont.

Another Canadian, FO. A. Lambros, Wiarton, Ont., is on his way to Korea.

Praises Work Of Engineers

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe of Canada said Saturday it was the application of engineers' technology "that made the world smaller and more interdependent."

Enginers, he said, must take "an active part" in solving the problems "we have helped to create."

Howe, also Minister of Defence Production, addressed a Centennial of Engineering luncheon at which he was honored by the engineering profession.

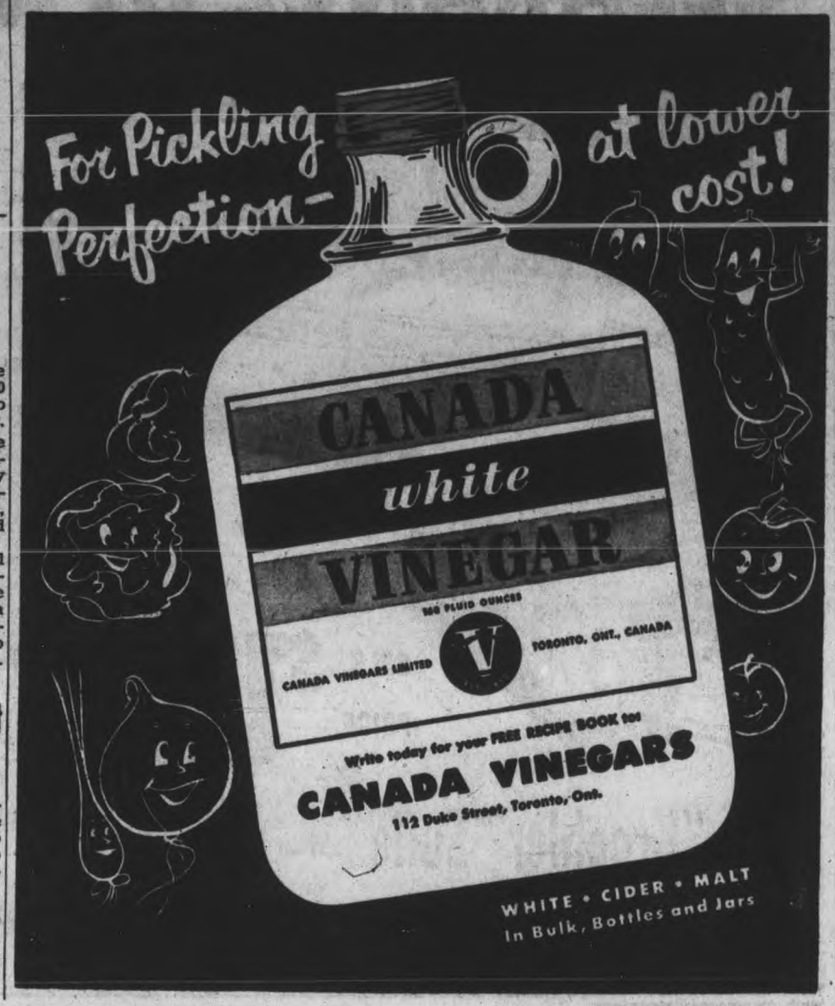
He was awarded the Herbert Hoover medal, the first Canadian to be so honored since the award was established in 1929 in the name of the former president of the United States, an engineer. The medal is given for distinguished public service.

Would Like Gold Coins

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—W. M. Nickle, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Kingston, last night urged an immediate return to minting of gold coins to provide a solid medium of exchange. He spoke at a dinner for members of the legislature who spent the day touring gold mines in this area.

Judge Refuses Change Penalty

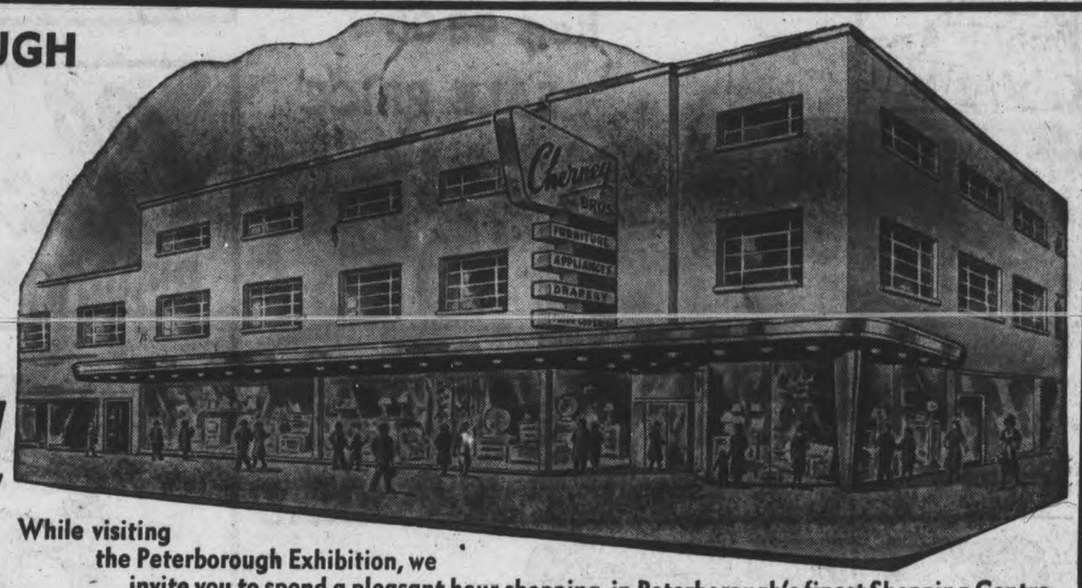
TORONTO (CP) — Carlo Simone of suburban North York went $1,000 bail for Victor Gray 15 years ago but Gray failed to appear in court.



Gray didn't appear because he and an accomplice had been involved in a gun battle at Sudbury in which Gray and one police officer were killed. The accomplice, who was wounded, was convicted of murder and hanged.

An appeal for estreatment of bail was refused yesterday. Judge Robert Forsyth said: "Probably there was a lot of expense anyway, a lot of witnesses, a lot of inconvenience" and ordered the sheriff to collect by selling Simone's home.

Says Canada's Budget Reaching Limit



WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's budget has just about reached the limit of the country's ability to pay if the present pay-as-you-go system is continued, Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday.

The Prime Minister spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Winnipeg Canadian Club. Later he toured Deer Lodge Hospital to meet Veterans of four wars. Today his Western Canada tour heads into Ontario.

Dry Areas Of Alberta Prosper Under Special Plan

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fourteen years ago much of the population of east-central Alberta was burdened with debt and harassed by soil erosion and drought.

Today these same districts, which now make up the province's Special Areas, support a thriving population of grain farmers, ranchers and mixed farmers.

From 1931 to 1937, residents in the areas received direct relief of almost $1,000,000. In 1951, total direct relief to the same population was little more than $5,000.

AREA NOW FLOURISHING

The Special Areas now cover 264 townships and have a rural population of 12,552, a figure constant for the last six years.

The Special Areas were organized to assist farmers and ranchers financially and agriculturally and to control settlement in the traditionally-dry regions. One of the first phases of the program was government - assisted depopulation to a point where the remaining farmers and ranchers would have enough land to make their operations successful.

From 1936 to 1938, economic and water surveys were made and the lands were divided into three major classifications — sub-marginal land suitable only for grazing, marginal land suitable for combination grazing and wheat production, and land suitable for wheat production.

Today, 2,000,000 acres of the 6,000,000 acres in the Special Areas are privately owned and about 3,700,000 of the remaining acres are leased from the government or used as community pasture.

MIXED FARMING FAVORED

The larger percentage of rural population is engaged in mixed farming, with 2,730 listed in 1951. The average holding is 1,500 acres, while 110 residents have holdings of 10,000 acres or more.

In 1939 the program introduced water development, regrassing of abandoned lands, and allowed grazing rentals on the basis of carrying capacity of the land. More than 500,000 pounds of free crested wheat grass and brome grass were distributed by the government.

At one time, grain harvested at Cereal, in the heart of the Special Areas, was considered the finest in Canada. If irrigation is introduced to this dry belt, and the possibility exists, the Special Areas of Alberta may become leading producers of prize grain in the province.

Public Assistance Cases Get 25% Payment Boost

TORONTO (CP)—A 25-per-cent boost in payments for medical services for all public assistance cases was announced yesterday by Welfare Minister Goodfellow. The increased payments are retroactive to Sept. 1.

Agreement has been reached with the Ontario Medical Association to pay the association $1.05 monthly for each person in receipt of old age assistance, blind persons allowances, disabled persons allowances, mothers allowances and unemployment relief.

In addition the province will continue to pay for medical services to aged persons who were transferred from the provincial program to the Dominion old-age security program as of Jan. 1. The previous monthly payment was 83 cents for each person.

Total expenditures by the province will be $2,000,000 yearly, an increase of $600,000, and affects 160,000 persons.

BAR PRESIDENT — Andre Taschereau, Q.C., of Quebec City, has been elected president of the Canadian Bar Association at the group's annual meeting in Victoria, B.C. The 45-year-old lawyer is a former Batonnier-General of the Quebec Province bar and a member of the legal firm headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Good Quality In Honey Says Judge

Honey displays and entries were fewer than last year, but were of good quality, judge Allan T. Brown said.

Only two men entered, and naturally they distributed prizes pretty evenly. Eric Mason of 515 Cross Street won three firsts and two seconds; George Astell of 169 Hilliard Street won two firsts, two seconds and a third.

No dark honey was entered this year.

Special honey display—Eric Mason, 515 Cross Street, only entry.

Six jars white honey—1 Eric Mason; 2 G. Astell, 169 Hilliard Street.

Six jars golden honey—1 Eric Mason; 2 G. Astell.

Six jars amber honey—1 G. Astell; 2 Eric Mason.

Six standard combs of honey—1 and 3 G. Astell; 2 Eric Mason.

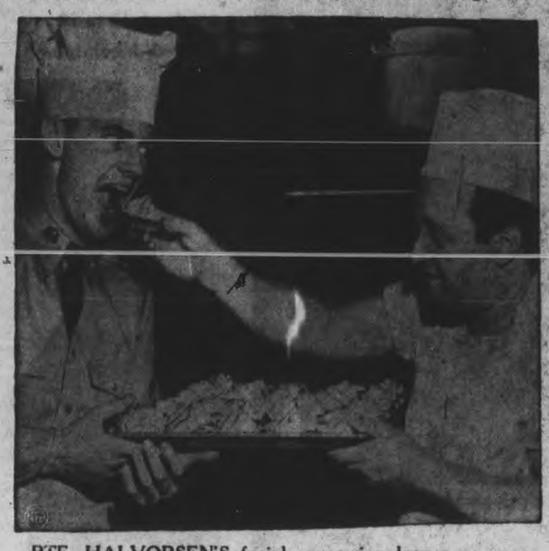
Yep---It's A Tough Detail---Resorting To Cooking School



The Army has come up with a new gimmick to teach mess sergeants ways and means of improving the taste and appearance of Army chow. They've set up Army Cooking School courses at summer resorts throughout the country. The embryo chefs de cuisine learn how to cook everything from soup to nuts and that includes juicy steaks and lemon meringue tarts. And not only that, but they learn to serve food with appetizing dash and style. Photos, typical of most resorts where the Army Cooking School holds classes, were taken at Hotel Levitt, South Fallsberg, N.Y. The course runs for six weeks, with new Army cooks rotating each week.

ARMY COOKS Cpl. Edward Jackson and Pte. Richard Halvorsen try out some new ideas on the special flavoring and broiling of steaks.

STUDENT ARMY COOKS! line up on the serving line.

PTE. HALVORSEN'S facial expression leaves no room for doubt that he likes the lemon meringue tart served by Robert Lindenberger.

Fishing Smacks Replaced By Larger Craft

QUEBEC (CP)—Picturesque but not-too-safe fishing smacks that dot Gaspe Peninsula waters will soon be replaced by 40-ton high-powered vessels costing $22,500 each.

The vessels, designed for long-line cod fishing, are 55½ feet long and are powered by six-cylinder, 105-horsepower diesel engines. They'll be offered to fishermen on the instalment plan without interest.

Quebec newspaper men rode recently on the sleek, green and white Saida, prototype of others that went into production Sept. 1 at a Gaspe shipyard.

The vessel, tested in 1951 at provincial government stations, is equipped with ship-to-shore and ship-to-ship radio telephones, direction finders and modern sounding apparatus.

Its 15-foot beam and five-foot draught enables easy coasting in shallow Gaspe bays. The engine burns four gallons of crude oil an hour. It carries 80 gallons of fresh water.

It is called a "long liner" because it plays out a line with 8,000 baited hooks which can be hauled in by a winch. A 48-foot vessel, similar to the "long liner," is being designed for fishermen preferring to net their cod.

But fisherfolk in Gaspe prefer long-line fishing and Dr. Arthur Labrie, deputy minister of Quebec's department of Fisheries, said he hopes to sell 10 "long liners" a year.

The federal government will pay $6,600 on each vessel, the fisherman will make a down payment of $3,500 and give the provincial government 13 per cent of his yearly catch until the remaining $12,400 is paid.

Already 40 ships are on order.

Defence Dept. Would Boost U.S. Orders To Plants Here

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence production authorities seek to boost the flow of United States arms orders to Canadian factories by concentrating on items which can compete with American prices and by bolstering sales channels leading to the world's biggest buyers—the American fighting forces.

The Canadian Commercial Corporation and the Defence Production Department's small industries division are linking efforts to comb Canadian production and pick out commodities which the American fighting forces require and which are really competitive in price with similar items produced by American manufacturers.

Canada's ability to produce these goods will be brought to the attention of U.S. procurement agencies through Canadian government channels.

TO BROADEN LISTS

F.W. Hore, chief of the department's small industries division, said in an interview:

"Initially, the commodity lists being established are for those items required by the U.S. Air Force, but it is intended that this listing will be extended as quickly as possible to cover items required by the U.S. army and navy."

The U.S. placed about $292,000,000 worth of defence orders in Canadian plants in the 12-month period ended June 30 last, but these were mainly large government-to-government orders for guns and aircraft. There was no indication her just how small Canadian plants fared in getting U.S. orders, but officials were inclined to believe they didn't do so well.

MAKING PROGRESS

The work of concentrating on the competitive commodities began some weeks ago and so far, officials estimate, about 100 items have been picked out, including various chemicals, electronics equipment, explosives, asbestos cloth and industrial alcohol. The job of picking out others is continuing.

These are just some of the thousands of items required by the American forces. Altogether, the U.S. government is in the market for some 3,000,000 items, ranging from screwdrivers to atomic bombs.

As defence production officials find a competitive item among Canadian manufacturers, the department's Washington office checks with U. S. procurement agents to obtain American specifications which are turned over to the Canadian manufacturer. It will be up to him to consider whether he can meet American specifications.

The next step will be to have the Canadian firm placed on the U.S. armed forces' mailing list for tenders.

CHANCES WERE SLIM

Previously, with the exception of government-to-government buying, chances of Canadian firms getting U. S. defence contracts were slim. This applied particularly to the small Canadian firm without representation in Washington and without detailed knowledge of the detailed functions of the various U.S. procurement agencies.

Another problem, too, was that American procurement agents, in some cases, just could not take time to make a thorough investigation of the small Canadian concerns making bids and these were passed up.

Under the plan the Defence Production Department, in effect, will be acting as a sort of agent for the Canadian producer, undertaking inspection on behalf of the U.S and making sure the Canadian plant has the ability to produce the item at the price tendered and in the authorities.

Police Have Busy Time In Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)—Within a half-hour in a single Manhattan block yesterday a woman plunged to her death, a painter fell off a scaffold and a shrieking young woman was dragged away from a window sill.

A young brunette about 30, who had registered at the Hotel Kenmore as Joan Takala of Syracuse, N. Y., hurtled from a hotel sundeck 21 storeys high.

Ten minutes later and half a block west, Joseph Siegal, 38, a housepainter, put the last brushstrokes on the sill of a second-floor window and leaned back to see if there were any rough spots. He was not seriously hurt.

GOING TO JUMP

A few minutes later, police got a call from witnesses who said a woman, screaming, was about to leap from the window of an office building, a few doors from the scene of the painter's mishap.

Policemen pulled a girl identified as Maureen Connelly, 18, back from the sill. She was taken to hospital for psychiatric examination.

New Rail Shown

HAMILTON (CP)—The Toronto Hamilton and Buffalo Railway yesterday demonstrated the newest wrinkle in railroading—continuous ribbon-rail which does away with joints and the familiar clickety-clack that accompanies train travel. The T. H. and B. is preparing 8,000 feet of the new rail for installation in its Hunter Street tunnel here. Eventually it plans to use the new type of rail in all its tracks.

Discovers Portrait Of Shakespeare

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—Prof. G. Wilson Knight, of Leeds University, a leading Shakespearian authority, has found in South Africa what he believes is a contemporary portrait of Williams Shakespeare, painted from life between 1606 and 1616 by a Dutch artist, Paulus van Somer.

The bard wears an earring and has bright expressive eyes. The professor considers it the best likeness in existence.

Imperials Short Three Players

SARNIA (CP)—Coach Red Douglas of Sarnia Imperials will have three players out of action for Saturday's Ontario Rugby Football Union tilt against Brantford Redskins. However, he has come up with four replacements.

Halfback Johnny Chirostecki has a dislocated collar-bone and another back, Al Farris, has a broken collar-bone. Line backer Jim Burr is out with a bruised leg.

Two of the new players are veterans, quarterback George Curtis and Jack Soper, a 230-pound middle. The others are halfback John Sells of St. Thomas and Norm Restaine, an inside who formerly was with Penn State University. He is the second United States import to join the team.

Douglas will use Restaine and Soper on his defensive line, which now averages better than 225 pounds a man. Sells and Red McKelvie will fill in for Farris on the half line while Curtis does some offensive quarter-backing.

Bethany Discusses Fire Equipment

Mr. Herb Cardwell of Wallace Point gave an interesting demonstration of fire fighting equipment in the village on Tuesday evening. Later at a meting in the town hall the subject of fire protection was discussed and it was decided to canvass the villagers for donations with Orlo Wright and George Smith as the committee in charge. The United Church have given permission for equipment to be housed in a garage adjoining the parsonage. The Women's Institute have started the fund with a donation of $150.

Arrested Krupp Found Him Anti-Communist

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (CP)—Seven years ago a Saint John army officer arrested Alfried Krupp as Hitler's Reich colapsed. Recent announcement of an Allied plan concerning the heir to the Krupp industrial empire brought memories to Col. Arthur W. Burgess who in March, 1945, arrested the industrialist at pistol point.

The announcement was that Krupp, who served a sentence as a war criminal, will get $125,000,000 if the West German government accepts the Allied plan to reinstate him. The plan calls for reorganization of the Krupp empire, with the family to be removed from the munitions business.

Col. Burgess thinks Krupp could be a valuable ally in the event of war with Russia and considers it unlikely he would try to foment another war even if the opportunity presented.

PROUD GERMAN

"He knows what war has meant to him," the colonel said here. "But I think he would join any movement that he thought might put Germany on top of the world. He would be with us in a fight with Russia. He is absolutely anti-Communist. He would want to cooperate with us in every way. Apart from being a proud German, he would have everything to lose by a Russian victory."

Col. Burgess, detached from Canadian army headquarters, was serving with the U.S. Ninth Army when he arrested Krupp.

"He wanted to be high hat, but after I told him his position—at the point of my pistol—he buckled down and co-operated."

By that time the 25-acre Krupp plant at Essen was in rubble from Allied air attacks. Krupp's magnificent residence not far away was barely touched.

KNEW TOP NAZIS

Krupp passed into the care of an Allied interrogation team. Col. Burgess has a transcript of what Krupp told his questioners.

The 45-year-old Krupp claimed he was never active politically but his position in the manufacturing world brought him into contact with Hitler, Goering, Himmler, Bormann, Speer, Funk and Ley.

Col. Burgess said he formed the impression the industrialist was not so much interested in making war as he was in the prestige of the Krupp family.

According to the transcription, Krupp believed Great Britain should have accepted Hitler's peace offer in 1940. He said that four years passed without the Allies showing any proper appreciation of bombing policy. Until near the end, effects of raids on production and transport were quickly overcome by German ingenuity.

As the chief reason for Germany's defeat, he cited the abandonment of large-scale bomber production in favor of material for land warfare and growing attention to "V" weapons.

Scottish Crofters Jubilant Queen Mother Buys Castle

LONDON (CP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth's purchase of Barrogill Castle, Caithness, has pleased crofters in the extreme north of Scotland. They are jubilant that the old castle on Pentland Firth has once again come into possession of a Scot—and a royal Scot at that.

For centuries it was the ancestral home of the Earls of Caithness, the last of whom died about 60 years ago. He is still known in the district as "the young earl." Following his death, the castle was bequeathed to an English friend.

Commanding an imposing view of Pentland Firth, almost opposite Scapa Flow, Barrogill Castle, a 16th-century building, was occupied by the army during the Second World War. When the roof is repaired, architects say it will be snug.

It has turrets and battlements and its history is as tempestuous as the lives of the Earls of Caithness. Queen Elizabeth first glimpsed Barrogil Castle in June. It was her first visit to Caithness.

A writer in the Glasgow Herald said:

"The castle's loneliness, its splendor, the fine salt Pentland air always blowing about it—which of these was it that attracted her? Or was she impressed by the lovely, surrounding country. . . Heathery. . . high with a dress-circle view of Scapa Flow, or was it superb Dunnet Head that took her fancy?"

The inside of the castle is attractive, too. The dungeon has been converted into a wine cellar. There are high-vaulted stone passages and steep, winding stairs. The first-floor drawing room has great windows that look out to sea and there is a cosy little library. The main bedroom is in a tower.

Outside are old, walled gardens with apple blossom in season. In the spring there is a wealth of daffodils.

But the country folk nearby say what the Queen Mother wants most is the peace and quiet of the lonely countryside.

There are no big towns nearby, but for rocky scenery, for wild, stormy seas, for entrancing sunsets and starry winter nights—Barrogil has few equals.

Mrs. Lillian Bedore

MARMORA (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Lillian Bedore was held on Wednesday afternoon, being largely attended. The service at St. Paul's Church and committal in Marmora Protestant cemetery were taken by the rector of Madoc, Rev. T. H. Good in absence on vacation of Canon J. M. Brownlee. The many floral emblems testified to the esteem in which the deceased wsa held. The pallbearers were John Jones, Elmer Moffatt, Major Percy Gray, John Finnegan, William Leonard and Carl Heath.

Testifies Wife Killed In Self-Defence

WELLAND (CP)—Chris Kovich told an assize court jury yesterday that he shot and killed his wife in Niagara Falls last Dec. 14 in self-defence.

Testifying on his own behalf on a charge of murder, the 56-year-old retired gold miner from Timmins said his estranged wife grabbed him by the shirt front when he admitted telling police she had been smuggling clothes from the United States.

He said his wife called him a vile name, said "I'll kill you right now" and called on her daughter, 17-year-old Barbara Walmot, to help.

"Barbara came at me with a knife and I pulled out the gun and shot," said Kovich. "I told Barbara to put down the knife and she did. Then I shot myself twice."

His testimony differed from that of Mrs. Kovich's daughters—Mrs. Norma Klipich, 18, and Miss Walmot, both daughters of an earlier marriage.

HAD GUN IN HAND

Mrs. Klipich said her stepfather after a long argument went to the washroom and came out holding a revolver in his hand. "He came up to my mother and said 'look what I have for you' and shot her. I pushed by him and ran out the front door."

Miss Walmot corroborated her sister's story.

Under cross-examination, Miss Walmot said that on Aug. 10, 1951, she had stabbed her stepfather in the back with a butcher knife when he started to hit her mother during an argument.

This is Kovich's second trial within a year on the murder charge. At his first trial in January the jury disagreed.

Canso Causeway Costs $23,000,000

HALIFAX (CP)—Working schedule for a causeway: Dig up 9,000,000 tons of rock out of a mountain and dump it into the sea.

Giant electric shovels are being primed to do just that when the $23,000,000 Canso causeway, linking Cape Breton Island and mainland Nova Scotia, gets under way next month.

A big preliminary job has been done. The rock fill itself is the intermediate stage of the project. The final stage is a 850-foot canal lock for vessels on the Cape Breton end of the link across the roaring Strait of Canso.

BIG CAMP BUILT

Before construction could begin, workers had to carve a camp site out of the wilderness and equip it with heavy equipment. The base camp already contains offices, workshops and repair plants, garages, a first aid station, bunkhouse and a mess hall.

Big generators at the camp will supply power for the shovels which will load the fill into trucks, for dumping into the causeway.

Mulgrave, nearest town to the project, is starting to boom as workers settle there and further workshops are expected to be established.

The project should be completed soon. Tenders for the canal lock, the final stage, will be called next year. When agreement between the federal government and Nova Scotia on the project was announced last October, Premier MacDonald of Nova Scotia said: "It will be a great day for Cape Breton when the causeway is finished and open to traffic. We ought to celebrate that day by assembling a hundred pipers on the Cape Breton shore and having them play 'The Road to the Isles.'"

LONG-MOOTED LINK

A link across the strait had been mooted for many years, but until comparatively recently planners always considered a bridge. Engineers found this impractical.

With strong currents and wide tidal variations, the strait averages 185 feet in depth at the point where the causeway will cross. The causeway itself will be 4,000 feet long, with the top wide enough for a railway line, a motor highway and a six-foot sidewalk.

Some 4,500,000 cubic yards of rock will be used to build the causeway. Some foundation stones six tons each. A movable bridge will carry traffic over the vessel lock.

Nova Scotia will pay between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 towards the cost of the project.

Report Only Handful Survive Bulgarian Concentration Camp

By ALEX WACHSMUTH

VIENNA (Reuters)—The concentration camps in Bulgaria have become an important part of that country's economy.

Only a handful of Bulgarians have managed to survive their term in one of the "work-education" camps and escape to the West. Reports they have brought to Vienna build up thsi picture:

The number of persons in these camps has remained constant ever since the beginning of this year. There are some 60,000 Bulgarians imprisoned in the forced labor camps for so-called "administrative" prisoners who have not received court sentences.

Another nearly 12,000 Bulgarians are living in separate camps in even worse conditions than the "administrative" prisoners. These have been tried and sentenced to terms of forced labor.

20 DIFFERENT CAMPS

The 60,000 "administrative" prisoners are housed in 20 different "work-education" camps. They were sent to the camps by their local authorities without any right of appeal against the decision.

The camps are divided into six groups according to their place in the national economy:

Coal mining: Some 15,000 prisoners at five camps; power plants: 12,000 at five camps; agriculture: 10,000 at three camps; drainage and water systems: 12,000 at three camps; railway construction: 6,000 at two camps; road construction: 5,000 at two camps.

Of those 60,000 prisoners, about 25 per cent. are women who work under slightly better conditions than do male prisoners. Usually the women do not work for more than 12 hours a day—after which they are "re-educated" for at least another hour every day.

15-HOUR DAY

The men work a minimum of 12 and a maximum of 15 hours a day. The period they have to serve is usually one year, but many do not survive that length of time.

Food is issued to the prisoners only twice a day. Daily rations consist of about 14 ounces of bread and about two quarts of a thin cabbage soup.

NEW HEDGES PLANTED

Many rods of Chinese elm were planted this season around the lawns of many houses. There must be miles of this hedge in Peterborough if it could be measured in a long straight line.

BEATING THE HEAT

Trying to take the edge off the humid weather, women at exhibition today adopted old and new dodges. More than one woman who had forgotten her hat borrowed her husband's. More than half a dozen others were carrying umbrellas.

APPOINTED CONTROLLER

Arthur T. G. Westbrook, formerly chief metallurgist with the Canadian National Railways, has been appointed assistant controller of tests and materials research. He is the son of Mrs. Charlie Westbrook, 268 London St. He graduated from the P.C.V.S. in 1932 and Queen's University in 1936.

FALLS FROM SCAFFOLD

John Brown, 29-year-old Toronto construction worker, was discharged from St. Joseph's hospital Wednesday night. He received a cut scalp and body bruises when he fell from a scaffold Wednesday afternoon while working on the extension at the Western Clock Co. plant.

JUNIORS IN THE HEAT

If Peterborough had a Memorial Community Centre at Morrow Park one of its advantages would have been the accommodation for the junior farmers of Central Ontario under its roof instead in that almost torrid autumn sun. And, if it had rained, there would be protective cover and the facilities afforded at the Western Exhibition at London.

FRACTURES SHOULDER

When he fell from a hay wagon, Wednesday, Carmen Dake, 40, of RR 2 Norwood received a fractured left shoulder, a bruised hand, and a cut head. Dake, a farmhand working with Francis Gardner of Asphodel, lost his balance when Mr. Gardner pulled the team over to the side of the road to let a car go by on the 11th concession of Asphodel. He fell to the gravel roadway and was taken to Civic hospital by Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood.

PARKED CARS ARE BLAMED

Parked cars that blocked the view from the exit of a parking lot at King and Aylmer Sts, is blamed by Clark Stables of 330 Water St. for an accident late Wednesday afternoon in which two cars were damaged. Mr. Stables drove east to come out of the parking lot on Aylmer, but he told Constable Jack Wilson that his view was blocked by parked cars. He collided with the left side of a car driven by Mrs. Doris Hargrave of 458 Aylmer St. and damaged that side extensively. Damage to his own car was $15.

Committee Set Up To Help Prisoners Start New Life

A committee is being set up in Peterborough county to look after the rehabilitation of discharged prisoners. Their job will also be to take an interest in young people who run foul of the law but are not hardened criminals. A. R. Virgin, director of reform institutions, Wednesday afternoon outlined this plan, which is being set up in other counties throughout the province, to a representative group of professional and other people who would be able to help.

Mr. Virgin is now making a tour of the county seats of Ontario seeing that at least the nucleus of such a representative committee is set up.

As spokesman for the Department of Reform Institutions, he said:

"We are not concerned here with those that are beyond help but we are concerned with those who need friendly help and guidance . . . In communities such as Peterborough, Perth and St. Catharines (not large centres and with a relatively low crime rate) we feel that the setting up of a committee of interested persons to do the necessary rehabilitation work is the answer to the problem.

HELPING HAND

"When a young fellow gets into jail somebody should be there to interview him . . . find out how and why he is there . . . give him a helping hand."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., said he had not had sufficient notice to draw up even an interim committee. However, on the spur of the moment, he suggested a steering committee of eight to begin with: George MacDonald who has had some experience at counselling work; Major Harry Everitt, Salvation Army; Miss Rachael Young superintendent of the Children's Aid Society; G. H. Roper and Dr. G. R. Langley, both retired from active business and experienced in youth work; Fred Overend, industrial representative; Wilson Gemmell, banker; and William Graff, librarian.

Mr. Virgin gave a brief outline of the work being done by the Department of Reform Institutions, in jails and in the larger reformatories and industrial farms.

Last year more than 46,000 people were committed to the 45 provincial jails—a total larger than the population of Kingston. Nearly 8,000 went to reformatories or industrial farms and nearly 500 received penitentiary terms.

TWO OBSTACLES

Lack of education and alcoholism are two obstacles on the way to rehabilitation, Mr. Virgin said.

"Seventy-six per cent of these people were in the elementary school range, pointing out that their education is a problem that must be looked after if successful training is to be carried in the institutions.

"Moreover, 65 per cent, or more than 30,000 admit to intemperance in the use of alcohol."

The Department of Reform Institutions was created as a separate department of the Ontario government in April, 1946, he said, and a number of experiments in reformation have dated from then.

Junior Farmers Take Over At Exhibition

The junior branch of Peterborough Exhibition got under way promptly at 9.30 a.m. today with a big increase in the number of boys and girls participating from six counties of Central Ontario. It looked like a record attendance.

The home-making branch attracted 96 girls whose program continues all day in the market hall, and the main agricultural section registered 137 boys, including a few girls, for the livestock judging competition and other agricultural tests.

Just for purpose of comparison, the news report from the Western Exhibition at London showed an attendance of 250 rural young people from eight counties, about fifteen more than the corresponding Peterborough show.

The girls' work at the market hall features judging competitions in clothing and grooming, cooking and entertainment projects, gardening and so on. In charge of it was Miss Florence P. Eadie, of the junior extension of the Women's Institute branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and Miss Jean Noble, who is district home economist for the immediate four counties including Peterborough.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING

The livestock judging competition at the Exhibition Park comprised five classes, dairy and beef cattle, heavy horses, swine and sheep. This afternoon the juniors competed in an agricultural quiz and identification of seeds, weeds, leaves, etc.

Supervisors for the day's classes placed the four animals in each, and then lined them up before the large group of junior farmers. Each of them was supplied with cards on which they wrote their placings. That was part of the competition in the five livestock classes.

The group judges were: for dairy—Cliff Morrow, Toronto, of the Ontario Livestock Branch.

Beef cattle—Ed Starr, Toronto, also of the Ontario Livestock Branch.

Heavy horses: Roy Ferren of Cavan.

Swine: Harold Snyder, Toronto of the livestock branch of the federal Department of Agriculture.

Sheep: Murray McRae, Toronto, also of the federal branch. He was for some time assistant agricultural representative in Peterborough.

Plans for the junior exhibition were generally prepared by Frank C. Paterson, with his assistant Ken Best.

REPRESENTATIVES HERE

Agricultural representatives from the Central Ontario counties were nearly all present. The area comprises: Ontario county, Durham, Northumberland, Hastings, Prince Edward, Victoria and Peterborough.

R. G. Bennett, Toronto, associate director of extension, was the principal representative of the Ontario Department here today.

The large company of juniors are dinner guests of Canada Packers at the Empress Hotel this evening when the winners of the competitions will be announced.

On the whole, the Junior Exhibition is an outstanding success. Attendance might have exceeded the actual total if some of the boys and girls had not been detained at home by their school work.

The directors of the junior committee are: Don Milburn, chairman, Alan Drummond, Reg Ferguson and John Edmison. They are graduates of the junior department of the "Ex".

AFTERNOON GRANDSTAND SHOW, the midway and a hundred and one exhibits got the quick once-over by school children at the Peterborough Exhibition on Wednesday, opening day. In the upper photo a spieler draws a small crowd and doubting expressions as he shouts himself hoarse in the sun. The pony mare and foal parading in front of the grandstand, after judging had been completed, drew delighted cries from the kiddies packed on the stands. The all-over attendance at the show was a record breaker.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Bird Hits Car Hurts Passenger

One partridge was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon and a Fenelon Falls man injured in a car-bird-man accident on Highway 7.

Two couples, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Goodhand of Fenelon Falls and Mr. and Mrs. William Brotherstone of Bobcaygeon, were driving along Highway 7 from Ottawa when a partridge flew through the front side window.

"With a "terrific racket" and "quite a few flying feathers," the partridge plummeted into the back seat where it hit the 53-year-old Goodhand flush in the face. His glasses were broken, cutting his left eye.

He was treated at the Civic hospital and remained there today for examination by an eye specialist.

50 Children Lost At Fair

More than 50 lost children were returned to their parents Wednesday by workers at the St. John Ambulance Brigade tent.

Late at night, the men and women who staff the tent said they had seen just about enough children for one day. They cited the case of one woman whose nephew was in the tent for several hours. The workers suspected they had been used as baby sitters.

More than a dozen people were treated for cuts, queasy stomachs, the effects of the sun, and bruises. One boy who fell off a trained bull at the evening grandstand performance suffered a bruised hip, a rider in the pony race was scraped and bruised when he fell from his mount in the afternoon.

Haldimand House Burns Police Search For Owner

Provincial police are searching the Warkworth and Peterborough districts for a Warkworth man following a fire which razed his home at 6:30 a.m. today. They are reasonably sure that the man was not in the fire which razed home and contents, causing about $3,500 damage.

The one-and-a-half storey frame house, six miles south of Warkworth in Haldimand township near Russ Creek, was owned by Elgie Palmateer, 42, who was living alone. His wife and five children have been staying at a neighbor's Carmen Parcels, since Friday.

Mr. Parcels was the first to notice the burning house, seeing the reflection in the early morning sky, but didn't pay too much attention, thinking that it was the sunrise. But within minutes his son, Ernest, and Paul Palmateer were roused from their sleep and saw the fire on the roof of the Palmateer home.

AROUND CHIMNEY

Then the fire was only around the chimney, but according to Mrs. Parcels, "It was very shortly afterwards that the whole house was on fire; in fact, it was just a few minutes."

The fire alarm was sent along the rural telephone line and was answered by a number of neighbors. But by that time the whole building was aflame and no one ventured near it.

"Nothing could be done," said Mrs. Parcels, "the whole building was on fire."

At noon today the ruins were still smoldering in the cellar; everything was burned.

Neighbors and the family were unable to save anything in the house as the fire swept through the wooden structure. Mrs. Palmateer lost a prize piano while daughter Carol lost all her new clothing which she had bought with money earned during the summer holidays.

Now homeless are Mrs. Palmateer, and children, Carol, Paul, 11, Patsy, nine, Melody, five and Kathie, two. Two other children are Mrs. Murray Hill of Peterborough and Clare of Bowmanville.

NOT SEEN

Mrs. Parcels said that no one has seen Mr. Palmateer since Wednesday afternoon when he was near the Parcels' farm in a car with another man.

"I'm pretty sure he wasn't in the fire though," said Mrs. Parcels.

O.P.P. Constable Lyle Erskine, Cobourg detachment, investigated the fire and disappearance of Mr. Palmateer in the Warkworth area throughout the morning. But at press time was believed to have changed the search to Peterborough.

Man Thrown Out As Cars Crash

Andrew Cumming, 27, of 533 Aylmer St. was thrown out of his 1949 model car Wednesday night and was slightly injured when he landed on the pavement at the Chemong Turn. He was treated for a cut on the forehead that required several stitches to close and his right elbow was bruised.,

His condition today in Civic Hospital is satisfactory.

Cumming was turning off Highway 7 to go north on the Chemong Road when he collided with the southbound car of Leslie Frank Errey, 52, of Galt. Errey was coming from Bridgenorth.

The front left fender of Errey's car collided with the left rear door and fender of the Cumming vehicle, spinning it around. The impact jarred Cumming out of the driver's seat and he was thrown violently to the paved surface of the road.

Out of control, the car zig-zagged across the road and finally piled up in the west ditch, 200 feet north of where Cumming was lying. Damage to both vehicles totalled $800.

O.P.P. Constable John Cawood investigated.

Scouts Gather

SANDRINGHAM, England (CP) —Boy Scouts from Norfolk, Suffolk and Cambridgeshire have been invited by the Queen to take part in a coronation jamboree on the May 24 week-end next year. Commonwealth countries will be asked to send patrols to the big meet.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE HOUSES on the Hatton wartime development property at Peterborough's West end, are being moved sectionally to buyers in various parts of southern Ontario. One on Gilmour St. W., was eased onto a tractor-drawn float on Wednesday afternoon. Cut in half, each house requires two trucking trips; this building went to the new Army Ordnance development at Cobourg. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Fall Fairs Improve Feeling Between City, Farm—Pineau

2,000 Enjoy Grandstand

Trapeze Family Thrills Audience With Act
Performing Bull, Horse
Get Applause In One of Best Shows In Years

The increased good relationship between rural and urban people that fall fairs have contributed to was stressed Wednesday night in F. E. Pineau's speech, opening the 1952 Peterborough Exhibition. Peterborough and the district around it were no exception to that rule, he felt. The improved relationship was one of the major contributions fairs have made to Canada, said Mr. Pineau, assistant director of production services for the federal department of agriculture.

"In my lifetime, I have seen the change across the country," he said. City and farm people had developed new respect for each other, and had pretty well called a halt to calling each other names.

Of the Peterborough Exhibition in particular, he said that it was outstanding in the way it handled its junior section.

"In these young men and women we are dealing with our most important crop," said Mr. Pineau. "The Peterborough Exhibition is to be commended for the place it has given its junior farmers."

Mr. Pineau, introduced by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West, was preceded by Mayor Hugh Waddell and County Warden Dick Stewart, who brought greetings on behalf of the city and county.

2,000 IN STANDS

After the brief speeches, one of the best grandstand shows presented in recent years was seen by the 2,000-odd in the stands.

Two horses won double firsts in the 2.28 and 2.20 classes to open the harness racing for the exhibition. They were Pastime Vern, owned by L. J. Ryan of Toronto and driven by Jimmy McIntyre and Buddy C. Gratton, owned and driven by Ross Dawson of Port Perry. Time for both final heats was 2.14.

Most thrilling act was the aerialists' show. Working on a frame whose highest point would be about 90 feet up, the Whinney family—father, mother and six-year-old daughter—brought gasps from the crowded stands.

The daughter opened the show on a pair of rings held by her father, who, to the tune of "The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze," swung, twisted and turned more than enough to live up to the song.

Mrs. Whinney, on a solid trapeze, brought the crowd to their feet when she performed a giant swing, swinging higher and higher until she was revolving about the bar her trapeze was suspended from.

Climax of the act was the "human pinwheel," where husband and wife held themselves together while they revolved about the bar of the topmost trapeze.

Another feature of the show were the various acts, scattered through the evening, of the cowboy team of "Montana Frank" and "California Joe," with Frank's Hereford bull El Toro and Joe's horse Pinto.

HANDY WITH WHIPS

Pinto could count, and El Toro is one of a few bulls existing who can do tricks of a sort. But the better part was in their whip and rope work. Two whips were used, one 16 feet long, the other about eight.

Snapping the whip nastily, Frank would have Joe hold a roll of paper in his hand, then cut it in halves until only an inch projected from Joe's hand. A final lash of the whip would cut that piece in two.

Joe was the rope artist and able to handle it with a great deal of skill. He would start it spinning, then roll it over his shoulders, skip in and out of the loop, spin it up and down around his body and conclude by spinning a giant loop which he skipped through.

A jeep-assembling team from the army camp at Kingston proved to be one of the crowd-pleasers of both afternoon and evening shows. At both performances, they were able to assemble a taken-down jeep in less than two minutes.

Their time for the afternoon effort was one minute, 53 seconds; for the evening show, one minute, 50 seconds. Their record to date is one minute, 48 seconds.

Al Rose, a juggler, provided plenty of entertainment, and the Six Sparklettes — the dancing girls—combined good looks and talent to stage excellent dancing routines whenever they appeared.

Many Signing Petition Memorial Centre

Maurice Ketcheson's single-handed campaign by petition "to get on with a Memorial Community Centre" is bringing in signed lists. Two yesterday were from Raybestos and Western Clock.

Lists are being circulated in the C.G.E., and Mr. Ketcheson is planning to appeal to the Canadian Legion at their meeting next week for their support.

"People say that if anything can be done in this matter they would like to see it started before we all pass on," Mr. Ketcheson said today.

"There is no intention of embarrassing anybody. When we have so much money in the Centre fund, surely we can get whatever action is needed to complete the project."

PAYING EXPENSES

The Examiner asked Mr. Ketcheson who was helping him, for instance who was paying for the printing, and doing the work of distributing petition sheets.

"That's all right," he said. "All the help needed is for the people to sign the lists which should be an indication of public support in this appeal to authority."

Mr. Ketcheson admitted that he was paying the printing bill and getting around on propaganda work.

"There is nothing in it for me," he said, "but there would be some satisfaction if we could get the Memorial Centre erected so the people can use it."

That is all there is to it, Mr. Ketcheson said. "It was such a wonderful response from the people that we should no longer be patient with delay. Other communities have been going ahead with similar projects."

Strike Threat Averted

PRESCOTT (CP)—Threat of a strike of construction workers at the C.I.L. nylon plant at Maitland, four miles west of here, was ended last night when union members voted approval of a new union contract. The agreement between Fraser-Bruce Engineering, Ltd., and the United Construction Workers provides a 10-cent hourly wage increase which brings the basic pay to $1 an hour for laborers.

Decide Millard Will Intervene

TORONTO (CP) — The United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) Wednesday announced that C. H. Millard, national director, will personally enter the strike picture at the Sunshine Waterloo Manufacturing Company plant.

The 10-week strike by several hundred workers is at a stalemate.

Mr. Millard said that the management of the company is apparently without authority to make commitmen due to internal company circumstances.

"We will approach the company at once on the directorial level in the hope that discussions which could lead to an agreement can start as quickly as possible," said Mr. Millard.

CORNY KITTENS—"Tiger" and "Boots" think there's something fishy about all those tales of cats liking salmon. The pets of Carl Krueger, of South Saint Paul, Minn., much prefer corn on the cob, and even pass up their daily milk when they have a chance to nibble on the summertime delicacy.

Railways Up Freight Rates

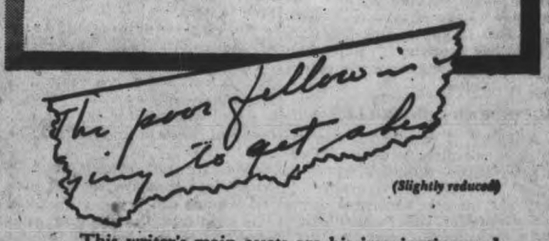
OTTAWA (CP)—The railways have launched an upward revision of their freight rates on exports and imports through eastern ports, it was learned yesterday.

The move is aimed at getting more revenue for the carriers by pegging Canadian rates to the higher export-import charges of the United States railways. It would be the first general revision of the basis of these rates since 1905, though they have been subject to periodic increases.

Increases would run to about 40 per cent and decreases to around 25 per cent.

The changes would apply on traffic going through the ports of Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Montreal, Quebec, Sorel, Que., Three Rivers, Que., and the U. S. Atlantic seaboard. The rates extend as far west as the Ontario-Manitoba border.

Make Final Offer To Grain Handlers



WINNIPEG (CP)—A final offer was reported made yesterday to grain-handlers in a three-day discussion with operators of 15 Lakehead grain terminals.

Some 1,500 Lakehead terminal workers have threatened to strike Sept. 15 to back up wage and working demands.

No results of the discussions were announced.

The union asks a 40-hour week at $1.62 an hour and union security with compulsory check-off.

Wind Tunnel Scientists Develop New Type Kite

NEW YORK (NEA) —Santa Claus, that talented toy designer, is getting an assist this year from applied aerodynamics and a man with a wind tunnel.

The result of all this scientific work is a new kind of kite, which Santa may be bringing to little boys by this Christmas. It's a completely new concept in flying wastepaper, and might almost make kite-flying easy on fathers.

The main feature of the new invention is that it's non-rigid, the wind tunnel man's way of saying that it has no sticks. The inventor, Francis Rogallo, of Hampton, Va., goes even further and says it's the world's first non-rigid, heavier-than-air craft.

Rogallo is chief of a wind tunnel branch of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics' stability reasearch division. Boil that down and you come to the conclusion that he is an aircraft engineer. He works at the wind tunnels at Langley Field, and, when he isn't working on some problem about stress and strain in jet planes, he's flying kites in the tunnels.

The kite interest is left over from his boyhood. He always was a kiteflyer, but he was depressed by the conventional kites' ease of breakage and inability to perform fancy manoeuvres. So he began working on a new type of kite.

After many wind tunnel tests and faulty pilot models, he came up with the one he's now making, which looks like a large bandanna or a small table-cloth, only it's made of plastic. Attached to the edges of the square material are 14 shroud lines that feed into the one main control line.

There's a nylon tail, to stabilize the kite, and a stick to hold the nylon line. That's the full equipment, that and a small boy to make it go.

The main body of the kite, the plastic square, is limp and floppy. But with a little wind, it billows out like a parachute. Its construction, in fact, is a lot like that of a 'chute, except it's engineered to go up instead of down.

With a little practice, and favoring breezes, it can do loops, soar straight up, nose dive, or hover stationary. And it has no sticks to snap or snag the paper, and the plastic is difficult to tear. But there's still not much that can be done if you fly it into a tree.

ROGALLO AND KITE: The winds died down in the house.

Rogallo is making the kite in three sizes, with the largest one theoretically capable of carrying a man aloft. Nobody has yet tested out that feature, however.

Mrs. Rogallo, who has assisted her husband throughout the kite's development, is rather glad that the experimental days are over. There was a time, as research grew feverish, when the Langley Field tunnel wasn't enough.

To do tests at night, Rogallo turned the house into a wind tunnel, too. A big electric fan supplied the wind, and the doorway between the sun porch and the living room was the tunnel. Keeping some doors open and some closed made the wind rush through the residential tunnel at just the right speed for indoor kite testing.

But now the kite is a reality, and the winds have died down at the Rogallo's house.

Ontario Will Help Build Jail, But Won't Pay All

TORONTO—The Ontario Government has been prepared for several months to make a large grant toward construction of a Toronto-Hamilton jail, Reforms Institutions Minister Foote said Wednesday night.

Denying a newspaper report that Queen's Park had offered to build a new prison to replace Don Jail, he said the province agreed several months ago to share in the capital costs of construction if and when the two cities decided to build a common jail.

"The offer still stands," he said, "but it is entirely up to Toronto and Hamilton to decide whether the jail should be built."

He said the suggestion to erect a common jail somewhere between the two big cities had originated with Mayor Lamport. Major Foote obtained government approval of it and called representatives of both city councils to a conference at Queen's Park. The size of the government grant was never indicated, beyond the statement that it would be "generous."

"Naturally we do not intend to pay the full cost of the jail," Major Foote said. "The municipalities would have to split the maintenance costs."

Though no formal reply had been received by his office, the minister felt Hamilton civic authorities were content with their Barton St. Jail, for the time being at least.

The subject of a new jail for the two cities was raised again by the escape of the Boyd gang from Don Jail early Monday morning.

Major Foote said the provincial government had done all it could in recent months to lighten the load of the ancient Toronto lockup. He estimated that by taking many prisoners to provincially administered jail farms, the government had saved the city about $350,000 a year.

15% Increase Requested In Chest Funds

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will be asked to contribute $13,750,000 to this country's 55 Community Chests for use during 1953, it was announced today by Stuart M. Philpott, national chairman of the Community Chests division of the Canadian Welfare Council.

This is an increase of 15 per cent over the $11,900,000 raised for 1952.

The increase is needed, Mr. Philpott said, because a larger city and suburban population is being served by the Chests, because of rising costs of health, welfare and recreation services, and because last year's Red Feather campaigns fell nearly $1,000,000 short of their combined objectives.

Largest increases in objectives for 1953 are those of Belleville, Ont and Moose Jaw, Sask., who will seek about 35 per cent more than last year. Vancouver and Winnipeg will need 24 per cent more, Toronto 20 per cent more, Ottawa 13 per cent and the Welfare ederation of Montreal 10 per cent.

The campaign in most cities—aimed at financing a total of 819 voluntary agencies across Canada will be conducted in October.

Colonies Ask Greater Role In Association

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of Britain's colonies yesterday asked to be given a greater role in the affairs of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

The association is made up of representatives from the parliaments and legislatures of Commonwealth countries. The United States and the Republic of Ireland hold associate memberships.

Hon. D. B. Sangster, Jamaica's minister of social welfare, asked that the West Indies be given two representatives on the General Council. The West Indies now share one member on the council with British Guiana and British Honduras.

Mr. Sangster's proposal launched a prolonged debate on the question of membership on the council. Some delegates said that to accede to the request of the West Indies would open the door to claims by other colonies now grouped together on the council.

It was agreed that Mr. Sangster would withdraw his request on the understanding it will be considered by the General Council.

ROYAL ARTISTRY — Princess Margaret is shown in the above portrait as she appears through the eyes of her artist-aunt, the Duchess of Kent. The portrait is said to "capture perfectly the Princess' poise and coloring."

Narcotics, Liquor Come Under Synod Fire

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Narcotics, drink, war and racialism came under the scrutiny of the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada here yesterday.

Most Rev. H. E. Sexton, Metropolitan of British Columbia, sponsored a resolution asking that Welfare Minister Martin and Justice Minister Garson be urged to implement recommendations to kill the "malignant" drug traffic.

Drug addiction is a scourge "100 times worse than drink," said the archbishop.

Rt. Rev. P. G. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, said drinking has increased 500 per cent in the last 23 years while the population increased 75 per cent. The situation had reached the "crisis stage."

A resolution proposed by Canon W. W. Judd, general secretary of the Council of Social Services, deplored the "attitude of mind which demands the ever-increasing production of new and ever more powerful weapons of all kinds calculated to destroy whole areas of the world without distinction of military and civil objectives."

CHRISTIAN PROBLEMS

Regarding racialism, Archbishop Sexton scored those who "cannot see the image of God in a black man's face." Mentioning the South African policies under Premier Malan, he said: "This is not a political question but one of common Christian justice for a downtrodden people."

Most Rev. P. Carrington, Archbishop of Quebec, and Canon W. H. Davidson of Montreal both urged study of those "fields in which cordial relations can be fostered with the Roman Catholic church."

SEEK REUNION

Speaking on a report on Protestant-Roman Catholic relations presented by Canon F. W. Wilkinson of Toronto, the archbishop said such an attitude would be in keeping with the ultimate aim, "reunion of all Christendom."

The synod voted a stipend increase from $1,800 to $2,000 for married missionaries, $1,500 to $1,700 for single men.

Profits Of $14,902 In Electrical Dept.

COBOURG (ENS).—The electrical department showed a profit but the water department recorded a deficit for the first seven months of this year, it was revealed at Wednesday night's meeting of the public utilities commission. Operating profit for the electrical department was $14,902. The water department showed a loss of $2,120 for the same seven months' period.

Foreign Shipping Firms Invade Great Lakes

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Foreign shipping firms, determined to share in Canada's industrial expansion have invaded the Great Lakes in force.

Tailoring their freighters to St. Lawrence River canals specifications, they have built up a substantial—and annually increasing—flow of commerce between Great Lakes and European ports.

Eberhard Thost, president of the Hamburg-Chicago Line, summed up the views of European ship owners in a recent statement:

"There is a great industrial development taking place in Canada and we're looking for the growth in trade between Canada and Europe. There's plenty of business now and we're building up connections so we'll be ready when the seaway is."

SEAMEN OPPOSED

The Seafarers International Union (A.F.L.) at Toronto has called for a ban on foreign vessels working Canadian inland waters, and urges a heavy tax on foreign ships until a complete ban can be imposed.

A ship-owner, James Norris of Lake Forest, Ill., said in a speech recently he would like to see all overseas shipping banned from the Great Lakes. Norris, a Canadian-born industrialist, said foreign merchantmen can undercut North American ship operators by at least one-third because of their low wages and operating costs.

The summer of 1952 has seen this business hit a post-war peak. Hardly a day goes by without one or two ships flying foreign flags locking through the complicated St. Lawrence canals system.

The majority are specially built for the Great Lakes run. Rugged enough to withstand the severest of North Atlantic blows, they must be small enough to squeeze through the St. Lawrence canals with 260-foot locks and 14-foot depth.

PAYING BUSINESS

But even with limited dimensions, these freighters will carry a pay load of 3,000 gross tons—a cargo that can be decreased inbound and increased outbound at Montreal.

As compared with four in 1935 and none during the Second World War, there now are 41 of these salt-water ships in operation on the St. Lawrence.

The pioneer in this modern European-Great Lakes service was a Norwegian firm, the Fjell Line. In 1938, the Oranje Line, a Dutch company, began operations and the Swedish-Chicago Line followed suit the next summer.

The boom has come since the war. In 1950, the Fabre Line, a French company, had two ships connecting Mediterranean ports and Great Lakes cities. This year the line ran six ships and is planning on adding two more in 1953.

In 1951 West Germany was represented in the trade by the Hamburg-Chicago Line. The German company scheduled regular sailings for seven ships during 1952.

British ships appeared for the first time this summer. The Manchester Line scheduled monthly sailings with two new motor ships. F.A.R.M., another British line, entered the lakes service this year.

LINK WITH INDIA

The India-America Line plans to link Bombay, Madras and Calcutta with lake cities in monthly sailings.

What commodities make up the cargoes of these ships?

Westbound, they carry construction steel, liquor, Swiss cheese, machine tools, chemicals, precision instruments, wood pulp, fish oil and porcelain. On the way back it's asbestos, automobiles, metals, synthetic rubber, milk products, agricultural machinery, washing machines and wood products.

These ships aren't made idle by the winter freeze-up. In late November they shift to the European and African coastal trade. Many ply the Far Eastern shipping lanes.

Despite this, the Great Lakes summer trade is still their biggest business. In 1949 they carried 20,000 tons in imports and 12,500 in exports. In 1950 the figures jumped to 25,000 tons in imports and 30,000 in exports. Last year saw a total of 26,500 tons of imports and 35,000 tons of exports. This summer's figures are expected to exceed by far all existing records.

2 Towns Appeal County Tax Levy Due To Boost

MILTON.—The first appeal in 30 years against a Halton County tax levy opened Wednesday before Judge W. N. Robinson. The towns of Burlington and Oakville signified their intention of proceeding with an appeal of the 1951 county levy. Five of the eight other municipalities within the county, withdrew their appeals.

Solicitors representing Nelson and Trafalgar Townships and the village of Bronte will remain as observers throughout the hearing expected to last for at least a week.

Both Oakville and Burlington solicitors said they would claim that the towns obtain little benefit from county system. They charge that most of the tax levy is spent in the rural townships. The Halton tax levy has been a controversial subject for five years.

Increase of 1.7 per cent, or an estimated $4,900 was made in the county levy for each town last year. Oakville was asked to pay $49,096 last year, and Burlington $42,000.

The hearing Wednesday lasted only three hours, as most of the day was spent in arranging the with-drawal of the appeals of Milton, Acton, Georgetown and the townships of Esquesing and Nassagaweya

Only witness was Ford Rogers, county assessor since 1946. Mr. Rogers described the method of assessing in the county on the basis of equalised assessment.

CORONATION TEA SET—This tea set will be produced for 1953, the Coronation Year. The set, in cream and lavender, is in hand-ornamented queensware. The teapot bears relief portraits of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, designed by Arnold Machin. (Right) These cream-colored mugs and bon-bon box were designed by Richard Guyatt, Professor of the Royal Academy of Arts. The ornamental pattern and lettering will be in either dark sepia or purple lustre.

Report Shippers May Use Foreign Vessels

NEW YORK (AP)—Some shippers on the Great Lakes are planning to start using foreign-flag vessels on which working conditions are inferior, a labor group claims.

The A. F. L.'s maritime trades department, at the close of a two-day convention yesterday, passed a resolution urging that employees on foreign ships operating between U. S. and Canadian ports be paid U. S. union wages.

Certain international shipping concerns, the resolution said, "are at the present time actively laying plans to operate foreign flag ships on the Great Lakes between Canadian and American ports."

The resolution said wages, working conditions and hours on these foreign ships are "vastly inferior" to those prevailing on U. S. ships.

In another resolution, the delegates representing marine industry workers in some 18 unions called for an organization drive among workers in the Great Lakes area.

Harry Lundeberg, president of the Seafarers International Union, urged the resolution, saying that the Steelworkers Union (C. I. O.) is raiding A. F. L. unions in the Great Lakes region and is conducting a drive among unaffiliated workers.

"Once you lose the seamen," he said, "you lose the rest of them up there."

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, was re-elected president of the M. T. D., without opposition.

FUGITIVE NABBED—Leonard J. (Bad Eye) Zalutsky, 36, one of the FBI's ten most wanted criminals, is led to the Allegheny County Jail in Pittsburgh, Pa., after being captured in Beaver Falls. An escaped murderer, Zalutsky was recognized by two persons who had seen his picture in a post office.

Junior Entries Light In Horticulture

Entries were few but of excellent quality in the children's horticulture division this year, judges A. E. Hicks and Fred Storey said Wednesday.

Miniature gardens were exceptionally well done and could have easily been entered in the adult section of the department. Carol Ann Smith, Shirley Tully, Mary and John Dimma, and Bob Neal were some of the consistent prize-winners.

Learns Discount At First Hand

TORONTO—The discovery that the U.S. currency is worth less than Canadian folding money, provided a congressman from California with an opportunity to make some observations at the National Tax Association convention Wednesday.

Congressman John Phillips, after decrying waste and extravagance in government, remarked: "The fare by bus from the airport to the hotel was $1.25 in Canadian money, or $1.30 in U.S. money. I think that must be the luxury tax we pay on the present administration in Washington.

"When you buy gaskets for the front axle housing for your delivery trucks in Canada, do you buy enough to last you for 104 years? We do in Washington."

The congressman is a Republican.

Wounded Man Under Guard

HAMILTON (CP) — A 45-year-old man is under guard in general hospital today as the result of a shooting affray at Van Wagner's Beach early this morning. He was identified as Johannes Tuchel. Hospital authorities said he suffered wounds in the left arm and foot. His condition is listed as fair.

The shooting occurred shortly after midnight when James MacDonald returned to his home at Chestermere camp and found a man at his front door. Mr. MacDonald told police the man fled but returned later. Mr. MacDonald said he armed himself with his shotgun and chased the intruder. He said he fired the gun twice; once in the air and once at the fugitive's feet.

The wounded man was taken in custody by Stoney Creek police and taken to hospital.

3 Air Attaches Sent To Europe

OTTAWA (CP) — The air force announced today it is sending three new air attaches to European capitals, including two behind the Iron Curtain. They leave Canada this week.

Going to Moscow is Wing. Cmdr. T. J. (Terry) Evans, 36, of Toronto, a skilled test pilot, who replaces Wing Cmdr. W. M. Stephen, D. S. O., 38, of Kingston and Ottawa, as air attache at the Soviet capital.

Group Capt. Gordon Parker Dunlop, A. F. C., 41, of Regina, replaces Group Capt. H. H. C. Rutledge, O.B.E., 43, of Wawanesa, Man., as Canadian air attache in Stockholm.

Group Capt. W. Gordon Welstead, A. F. C., 40, of St. Catharines, Ont., takes over as air attache in Prfague, Czechoslovakia from Grp. Capt. H. G. Doyle, 41, of Jacquet River, N. B.

Youth Pleads Guilty 'n Car Fatality

WHITBY—One of two Toronto youths charged with motor manslaughter after a stolen car in which they were riding crashed into another killing an Oshawa woman Wednesday pleaded guilty before Mr. Justice McLennan at the Supreme Court assizes here.

Driver of the car, Gordon A. Reid, 17, pleaded guilty while a passenger, William McMinn, 16, pleaded not guilty.

Hit By Loose Rock Young Miner Killed

TIMMINS (CP)—Donial Bastien, 28, was killed last night when struck by a piece of loose rock while working at the 3,950-foot level of the Hollinger gold mine here.

An investigation is being carried out by E. B. Wier, mines inspector, the Hollinger accident supervisor and the underground supervisor. The miner is survived by his wife and two daughters.

Bruins Sell Kyle To Calgary Stamps

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins today sold defenceman Walter (Gus) Kyle to Calgary Stampeders of the Western Canada Hockey League.

Kyle, 28, played with the Boston entry in the National Hockey Legaue last season after being obtained in a trade with New York's Rangers for Paul Ronty, a forward.

Plane Order Given To Canada

TORONTO—The United States Government has placed in Canada a new military aircraft contract valued at $33,603,920.

The order calls for 263 Harvard trainers, spare parts and ground handling equipment. The aircraft will be built at Fort William by Canadian Car and Foundry Ltd.

News of the transaction was contained in a U.S. Air Force summary of recent defence purchases by its air material command. The Harvards were ordered from the Washington office of the Canadian Commercial Corp., export outlet of Canada's Defense Production Department.

Defense Production Minister Howe announced in July that he expected substantial American orders for the Harvard. The USAF summary was the first official confirmation that an initial order had been placed.

The de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. at Downsview has been engaged for several months on another large U.S. defence order. It calls for several hundred L-20 Beaver liaison aircraft.

60 RCAF Sabre Jets Going To France

ST. HUBERT, QUE. (CP)—Sixty R. C. A. F. F-86 sabre jets will take off early next month on a trans-Atlantic flight to their new base at Gros Tenquin, France, as part of Canada's contribution to Atlantic Pact defence.

The movement, known as "Operation Leapfrog," will be the largest movement of jets across the Atlantic in aviation history. The aircraft will make the crossing in six hops and slightly more than seven hours flying time.

One of the squadrons making the flight will be 412 Red Indian Squadron, stationed at this air base near Montreal. Others to be based at Gros Tenquin will be 416 from Uplands Airport, Ottawa, and 430 from North Bay.

Fine Party Head $1,000 For Talk

HAVANA (Reuters) — Emilio Ochoa, leader of Cuba's peoples' party which is in opposition to the present regime, today was fined $1,000 for saying that President Batista would cause bloodshed and not stay long in power.

But the court which passed the sentence acquitted him of charges that he had been inciting rebellion and contributing to public disorder.

Ochoa was arrested last month after expressing his opinion on a television show. Batista seized power through a military coup d'etat last March.

Rage of Vienna

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna, which still regards itself as the opera capital of the world, is so captivated by George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" that tickets are selling on the black market for up to $10 a ticket—a week's pay for the average worker.

Protest Building Garage To North Monaghan Council

Mrs. Dick Ouimet and Mrs. J. H. Hewitt objected at North Monaghan council meeting Monday to the application of Joseph Asta for a permit to build a garage on the north side of Sherbrooke St. west of Clonsilla Ave.

Use of the proposed building is for fruit truck storage accommodation. Filling of the low-lying site has been begun. It is understood that the lot is more or less in the line of a street designated in the planning of the city.

The petitioners argued that there was plenty of room elsewhere for such a garage, and that it did not need to be in a residential area. One suggestion was that some one should enquire into the possibility of the city being interested. No action was taken by the council for the present.

NO ASSURANCE OF WATER

P. McTeague, 782 George St. is building a house on a lot bought from the Hugh Stewart area in the west end. Construction is advancing without assurance of water service.

Providing of water service to the Stewart property, which was planned for subdivision, has been officially considered, but without action. One comment was to the effect that if water connection was provided to the McTeague lot, it would be the entering of the wedge for serving the entire subdivision. The extent of that expenditure had discouraged official approval.

The alternative for Mr. McTeague is to buy another lot adjoining his house to comply with the property requirement if a septic tank is installed.

ASK FOR SIGNS

The clerk was instructed to write Wm. A. Anderson, divisional engineer, Department of Highways, Port Hope, asking that school signs be set up on No 7-A Highway for safety of children.

Fred Stenson asked the council to approve the sale of four acres of his land on Lot 11, Concession 12, north of St. Alphonsus School and St. Mary's St., to the Board of Education of Peterborough for a new school.

Because it is less than ten acres, this land must have a registered plan if it is to be subdivided or sold. The township agreed to the sale as requested, and are asking the Ontario planning board and Minister of Planning and Development, to approve the sale with registering the plan.

The interim report of road expenditure was passed. It excluded expenditure to Aug 31, amounting to more than $4,200. It was sent on to E. F. Marston, Port Hope, engineer with the Department of Highways.

George Whitfield asked the council for aid in putting in culverts to let the water off the corner of his farm, Lot 7, Concession 3. Council decided to build another culvert the same size as the one there now, and in addition to it, across the road. It is required especially to carry off spring freshets.

The following accounts were passed: Roads and streets $617.91; insulin 63c; printing $8.80.

Relief and welfare $60.23; expense collecting dog taxes $12.30.

A letter from A. E. Longmire, Gilmour St., requested the council to assume Rothesay Ave. as a public thoroughfare. It is part of the property formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Butler. It is on the south side of No. 28 Highway in the Lillico farm area. This matter was left in abeyance, pending report from Road Superintendent Oscar Dunford.

Start Construction Af Aylmer Station

AYLMER (CP)—Work started yesterday on a $1,500,000 construction and improvement program at the R. C. A. F. station three miles north of here.

Four additional hangers are to be built and a large program of sewer laying carried out. The airfield is to be revamped with runways renewed and extended. The contract was awarded jointly to McKay-Cocker Construction Company of London and St. Thomas.

Aylmer is 11 miles east of St. Thomas.

Happy Ending

DUTCH FLAT, Calif. (AP)—Jess Hughes didn't get much time to enjoy the house neighbors built for him Sunday in an all-day community building bee. Less than 24 hours after it was erected, the house was burned to the ground when a fire hit the community. But there's a happy ending. An insurance agent who was unable to contribute time or material to the house had donated an insurance policy.

Western Plans Lectures In City

The University of Western Ontario is coming to Peterborough for the fall and winter season. Classes in English and History are to be made available and should be of enterest to teachers who are seeking permanent first class certificates, university degrees and to citizens who wish to study world history and literature.

At 10 a.m. in the Collegiate Institute, on Saturday September 20, Mrs. Morley Thomas will offer English 20 which is a survey of English Literature with special emphasis on the great writers. This is a basic course for those who would study English Literature. At the same hour J. A. Crowley will offer History 36, a course in modern history covering the period from 1555 to 1933. At 1 p.m. the same day Mrs. Thomas will present the literature of the period from the late 18th to the late 19th century and includes the Romantic and Victorian periods (English 32).

At 3 p.m. on the same day Mr. Crowley will begin a course in Canadian History (History 31) that covers the story of Canada from the planting of early colonies to the present time. This should should be most interesting to the general body of citizens as well as to teachers. The four classes meet on alternate Saturdays so attendance even at a somewhat distant centre does not create a

Women Soldiers To Serve Overseas

LONDON (Reuters)—For the first time in its history the British Army announced today that it is sending women soldiers overseas to serve in the ranks of regular forces.

Three officers and 54 enlisted members of the Women's Royal Army Corps will fly to Gibraltar Sept. 30 to form part of a mixed anti-aircraft battery there. They will work as fire-control operators, telephonists, plotters, drivers and clerks. Women have been sent overseas in the past only for non-operational jobs.

Fez-Wearing Negroes Fight Army Service

CLEVELAND (AP) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were looking into a report today that a group of red fez-wearing Cleveland Negroes have formed a club that tells its members to refuse military service.

The report was given them by United States Attorney John J. Kane Jr. following testimony by a man identifying himself as a member of this organization.

Kane said William Henry Spearman, 20, testified he had a right to refuse a draft call because he is a member of the "Moorish nation of North America." Spearman is charged with draft dodging.

Elgin Watermelon Weighs 80 Pounds

ST. THOMAS. — Watermelons are growing big in Elgin county this year. Tom Kelly of the Sparta district, who specializes in big melons, harvested one this week that tipped the scales at 80 pounds. He had melons on the farmers' market today that ranged from 25 to 30 pounds in weight. They are the Texas dark green variety.

Truman Says Ike Plans Isolationist Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower proposes an "isolationist Congress" and that won't bring peace.

In a press conference, Truman ripped into the Republican presidential nominee's call for election of a Republican Congress while saying that peace is the big issue of the times.

If we elect a Republican Congress it will be isolationist, Truman declared.

HITS ONE PARTY PRESS

Truman opened his conference by reading a prepared statement in which he attacked what he called the "one party press" for its predominate support of the Republican ticket.

But, he declared, he did not think it mattered too much "what they do" when viewed on past performances of the press.

He said the metropolitan press in the United States, as well as the big magazines, have become "big business" which has traditionally been Republican.

Truman said that only 10.3 per cent of the 1,769 daily newspapers in the United States supported the Democratic ticket in 1948 and that almost all the big circulation magazines preferred the Republican party that year. The situation "hasn't changed much," he added.

Truman said he didn't give a hoot what the newspapers said editorially if they gave the Democrats a break in the news columns.

Tom Gard's Note Book

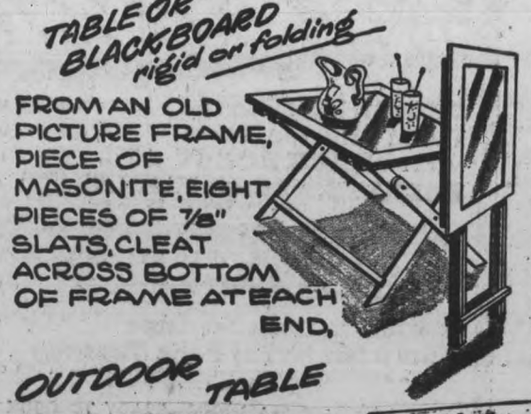
A few days ago I came across what might be called the Wonder House. This had been erected by an enterprising young man who carefully collected slats from packing boxes, cutting them to uniform lengths and storing away for future use. In course of time, he drew the plans for a humble cottage, then built it in sections and assembled the various units. The roof was made of used lumber from the local wreckers. The house was finally covered with insulated siding, and the roof covered with imitation shingles. His objective is to take it down and again assemble it as a summer cottage. I could not help but exclaim "more power to his elbow".

Drain Boards Are Handy

Entering one of the small homes contracted during the war years, I came across another item of interest. Space was at a premium, and many items had been left out of the general plan, including a drain board. The good lady of the house had complained on many occasions, especially when looking for a place to put clothing when run through the ringer. The matter was finally settled to her satisfaction by her husband. Collecting discarded pieces of boxes he built a board, supporting it against the wall with an upright piece of one-inch pine. A cleat against the wall gave added support. His intention is to rebuild with B.C. Fir Plywood. Masonite is also excellent for such purposes. Quarter inch moulding finished off the edges to prevent water leaking to the floor.

Utility Table

When visiting towns where sawmills are located it is always good policy to watch out for the local craftsman. One I met last summer was a worker from the shipyard. He had used pieces of 2" x 6" pine planks to make an exceptionally good coffee or utility table. Sanding down the edges gave good close joints on the top, and when painted these were hardly discernable. The legs and supports were constructed of the same material. I was more than interested to find two other articles made by the same hands, a table lamp of 2" x 4" scantling, and a flower pot which turned out to be a grapefruit juice tin, nicely painted to match the drapes and carpet.



Outdoor Tables

When we think of outdoor tables we naturally have to think of rain and inclement weather. I was impressed by a touch of hospitality over the border when, passing a fine garden, I noticed a sign on the gate: "Enter here all those who love a little beauty" — and so I entered. In a shady nook I noticed a picnic table, and later learned it was made by the local plumber as a gift to a local service club. This man had constructed most of the table by using old water piping, joints and caps which had been discarded. It was painted in pearl gray and could easily grace garden, park or roadside. Seats and top were made of planks, but two by fours could be used instead. Asking if it might be copied the builder replied "Well copying is the sincerest type of flattery". So, here it is for you.

FOR THE WASH IN THE BASEMENT, OR FOR DISHES IN THE KITCHEN NAIL CLEAT TO WALL AT PROPER SLOPE. BUILD DRAINBOARD WITH RIM OF QUARTER-ROUND ALONG EDGES. TACK SMALL BLOCK TO OUTER CORNER AS BASE FOR THE UPRIGHT. ALL MATERIAL MAY BE 1" PINE. 1" OVERLAP ON TUB OR SINK.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Curtis Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Friends and relatives will help Mr. and Mrs. E. W. (Ed.) Curtis, 50 River Rd. celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday. Other anniversaries have been celebrated fairly quietly because "we've been too busy" but this time they plan a day's celebration.

MR. AND MRS. E. W. CURTIS

The golden wedding celebrations will be officially at 2:30 p.m. when the couple will be holding open house to relatives and neighbors until 4 p.m. Then they'll go downtown for the anniversary dinner with close relatives.

Actually they won't be married 50 years until Sept. 17, but Mr. and Mrs. Curtis think that more people will be able to come on the weekend.

Just north of their present home Annie Mabel McIntyre was married to Ed Curtis at the home of her brother, Sam McIntyre by the Rev. E. A. Langfelt, St. Luke's Anglican church. They were attended by bridesmaid, Miss Mary Louise Sutcliffe of Toronto and by best man, the late Jeffrey Pratley.

"We had a big family to what families are now," said Mrs. Curtis. They had eight children, all living, Mrs. J. C. Milburn (Evelyn), Mrs. C. P. Dorrington (Ruby), Mrs. Ed. Bestard (Shirley), all of Peterborough, Mrs. C. Woodley (Lila), Mrs. Harvey Collison (Marion), Maxwell, all of Toronto, Walter and Clinton, both of Peterborough.

Large families aren't recommended because they're "too expensive nowadays."

But Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Curtis worked for a time after he was married at the Auburn mill but then went into the dairy business which occupied his time for 12 years. After a year's rest he started back at the Auburn mill for a 25-year stretch, retiring in 1938.

Cream of Spinach Soup (see notes), Sliced Cold Ham, New Potato and Celery Salad, Sliced Field Tomatoes, Warm Parkerhouse Rolls. Two Crust Cherry Pei, Coffee.

Directions

Cream of Spinach Soup: (You may notice that I suggest homemade soup fairly frequently. I think we should all know how to make soup to be good cooks of all kinds of food, and to utilize our supplies efficiently). Put in top of double boiler ½ cup each milk and cream and 1 cup fresh raw spinach which has been washed well and chopped very finely—if desired put through food chopper. Add 2 slices onion and 2 bouillon cubes—eihter chicken or vegetable, dissolved in ½ cup boiling water or stock from cooking such a mild vegetable as peas, beans or carrots. Cook all over boiling water, covered, for about 10 minutes. If desired thicken with 1 tablespoon flour stirred to a smooth paste with ¼ cup cold water. Serve in soup bowls sprinkled generously with old grated cheese. If you do not use the bouilion cube, you must add salt and pepper to taste.

HIGH CALORIE DINNER

Savoury wieners with baked beans (see directions).
Wiener Rolls
Cabbage Relish Sliced Tomatoes
Lemon Sherbet
Home-made sponge cake coffee

Directions

The savoury part of the wieners is made thus: saute ¼ cop chopper onion in 2 tablespoons shortening for 5 minutes. Add ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons each brown sugar and prepared mustard, 1-3 cup each vinegar and water and simmer 10 minutes. Split 8 or 12 wieners nearly through and drop into sauce. Heat in over in casserole 2 cans pork and beans. When bubbling pour wieners and sauce over and serve or serve beans and savoury yieners separately.

HIGH CALORIE DINNER
Ham Croquettes
Creamed Mixed New Carrots and Beans Chopped
Buttered Rice
Carrot and Celery Strips Raw
Angel Food Canape with Peaches and Whipped Cream
Coffee

HIGH CALORIE DINNER
Baked Farmers' Sausage
Unsweetened Applesauce
Chinese Rice,
Braised Celery and Carrots
(See Notes)
Special Banana Cream Pie
(See notes)
Coffee

Directions

For the braised celery and carrot, use 1 large bunch celery weighing about 1 lb. and 3 large carrots, 1 onion, 1 sprig parsley, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and 1 cup canned bouillon. Wash celery, remove leaves, and cut celery into 1-inch pieces. Slice the carrots and onion very thinly. Put melted butter in bottom of glass baking dish, put vegetables in, in layers. Sprinkle with the salt and pepper and choped parsley, pour over the bouillon (or consomme) and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour.

The filling for the banana cream pie is a little different than usual, for it calls for cream, added after the filling is cooked. It is rich, but delicious for special occasions. Mix together in top of double boiler ½ cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt. When mixed stir in 1¼ cups hot milk, and cook over double boiler until thick, then cook for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, pour slowly over 2 beaten egg yolks, stirring, and return to double boiler for two minutes. Slice 1 banana in baked pastry shell and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons powdered sugar; beat ¾ cup table or heavier cream into the filling and pour over half of it into the banana. Slice on another banana and sprinkle it with 2 tablespoons sugar and pour over remaining filling. Cover with meringue made by beating the two remaining egg whites, and adding while beating 4 tablespoons sugar, flavor meringue with ½ teaspoon vanilla. If desired, a few drops almond flavoring may be added to filling. Bake meringue at 350 deg. Fahr. until golden. Serve cold.

HIGH CALORIE DINNER

Swiss steak with carrots and onion; Spinach in cheese sauce; Totamo tea biscuits; Strawberry shortcake a la mode; Iced coffee.

Directions: Strawberry a la mode is a meal in itself for people who are reducing, so reducers, take warning. It may not be a new idea but it is new to me. Make large tea biscuits using a little more sugar in them than usual (or use the packaged tea biscuit mix). Split these and on bottom half put slice of ice cream and a few crushed berries, top these with top of biscuit, and cover with halved and sweetened strawberries. When this was served to me it broke down all my reducing resolutions.

The quick-cooked cabbage I have described before but here it is again: shred cabbage on medium-sized shredder. Put in top of double boiler with ¾ cup boiling hot milk, add 2 tablespoons butter. Cook over bottom of double boiler in which potatoes are cooking until cabbage is just barely tender. Add pepper and salt to taste. If desired milk on cabbage may be thickened with 1 tablespoon flour mixed to a paste with 2 tablespoons cold milk.

HIGH CALORIE DINNER

Scrambled eggs on sardine toast; Asparagus casserole au gratin; Tomato, celery and lettuce salad with mayonaise; Apple pie (from canned apple flakes); Coffee.

Directions: It is the recipe for asparagus au gratin that I would like you to try: (This is a good way to use up the stalks just below the tips—for I like to serve the tips just barely cooked, and chilled, on vegetable salads). Boil cut up stalks until barely tender. Place a layer of asparagus in buttered baking dish, then a few slices of hard cooked eggs (use 2 eggs to serve 6) (and if desired a few chopped olives). Repeat. Cover with 1½ cups medium white sauce, for each 1 pound asparagus, top this with half and half mixture crumbs and grated old cheese and bake until heated through and a delicate brown.

SPONGE CAKE (6 eggs, yolks and whites)

Six eggs, yolks and whites separated, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, ¼ teaspoon almond extract. Beat whites until frothy, then sprinkle salt and cream of tartar over them and beat until stiff but not dry. In another bowl beat the whites until they are very thick and lemon-coloured. Gradually add the sugar to the yolks while beating. Sift together the flour and salt, and carefully sift them and add with folding motion to the egg yolk mixture. Then carefully fold in the beaten whites and flavourings. Pour into ungreased 9-inch tube pan and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Invert and cool on rack as you would angel cake. (I have made this cake with 5 eggs and think it is very good.) Frost with white boiled icing and flavour the icing with peppermint and, if desired drizzle melted bitter chocolate over it.

◇ ◇ ◇

STARLIGHT CAKE

Into a mixing bowl measure 2 cups sifted flour, 1 2-3 cups sugar, ½ cup very soft shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, and 2-3 cup milk. Beat with spoon or electric beater for 2 minutes or 200 strokes, scraping down bowl frequently. Add 3½ teaspoons baking powder and quickly stir it in, then add 4 egg whites and an additional 1-3 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat 2 minutes or 200 strokes. Put in 2 9-inch layer cake tins, buttered and floured. Bake at 360 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes. The batter is thin, but do not worry— it turns

Presentation Made To Apsley Couple

APSLEY (ENS) — Neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hemming on Friday evening to spend a social evening before they left to live on the farm recently purchased near Mount Julian. It was a surprise visit.

An address was read by Mrs. O. McCauley and an electric tea kettle and electric clock was presented as a token of the esteem in which they are held by their neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Hemming, both thanked their friends for the gifts and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the serving of lunch.

Home and School Association News

OMEMEE SCHOOL

OMEMEE (ENS) —The September meeting of Omemee Home and School was designed to get parents acquainted with one another and with the teachers of their children, especially those parents who are strangers or who have started their children to school. Special invitations had been sent to all parents, and coffee was served from 8 to 9 p.m. during which hour they visited the classrooms where they were received by the teacher of the the beginners' room; Mrs. Godroom, and the room mother, Mrs. Wm. Fisher assisted Miss Lamb in dard and Miss Jones in room 2; Mrs. Ralph James and Miss Rea in room 3; and Mrs. N. Ruttle received with Mr. Curtis. Social convener, Mrs. George Smith, was assisted by Mrs. Wilfred Wilson and Mrs. M. Finney in serving the coffee.

President Mrs. A. Stephenson opened the meeting with the Home and School creed being read by Mrs. J. B. Hough. Mrs. Stephenson reported on the summer swimming instruction project directed by Mrs. Pancy Forbes. She said 53 non-swimmers had registered and 26 who could swim. Although circumstances did not permfit Mrs. Forbes to attend as many times as she would have wished, there were worthwhile things accomplished. Ten boys and girls passed the junior tests, nine intermediate, and seven the senior. Two mothers learned to swim. Mrs. Hicks reported for publications, and health convener, Mrs. Zufelt gave the mothers some September reminders for the care of their children's health. They included attending to the removal of bad tonsils and adenoids, getting booster shots while the weather is good, having eyes examined, insisting on long rest hours, and beginning the giving of cod liver oil the last of this month or first of next.

The parents roll call gave the shield to Miss Lamb's room.

Principal Hough introduced the new high school teacher, Miss Florence Quesnell. Public school principal, J. M. Curtis, mentioned the unprecedented number of beginners this year, and told of some class adjustments. Miss Lamb said of the 30 registered in grade one, 16 were under 6 years, one of which had just turned 5.

Announcements included Home and School council meeting in Peterborough on the third Wednesday of September, and the Omemee Association's pot-luck supper the first Monday of October in the United Church basement. Mrs. Hough and Mrs. Fisher were appointed to assist Mrs. Smith with table setting.

French Chef's Suggestions Include Excellent Sauce

By MARY MOORE

With the written permission of its author I am giving you a delightful letter I received in the mail this week:

"Dear Mademoiselle or Madame: (It is a gentleman who is the writer of this letter.)

"I read your columns. I find you know how to cook, but I miss one thing very much — sauces.

"I am French from Paris and worked in a hot kitchen many years. You must not laugh as I tell you I was assistant to the master chef, as you in Canada call him.

"Could I give you some sauces and the dishes they go with? Would you be offended? If so you need not answer me, nor print my recipes in your esteemed column.

"I will understand but wish to assure you I could not keep myself from writing. Kindly, Joseph."

✧ ✧ ✧

Dear Joseph: I am not only offended, I am delighted because you take enough interest to write to we Canadian women.

I most certainly am printing the sauce recipes you included, also the dishes you recommended them for.

I have changed the measurements to Canadian terminology, but not the amounts. Canadian cooks do not measure in ounces very often.

I welcome any cooking suggestions you have and am sure I speak for your fellow readers.

✧ ✧ ✧

JOSEPH'S DEVIL SAUCE

"I give you this first as it is for broccoli, Brussels sprouts or cauliflower and they are in season now."

Two yolks from hard-cooked eggs, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 2 teaspoons icing sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon each mustard and black pepper, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 2 beaten eggs.

Mash the hard cooked yolks in a saucepan and add the melted butter and dry seasonings and beat 1 minute, then add the vinegar and stand over low fire, and bring almost to boiling. Beat the raw eggs, add them and stir until thick. This is best strained. It is good hot or cold on hot or cold cooked broccoli or cauliflower. If hot it is good to serve the vegetables as a separate course."

✧ ✧ ✧

MARY MOORE'S REMARKS

This sauce will prove too costly for many Canadian housewives to try. I tried it using 2 hard-cooked yolks and 1 egg and it was delicious.

✧ ✧ ✧

JOSEPH'S SOUR-SWEET SAUCE

A delicious delicate sauce to serve on roast veal or to lightly dress a tossed lettuce salad. Mix together 1 cup sour cream, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 to 4 tablespoons powdered sugar. Beat 2 minutes until light.

✧ ✧ ✧

SAUCE NORMANDE

The best fish sauce. One cup fish stock is needed for this. Ask the fish man to bone your fish and give you the bones. Boil them 20 minutes covered to get 1 cup stock. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, stir in 3 tablespoons flour, then stir in the fish stock and 4 tablespoons cream until thick. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 egg yolks, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash each of pepper and cayenne, and if your conscience will allow 1 or 2 tablespoons white cooking wine. Serve hot. Bonne Cuisine. Joseph.

HERE IS THE LOOK of fall and winter fashion from the top designers in Paris. Fur trimming, a favorite for winter, is used (left) by Jacques Heim for this heavy, mustard-yellow wool coat. The trim is dark brown beaver, is used for the hat, too. Black silk faille (left centre) by Christian Dior has stiffened bertha outlining deep decolette. It's worn with a black velvet beret. De Givenchy's soft, gray wool suit (right centre) was a hit of the Paris collections. Semi-fitted and double-breasted, this notched cutaway has a cocoa-colored taffeta scarf through a diamond-clipped tab. Using bright red doeskin, Jacques Fath creates (right) an overcoat with easy lines. The cowl collar is fastened down by tab detail and tied with a self-ringed scarf.

Paris Designers Predict New 'Fluidity' Of Line

"Fluidity" is a word coined during the showings here to denote the woman of fashion—minus bosom, hips, or curves of any kind.

If this sounds too awful to contemplate, brace up. Parallel to but also opposed to this 1953 silhouette is another, the imported "streamlined profile" endorsed by such fashion czars as Dior, Desses, Griffe and Schiaparelli.

The first trend, established by Jacques Fath and Balenciaga, stresses a casual look that's just as subtle and complicated as the neat, trim look.

The return of clinging jerseys, chiffons, crepes and diaphanous laces also means a new line for girdles and bras. Not even the woman who's perfectly proportioned can hope to achieve the 1953 look without a new lingerie wardrobe.

The longer hemline is so definitely "in" that the shorter length already looks demode. The waistline, on the other hand, remains a controversial point. Balenciaga places it at mid-hip and, while most of the other designers mark it at its normal place, it often goes unstressed and belts are inconspicuous.

Skirts for daytime wear are slender, even when they're pleated or gored. From nightfall on, they swing and billow, are hobbled about the knees, dip at the back, flare out at the sides or froth at the ankles in voluminous flares.

Next year's coronation ceremonies in Great Britain are probably responsible for the crop of formal gowns of Tudor and Edwardian inspiration at the shows.

This means lots of hoops and crinolines topped by brief bodices or off-shoulder decolletes. Shawls, floor-length stoles, billowing capelets and tight-fitting Spencers complete this new fashion.

Fabrics are big news and contribute much to the 1953 look. Brushed wools, shaggy poodle weaves, hand-woven tweeds and "sable broadcloth" are newcomers in the wool sector. Some of these fabrics are almost as luxurious as precious furs.

Gleaming acetate satin and black and jewel-toned velvets share honors with moire (making a comeback in a new guise) for evening wear.

The big novelty is in the new "fur" winter prints, with designs representing silver mink, fox and ocelot on satin and taffeta grounds.

Working Mothers Threat To Family

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—Maria-Gabrielle Baers, member of the Belgian Senate, said yesterday "working mothers" are a grave threat to family life.

In an address read for her to a women's conference on "the stability of the family," Miss Baers, 66, added that the proportion of miscarriages and difficult and abnormal confinements is much higher among working women.

"The incorporation of married women and mothers into paid business life away from home," she said, "carries with it real risks to the bodily health of mother and child."

If the habit became widespread, she warned, the result would be worse than that of the use of child labor in the 19th century.

Low Calorie Meals

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Chilled Unsweetened Pineapple Juice (6 oz. 40 cal.)
Broiled Fillets of Lake Trout
Lemon (4 oz. 200 cal.)
Cauliflower
(1 cup 27 cal., no butter)
Salad of Cole Slaw, Tomatoes and Cottage Cheese (generous amounts of all—about 60 cal.)
Melon Ball and Seedless Grape Fruit Cup
(1 cup 80 cal.)
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

Directions:

I was talking to a Maritimer regarding the merits of lake fish versus salt water fish. Naturally, I lost the argument—except when it came to eating bass on the shore of a Muskoka lake which had been caught less than one hour previously and cooked swimming in butter by yourself over an open fire. But one thing he did tell me I want to pass on. When you buy such delicious lake fish as trout or salmon trout the best method of cooking is to broil it, spread with butter, lemon juice, salt and paprika until it is just barely done. If any should be left over, chill it well and when it is to be used next day, spread it with butter and reheat in slow oven. I have never tried this, but my informant says it is even better than served hot the first time.

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Sweet Cherry and Grapefruit Fruit Cup (6 oz. 70 cal., Grilled Frozen Ocean Perch, Lemon, Cauliflower with Grated Skim Milk Cheese (1 cup 40 cal.), Lettuce and Tomato and Radishes (no mayonnaise) (2 oz. ea. 30 cal.), Raspberry Sherbert (125 cal.), Clear Coffee (0 cal.) (from restaurant).

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Grilled Pickerel Fillets (2 fillets from medium fish 150 cal.)
Spinach with Emem's Lemon Sauce (see notes 4 oz. 50 cal.)
Boiled Spinach . . tddonstedacLow Boiled Spanish Onion (one-half 25 calories)
Ripe Banana (1 large peeled 125 cal.)
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

Directions

We have found spinach especially popular when I chop it fairly fine after it has cooked for about 3 minutes, then drain it (reserving this for the soup pot).

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Please see afternoon snack idea for reducer under directions.)
Tomato Juice (small glass 28 cal.)
Broiled Ground Beef Cakes (4 oz. 300 cal.)
Asparagus with Lemon Juice and Salt (8 stalks 32 cal.)
Grated Carrot and Cabbage Salad (with 1 teaspoon mayonnaise, 6 oz. 25 cal.)
One pint Fresh Strawebrries (unsweetened) (24 huled 72 cal.)
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Cold Plate:
Devilled Egg (90 cal.)
Slice of Bologna (23 cal.)
Cottage Cheese (2 oz. 28 cal.)
Cooked Asparagus Tips (cold) (6 stalks 23 cal.)
Tomato Wedges (½ tom. 10 cal.)
Jellied Beet Moulds (see note)
2 teaspoons Mayonnaise (75 cal.)
Fruit cup: Halved Strawberries and sliced Bananas Iced Coffee

Directions

Jellied Beet Moulds

(Use canned diced beets for this.) Soak 1¼ tablespoons gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Dissolve it in boiling hot liquid from canned diced beets made up to 1 cup by adding boiling water. Stir until dissolved. Add 4 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon salt. When it begins to congeal add the drained diced beets from 1 20-oz. tin. Apportion into individual moulds and chill. Serve on cold supper or salad plates.

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Fruit Cup: Melon balls, peach slices, dark cherries, 6 oz. 55 cal. Sweeten this with saccharin tablet dissolved in one teaspoon cold water if desired. Broiled or baked whitefish, 4 oz. 170 cal. See special not re protein below for reducers. Vegetable marrow with parsley sauce (see below), 6 oz. 20 cal. Tomato stuffed with cottage cheese, 40 cal. Cantaloupe halves filled with blueberries, 100 cal. Clear coffee, 0 cal.

Directions

One fact I have not stressed previously is along with the value of proteins for reducers they also are necssary for absorption or elimination of excess fats—so they serve two purposes for reducers, making them imperative, if good health is going to be maintained.

I have an interesting but not-too- nourishing sauce to give you reducers, for quite a few vegetables: In top of double boiler mix ½ cup cold water with 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stir until thick over boiling water, cover and let cook 10 minutes. When ready to serve pour this over 1 beaten egg yolk and 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley. Add pepper and salt to taste. This can be very tasty (especially for sauce-starved reducers) if you would like to add 2 tablespoons grated skim milk cheese too. This can be bought at large groceterias, wrapped in little 4-oz. cellophane bags.

A good batter for sliced raw egg plant when you deep fry it is: Combine 1 beaten egg with ¾ cup milk and 1 teaspoon melted fat. Sift into these 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoons baking powder. Stir until smooth. Dip in raw slices eggplant and deep fry in fat at 380 deg. Fahr. This is good for raw fish too.

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Chilled fruit juice; unsweetened orange (4 oz. 48 cal.), pineapple 4 oz. 57 cal.), grape (4 oz. 54 cal.)
Assorted cold cuts: salami (2 oz. 90 cal.) cold ham, (2 oz. 125 cal.), jellied tongue (2 oz. 120 cal.)
Individual salads of large tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese (50 cal.)
Cole slaw with vinegar dressing (20 cal.)
Whole wheat wafers (20 cal.)
Ripe cantaloupe halves filled with blueberries (65 cal.), clear coffee (0 cal.)

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Tomato and lemon juice cocktail (60 oz. 30 cal.)
Devilled ham slice (4 oz. 200 cal.)
Small boiled sweet potato (no butter 120 cal.)
Brussels sprouts (no butter med. 60 cal.)
Fresh shredded pineapple (no sugar 6 oz. 100 cal.)
Clear coffee (0 cal.)

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Two slices whole wheat bread spread with ½ teaspoon mayonnaise and no butter, ¼ inch thick slice meat or egg chopped for sandwich filling; (if meat is used, trim off all fat); with double leaf lettuce; 8 ounces skim or buttermilk, 1 orange or apple or grapefruit; 1 cup tea with milk, no sugar. OR clear soup such as tomato or bouillon or consomme and vegetable or fruit salad with 1 slice whole wheat bread spread with ½ pat butter, and skim milk, of course.

Maple syrup certainly can be used in the place of sugar if you are lucky enough to have some.

Try this Maple Syrup Mould. I'm warning you though you will not reduce on it. One tablespoon gelatine, 2 tablespoon cold milk, 1 cup scalded milk, 2 egg yolks, 2 egg whites beaten stiff, ¾ cup maple syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and if desired, ½ cup chopped nuts. Soak gelatine in cold milk 5 minutes, and dissolve in hot milk. Stir this into the two beaten egg yolks, and stir over boiling water until it coats spoon and remove from heat at once. Pour over 2 stiffly beaten whites, using folding motion; carefully stir in the maple syrup and vanilla and nuts. Pour into tall-stemmed serving glasses and chill. Delicious served with unsweetened whipped cream over which some grated maple sugar is sprinkled.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Broiled ground lamb cakes (4 oz., 260 cal.)
Steamed canned chop suey. vegetables (1 cup, 35 cal.)
Mashed squash (6 oz., 30 cal.)
Blue imported grapes (16, 65 cal.)
Clear coffee (0 cal.)

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

One-half or one thin slice whole wheat bread toasted, under poached egg or broken into cup with 4 minute egg cooked in shell, or under scrambled eggs cooked with minimum of butter; and one-half grapefruit, or whole orange (not just the juice) OR once per week a ripe banana, and 2 cups tea or coffee without sugar but with homogenized milk. Two glasses water between lunch and breakfast.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DINNER

Jellied consomme (4 oz. 35 cal.) (200 cal.) Puffy omelette with crabmeat (or shrimp—see notes) tossed green salad and cottage cheese (2 tbsp. cheese ¾ cup salad 4 cal.)
Whole wheat wafers 2—40 cal.)
Fresh strawberries (no sugar—8 oz. 60 cal.)
Clear coffee (0 cal.)

Puffy Omelette with Crabmeat

(Clip this for it is good for one quick hot dish for a summer dinned. Melt 3 tablespoons butter and add 3 tablespoons flour and ¾ teaspoon salt and shake of pepper and tabasco. When smooth add 1½ cops whole milk and stir until sauce boils. Add 1 small can crabmeat or shrimp shredded. Take out 1 cup and to it add 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 3 egg yolks, and mix. Fold in 3 stiffly beaten whites. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in omelette pan, and when fairly hot add omelette and cook slowly until puffed and cooked through. At the last increase heat for a minute, then fold over and serve on hot platter surrounded with remaining hot sauce and finely chopped parsley.

Wants Conduct Certificates

LONDON (CP)—Canon C. H. Parsons, headmaster of a London grammar school, says schoolboys applying for admission to Britain's secondary schools should have to present certificates of good conduct along with proof of their academic capabilities.

Not only that, says Parsons, but pupils who subsequently prove obstreperous should be replaced by more reliable boys.

In his own school, Parsons appended a "good manners" code to the school's rule book, and thereby angered some parents.

He suggested the good conduct certificate after blaming "ill-bred boys from ill-bred homes" for an epidemic of thefts in grammar schools.

Barbara Brent's BUYS WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, September 11th—Cook two meals at the same time! . . . It won't take a second longer to cook twice as much "Cream of Wheat" as you usually do at breakfast. Then set half of what you've cooked aside to cool . . . and fry it for lunch! "Fried 'Cream of Wheat'" is a real treat for youngsters and hubby at lunchtime. Here's how you make it:—

Cut cooked, cold, firm "Cream of Wheat" into ½-inch slices. If desired, dip into beaten egg. Place 2 tablespoons salad oil in a pre-heated frying pan or griddle and fry until a golden brown on both sides. Serve at once with maple or corn syrup.

Your family—particularly the "growing-up" part of it—should eat lots of "CREAM OF WHEAT". It's not only good—it's good for them . . . provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements.

Have You Ever Noticed how things you learned at school suddenly come back to you? Marg said her washing always had a yellow tinge and then she remembered her chemistry teacher telling her that seven colours combine to make white, and one of them is blue. That's why there's no true white without blue. So of course, the answer to the problem of yellow-looking washings is Blue. Just swish it in the final rinsing and Presto!—your sheets, shirts and table linens will fairly sparkle. What's more, Blue is kind to fine fabrics—won't harm them in the least! Costs just a few cents a month, too.

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S BLUE.

Now That The Youngsters have left for school and the beds are made and the breakfast dishes done—I'll bet you'd like a really good cup of coffee. I recommend INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Takes no longer to make than boiling the water and M-mmm!—just wait 'til you taste it! Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee is made by real coffee people . . . it's the flavourful result of almost 100 years of coffee experience. Yes, the flavour's there—and the body—and the real lift. What's more, Instant Chase & Sanborn saves you up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. The regular size jar gives you the same number of cups as a pound of ground coffee—and just look at the difference in price!

Is Your Skin A "Sleeping Beauty"? Lovely Yvonne de Carlo, star of U-I's "Scarlet Angel", urges you to wake it up! Get to the bottom of stale make-up and grime. Ordinary cleansing cream doesn't do it, but WOODBURY COLD CREAM with Penaten does! Just try the Tissue Test and see for yourself. After using Woodbury, look at the tissue when you wipe your face. See how much more dirt you remove, how soft your skin feels. Yes, thanks to Penaten, the rich cleansing and softening oils penetrate much deeper into pore openings. Penaten loosens hidden dirt—takes rich oils so deep that your skin feels "reborn". Try Woodbury Cold Cream with Penaten. See how much lovelier it leaves your skin. 23c, 45c, 78c and $1.15.

Tomatoes Can Fool You. They may look good, taste delicious, be bursting with juice—but unless their vitamin and mineral content is high, you're not getting the best. How to be sure? Let Heinz pick them for you! Heinz tomatoes are grown in Canada's most fertile farmlands . . . superior soil that yields finer tomatoes. And right now a fresh new pack of HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS is being rushed to your grocer's. Watch for special "fresh pack" displays of Heinz tomato "foursome"—Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup (Heinz puts in the cream—you add only water!); Heinz Tomato Ketchup (so rich that a little goes a long way!); Heinz Chili Sauce (makes plain dishes something special!); and Heinz Tomato Juice (a delicious source of Vitamins A and C!).

September Often Surprises us with a real "summer" heat wave. So my suggestion is—be prepared to give your family surprise desserts that are both cool and delicious. Keep a supply of SUNKIST LEMONS on hand for wonderful cold lemon desserts. Here's one you'll love:

LEMON SHERBET
2 c. sugar
1 c. water
Boil together for 5 minutes. Fold syrup into:
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
Add, beating in well:
1 c. Sunkist lemon juice
1 c. water
Pour into freezing tray and set cold control at fast freezing. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return to freezing compartment and finish freezing; or freeze in crank-type freezer. (Makes about 1 quart.)

Don't Worry if you drop a bit of butter—a fleck of gravy or mayonnaise on your dress! It's not stained permanently! . . . not when you have ENERGINE CLEANING FLUID handy! Energine makes grease stains on even the most delicate of fabrics disappear like magic! And it's absolutely harmless for it contains no acids nor caustics. Just follow directions and grease spots disappear in a jiffy—without leaving tell-tale rings. You'll never be without Energine once you've proved to yourself how it saves worry and bother and cleaner's bills, too! Ask for it at drug and department stores for as little as 25c!

Love The Way My Dishes Sparkle when I use those grand new chemical soaps. They whisk you through dish-washing in no time! But they are extra hard on your hands, aren't they? That's why I always keep a bottle of JERGENS LOTION handy—use it after every watery job. You see, because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Yes, you'll find when you use Jergens after dishes and other damp housecleaning chores—your hands will look like they'd never done a "lick" of work. Truly, there's no trick to having hands with that "lady-of-leisure" look. Just keep Jergens handy—costs so little . . . only 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Have You Often Said you'd give anything to get rid of painful corns and calluses? Well, you don't have to spend a "million" to keep those feet of yours in wonderful condition. Just try new BLUE-JAY Corn Plasters with the new wonder drug, Phenylium. It brings quicker, surer removal of corns than any other leading remedy! That's because Phenylium gets under your corn and helps push it out from underneath . . . the first really new medication for corns and calluses in over seventy years. As a matter of fact, in actual tests Phenylium went to work 33% faster and acted 35% more surely than other leading remedies. Try new Blue-Jays with Phenylium! Ask for them at your favourite drug counter.

Psst! It's Later Than You Think—Fall is all but here and winter won't be far behind. Yes, time's a-flying, but it's still not too late to arrange a Coal Loan to ease the strain of paying for your winter warmth. Now's the time to buy your coal—before prices get any higher—and the BANK OF MONTREAL is ready to help you pay for it with a Coal Loan. So, if you've been "putting off" coal-buying, don't wait another day to see about a low-cost B of M Coal Loan. Talk it over with your husband and then pay a call on the manager of your nearest branch of "My Bank". With his assistance, you can have all your coal delivered at once, without having to pay for it all at once. You can spread out your loan repayment over as many as seven easy instalments. That's what I call a real help to a busy budget!

There Is Such Wonderful Variety in our native fruits, clear through to October. No wonder they please everyone. And no wonder everyone in the family loves the jams and jellies you do down with those fruits . . . when you use CERTO FRUIT PECTIN. Those jams and jellies will be perfectly set . . . full of rich, fruit-fresh flavor. Results with Certo are always so sure. You need only follow the simple recipes in the booklet, under the label of each bottle of Certo. And you'll save yourself so much time and effort! With Certo, you can do down jams and jellies in 1/3 the time of the former long-boil method—and get up to 50% more jars from the same amount of fruit.

Don't You Enjoy all those good garden vegetables that we get at this time of year? I know I do. And I make sure of enjoying them even more by brightening their flavour with WINDSOR SALT. And you know—it's the same with most of my favourite foods. Windsor Salt makes all the difference between "flat" and "bright" in their flavour. I use it both in the kitchen and at the table to make food taste twice as good. Looking forward to a "feast" of garden-fresh tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce tonight? Remember the Windsor Salt! It's the favourite salt of most good Canadian cooks. And it deserves a "place of honour" on your kitchen shelf.

P.S.—Windsor Salt is always free-running.

THE YOUTHFUL SERGE KOGAN likes the contrast of rich, white acetate lace (left) with bouffant tulle. The "decolletage jacket" in black acetate taffeta covers just the shoulders. Supple, flowing lines characterize this ball gown (centre) in absinthe green acetate satin. Over the shoulders, there's a fringed stole in deeper-toned green. Hawaii-inspired lei theme appears in this ball gown (right) of palest raspberry satin. The luminnous color is reflected in the deep raspberry of the long velvet gloves, the neckline and earrings.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Highlight Your Vegetables For Meals

A pep talk, directed squarely at Mary Moore, is on today's agenda. I'll confess why.

I have been serving corn and vegetable marrow and carrots and beans and squash plain. That is—as is—for two reasons: (1) because I like them that way and the rest of the family can smother them in butter at the table if they choose and (2) because it is easy and retains more of their minerals and vitamins.

BUT—I came a cropper. My most critical critic—albeit loving—said after our guests had left, "Mum, that dinner wasn't up to your usual standards—it wasn't worthy of you." I was glued to the spot. "What do you mean, Pete?" "Well, I thought that squash and those carrots and that cauliflower could have been more interesting to look at. I could be wrong though." He was immediately sorry he had spoken, but I wasn't.

The point is folks, not that I want to gild the lily, but that I do want to hold the interest in vegetables of my whole eating audience, and I know you do too. To accomplish this we have to vary our ways of serving the beautiful, though common, vegetables that are overflowing the market stalls now. Harvest time is at hand and vegetables were never more abundant or beautiful.

BAKED STUFFED SUMMER SQUASH

Cut washed summer squashes (small ones) in halves, scoop out seed centre. Place on baking dish and score with a knife and sprinkle with a little white sugar or drizzle with a little honey — about 2 teaspoons to each half. Dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and paprika. Add about 2 tablespoons partially cooked yellow or green beans chopped or limas mixed with sour cream or rich top milk and some chopped chives. Sprinkle with salt and paprika again and dot sparingly with butter. Add ¼ inch hot water to bottom of dish and bake at about 40 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes or until squash is tender when tried with fork.

SAUTEED POTATOES

Cut underripe unpeeled tomatoes in ¾ inch slices. Dip in salted and peppered flour, then in beaten egg diluted with 1 or 2 tablespoons water, then in sifted cracker. Saute gently on both sides in hot butter. DO NOT OVERCOOK or they will become too soft to handle neatly. Remove tomato slices to hot platter to garnish the meat. There should be 2 tablespoons butter in pan. To this add 2 tablespoons flour and ½ teaspoon salt, stir until blended, and pour in 1¼ cups milk and stir until thick. Pour this in a ribbon over the tomato slices.

BRAISED CELERY

This is ideal with steak—takes the place of mushrooms and gives you an opportunity to use up the outer celery stalks.

Two well-packed cups sliced celery, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon beef extract or MSG (Ac-cent) 3 medium-sized onions sliced, salt, pepper. Saute the celery in the butter until it is yellow throughout and beginning to brown. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Into 3 tablespoons of the water stir the cornstarch, then add some salt and pepper and the remaining water and pour this over the celery with the beef extract or MSG and stir until thickened. Have onions sliced and in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle them with salt and paprika. Pour over them the celery mixture. Bake in slow oven of 300 deg. Fahr. for 1¼ hours.

CORN CASSEROLE

Of course you should use fresh corn cut from cob for this in September, but canned kernel corn may be used when the season is over. Chop 1 green pepper and 1 onion and saute them in 2 tablespoons butter until soft but not brown. Add 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each mustard and paprika, and gradually stir in 1 cup milk until thick. Stir in 1 beaten egg and cook over low heat for 2 minutes. Add 1 cup corn kernels—raw. Turn into buttered baking dish. Mix 1 cup 2-day-old bread crumbs with ¼ to ½ cup melted butter and sprinkle these over dish. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 20 to 25 minutes.

If readers have unusual vegetable dishes they would like to share with us they would be welcome.

Washability Simplifies Care Of Gloves

Gloves make wonderful accessories—especially if you think of them in terms of both style and practicality.

Try to choose these "added attractions" in colors that will allow matching and mixing with your costume changes. Insist upon washability so that it will be easy for you to keep them fresh and ready to wear.

Fall gloves show wonderful variety because of the introduction of such new materials as orlon fleece, corduroy gloves with knit nylon palms, and pepper-and-salt jersey gloves. Knitted wool gloves and mittens can be found in colorfast yarns that are definitely washable.

Since you certainly won't want these accessories to emerge from the wash basin in a shapeless mess, here are several rules that will prove helpful.

Use lukewarm soapsuds for fabric or knitted gloves. A soft, well-soaped brush or washcloth can do wonders in removing soil from fabric glove fingertips. Rinse well in water of the same temperature, and blot out extra moisture in a towel.

Nylon and cotton fabric gloves can be hung to dry from clip-type clothespins. Wool jerseys and other knits are best laid flat on a towel, and smoothed back into size. Corduroy gloves should be brushed when completely dry to raise the nap again. Clothespins may leave marks on the corduroy so let them dry flat too.

Rayon gloves should be put back on the hand while wet. Then stroke and blot the moisture out with a dry bath towel. Remove the gloves gently from the hands and let them dry flat in the shape of your hands. All gloves should be dried away from heat.

Look over labels carefully to be sure you're getting the kind of accessories you can take care of yourself. They'll last longer and prove an economical boon to your wardrobe.

CHOOSING fashion-right accessories with a washable air assures a chic easy-to-care-for appearance (above). A gentle glove-washing technique for tweedy corduroy with knit nylon lukewarm suds, and then gently rub more suds on soiled spots palms requires that you put the gloves on, immerse them in with a soaped-up washcloth (insert).

Miss May Campbell of Toronto was the guest this past weekend of Miss Grace Yonge in Lakefield.

✧ ✧ ✧

Miss Mary Sheehan of Douro is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital, recovering from an operation.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. R. H. Cobb of Winnipeg has been visiting this week with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Yonge of Lakefield.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. Stanley W. Matthews of Vancouver is the guest of his sister, Miss Margaret Matthews, 203 London St., for a few days.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. E. Vernon Morphet, 798 Armour Road, accompanied the latter's nephew David Cuffe to Belleville on Wednesday where David entered Albert College for the coming term.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Old Country Club resumed weekly meetings at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening and 30 ladies were in attendance. Two new members welcomed by president Mrs. E. J. Westall were Mrs. Jean Higgins from Birmingham and Mrs. Doris Murfin from Manchester. A very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. T. Craig, Mrs. W. Garrod and Miss Barbara Gilmour.

✧ ✧ ✧

Miss Anastasia Weyer, Reg. N., 470 Weller St., has been in Toronto attending the buffet supper in the assembly room at St. Michael's Hospital which honored two nurses, Miss Julia Montgomery and Miss Connie McCarthy who were decorated in June by the Pope for their excellent work at the Christie St. and Sunnybrook Hospitals, especially for Roman Catholic soldiers. Eighty-five alumnae nurses attended and held a business meeting afterward.

To Mark Golden Wedding

APSLEY.—Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson of Lake Township will quietly celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday, September 15th. Mrs. Wilson, who was formerly Maude Woodbeck, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Norman Woodbeck of Chandos Lake, has been in ill health for the past year. Mr. Wilson, now in his 7's, is hale and hearty and enjoys looking after his garden and, when in season, picking huckleberries. In the winter evenings he tunes up his violin and plays for his friends. The entire district will be extending good wishes to this couple for many more years of happiness together.

Plan More Time For Study

St. John's Church W. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon opened with devotions led by the Rev. J. A. Purser. President Mrs. F. E. Hooper presided for the business, first extending welcome to Mrs. G. Manning as a new member. A rummage sale is to be held as soon as a location is secured. Mrs. G. Moore, Mrs. P. Martyn and Mrs. F. C. Anderson are to attend an all-organization meeting at the church to make final plans for the fall bazaar being held November 20th. It was suggested that members devote more time this year to the study book which is titled "Thine is the Glory." All were invited to the meeting at All Saints' Church this Friday evening when a Dutch couple from Quebec will tell their special story of work with "unwanted" children. Reports from the conveners were heard. The meeting closed with the W. A. prayer and Mrs. L. Crocker was tea hostess for a social half hour.

Hosts At Buckhorn Cottage

About 70 members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of George Street United Church enjoyed a corn roast Wednesday evening at Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Thompson's new cottage on Buckhorn Lake. During the lovely evening old favorite songs were sung around the campfire, Mr. Gordon Minty leading the group and accompanying on his banjo. Archie Townsend and Garnet Howden arranged the program, and Mr. and Mrs. Al McDougall were in charge of refreshments.

✧ ✧ ✧

Elect Two Officers

The Kawartha Police Ladies' Auxiliary met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernest Beatty, 256 Wolsley Street. President Mrs. E. Crough presided for the business period when it was decided to appoint a secretary and treasurer and discontinue combination of the offices. Mrs. G. Samis was elected secretary and Mrs. R. Menzies the treasurer. The next meeting is to be held October 15th and will be at Mrs. A. Dalton's, 173 Hunter St. E. A vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality and the delicious lunch which she served was moved by Mrs. Harold Mesley.

Plan Supper and Bazaar

Bailieboro United Church W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Barnard with 22 members present. President Mrs. Hugh Fallis opened with prayer. Secretary Mrs. Kenneth Dawson read minutes and the roll call. It was decided to hold a supper and bazaar in the near future. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. H. Yarr who read the scripture selection. Topic was "The Light of the World" and Mrs. F. McKay gave a reading on this. Mrs. H. Cordery led in prayer. An interpretation of the topic was given by Mrs. Watt. After a humorous reading was given by Mrs. Yarr the meeting adjourned and lunch was then served by the hostess and social committee. October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Dawson.

"Stanley Party" Aids Treasury

At the meeting of Trinity Baby Band Mothers Wednesday evening the church parlor was tastefully decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. K. S. Barltrop's group was in charge and Mrs. O. Jamieson was the pianist. Mrs. R. Scrutton read scripture and Mrs. G. Tanney led in prayer. Mrs. A. Parker, a member of the group, sang a pleasing solo. Vice president Mrs. Wm. Taylor presided for a short business session in the absence of the president. A committee volunteered to have a rummage sale in October. Members were reminded of the dedication next Wednesday of the new Trinity church hall. The meeting was followed by a "Stanley Party" which proved an enjoyable means of enhancing the Auxiliary's treasury. The group in charge served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Simcoe Girl Hits Bigtime On Broadway

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Janet Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Riley of Simcoe, has hit the bigtime on Broadway where she is currently appearing in the comedy "The Moon is Blue."

Critics apparently are delighted with the Canadian miss who had understudied the star of the play.

Robert Sylvester in his column in the New York Daily News described Miss Riley as "first class."

"It is to be hoped that the four producers of 'The Moon is Blue' properly appreciate Janet Riley who has replaced the ailing Maggie McNamara," said the columnist. "Miss Riley was all set for a long stay in Europe, had her bags packed, money for a study course with Pierre Fresnay, and a ticket in her purse. Then Miss McNamara was ordered to rest by her doctor. The "Moon" producers made a desperate appeal to Miss Riley, who was practically on the gang-plank, and she cancelled her European trip."

Silver Cross Plan More Gifts To Veterans

Ladies of the Silver Cross Chapter of Peterborough met Wednesday evening in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room with president Mrs. A. S. Williams in the chair.

After welcoming members back after a holiday season Mrs. Williams laid stress on the need for raising more money. One of the several suggestions discussed was selling a beautifully dressed doll donated by Mrs. T. G. Nice. The sum of $34.25 was realized in June at a euchre party at the home of Mrs. Nice. There is also a pair of towels on hand for a draw. These were originally donated by Mrs. A. Gynane and were won by Mrs. Grady who turned them over for re-draw.

The chapter wishes to donate a collapsible steel chair to the veterans in Kingston Hospital and a letter regarding this has been written to them.

Mrs. J. W. Ebbs has wool for knitting socks to be sent in parcels to local members of the forces overseas. She is anxious for helpers in this venture and hopes to have the knitting finished in time for Christmas parcels.

Mrs. E. Pruner, who is in charge of parcels for overseas, read four letters from Peterborough men on active service. These letters showed that being remembered had filled them with gratitude and they thanked the ladies for letters and parcels.

A calendar with members' birthdays recorded is to be printed and those wishing to obtain a copy are to give name, date of birth, and $1 to the treasurer at the October meeting.

The following ladies were thanked for sending flowers to the Civic Hospital chapel during the summer: Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Mrs. J. W. Ebbs, Mrs. Brady, Mrs. W. J. Davies, Mrs. E. Pearse and Mrs. E. Pruner.

The chapter is sending a letter of sympathy to Miss Jean Speakman of Hamilton following the death of her mother, a valued member and vice-president of the National executive. A letter regarding the 1953 National convention in Quebec was read.

George St. Aux's Meet To Hear Rev. Rowland

A joint meeting of the Women's Association and the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church was held Tuesday afternoon in the board room. The Rev. E. W. Rowland, new assistant minister of George Street Church was guest speaker.

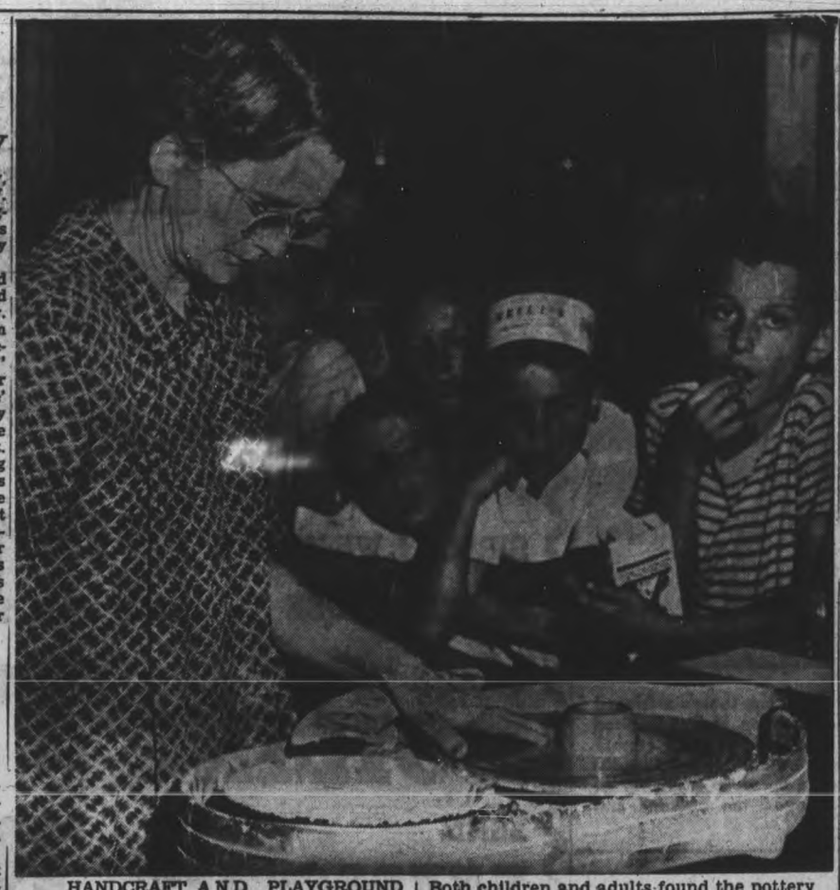
Mr. Rowland congratulated both organizations on the large attendance at the first meeting of the fall season. On his topic "Why Am I Here", he said: "We are here to see with the eyes of the heart and to behold God. Jesus always went to the synagogue for worship whenever he had the opportunity.

Not only are we here to see God but to have God in our hearts and lives. We can have a vital experience of Him being in our hearts. A great task is before us, let us be fitted for that task. God will guide our feet into paths of service. Go aside as Jesus did and be alone with God. Take the way of humility and service. Strive to understand the experience of Jesus."

Such was the challenge at the beginning of the fall work.

Mrs. George Munro thanked Mr. Rowland.

The honors of presiding were shared by the two presidents, Mrs. Munro for the W.A. and Miss Jessie Shaffer for the W.M.S. Reports of various conveners and the treasurers were given for both organizations.



Mrs. Weldon Fanning, convener of the "Every Woman's Visitation Campaign" which is being launched the last part of September, gave a concise report of the plans of the committee.

Mrs. W. R. Young announced the Fall Rally to be held in Trinity Church, October 8th afternoon and evening. Supper will be served.

The ladies of Mrs. Horton's group presented the devotional part of the meeting. Mrs. M. A. Fitzgerald read the scripture lesson and Mrs. S. Wood offered prayer. Mrs. S. S. Staples and Mrs. W. Shaw received the offering.

Ladies receiving at the door were Mrs. A. W. Lean and Mrs. H. Delahaye.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. F. Barrett's group served a cup of tea and cookies. Everyone enjoyed a social half hour and were privileged to meet Mr. and Mrs. Rowland.

HANDCRAFT AND PLAYGROUND WORK on display in the women's building at the exhibition attracted many people Wednesday, the opening day. Throughout the afternoon and evening crowds grouped around the handcraft display where women were working in leather, metal and pottery. Both children and adults found the pottery work by Miss Anne Jamieson (above) interesting; she made several pieces of pottery. Art work, crayons, water colors, and oils and other media, done by the children on the playgrounds attracted large crowds. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Handicrafts, Paintings Knitted Work Attract Many

The centre of interest for the hundreds of women that attended the first day of the 1952 Peterborough Exhibition was again the Women's Building.

And it wasn't just the women that crowded in to see the mouth-watering displays of baking and top amateur sewing exhibits. Men and children were also attracted by the handicraft and painting displays that have their exhibition home here.

This year's domestic science classes have the unique addition of baking entries by new Canadians. Cakes and cookies by a Hungarian housewife were objects of interest all through the day.

Colorful quilts, hooked rugs, knitted crochet goods and needlework all give evidence of the talents of the Peterborough district housewives.

Clothing is also very much in prominence and the numerous entries range from housedresses and aprons to babies' clothes.

One of the highlights of this building is the Peterborough Handicraft Guild booth. Metal work, pottery work and weaving are all demonstrated here. Three women spend the whole day explaining and demonstrating a hand loom, copper work and a pottery wheel.

The many attractive items are on display around this booth and show just how proficient the members of the guild have become in these handicrafts. Plates, trays, coasters, cutlery and jewellery of copper and sterling silver make up the major portion of the metal work exhibit. In leatherwork, there are purses and billfolds, which would make anyone proud to own.

For those interested in what children did in craft time at the Peterborough playgrounds this summer, the central booth in the building with its exhibit of papier mache work, paper weaving, pipe cleaner figures and stuffed animals and dolls will be of special interest.

An Indian village, a playground project of the Braidwood playground, is also included in this exhibit.

G. T. Foord, member of the staff of the Ontario College of Art, and art judge at the exhibition for the sixth consecutive year, made some very complimentary remarks about the art entries displayed in the Women's Building this year.

He said that there was an overall general improvement in the work as compared to other years. He also made some suggestions that might improve this section and also do much to encourage the artists in the district.

One of the main suggestions was that there be more emphasis on painting from life and less on copying, explaining that this would be much better for the artists' development. Mr. Foord also asked that more attention be given to children in this section.

The judge had special praise for a portrait done by Mrs. Jack Dobbin which was awarded first prize in the original portrait class.

To round out a description of the points of interest in this building is the display of the Central Ontario Honey Producers. This display includes an observation hive with approximately 1,500 bees busy making honey. A honey extractor is also on display which extracts the honey from the comb by centrifugal force.

Seek Love-Making Course For Modern Bobby-Soxer

LONDON (CP)—A school course in the art of love-making and greater stress on other womanly pursuits is prescribed for the modern bobby-soxers.

The formula is offered by Dr. Winifred de Kok, assistant county medical officer for Essex, in the September issue of "Family Doctor," published by the British Medical Association.

Dr. de Kok, author of books on the upbringing and care of children says most girls flirt almost before they can talk and that all instinctively make the best of themselves except when they are discouraged or led to think that in doing so they are being vain and silly.

SPORTS OVERDONE

"The majority of girls' schools aim at turning out sporting, games-playing amazons who don't pander to vanity, but I think that is a mistake," the doctor writes.

"It would be far better if some of the games were cut out in favor of dress-making, domestic science, the art of home-making and above all, the art of love."

Some girls whose mothers could not or would not provide pretty clothes and resisted their efforts to look attractive, too often lapsed into an attitude of defeatism. They pretented to despise pretty frocks and looked down on other girls who tried to enhance their appearance.

STRESS APPEARANCE

"If I had a daughter like that, I should be far more perturbed than if I had a daughter considered vain," Dr. de Kok confides. "I should make every effort to interest her in dress. I think I should even encourage her to use lipstick. For there is no doubt that from time immemorial the function of women has been to provide beauty."

The doctor warns that a mother might become jealous of her daughter. Many readily acknowledged this but the wise ones merely laughed it off. However, other mothers, not so wise, tried to keep their attractive daughters in the background and made their lives miserable.

She concludes: "Some few mothers see themselves in their daughters and get as much pleasure out of their triumphs as if they were their own. Whatever happens, youth must have its day and if daughters should learn the art of being attractive, mothers should also learn the art of growing old gracefully."

Yorkshire Artist Wins Acclaim

YORK, England (CP)—Stanley Royle, the Sheffield landscape painter and former director of fine arts, drawing and painting at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., has received aclaim in his home country.

Members of eight Yorkshire art clubs, who attended an exhibition of paintings and drawings here, said, after viewing his paintings:

"There should be a gallery in London devoted specially to landscapes of Commonwealth countries."

Royle's works such as "Fishing Village of Prospect, N.S." and "Evening Light, Prospect," are outstanding examples of traditional painting. He received a silver medal at a prominent Paris salon for them.

A judge at Scarborough said Royle's work has a special gift of the "bold management of large canvasses" despite the fact that most artists are seen at their best in small scale.

FIRST FUR FARM

The first attempt at fur-farming appears to have been near Tignish on Prince Edward Island about 1894.

Omemee Choir Honors Couple

OMMEE (ENS) —Previous to reorganizing after the summer months, the Trinity United Church choir were entertained at a corn roast given by their leader, W. D. Weir, at Mr. and Mrs. Weir's home.

The gathering was also made an occasion to honor Cyril Pogue, a choir member who was married recently. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt addressed Mr. and Mrs. Pogue speaking of Cyril's service to the church and as a member of the Young People's Union. The presentation of a beautiful wall mirror was made to Mr. and Mrs. Pogue by Joan Saulter representing the Young People and Dorothy Connell representing the choir.

Church Worker Tries Out Charms on Married Minister

DEAR MISS DIX: As the wife of a minister, I have a problem. One of our Sunday School teachers, a married woman, is infatuated with my husband. Her husband is aware of the fact too, and it has created an unhappy atmosphere in her own home. She is a splendid worker and has always been capable of making her own decisions, but now finds it necessary to make excuses to consult my husband on everything (he and I both know they are excuses). She will take any pretext, such as returning or borrowing a book, to come to the house even when she knows I'm not home. My husband is a friendly person, but he doesn't like this situation at all. It is becoming apparent to some of our parishioners. He avoids her whenever possible, and has even spoken to her about these particular actions but to no avail. We are getting desperate, and feel he may even have to resign. Would it do any good if I talked to her?

MINISTER'S WIFE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your dilemma is shared by the wives of many professional men—particularly doctors and ministers. These men are in a position where they must show kindness and consideration for everyone; now and then a woman of slightly warped mind or morals decides that her doctor or minister is directing his attention to her personally, and her alone. The build-up that follows, in her own mind, is easy to imagine. In no time at all she has fallen in love with her victim, and is certain he is in love with her. When this conviction has been deeply implanted, it is most resistant to change.

THEY GIVE UP EVENTUALLY

Ultimately, of course, these ladies tire of their unrequited affections, and as fast as the spell came over them, so fast does it go. What to do to hasten the process is your particular problem. Your husband, her husband, and yourself must all talk to her; try to make her realize that all efforts to win your husband's undivided affection are absolutely futile. Pound home the fact that she is risking your husband's career, her own marriage, and her standing in the community. It is this last argument that may bring the surest results. A woman who has long been established as a leader in local society cherishes her role so much that she will do anything to keep it. If her pursual of your husband becomes so reckless that others are aware of it, she will not long enjoy the esteem of her fellow citizens.

Why not discuss the matter with her husband first, since he is well aware of the situation? Three of you banded together certainly should be able to stop the depredations of a potential homewrecker.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Whenever my girl friends and I go swimming, we meet plenty of nice boys. One girl always wanders off with a different boy while the rest of us stay together in a group. We feel we have more fun that way. How can we keep the wanderer from going off on twosomes? We are 14.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are right to disapprove of your girl friend's behavior. You may win her over to group activities by (1) showing her that you don't like her actions and, if she continues them, the rest of you will stop going with her, (2) calling attention to the fun enjoyed by the group and the superiority of the boys who stay with you. That they are superior, I can take for granted.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Not long ago I met a girl to whom I have become greatly attached. In trying to make her like me, I'm afraid I rather messed things up. I wrote her saying I wouldn't see her again. I did this to see if she liked me better than the other fellows. Instead, it made her fightin' mad. I apologized, but still she isn't the way she was before.

B. R. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When will superintelligent males realize that the devious method is not the way to a girl's heart? Young ladies like to be treated with consideration, not "tested" for loyalty. I'm afraid the damage is done; if you're lucky, she may accept your apologies one of these days, but don't count on it.

What's Right?

You are invited to several showers for a girl who is actually no more to you than a mere acquaintance, and you feel you cannot afford to buy her several shower presents plus a wedding present.

WRONG: Feel that since you are invited to the showers you must go and take a present to each one.

RIGHT: If you wish, refuse the shower invitations graciously. (Only close friends should be invited to showers.)

Answer to Previous Puzzle

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. For the feverish distress due to gas on stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets, give Baby's Own Tablets at once. As one Toronto Mother reports—she finds they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for constipation, upset stomach, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies. Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Sickness often strikes in the night. Get a package today at drug stores. Money back if you are not satisfied. 30¢.

Committee Set Up

The Department now has eight psychologists, counsellors in whom the young prisoners can confide and discuss problems, and a staff of 23 working full time in assisting ex-prisoners in rehabilitation.

A young prisoner going into Gelph now spends several weeks in the reception wing, said Mr. Virgin, and goes before a classification committee that includes six fully-qualified teachers. Here he can be taught some skill that will be useful to him when he is discharged; and his academic standard may be raised by a course of study.

COURSE FOR GUARDS

At Guelph there is also a five-week course for guards—now being attended by County Jailer Stanley Johnston.

At Brampton young reformables are screened out of Guelph and attend a "technical school". There are no bars, cells, fences; the "students" wear civlian clothes and show visitors about the institution.

"Despite this freedom few abscond," said Mr. Virgin. "To this date the experiment has been amazingly successful. As a result of personal contact we know that the outcome, after five and a half years, is more than 85 per cent successfully re-established. The success ratio is phenomenal.

The second experiment is the first step toward the ultimate abolition of jails—that is the setting up of the small industrial farms. At present there are three: Monteith, Burritt's Rapids (serving 14 jails east of Belleville, including Peterborough), and Birch.

These farms are converted stations of the Armed Servics.

The third experiment is the treatment of alcoholics at Mimico. "It is the first of its kind within a reform institution," said Mr. Virgin, "and is being studied by United States authorities."

Selected patients—about 30 at a time — can take the 30-day course. It is the last 30 days of their sentence.

Basis of selection is that the patient's main trouble is alcoholism; he must realize that he is helpless to solve his problem by himself; and he must have a genuine desire to defeat alcoholism.

The Danish drug antibuse is used. Before the patient leaves he is given the "antibuse-alcohol treatment." That is he is given a drink of his favorite liquor and this, mixed with the drug in his system, brings a violent sickness.

By continuing to take antibuse tablets—which the Department continues to supply after discharge—the man keeps himself "on the wagon." He may then have clothes, a home and a job found for him, but once he is settled the Department expects the man to start paying back the cost of rehabilitation.

Last year a check was kept and 41 alcoholics stayed "on the wagon" for four months, earning about $26,000. If it hadn't been for their treatment they would have been in an institution costing the taxpayers more than $14,000.

After a question period Mr. Virgin was thanked by Judge J. deNavarre Kennedy, Judge of Peterborough County. The audience, who had received invitations from Sheriff John Harstone, included Magistrate Philp and other members of the judiciary, clergy, social workers, businessmen, service club leaders, representatives of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., and other interested groups.

The steering committee will carry on until a permanent rehabilitation committee is formed.

Homemaking Clubs Show In Downtown Market Bldg.

The highlight of the year for Junior Homemaking Club members from six counties is taking place today at the Peterborough Exhibition.

Approximately 83 girls from Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland, Durham, Prince Edward and Hastings countries are spending the day at the Market Hall—the site of the exhibition's Junior Homemaking Section.

During the morning the girls were divided into groups to take part in judging and quiz activities. The afternoon was spent in inter-county skits and demonstrations.

Special inter-county exhibits are on display. These include five garden exhibits by the following clubs: Fairview (Peterborough County), Coldsprings (Northumberland), Fraserville (Peterborough), Kawartha, Lindsay (Victoria), Plainfield (Hastings).

Seven other exhibits show various aspects of the training that the girls receive in their club work. The titles of the exhibits and the clubs participating are: Five Ways of Serving Fruit, Bethany (Durham); A Wool Skirt and Its Companions, Cooper-Remington (Hastings); Cottons May Be Smart, Seymour East (Northumberland); Corn on the Cereal Shelf, Fraserville (Peterborough); Ways of Using Ground Meat, Bloomfield (Prince Edward county); Qualities of Good Sleeping Garments, Baddow (Victoria).

SKITS SHOWN

Titles of the skits and demonstrations which were presented during the afternoon were: Milk on the Invalid's Tray, Let's Make Tea Biscuits, Cottons May Be Smart, Around the Clock With Cereals, Hows and Whys of Pressing Wool, Choosing Materials for Sleeping Garments.

The clubs taking part were: Plainfield (Hastings), Millbrook (Durham), Seymour West (Northumberland), Fairview Peterborough), Bloomfield (Prince Edward), West Ops (Victoria).

The clubs participating in the skits, demonstrations and exhibits were picked to represent their county at various Achievement Days held in the spring.

Miss Jean Noble, home economist for Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham counties, was in charge of activities. Her assistants included Miss Florence P. Eadie, supervisor of junior extension of the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture.

KEEPING STANDARDS

"Homemaking club participation in the Peterborough Exhibition has been organized for a number of years," Miss Eadie said today. "This year's group of girls is keeping up the creditable standards of performance set by club members in the past years. Today's activities show that the girls have had a good background in club work.

Four other staff members of the branch also assisted during the day. They were: Miss Lulu Row, clothing specialist; Mrs. Ruth Clarke, home economist for York, Halton and Peel counties; and Miss Irvine and Miss Eileen Ness, home economist for Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington counties.

The club leaders who attended were: Mrs. A. Bell, Woodville; Mrs. J. Stoddart, Woodville; Mrs. T. Campbell, R.R. 4, Campbellford; Mrs. J. Wallace, R.R. 1, Lindsay; Mrs. B. Hope, Lindsay; Mrs. B. Gardiner, Millbrook; Mrs. C. Mann, R.R. 4, Peterborough; Mrs. N. McCubbing, Norham; Mrs. M. Armstrong, R.R. 1, Fenelon Falls; Mrs. E. White, Millbrook; Mrs. I. Reeds, Burnt River; Mrs. J. Devivey, Vernonville; Mrs. M. Finney, Bethany; Mrs. C. Page, Bethany; Mrs. E. Anderson, Keene.

Chapter News

EDITH CARLETON CHAPTER

Meeting of the Edith Carleton Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Helen Watson. Regent Miss Mary McRae conducted routine business, then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Graham Donaldson for lengthy discussion of the fashion show, which is to be presented October 1st in the Collegiate auditorium under Mrs. Donaldson's convenership.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at close of the evening.

❖ ❖ ❖

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., met at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening, Mrs. R. Mathews, regent, presiding.

Mrs. J. Weir reported she had received a letter of thanks from the teacher of the chapter's adopted school for receiving a British Empire parcel.

A rummage sale will be held Sept. 23 at the market square downstairs at 2 o'clock. Mrs. G. Harrison is convener.

Mrs. E. Spurway will show films and give a report in her recent trip to England at the October meeting.

Refreshments were served at the close.

❖ ❖ ❖

CATHERINE PARR TRAILL CHAPTER

The Catherine Parr Traill chapter, I.O.D.E., was entertained by Mrs. A. C. Mackie of Young's Point, Monday evening, when the opening meeting of the fall season was held. Regent Mrs. Kenneth Lichty presided.

Mrs. William Croft gave the secretary's report, and treasurer Mrs. Kenneth Morris reported that the lawn social held in June had been successful.

"A Canadian Seeing Canada First" was the topic of an interesting paper given by Educational secretary, Mrs. T. W. Chaplin.

Child and Family Welfare convener, Mrs. L. Quackenbush reported that food parcels for Britain could now be sent right from that country and $25 was voted for this purpose. An appeal was also made for good used clothing for needy families in Britain. It was suggested that any such clothing should be left with Mrs Lichty as soon as possible, preferably before the next meeting as the need for such clothing in England is very great, especially now that winter is near.

The I.O.D.E. scholarship, awarded to the pupil obtaining the highest marks on the Grade 13 examinations will be given again this year, it was decided, and $10 was voted to be given to the Canadian Legion, Lakefield Branch, who are purchasing a T.V. set for the Home for the Aged.

Mrs E. Bogg-Watson of Edinburgh and the Barbadoes was a guest at the meeting. Introduced by Mrs. G. Winder-Smith, Mrs. Bogg-Watson spoke briefly on the Victoria League which is affiliated with the I.O.D.E.

Mrs. Donald Hendren sang a solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Smith. The raffle prize, donated by Mrs. Mackie, was won by Mrs. Morris.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Newson and the article to be raffled will be donated by Mrs. S Henderson.

Assisting the hostess to serve refreshments were Mrs. Chaplin, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. B. Q. Dench.

Youth Pretends Member Of Gang

HAMILTON (CP) — A man who identified himself as one of the four bank robbers who escaped from Don jail in Toronto when he allegedly attacked and robbed Gaston Giroux of the Royal hotel early last evening, was arrested last night.

Mr. Giroux told police that he had spent some time in a beverage room with a stranger and then invited him to his room for a drink. The victim said that just as they entered his room the stranger pounced on him, pummelled him and allegedly declared:

"I'm Jackson, so give me your money or my gang will kill you."

Mr. Giroux said his assailant then took about 60 cents in change from his pocket and a gold wrist watch valued at $52.

Police later arrested Lawrence Richards, 24, and charged him with assault and robbery.

Making Tour To Study Lake Erosion

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP)—The International Joint Commission on boundary waters today set out on a tour of the Lake Ontario shoreline of the Niagara Peninsula for a first-hand look at erosion from high waters.

The trip followed a meeting here yesterday at which 21 witnesses discussed the high-water problem. One, Valentine Onslow, St. Catharines district fruit farmer, suggested that rock removed from hydro-electric power projects at Niagara Falls be used to build up the lake shore to combat erosion.

D. G. Ure of St. Catharines told the commission that as much as 313 feet of waterfront property had been washed away at some points by the lake in a 25-year period.

15 FEET A YEAR

An Ontario land surveyor, Mr. Ure's figures covered the period from 1912 to 1950. He said that at places along the Niagara Peninsula shoreline erosion averaged 15 feet a year. He said he could present figures for the last two years in about two weeks along with the year-by-year record of erosion for the 25-year period.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the commission, said it would be helpful if Mr. Ure could work out the figures so they could be correlated with the water level for each year and determine its relation to erosion.

IT WAS A BIG DAY for these smiling German girls when they visited headquarters of Canada's 27th Brigade in Western Germany. Instructing the smiling youngsters on the operation of a modern Canadian Army vehicle are two members of the 48th Highlanders, Pte. Jack Holland, left, and Cpl. Ross Spence, both of Toronto.

Stevenson Likes WhistleStop Receptions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Adlai Stevenson, cheered by the success of his first try at whistle-stop speaking, invaded Los Angeles today with addresses on corruption in government and his views on social security laws.

The Democratic presidential candidate travelled from San Francisco yesterday, making eight short stops and quick speeches along the way. Crowds estimated at 1,500 to 2,000 on the average, with a high of 6,000 in Fresno, responded with crackling reaction, shouting:

"Attaboy, Steve . . Give 'em hell, Adlai."

On the other side of the United States Stevenson's presidential opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, worked busily in his New York headquarters polishing up speeches for next week's campaign tour in the midwest.

The landslide victory of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, for renomination is said to be posing a question for Eisenhower's strategists. How far should the General go in supporting McCarthy's re-election bid?

McCarthy is a controversial figure because of his Communists-in-government drive which some laud as highly patriotic, others denounced as a smear campaign harmful to innocent persons.

THIS 250-POUND PUMPKIN, grown by Harold Everett, of Auburn, Wash., went on display this week at the Western Washington Fair. The giant vegetable measures six feet around and is believed to be one of the largest ever grown in the area.

Night Watchman Dies Youth Re-arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — A 22-year-old man freed on bail pending trial on theft charges was re-arrested last night after the death of the night watchman of one of the places he is alleged to have robbed.

An autopsy yesterday revealed that Victor Serkanis, 70, died of injuries to the head suffered July 18 last when struck by a thief who stole a car from the garage where he worked.

The 22-year-old, not identified by police, is being held for questioning.

Bethany Girls Win At Orono

BETHANY (ENS)—The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson with 19 in attendance. Roll call was answered by "Something about my neighbor." Mrs. Harold Sanderson announced the receipt of a $50.00 cheque from the Athletic Association to assist in the renovation of the town hall basement. In this connection the committee in charge reported some work already begun and a bee to paint the basement walls will be held in the near future. Mrs. H. L. Challice and Mrs. T. Jennings reported that the Girls' Summer Garden Club had been a very successful venture. At the Achievement Day in Orono on Saturday the five girls had won two first prizes and three seconds, exhibiting eight varieties of vegetables and different floral arrangements from the produce of their gardens. It was decided to send a delegate to the annual convention in Toronto in November.

As citizenship convener, Mrs. Jackson gave a talk "Our Rights as Citizens" conducting a quiz on names of those in government positions, explaining some of the present controversy on the immigrant situation and giving a brief resume of the bill recently introduced to the House of Commons known as the Bill of Human Rights and Liberties.

"Perhaps we have neglected to keep in mind the real meaning of the special days set apart by our Government as holidays and just count them as days for special trips and social events. Dominion Day in two words wraps up the whole astonishing history of this great Federation of Canada from its birth in 1867. It is a name that will continue to come naturally to Canadians. Our forefathers the founders of this country took their religion seriously and from Psalm 72 verse 8 conned these words And He shall have Dominion also from sea to sea and from the rivers unto the ends of the earth, and when looking for a name for our great new country found these words a suitable description," she said.

Mrs. H. Rayson gave a reading on Dominion Day and the group joined in singing Oh Canada. Mrs. W. L. Rowan expressed the thanks of the members to the hostess and a social hour was spent during which lunch was served.

Mrs. Mansell Finney, convener for community activities and public relations will have charge of the next meeting to be held in the Orange Hall October 6.

Mrs. Wm. Shannon Heads Marmora CWL

MARMORA (ENS) —Mrs. Williams Shannon was elected president of the Catholic Women's League at its meeting held in the Sacred Heart Hall on Tuesday. Mrs. Shannon takes the place of Mrs. B. Hughes who was forced to resign as she is moving to Toronto at the end of the month.

Mrs. Hughes presided and expressed her thanks for the able support which she had been given and the co-operation during her term of office. The Rev. J. A. O'Neill expressed his regret at the departure of Mrs. Hughes and family from the parish and spoke of the noble work carried on by the League.

Vegetables, Grain, Hay All Show Improvement

"I'm no garden man myself, but the display of garden products this year certainly is better than any other display I've seen here in the past three years", said Ken Fallis of Toronto who is in charge of the Ontario Department of Agriculture booth in the agricultural products tent at the Peterborough Exhibition this year.

Mr. Fallis is with the crops branch of the O.D.A. and looks after the department display, which was started originally to tie in with the hay show. Since the booth was started a few years ago, it has grown in size and the quality has improved greatly. Now the department is planning an expansion of the show for next year.

On Wednesday, Professor Orvil Kennedy of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph arrived to judge the hay, a job he has been doing for the past three years. This year he is quite impressed by the improvement in the quality of the hay, and also by the amount shown.

The grain display at the Exhibition is usually small, due to the fact the big fair has been held earlier in the season in previous years and farmers were unable to display their grain crops so early. This year, the display is not as large as it could be, but it is steadily improving. "It will take several years to build it up", said Mr. Fallis, "but, in a few years, Peterborough should have a grain display the district can be really proud of."

The garden vegetables this year are all of exceptionally good quality and are very attractively displayed. Bert Arnott, who judged most of the products, had difficulty in judging most of the products, and gave his decision only after thoroughly examining and comparing almost every item in the entries. "They are all good", he said.

Old Railway Line Only Remains Sentimental Link In History

By KEITH PELTON
Canadian Press Correspondent

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—For more than half a century an integral factor in the development of this part of Ontario, the Brockville and Westport Railway now is just a sentimental link with the history of Leeds county.

The last official run over the system between Brockville and Westport was made Aug. 30, covering the 40.5 miles mainly over the original Sheffield steel rails laid in 1887. Now only the clean-up remains to be scheduled.

After that, the rails and ties will be ripped up and the right-of-way will merge slowly with the fertile farmland on both sides of the system, abandoned because it is no longer economically feasible to operate.

PASSENGERS DWINDLE

On two previous occasions, in 1903 and again in 1911, applications for abandonment of the system resulted in its purchase, the last purchaser being the Northern Railway Company, a branch of the Canadian National Railways.

This time, there was no offer to purchase, despite a concerted effort by representatives of the people living in the areas it served. While it played an important part in economic development of the area in former years, nowadays it has suffered recurring deficits, partly due to development of modern highways.

When authorization for abandonment of the line was granted this summer by the Board of Transport Commissioners, the board noted there would be some inconvenience to the public but said this would be outweighed by elimination of losses to the company on the line's operations.

Evidence during the hearing at Brockville indicated the company lost $83,000 in 1951, which compared with a deficit of $49,000 in 1945. It might have cost $500,000 to continue the line for another five years, as sought by opponents of immediate abandonment.

SEE FUTURE GROWTH

The special committee opposing abandonment, headed by Reeve Guy Purcell of Athens, argued that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway would bring great industrial development to the territory around Brockville. It also pointed out the strong possibility of a lead and iron-ore development being established in the area.

The railroad was built originally by the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company in 1884, and opened four years later.

On the final trip the eight-car mixed train was greeted all along the line by crowds that included many elderly people who had seen it in its early days. Some 20 passengers made the complete trip.

It began to lose passengers several years ago when traffic turned to the highway. It brought out livestock, butter and cheese, and carried in grain, feed, fertilizer, road materials and fuel.

Go-Slow Drive Being Delayed

LONDON (CP)—Union leaders of 3,000,000 British engineering and shipbuilding workers today postponed until Monday setting a date for a proposed country-wide go-slow campaign that would seriously affect the defence effort.

The workers' confederation voted last night to ban overtime piece work in protest against rejection of wage-increase demands.

Union chiefs said today they will discuss the situation Monday with Sir Robert Gould, government labor conciliator. They received an invitation to meet Gould just as they were assembling to discuss the date.

The council described the ban as a protest against the flat rejection by employers of demands for a weekly wage increase of £2. This would have been an increase of about 20 per cent for the lowest-scale workers.

Can Take Pictures Through Pig's Eye

NEW YORK (AP)—You can take pictures through a pig's eye.

About all that's needed is the animal's eye, a piece of film and a shutter. The result—a little camera that takes pretty fair pictures.

Just such a camera was shown yesterday to the Biological Photographic Association by Ralph P. Creer of Chicago.

The animal eye becomes the lens of the camera, and a mighty fast one. A human eye could be used, too, he said.

Creer showed pictures taken through a sheep's eye, for he finds the sheep's eye the best size for his camera.

Creer is director of medical motion pictures for the American Medical Association. The animal-eye camera is just a personal experiment, with no practical value, good only for close-ups, from distances of about four inches.

But the eye lens is as fast as that of a top-notch camera, he finds. It's equivalent in light transmission to a camera lens of f 1.9 opening.

Stresses Need Of Roads In Northland

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — "Roads, roads and more roads," are needed in this part of the country, Reeve Ann Shipley of Teck township said Wednesday in a dinner address to 50 members of the Ontario Legislature who are visiting here:

"We have a good road—the one running south," said the reeve. "But it wasn't built for the northerners, it was for the trucking industry."

Lands and Forests Minister Gemmel described Mrs. Shipley as a "popular and distinguished citizen of Ontario and Canada who is responsible for giving the finest educational and recreational facilities throughout the province."

Mr. Gemmell said the tour would create understanding between the northern and southern parts of Ontario.

J. C. Adamson of Lake Shore Mines Limited, introduced Mines Minister Kelley as a man who "knows much of the north and has the north's interests at heart."

SPENDING $1,000,000

Mr. Kelley said expenditure for mining roads this year will reach $1,000,000. The mining tax is .49 per cent, he said. Nine per cent of this goes to the province and 40 per cent to the federal government.

"It is time that we received a kick-back of that 40 per cent," said Mr. Kelley.

A. A. MacKenzie, member for North York, said that from now on "you can consider me as a missionary for Northern Ontario."

"I have enjoyed this visit as I have never enjoyed anything in my life," he said.

Members of the Legislature will tour local mines today. At noon they visited Virginiatown and Larder Lake. They were due to leave at midnight for Timmins.

A-Secret Traitor Free In December

LONDON (CP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the western world's first atomic-secrets traitor, is due for release from prison in December, a Home Office spokesman said today.

May, now 41, was convicted in 1946 of giving information about British atomic research to Russian agents and sentenced to 10 years. His arrest was an outgrowth of Canada's spy probe.

By December he will have served 6½ years and will be eligible for his freedom under the good-conduct rules of the British penal code.

The Home Office denied last year reports that May had been doing atomic research for the British government in his cell.

Three U.S. Officers Burned By Acid

TOKYO (Reuters)—Three United States Air Force officers were burned with an acid-gasoline mixture flung at them when they were travelling in a car near Itami air base, centra, Japan, last night.

Their wives in the back seat were unhurt.

Three men, presumed to be either Japanese or Korean, came from the side of the road when the car slowed down at a railroad crossing.

Advances Theory On Hearing

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—A scientist yesterday advanced a theory to explani one of biology's most baffling mysteries—how the ear can hear.

Dr. Hallowell Davis of the Central Institute for the Deaf, St. Louis, Mo., addressing the closing session of the 1952 annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, said the inner ear has its own electric battery and there is always a regular flow of current passing through.

Some of this current leaks through the hair cells in the ear. When sound causes vibrations in the inner ear, the hairs on the end of the hair cells get pushed around—just as the granules of carbon inside a telephone microphone are moved mechanically when a voice speaks into the instrument.

The movement of the hairs brings about a change of resistance to the current and this change is sufficient to trigger off the relatively large amount of energy needed to send impulses through nearby nerve cells.

Borrowed Fiddle, Wins Contest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Guy Blackman of Cincinnati, playing with a fiddle and bow borrowed from an eight-year-old girl, won the first international fiddle championship at the state fair last night.

The winner won out over 18 others.

This was the first year the event was open to other than Americans, but the only so-called "fur-riner" was Mel Lavigne, Wingham, Ont., the Canadian champion. He finished out of the money.

Blackman's $600 fiddle was stolen several weeks ago and he was about to withdraw from the contest when a neighbor, Ellen Olson, 8, offered him the fiddle her grandfather had given her.

Modern Hazard

GRAYS, England (CP)—Arthur Jackson was electrocuted while fixing a television aerial in this Essex town. The coroner said: "Unfortunately this sort of thing happens to a lot of amateur electricians."

Share-The-Work Plan May Be Move By Lewis

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis seems to be trying to divide the coal industry with a share-the-work plan calling for heavy penalty wages after a third day's work in any one week.

The idea, casually mentioned by the United Mine Workers president in preliminary contract talks with coal operators, has the owners buzzing.

The facts are that Lewis' miners are working about 3½ days a week on the average. Some of them, mostly in the north, work a full five days, and even a sixth day at overtime. But many miners, mostly in the south, work only two or three days a week.

HAVE OWN PLAN

At his union's 1948 convention, Lewis said if the mine owners couldn't figure out some way of letting all the miners share the available work, maybe the union had better come up with a plan.

It wasn't long after the 1948 convention that Lewis put the industry on a three-day work week, eventually culminating in a strike.

Labor contracts between Lewis and the coal operators begin expiring Sept. 20.

The new share-the-work idea, according to the reports, calls for a penalty time-and-a-half pay rate for any work done on a fourth working day in a week, and double pay on any fifth day.

U.S. NAVAL SECRETARY Dan A. Kimball presents the Medal of Honor to Byron Eugene Poynter, 2, of Downey, Calif., whose father, Sgt. James I. Poynter, 33, died in combat in Korea. Sgt. Poynter charged three enemy gun nests, killing the crews of two and putting the third out of action before falling under fire. His widow, Mrs. Kathern G. M. Poynter, holds Byron as the presentation is made.

Iron Curtain Lands Freed Only By War

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Alfred H. Gruenther, chief of staff at Allied headquarters here, said in a newspaper interview yesterday he does not believe the Iron Curtain countries can be liberated without war.

"There is no question of embarking on such a war," Gruenther told a correspondent of the Gaullist weekly Carrefour.

Say Consumers Distrust Steel Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite unrelenting pressure for steel deliveries, many consumers actually distrust the market beyond the next three or four months, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said Wednesday.

The publication reported that "steel consumers are using every trick they can think of to get steel." They all want quick delivery, and many show little interest in delivery promises beyond three or four months.

Most consumers will not touch conversion deals (in which the customer buys ingots and has them rolled to the products he needs) beyond the first of the year, the Iron Age said.

CAN BE PREVENTED

Worries of steel producers over raw materials have subsided, said the Iron Age. "There is an excellent chance that a damaging ore shortage can be circumvented."

It said record iron-ore shipments on the Great Lakes, since the steel strike was settled, have been aided by additional ships coming into service, and by the high water levels which have permitted heavier loading.

Scrap supplies are abundant, the publication reported.

Steel-making operations this week were placed at 101.5 per cent of rated capacity.

Self-Help Made Backbone Of Civil Defence Planning

OTTAWA (CP)—A Toronto school of social work professor said yesterday the main welfare objective in civil defence organization in Canada should be to "help the people to help themselves."

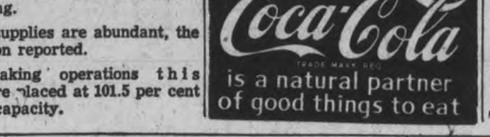
Professor John S. Morgan of the University of Toronto, speaking to 50 federal, provincial and municipal delegates meeting here to discuss the welfare phase of civil defence preparedness, said the self-help theme is the backbone of any such planning.

He is convinced too, he said, that an attack on civilians is largely frustrated before it takes place "if the ordinary citizen knows what arrangements have been made to provide for his many problems, knows what those arrangements are and trusts those responsible for the arrangements."

Prof. Morgan outlined these other objectives of C. D. welfare planning:

A welfare service for all the people in the community; to aim at re-establishment of the family, of the worker on his job, of the community's normal welfare services and of normal productive daily life.

There must be the means to get welfare services to the people immediately following attack so they can "stay put and fight it out."



Col. W.B.G. Reynolds, national director of disaster services for the Canadian Red Cross, urged that any civil defence organizations which have not worked out arrangements with their local voluntary agencies should do so at once.

The state of preparedness in Canada, he said, varies considerably across the country.

New Dollar Crisis Conference Expected In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new "dollar-crsiis" conference between Britain and the United States appears to be shaping up for early next spring. Prime Minister Churchill himself may fly to the U.S. then to talk with the next American president about Britain's ideas for new moves to strengthen the western world's finances. U.S. and British financial and trade experts are busy behind the scenes exploring possible proposals for action.

The present plan calls for government agencies to draft a comprehensive report summing up the west's economic problems. This is to be laid on the desk of the new president after he assumes office Jan. 20 along with alternative proposals for U. S. action to meet the situation.

The backstage study now going on here seems to result from a growing belief that America's allies may have to halt their rearmament drive unless new financial props are found for their shaky economies.

This possibility was emphasized yesterday when both Britain and France announced they are going farther in the red in their foreign trade.

France reported a trading deficit of 179,697,000,000 francs — $510,000,000 — for the first eight months of 1952. The gap between exports and imports was only 74,003,000,000 francs in the corresponding period last year.

DOWN IN AUGUST

Britain disclosed that her exports during August dropped to $180,700,000 compared with July's $207,800,000. Imports, too, were down but the country still went in the red another $73,700,000.

The British Food Ministry announced that controlled prices of butter, cheese, sugar, bacon, margarine and cooking fats will go up next.

Britain and France already have cut back their rearmament schedules and American defence experts

Heir To Throne Takes Rest Cure In Switzerland

CAIRO (CP) — Prince Mohamed Aly, 77-year-old heir presumptive to the Egyptian throne, announced today he will leave for Switzerland next Tuesday. At the same time, the Communist-inspired Democratic party announced a campaign to abolish the monarchy.

The infant King Ahmed Fuad II now is living on Capri with his father, ousted King Farouk. Mohamed Aly is Farouk's cousin.

Mohamed Aly's private secretary said the Prince will resume a rest cure at Lausanne which was interrupted when the army took over the country seven weeks ago.

DEMANDS OVERTHROW

The Social Democrat newspaper Al Moarda said today the party wants the immediate overthrow of "the criminal royal dynasty." The demand came in the form of a speech by party leader Fathy el Ramly.

Meanwhile, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib pressed on with his heavy schedule for the "technician" cabinet.

It voted a 15-per-cent reduction for housing built since the Second World War, and approved legislation ending another of Egypt's feudal institutions — the Wakfs.

State Minister Fathi Radwin said the government will ease taxes and duties on building materials to encourage housing construction.

Millions of dollars which can be invested in industrial development will be released by dissolution of the Wakfs.

This is a system under Moslem law by which a person can bequeath an estate so that heirs and beneficiaries may receive the income but cannot sell or otherwise dispose of the estate itself.

It is estimated that about one-quarter of Egypt's farm land and buildings are administered under this system. The country has about 6,000,000 arable acres.

Liquidation of the Wakf estates is considered essential to the success of Naguib's plans to limit farm ownership to 200 acres a person. Persons owning more than 200 acres of land would have been barred from selling the excess if these were constituted as Wakfs.

Town Planning Council Duty

KINGSTON (CP)—Planning Canadian cities must become the direct responsibility of city councils and not be left to citizen planning boards, W. Harold Clark, president of the Community Planning Association of Canada, said today.

He told the association's sixth annual meeting citizens planning boards should act "more as boards of review than as initiating bodies."

He suggested councils should set up special committees on planning, composed of civic department heads. Such committees would be "realistic" about money and legal matters.

Mr. Clark said planning should be related to capital budgeting. He advised that the head of the civic treasury department be a member of the board. Such a man would probably insist the cost of works planned be kept within the area's ability to raise money.

Say Hundreds Left Homeless In Flood

BOERNE, Tex. (AP) — Streams were receding in this hill section of southwest Texas today after flooding rivers and creeks left five persons dead, two missing and hundreds homeless following drought-denting rains.

But downstream, outside the hill country, Luling on the San Marcos River was reported to be in trouble.

Downpours that measured up to 23 inches in 24 hours had sent roaring torrents down river and creek beds that had been dusty and cracked. Highway and railroad bridges were washed out, trains and buses stalled, livestock drowned, low-lying areas flooded and communications broken down.

Helicopters and row-boats were used to take about 100 passengers from a stalled train at Solms. The 'copters also lifted stranded residents from their roof-tops.

At least five towns in the southwest and south central Texas areas had been isolated by the flood. Disrupted communications made it uncertain whether there were still towns in danger of further damage.

10 Canadians Indicted, Sent Home

One-Year Sentence If They Return To U.S. In Next 5 Yrs.

DETROIT (CP)—Ten Canadian aliens were indicted, sentenced and ordered back to Canada yesterday as a U.S. grand jury ground through its second day of investigating visa frauds.

All pleaded guilty and federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton gave each a one-year sentence and released them on five years probation provided they return to Canada and stayed there. If any are found back in the United States in five years the court automatically can invoke the one-year sentence to prison.

Three of the ten were arrested as they commuted to Detroit from their Windsor homes to go to work. The other seven, six of them commuters, had been picked up previously.

RULED INADMISSABLE

The three arrested yesterday were identified by court records as Maria Desliets, 27, and her sister, Alice, 24, and Herbert W. Hadland, 30, all of Windsor. Whisked before a special board of inquiry for the naturalization and immigration service they were ruled inadmissable to the United States.

They then were taken before the grand jury, which indicted them, along with the other seven.

Besides those picked up yesterday, those getting identical sentences were identified in records as:

Everett Eugene Galssco, Glendon W. Baillie, 41; Miss Anita McCann, 21; Miss Helen S. Muldoon, 20; Miss Olga Bartolon, 22; Mrs. Adele V. Giroux, 31; and Miss Magdalena Engelmann, 19.

All were indicted on charges of submitting false writing to a government agency (fraudulent bank balance letters) and using a visa fraudulently obtained.

Yesterday's three new arrests brought to 64 the total arrested on charges of using fraudulent visas to enter the United States from Canada at the Windsor-Detroit gateway.

The maximum penalty upon conviction is 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Several of those indicted thus far have admitted paying from $25 to $125 to Windsor visa expediter Mrs. Margaret Prest, whom they claim furnished them with false bank statements needed to prove they would not become a public charge upon admission to the United States.

$10,000 Crash Loss

BELL'S CORNERS (CP)—Whisky flowed like water on highway 15 yesterday when a truck loaded with $38,000 worth of rye overturned. Truck driver William Gilbert, 21, of Belleville, suffered slight injuries. An estimated $10,000 worth of liquor was destroyed.

YOUNG DRESSMAKERS MODELLED their own creations at the Junior Homemaking Sections, part of the program of Junior Farmers Day on Thursday at the Peterborough Exhibition. Hint Theft Of Guns May Be Linked With 4 Escapees

TORONTO (CP)—Police warned banks and firms handling large amounts of money to be on the alert today in case of a strike by the Boyd gang. They say Friday is traditionally a day for bank robberies and payroll holdups. They describe Boyd, who escaped from the Don jail Monday with three other men, as a master bank robber.

Boyd also has shown in the past that he is an artist at disguise. Law officers think he and his companions—Leonard Jackson, Steve Suchan and William Jackson—will probably try to change their appearance to elude pursuit. They may even dress as women or don some type of uniform.

Det.-Sgt. Adolphus Payne, who tracked down Boyd after a jailbreak last November, today recalled that make-up kits, false faces, face paint, hair dyes and false eyebrows were found in Boyd's home at Pickering, 15 miles east of here.

PISTOLS STOLEN

Police also said today there may be a link between the escape and the theft of 22 nine-millimetre pistols from Camp Borden within the last two weeks. Theft of the pistols was revealed today by Ontario Provincial Police, who said 45 guns stolen from a Barrie sports goods shop might also be added to the gang's arsenal.

There were no new developments in the widespread search for the gang, two of whom face murder charges.

Mrs. Boyd and her three children took to the radio last night following up a letter published yesterday in Toronto newspapers, asking Boyd to surrender.

In her tearful plea Mrs. Boyd said: "I love you, Eddie. Please come home. I have thought this all over." One of her children: "We would rather have you in jail, dad, and know where you are."

Police saw a chance of a coded message to Boyd in the letter of which the Toronto Star and Telegram published photostatic copies. Their interest was in the letters "B.C.R.D." below four croses at

Says 10 Guards Involved In Bribe Ring

TORONTO (CP) — The Star in a copyright newspage story today quotes a former guard at the Don jail as saying that for at least five years a group of 10 guards at the jail has been smuggling in to prisoners quantities of food, liquor and narcotics and tripling the salaries of the guards concerned.

"They were making a real living," the paper quotes the ex-guard as saying. "And they were running the jail—even though the higher-ups never knew it. It got so bad a couple of years ago that jail guards, guys like myself, actually were afraid of the inmates."

The former guard claims three guards were told to "quit or be fired" a month ago — the same week guard James Morrison was arrested for taking a bribe to smuggle a weapon in to Leonard Jackson. But, he asserted, they were not fired, because of a tie-up with Morrison, who now is serving a reformatory term.

An Ontario royal commission investigation has been ordered into operation of the jail from which Edwin Boyd, Leonard Jackson, Steve Suchan and William Jackson escaped last Monday by sawing their way out of a death row cell block.

Thessalon Area Gangster-Happy

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Provincial Police, today ended a fruitless search near Thessalon for the elusive Edwin Boyd.

A laborer on a C. P. R. track gang went berserk early this morning, and rushed off into the woods six miles from Thessalon, his companions after him.

By the time word reached police, the fugitive had become Boyd, supposedly seen jumping from a passing freight.

Police led a hunt that resulted in the capture of the man, Fred Gagnon, 55, of North Bay. Gagnon was taken to Sudbury for examination.

Meanwhile, police are investigating reports that men identified as the Jacksons, who escaped from the Toronto Don jail with Boyd, had been seen in Thessalon and Sowerby, a village to the east.

Canada Failing To Sell Way Of Life To Britain—MP

"Canadians have not yet sold themselves to the people of Britain," said Harmar Nicholls, M.P., of Darlaston, Staffordshire, England, in his introductory call at noon today on Mayor Hugh Waddell at the City Hall. The reference was not to the idea of commercial selling, but to gaining a large place in the minds and thinking of the people of Britain. It was rather in the range of impression. "I know the people of Britain would be enchanted with Canada as I have seen it during this last week." Mr. Nicholls was one of the eight representatives selected to attend the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in Ottawa.

"I think that television is going to bring our people more closely together than they have ever been," Mr. Nicholls said." We shall be able, for instance, to put Canada over television so Britain can see this country more clearly. And, I think that will be a great advantage in our relations."

Peterborough, England, is in Mr. Nicholls constituency. He was introduced to Mayor Waddell by I. R. Rattenbury of J. K. Hughes Motors, who was driver of the automobile that was placed at his disposal by General Motors for this brief trip of a day to this city.

BRINGS GREETINGS

After the introduction, Mr. Nicholls said: "I have a very pleasant duty to perform, Mr. Mayor, in bringing to you the good wishes of Alderman Martin and Councillor Chamberlain, and their wives who visited you last October for the official opening of your City Hall. They send their kindest remembrances.

"I also give you the regrets of the lady who is our Mayor this year and the chairman of the council that she has not had the opportunity of visiting your Peterborough. I also offer you the compliments of my wife who felt

Taft, Eisenhower Agree Substantially On Most Issues

NEW YORK (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft said today that he and General Dwight D. Eisenhower are in substantial agreement on all issues and that he will "speak anywhere to the extent of my ability" to further the Republican presidential nominee's campaign.

Taft told a press conference he is convinced that Eisenhower "will carry out the policies of the Republican platform."

He said he was "completely satisfied" that Eisenhower would give the United States a good administration.

Taft called the Democratic candidate, Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, "a representative of the left wing and a left-winger himself."

Taft also said he is convinced Eisenhower believes in the principles of a statement adopted by the Republican steering committee in Congress.

MATTER OF SPENDING

In answer to a question he said the degree of differences with Eisenhower was largely a matter of spending. He declined to enlarge, saying he would discuss his views of foreign policy in his own speeches.

Today's breakfast conference at Eisenhower's Columbia University home was the first face-to-face meeting of the two since Eisenhower defeated Taft for the nomination in Chicago last July.

Taft was asked what he thought about the proposal for a new "American party" made by Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago publisher.

Taft replied: "A new American party is not feasible in 1952."

Include Canada In Conference

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain, Canada and the United States today discussed the role of new weapons, particularly jet planes, in future European defence plans.

L.B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister and retiring chairman of the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and U.S. delegate William Draper are believed to have been briefed on British views today.

The two lunched with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Defence Minister Lord Alexander.

Draper, especially concerned with mutual security aid and arms production, is believed to have been discussing possible mass production of new British jet fighters.

The official British views will be given at the Dec. 15 meeting of the N.A.T.O. Council.

Find Canadians Good Spenders

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian travellers last year spent a record $280,000,000 in other countries, compared with $225,000,000 the previous year and $192,000,000 in 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

The total was $6,000,000 more than all foreign visitors spent in this country. This debit compared with credits of $49,000,000 in 1950 and $92,000,000 in 1949.

Main reason was increased spending by Canadians in the U. S.

Expenditures by U. S. visitors accounted for $258,000,000 of the $274,000,000 spent by foreign visitors in Canada, a drop of two per cent from 1950. Canadians spent $246,000,000 in the United States, compared with $192,700,000 in 1950 and increased their spending in overseas countries to $34,000,000 from $33,000,000.

Boost Pearson For Presidency

UNTED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—"I like Mike" appears to be the feeling of the majority of delegates to the United Nations as they consider elections to the presidency of the General Assembly opening Oct. 14.

"Mike" is L.B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, who so far has no opponent for the job of president of the U.N.'s top annual meeting—the U.N.'s highest prestige post.

Pearson's chances of election are boosted by the fact that he is probably one of the best-known diplomats around the U. N. When the U.N. was being formed, his name was put forward at one point in behind-the-scenes arrangements for appointment of a Secretary-General—the job now held by Norway's Trygve Lie. But the Russians objected to Pearson and he was passed.

Whether they will put up a battle against Pearson's running for the Assembly presidency is known only to the Russians. But in any case they can have no veto on the matter as it is a majority decision.

As president he would no doubt have some trouble with the Soviet delegation, which has often in the past harried the top man when the going is tough—and there are a lot of tough problems coming up at the fall Assembly including Korea, Tunisia, and the South African racial situation.

Trenton Jet Plane Crashes On Airdrome

TRENTON (CP)—An R. C. A. F. Vampire jet plane crashed on the airdrome here during a training flight today. Its pilot was killed.

The air force identified the pilot as FO. J.N. McLachlan, formerly of Petrolia, Ont. His widow and three children now live here.

The plane went out of control, an air force spokesman said. No one on the ground was injured.

Nearly A Midwife

O.P.P. Constable George Louth nearly had his first practical experience as a midwife Thursday night. He missed out by two minutes. Constable Louth picked up a man in Norwood who was looking for a doctor as his wife was going to have a baby. Unable to get a doctor there Constable Louth drove him on to Havelock where Dr. D. J. Holdcroft answered the call. The two cars—the cruiser and doctor's car—then raced to the man's residence on the 8th line of Dummer about eight miles away. When the constable got there he found that a 7½-pound baby boy had been born a couple of minutes before. The mother, Mrs. Daisy Freeman, is doing well.

Hope November Conference To Solve Trade Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives of Commonwealth countries hope that the November conference of their prime ministers in London will find the solution to many trade and economic problems.

The hopes were expressed yesterday by delegate after delegate at a closed session of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association's biennial conference.

The conference, due to end tomorrow, turns today to a debate on defence and international affairs. Representatives of the United States and the Republic of Ireland, association members of the association, will join the discussions for the first time.

TRADE FULLY DISCUSSED

At yesterday's meeting, devoted entirely to trade and economic relations of the Commonwealth, D. Heathcoat-Amory, Britain's minister of pensions, expressed the hope the prime ministers' conference will discuss the need to find capital for development of the Commonwealth.

Shri M. A. Ayyangar of India said he hopes the prime ministers will consider India's needs for machinery and technical assistance.

Hon. J. L. H. W. Savary, representing Trinidad and Tobago said the dollar shortage has curtailed trade between Canada and West Indies. Trinidad wanted to see the trade restored to its previous level. He hoped the November conference would find a solution.

Roy Welensky of Northern Rhodesia suggested the prime ministers examine the capital requirements of all the Commonwealth.

Three Canadians participated in the discussions—Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Toronto Eglinton, M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit Leader.

CONVERTIBILITY THE KEY

Mr. Fleming said convertibility of currency remains the key to the Commonwealth's economic and trade problems. He suggested that as trade is the path to peace the problem is to develop a mutually profitable trade within the Commonwealth.

Mr. Low said convertibility of currencies is a prerequisite to world trade. Pending an agreement on convertibility, Canada should accept sterling in payment for exports to the United Kingdom. That currency could be used for trade with other sterling countries.

Mr. Coldwell said money and currencies are mere symbols of exchange. A solution to their use could be found.

Oppose Alcoholism Demand Champagne

PARIS (Reuters) — Astonished city officials sent out for more champagne yesterday after delegates to the Congress Against Alcoholism drank up five cases at a civic reception.

The officials had imported gallons of fruit juice for the occasion.

A member of the congress snapped:

"We believe in temperance, not abstinence."

Natives With Spears Raid Kenya Jungle Mission

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—An Irish missionary told here today how a raiding party of the black magic Mau Mau society encircled his jungle mission and attacked with spears.

Rev. J. O'Donoghue missed death by inches. An African pupil of his mission school deflected a hurtling spear before it reached the missionary.

The attack was the latest incident in an undertone of unrest which the Mau Mau is raising among the natives of Kenya. Heavy police reinforcements and other security measures have been taken in recent weeks against the Mau Mau, rallying natives to the cry of "Kenya for the Africans."

The raiding party of six Mau Mau spearmen attacked the Roman Catholic mission at Kirku.

They meant to kill the mission chief, Rev. P.J. McGill, who has been teaching natives to disbelieve the magic of the Mau Mau.

They attacked the mission at night, while Father O'Donoghue, substituting for the absent Father McGill, was teaching a night class. The priest came to the doorway when the Africans shouted "we want the priests."

He was greeted by the thrown spear, deflected by a nearby student. The Mau Mau group disappeared.

20 Arrested In Theft Ring

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Police announced today the arrest of 20 men and the recovery of $20,000 worth of outboard motors stolen along Montreal's waterfront.

They said the men, all from St. Jerome, Que., will be arraigned in that Laurentian mountains foothills town Monday.

No details of the thefts were immediately available.

Chinese Bodies Cover Valleys Around Ridge

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United Nations artillerymen today raked the valleys north of Capitol Hill with a barrage that kept the Communists from launching new assaults on the scarred central-front ridge.

South Korean scouts reported at dawn that the valleys were covered with Chinese bodies. Allied big gun had scattered Red units varying in size from a few squads to a battalion of about 750 men.

North of Chorwon on the central front, a South Korean patrol killed 35 Communists and wounded 72 in a four-hour battle, the United States Eighth Army reported.

Fighter-bombers helped artillerymen knock out Red guns which had been harassing the South Korean defenders of Capitol Hill.

Pearson Has Conference With UN Head

Say London Parley To Discuss Korean Situation

LONDON (Reuters)—Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, held lengthy talks yesterday on the Korean problem with the foreign ministers of Britain and Canada.

Lie lunched with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and saw him a second time last night. He also had a private talk with L.B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister who arrived here Wednesday.

Main issue in the London talks is believed in diplomatic quarters to be the manner in which the Korean armistice deadlock should be discussed by the United Nations.

TO RAISE MATTER

Britain and the United States are known to be considering raising the matter before the full assembly should no armistice be concluded by the middle of next month.

Thursday's diplomatic discussions centred on the proposals put forward by Mexico for breaking the armistice deadlock.

Mexico proposes that both sides solve the thorny repatriation issue in Korea by agreeing to return all prisoners willing to go home. The remainder would be granted provisional asylum in the territory of members of the United Nations.

A Foreign Office spokesman described the Mexican proposals as "a sincere and genuine effort" to reach agreement and said they would be studied with the attention they deserve.

A spokesman for Lie said that the secretary-general felt that any proposal that gave hope of a solution of the existing deadlock must be carefully examined.

Under the Mexican proposals, prisoners unwilling to return home would enjoy immigrant status permitting them to work and provide for their needs in countries affording them asylum.

Other topics whose possible inclusion on the assembly agenda Lie may discuss in London or Paris are understood to include Morocco, Tunisia, and the racial situation in South Africa.

Two Brothers Win Jr. Farmer Honors

Two brothers of Hastings County emerged as senior and junior champions of the junior department of Peterborough Exhibition Thursday. Douglas Harry was high senior with 399 points out of a possible 500, and Frank Harry was first of the juniors with a score of 388. Their farm home address is Trenton R.R. 5. This double achievement by junior farmers from the same home was described as unique by Jim Goldie in announcing the results at the Canada Packers dinner at the Empress Hotel Thursday night, concluding a day of examinations in agricultural knowledge.

The champion brothers received the resounding congratulations of applause of nearly 300 associates who were guests at the 25th annual dinner with which C.P.C. has wound up the affairs of Junior Farmers Day at the Exhibition.

Unique as it was in that long series of competitions, the accomplishment of the brothers Harry was recognized as a possibility after the fact by those who have known their consistent successes and leadership in 4-H Club work in Hastings county.

Each boy is awarded $25 to be expended on some educational experience, such as attendance at a short course, with the approval of the junior department committee.

TWO SECTIONS

The junior department of the Exhibition was in two sections, one exclusively for girls in homemaking activities in the market hall, and the other for boys, but not excluding girls, at Morrow Park.

Competitions at the park were in livestock judging, identification contest, a quiz on agriculture, forestry and conservation and also a tractor defects test. The senior section brought together 25 of the rural young people, and the junior section 136 eager youngsters.

In the livestock judging, Douglas Harry was tied for top place with Ray Stickle, of Trenton R.R. 5, at 215 points. Douglas was also first in the identification contest with 52 points, and Ray Stickle was tied for second at 50 points with Gerald Eggleton, of Belleville R.R. 6.

Douglas Harry was first in the agricultural quiz with 46 points but again only two points more than Ray Stickle who was tied with two other boys for second. However, he left his nearest competitor behind in the forestry and conservation contest.

Take 762,246 Immigrants In Seven Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Harris said yesterday that from 1945 to the end of July, 1952, Canada admitted 762,246 immigrants, including 245,682 from Britain.

Mr. Harris gave the figures when asked to comment on charges made Wednesday in London, Ont., at the 18th General Synod of the Church of England in Canada.

Canon W. W. Judd, general secretary of the Church Council of Social Services, criticized the federal government for the "limited and dispropriate" numbers of immigrants from Britain. He said the government was influenced by Quebec.

NOT FAIR CHECK

Mr. Harris said:

"You cannot judge results of immigration by one isolated period. Last year the percentage of British was about one in six. But from 1945 to the end of July, 1952, 762,246 persons were admitted to Canada.

"Of these 245,682 were British; 62,875 Americans; 180,630 from North Europe, and 273,059 from other origins."

disappointed in not being able to accompany me."

The Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference meets every two years. The last meeting was in New Zealand.

"More than half the members of Parliament applied to be chosen for this present conference in Ottawa. Eight of us were lucky enough to be selected. So far, we appear to have been following the Royal tour, and to have had the advantage of it. Probably I was chosen because I am secretary of the All Party Migration groups. We have been talking about immigration this week.

HOUSES FOR SALE

I am also interested in housing as one of the housing Members of Parliament back home. We are wondering whether Canada, including Peterborough, can take care of some of our prefabricated houses which we are now ready to export. We have some hope that we might send you in this country up to 25,000 houses a year. They are conditioned for all climates."

Mr. Nicholls said that it was natural for the British people to be concerned about the maintenance of the British element in this country largely because so many had come here during the last century and had helped so substantially in building Canada and establishing her splendid institutions.

In that respect we should like to see emigration not only of our youth but also of some of our older people who would be of use here."

Mayor Wadell commented that approximately 95 per cent of this city's population was of Anglo-Saxon origin.

In the renewal of the Empire Settlement Act, Britain was contributing £1,500,000 a year, for assisting emigration to the countries of the Commonwealth. Australia has taken it up to a considerable extent, but so far Canada has not entered into it on the same scale.

Mr. Nicholls is a comparatively young man. He was the youngest chairman of the council of Darlaston, and remarked that Mayor Waddell must be Peterborough's youngest Mayor.

"I hardly think so," Mayor Waddell said.

Today's visitor is a bright, alert and vital personality, delightfully articulate and evidently keenly receptive to ideas and environment.

EXHILARATING

Canad, he said, exerts an exhiliarating effect. "It appears to me pulsating with virility, and plainly still in its youth and facing a great future."

He spoke of his visit to the aluminum city of Arvida in Quebec, and uttered a word of caution against lack of diversity of industry, especially in the heavy classification.

In another word about emigration, he said: "Of course The Observer refers to it as the emigration fallacy, and presents the prospect of us sending you our skilled people and industries to the extent that Canada would eventually be competing against us in the markets of the world. I don't think we agree with that. However, if you can continue to take 250,000 people a year, I should hope that the number from Britain would not fall below 150,000, leaving 100,000 to come from the continent."

As to sentiment overseas, Mr. Nicholls said: "Our people have a great admiration for Canadians, but they don't know this country yet as they should. We should like to see more visitors from Canada, and we assure you of a very warm welcome indeed."

Report Prices Slip On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices slipped in early afternoon stock market trading today after opening mixed.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,581,000 shares.

Senior golds held firm and junior producers listed a number of small advances as New Dickenson and Preston gained. Heavy trading buoyed a few prospects and Keiore gained pennies in a turnover of more than 105,000 shares in the first three hours. Gunnar traded actively for a small loss, Heath for a small gain and New Alber for no change. Holding companies slipped.

Higher-priced base metal issues slipped but Bellekeno traded about 270,000 shares for a gain of pennies and Ankeno and Tungsten drew strength from brisk trading.

Refining oils and manufacturing companies were firm in the industrial list while utilities and steels weakened. Dominion Bridge gained $2.

Western oils recorded a majority of small losses as Consolidated Allanbee, Devon Leduc and Royalite slipped. Canadian Williston added pennies.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down .63 at 323.50, golds up .68 at 90.16, base metals down .51 at 192.42 and western oils down .87 at 132.04.

Ottawa Plans To Expand Montreal Harbor

MONTREAL — C.P.). — Transport Minister Chevrier announced a $7,300,000 expansion in Montreal's harbor facilities to handle enlarged traffic expected to stem from the projected St. Lawrence seaway.

The minister said the National Harbors Board is planning to spend the sum over the next two or three years. In an address to the Richelieu Club, Mr. Chevrier said consideration also will have to be given to adding 5,000,000 bushels of grain storage capacity soon.

"In further anticipation of the seaway opening," he added, "it is apparent that new unloading berths will be required to handle the large bulk carriers in place of the present canallers," he said.

OTHERS BENEFIT

Mr. Chevrier said Montreal would not be the only Quebec port to benefit from seaway traffic. He cited Quebec, Sorel, Three Rivers and Seven Islands, particularly.

One of the greatest benefits for Quebec, he said, undoubtedly would be the stimulus to the Ungava iron ore development.

He also saw the possibility of harnessing 1,200,000 horse-power of hydro-electricity at Lachine, Quebec. That could create a whole new area for industrial sites in the Laprairie basin.

Elgie Palmateer Arrested On Arson Count

WARKWORTH (ENS).—Elgie Palmateer, 42, suspected of setting fire to his home six miles southwest of here early Thursday morning was arrested near Castleton, later in the day by O.P.P. Constable Lyle Erskine, Cobourg.

He appeared in magistrate's court in Cobourg today charged with arson.

The search, conducted by Constable Erskine, started Thursday morning after Palmateer's home, near Russ Creek, was razed by fire.

At the time Palmateer was living alone in the house.

Carmel Parcels, a neighbor where Mrs. Palmateer and five children were staying, first noticed the house ablaze at 6:30 a.m. and sent the alarm throughout the neighborhood. But by the time volunteers arrived the house was beyond saving. All the contents were lost.

Palmateer was not seen at the fire and no one reported seeing him since Wednesday afternoon when he was in a car near the Parcels' farm.

Constable Erskine investigated the fire and then began the search for Palmateer.

The fire left Mrs. Palmateer and five children, Carol, Paul, 11, Patsy nine, Melody, five, and Kathie, two, homeless. There are two other children, Mrs. Murray Hill of Peterborough and Clare of Bowmanville.

the end of the letter. However, Mrs. Boyd said the letters were the initials of herself and her children and each cross represented a kiss from each.

The radio appeal was recorded and broadcast by radio station CKEY at intervals during the night.

POLICE SKEPTICAL

Police doubted the appeals would help. One official said of Boyd: "I don't think there is a sentimental bone in his body. I'll just about drop dead if he pays any attention to such an appeal."

Boxes of hand grenades were added to the police arsenal as they prepared for a possible pitched battle with the fugitives. Officers assigned to the capture, if it comes, will carry grenades, bren-guns, high-powered rifles, sub-machine-guns, shotguns and tear gas bombs. They will wear armor plate for protection against bullets and gas masks as protection from their own tear gas.

They look for a possible break when the four run out of money they need to hide out.

"We are plugging away at our sources of information," said one officer. "It is work that will continue 24 hours a day. Either through this, or through a move on the part of the fugitives that will lead us to them, we will get them."

Detective Mailed Artificial Foot

TORONTO (CP)—When Leonard (Tough Lennie) Jackson escaped from Don jail with three other desperadoes Monday, he left behind his artificial left foot. Later the man who made the foot expressed belief Jackson had two spares hidden somewhere outside the jail.

Yesterday detective Jack Gillespie, helping to search for the four prisoners, received a package by registered mail, special delivery.

In it was an artificial left foot.

Attached to it was a note reading:

"Dear Jack—keep this for me. I'll be around for it in a few days. Love and kisses.

"Tough Lennie."

Rescue Man In Car Refuses To Talk

UXBRIDGE (CP) — A man dragged from a wrecked automobile near here early today refused to tell police anything but his age — 36.

The car bore United States licence plates. Police said it had been reported stolen in Toronto. The man was cut above the eye in the crash.

Uxbridge is 35 miles northeast of Toronto.

Army Painter Falls 25 Feet

A Canadian army engineer from Picton on special duty painting at the armouries escaped serious injury early Wednesday morning when he fell about 25 feet from the balcony near the officers' mess.

Two army engineers have been painting the smaller rooms off the assembly floor for the past several weeks. They have been sleeping at nights in the armouries until the job is done.

The corporal, whose name was withheld by army officials, was sleeping on a couch Tuesday night on the balcony just outside the officers' mess. It is believed that the soldier had a nightmare, jumped or rolled in his sleep off the couch to the floor. He then rolled across the floor and through the steel railing, dropping 25 feet to the asphalt floor.

The soldier, it is believed, laid there for some time and was not found. He then came to, crawled to the administrative offices and then up the stairs to the couch, according to stories about the incident.

Army officials refused to comment on the accident and the extent of the soldier's injuries are unknown. He was taken, after being attended by a doctor, to the Kingston Military hospital.

Some time ago the main assembly hall at the armouries was re-decorated. But this year the army's painters are working in the main administrative offices in the eastern section where new floors have been laid, and in the 50th H.A.A. Regiment's and the 28th Technical Squadron's rooms along the south wall.

New Zealand Has 2,000,000 People

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (Reuters) John Marshall, minister in charge of census statistics, announced today that the population of New Zealand passed the 2,000,000 mark Sept. 1, with the arrival of 588 new settlers from Scotland.

New Zealand's population has doubled in a little under 44 years, he said.

fear any further cuts in arms expenditures may seriously hurt the west's defences.

What new steps can be adopted to bolster western finances is not yet certain. Congress' $6,447,730,750 for military, economic and technical aid to nearly 40 countries during year ends next July 1.

AID STILL NEEDED

Present thinking is that the foreign-aid program must be continued for several more years, but that additional steps are needed to make certain that Western European countries can put their financial houses in order in the foreseeable future.

Informal ideas that are being mentioned include:

1. An international stabilization fund of some $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000. This would be set up to guarantee that foreign currencies could be exchanged into dollars, thus helping expand world commerce.

2. American agreement to buy strategic raw materials such as rubber, tin, copper, and other metals on a long-term contract basis running from five to 10 years.

3. A plan to expand greatly private U. S. investments in overseas areas.

4. A drive by the administration to persuade Congress to streamline U. S. customs regulations to facilitate the entry of foreign products.

See Cartwright Becoming Chief Justice

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper in a newspage story today suggests that Mr. Justice John R. Cartwright of the Supreme Court of Canada may be named Chief Justice of Ontario to succeed R.S. Robertson, who retired a few days ago.

The paper mentioned that when Chief Justice Robertson's retirement became known, it was thought his successor would be Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the High Court of Ontario.

The story says Ontario legal circles speculate now that Chief Justice McRuer will be named to the Supreme Court of Canada instead.

IN FEW DAYS

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will not arrive back in Ottawa from his western tour until Sunday night and any judicial changes are not expected to be announced until his return. It is customary for the Prime Minister to announce appointments to the position of Chief Justice.

Mr. Justice Cartwright comes from a long line of legal lights. His father, the late James S. Cartwright, was the master of the Ontario Supreme Court and his grandfather, John S. Cartwright, was a member of the Legislature of Upper Canada. Sir Richard Cartwright, his great-grandfather, was a noted judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

He had an illustrious 30-year career as a courtroom lawyer, highlighted by his role as prosecutor in the Communist espionage trials, and as counsel in the George Drew libel suit against the Toronto Star and in the Millar will contest.

Jury Returns 6 True Bills

WELLAND (CP) — True bills were returned by a grand jury here today on four murder indictments and two motor manslaughter cases.

The murder indictments were against James Alfred Kelsey, 30, and Lloyd Frank Cross 33, separately charged with murdering Sam Delibasich, Welland taxi operator on Dec. 9, 1949, Michael Gazo, 48, charged with the murder of Antonia Gazo, 46, at Welland on May 29, 1952, and James Alexander Bell, 17, of Niagara Falls, charged with the murder of his stepmother Mrs. Dorothy Bell on August 28, 1952.

True bills on motor manslaughter charges were returned against Julian Goldberg 19, of Hamilton and Theodore William Hoonik, 39, of Buffalo. Goldberg was charged as the result of an accident in Wainfleet township on Sept. 6, 1951, in which Mrs. Marie Robbins, Grand Rapids, Mich. was fatally injured and Hoonik as the result of an accident on the Queen Elizabeth Way on March 1, 1952, which caused the death of Mrs. Alice Graves, Port Robinson.

Madoc Breeder's Shorthorns Top Winners

John Trotter and sons of Madoc took the premier breeder's banner for dual purpose shorthorns at the Peterborough Exhibition Thursday.

Their cattle, said to be some of the best dual purpose shown in recent years, took the grand championships in male and female classes, junior male and female championships, and the reserve male championship.

Also near the top with good quality shorthorns were Edmund Ruth of Omemee, and Herman Franks of Omemee. Mr. Ruth won the reserve senior female championship and the reserve grand championship for females, while Mr. Frauks had the senior champion male.

But the Trotter cattle showed their supremacy all through the judging, taking prizes at or near the top in almost all classes:

Results are:

Obituary

MRS. RYERSON RITCHIE

A resident of Peterborough for approximately 13 years, Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie, the former Charlotte Emily Ashfield, 92, of Whitby, died Wednesday following a short illness.

Well known in Peterborough music circles, Mrs. Ryerson was a member of both St. John's and St. Luke's Anglican Church choirs for several years. She came to Peterborough in 1917. At that time her husband, the late Ryerson Ritchie, was one of the men responsible for the reorganization of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

In 1930, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie moved to Whitby, where Mr. Ritchie died in 1943. Mr. Ritchie was one of the first men interested in the setting up of Chambers of Commerce and during his career organized chambers in many of the major cities of the United States.

Mrs. Ritchie was born in Oro, near Barrie, the daughter of the late William Ashfield and Margaret Stewart.

The funeral will be held Saturday, at 1.30 p.m., from the W. C. Towns and Sons funeral home, Whitby. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough.

Costlier Burials

CAPETOWN (CP)—Not only the cost of living, but the cost of dying is rising here. All cemetery charges have just been increased 10 per cent, on top of a 35-per-cent increase made five years ago.

Pony Classes Well Filled

Entries were heavy in most of the pony classes at this year's exhibition, with many youthful entrants displaying their skill in handling the lively animals.

L. M. Blight and daughters, of Brooklin, took a number of firsts, and placed in the prize money in nearly every class. They were given plenty of competition by Ralph Sadler, Allan B. Mann, Margaret and Doreen Burton and other annual contestants. Results were:

Ponies under 12 hands shown in harness—1, L. M. Blight and daughters, Brooklin; 2, Margaret and Doreen Burton, Brooklin; 3, Ralph Sadler, Nestleton; 4, Carmen Downey; 5, Allan B. Single hackney pony—1 and 2, J. Lance Rumble, Durham.

The half-mile pony race ended in a draw, with seventeen galloping ponies finishing so closely that the judges awarded $5 to each contestant. The cards included entries of Henry Nickells, of Markham, Ray L. Cochrane and sons, Oshawa; Paul Simpson, Campbellford; Dorothy Jackson, R.R. 2, Peterborough; Edmund Ruth, Omemee; Bruce Sargent and sons, Ida; Don Raddon, R.R. 3, Lakefield; R. N. Simpson, Hastings; Donald Meredith, Peterborough; Carmen Downey and Stewart Bedford, Campbellford.

Delivery Horses All Decked Up For One Big Day

The delivery horses of the city had their day at the Peterborough Exhibition when they turned out in all their finery to be judged in their respective classes on Thursday evening. Each year, these horses who remain unsung in their daily tasks of delivering milk and bread to local citizens, get themselves decked out in their Sunday best and steal the show for a little while.

Many of the entries this year turned out in a hair-do copied from that worn by some of the more style-conscious girls—the pony tail. On the horses, it looked good.

Judge Robert Cruikshanks of Wingham said he was more than pleased with the appearance of the horses this year.

Campbell's, Silverwood's and Sunshine Dairies and Wonder Bakeries all had entries in the commercial classes.

Some of the results are:

COMMERCIAL

Single Commercial Mare or Gelding: 1 Silverwoods Dairy, 2 Wonder Bakeries, 3 Sunshine Dairy, 4 and 5 Campbell's Dairy.

Double Commercial Horses, Mare or Gelding, city: 1 Campbell's Dairy.

Heavy Single Commercial, Mare or Gelding, city: 1 Wonder Bakeries, 2 Sunshine Dairy, 3 Campbell's Dairy, 4 Silverwood Dairy, 5 Wonder Bakeries, 6 Campbell's Dairy.

Heavy Double Commercial, Mares or Geldings: 1 and 2 Sunshine Dairy.

TRAVELLED BY CANOE

The voyageurs of Canada's early days travelled by canoe from Montreal to the Rockies with many famous portages.

Hackneys Draw Wide Acclaim From 'Ex' Crowd

Top honors in most of the light horse classes went to perennial exhibitors, with names such as Wesley Brown, Allan B. Mann, Ralph Sadler and a few others taking most most of the ribbons. The high-stepping Hackneys delighted the crowd as they paraded before the grandstand.

Judge L. L. Tribeaudeau of Markdale had no easy job in declaring the winners, with almost every entry deserving of a prize.

LIGHT HORSES

Western Saddle Class: 1 H. Routley, RR 3, Peterborough; 2 and 3 William Meredith, Lansdowne St.; 4 Grant Henry, Millbrook; 5 N. Ballantyne, 302 Aylmer St.; 6 Gray Meredith, Lansdowne St.

Loose Talk On Immigration

The experience of churches concerning themselves with politics has not been entirely happy, and we suggest that Canon Wallace Judd of Toronto, speaking at the Anglican General Synod, might have weighed his words more carefully before accusing the Canadian Government of failing to encourage immigration from the British Isles to Canada because of "pressure from Quebec." The Anglican Church has much to gain by a policy aimed at encouraging a greater proportion of British subjects to settle in this country: it is ironic, however, that a spokesman of a religion that professes to see no difference between Jew and Gentile should advocate racial discrimination.

* * *

The reason for the comparative smallness of British immigration is not entirely the difficulty of getting here, though this is by no means negligible. Many of these diffifculties are not of the Canadian government's making. As a matter of fact British immigration is not subject to many stringent restrictions that apply to many other nationalities, such as Italians. The commonest mistake of Canadians when dealing with the whole question of immigration is to overestimate the desire to emigrate from the British Isles. Naturally there are many who would like to settle in Canada if allowed to bring their capital, if their passages were paid and they were guaranteed good jobs and houses on arrival. But there are plenty who are quite happy and comfortable as they are and have no wish whatsoever to tear themselves up by the roots and start all over again in a new country, even if the long-term prospect seemed more rosy. Canadians get a wrong impression when they visit Britain, with her strict rationing system, and forget that a large percentage of the population "never had it so good." A trip to the Continent may fortify them in this impression; they will find that they can get all they want to eat, without realizing that the ordinary worker is quite unable to pay the high prices of the unrationed commodities and actually lives at a considerably lower standard than the British worker.

* * *

The British government, too, though perhaps lavish in the use of high-sounding phrases about "peopling the undeveloped areas of the Commonwealth" is at heart reluctant to encourage emigration, which tends to take the best and fittest and leave the older and less productive elements at home. The powerful Trades Unions, too, can bring pressure to bear on the government in the formulation of emigration policy. The fact that the British government, in the face of some opposition from the Trades Unions, actually imported miners and other labourers from Italy, suggests that the United Kingdom is not so overpopulated in relation to its resources as some would lead us to believe. There are many other countries standing in far greater need of an outlet for their surplus population.

* * *

Far from being a drug on the market the British emigrant is actually in demand, with Australia taking the lion's share. The British immigrant to Australia is given help with his passage, and on arrival he can transfer funds to that country with far greater ease than to the dollar area. Australia has had to cut down her ambitious immigration scheme temporarily, owing to her financial difficulties; an Australian official recently made the suggestion that Canada might be asked to help in settling people "down under" — a fantastic idea, but it underlines the importance that Australia attaches to immigration since Pearl Harbour. Britain is in a good bargaining position. Mr. McIlraith says that Canada needs skilled workers. Britain has them, but has no wish to make it easy for the most valuable members of her labour force to leave the country unless Canada is prepared to admit a due proportion of halt and maimed and aged. In other words Britain is prepared to do some horse-trading: if Canada is willing to pay the price she might double or triple British immigration; but in any case nobody can be forced to emigrate against his will, and there is no evidence to support the supposition that Britons are queuing up in their hundreds of thousands only to be turned back by a few stony-hearted Canadian immigration officials working in the interests of la Province de Quebec.

In Englewood, New Jersey, they are reported to be cutting down a row of fine trees "to discourage starlings from nesting in them." We've known a starling to take a hint from a shotgun.

The Asquith Centenary

Today is the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Herbert Henry Asquith, later to become the first Earl of Oxford. It is being celebrated in London by a distinguished gathering at the National Liberal Club at which two of Asquith's children — Lady Violet Bonham-Carter and Lord Asquith of Bishopsgate — will be present; the president at the celebration will be Lord Simon, the last surviving member except Mr. Churchill of an Asquith Cabinet. It is a good thing that Asquith should be remembered, for although he had serious weaknesses as a statesman he had also great abilities and noble virtues. It is gratifying also to know that our generation has changed its mind about Asquith, whose reputation, at the time of his death in 1928, was undeservedly low.

Asquith was not a great war minister and that fact overshadowed his greatness as a reform minister. It was he who broke the power of the House of Lords by destroying their power to veto legislation. In order to do this he took the extraordinary step of threatening to ask the King to create enough Liberal Peers to carry the decision in the Lords. It should be remembered, also, that the late King Georve V agreed with Asquith on this point, and was willing to support him in his struggle. That was Asquith's greatest reforming stroke, but it was only one of many.

Asquith was a truly great Liberal, and in these days when Liberalism sometimes seems to be drifting toward Conservatism it is well for us to remember him and his faith. Bertrand Russell has written that "the essence of liberalism is an attempt to secure a social order not based on irrational dogma, and ensuring stability without involving more restraints than are necessary for the preservation of the community." That was Asquith's creed. For the shifts and crises of war (and for the "irrational dogma" which is inseparable from it) he had no stomach; to tasks of reform he brought a brilliant and notably dispassionate mind. A century after his birth it is salutary that we should remember him and what he held dear.

A Blow To The Theatre In Canada

Everyone in Canada who loves the theatre and wishes to see a native theatre flourish in this country will regret that the fine Montreal company called Les Compagnons de St. Laurent has had to close its doors. For fifteen years, under the direction of Father Emile Legault, this group set the pace and the standard for theatre companies everywhere in the country. They travelled a good deal, and once made a successful journey to Boston, where their performances in French were enthusiastically received. It was always a joy to see their work in the Dominion Drama Festival, and in 1947 and 1951 they carried off the highest prizes there. For the past three years they have been working as a professional company, but lack of public support has put an end to their work.

The reasons for their excellence were not hard to discover. They worked seriously, training themselves in all the arts of speech and movement which real acting demands. They had very high standards, and they performed the best plays they could adapt to their needs, in the best way that they knew how. They possessed, in Father Legault, a director of genius and they followed him without faltering. Their reward was that their work was admired by good judges in Canada and far beyond its borders.

They failed, presumably, because Montreal has not a large enough population of people who want to see French classics and modern French plays of merit performed well. Theatrical productions are expensive, and they have to be supported by large number of people if they are to maintain high standards. The time will come, we hope, when Les Compagnons, or a company of equal merit, can be a business success in Montreal, and when some of our English-speaking cities can support similar companies.

Meanwhile, we must be grateful for fifteen years of excellent work, during which Canadians have had a limited opportunity to see French plays performed in a style which never needed apologies, and was often deserving of the highest praise.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A writer says that the younger generation learns its lessons quickly from the older. Maybe that's what's wrong with the world.

A Toronto girl routed a bandit by hitting him with a soft drink bottle. If it had been a bottle of hard liquor she might have killed him.

We read of a gadget which throws flaming gas ahead of a car to melt ice from the roads. A quick burst would discourage jaywalkers, too.

A member of the British Medical Research Council says that if you exercise one arm exclusively, the other becomes almost as strong without effort. And we know a lot of people who begin so many sentences with "I think" that at last they persuade themselves that they really do think.

Ruritania In Trouble Again

By G. E. R. GEDGE

THE AUSTRIAN Foreign Office on the Ballhausplatz, where Metternich (Austrian Statesman, 1773-1859) once sat pulling the strings that set his European puppets in motion, is by now inured to Notes of Protest. Doubtless moved by the military principle that attack is the best form of defence, her Cominform neighbours have established a now recognised custom that when one or other of them violates defenceless Austria's frontiers or arrests her citizens, the offence is promptly followed by a Note of Protest which tries to lay the offence at Austria's door. No one now pays much attention to the manoeuvre. But even the most blase Austrian official must have been surprised on reading the following Note of Protest:

STAUDING REPUBLIC

To his Excellency the Foreign Minister of the Austrian Republic.

Protest Against Behaviour Infringing International Law

The Government of the Republic of Stauding, with its seat at Neukirchen-Am-Walde, enters a formal protest against a violation of established international custom by officials of the Austrian Republic. This violation consisted in the interrogation by a police officer of your State of the President of the Republic of Stauding, Herr Max Lang, without any notification of the intended questioning having been made to the Foregin Minister of the Republic of Stauding, Herr Klaffenbock.

In order to avoid the creation of differences between the two States, the Government of the Republic of Stauding requests the Foreign Ministry of the Austrian Republic to refer all future questions which may arise between the two States to the Minister of Justice, Ratzenbock. The latter has been authorized by the Government of the Republic to deal with any such questions in the first instance.

For the Government of the Republic
Ratzenbock
Minister of Justice
Neukirchen, in August 1952

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS note is the outcome of police in vestigations into the second post-war effort by persons in the province of Upper Austria to put Ruritania (a small, fictitious kingdom) on the map of this country. It is just over a year ago that the police stepped in and arrested Herr Kreihsl, Fraulein Hermine Gun, and Herr Jentschek—respectively "President", "Minister of the Interior", and "Director of Foreign Affairs" of the "Republic of Nuritana", founded at Leonding in Upper Austria. Willing at first to turn a blind eye to the efforts of the "Cabinet" of fourteen to transplant operetta from the Viennese stage to the forests of Upper Austria, the police were forced to take matters seriously when two "citizens" were sentenced to death for non-payment of "taxes"—in other words, for failing to make the fixed contribution towards beer money to refresh the "Cabinet" during its fortnightly sittings in a Leonding pub. The three "Ministers" were sentenced to four months' imprisonment. It was then discovered that the "Cabinet", which professed to be ruled by the stars, was particularly assiduous in the service of the Five Pointed Star which held sway on the other side of the nearby Czechoslovak frontier, and was not unconnected with certain smuggling operations. Thereupon the embryo "State" was painlessly liquidated.

✧ ✧ ✧

LAST MONTH it was discovered that a "Republic of Stauding" had established itself in the same province and was issuing "State" documents bearing its coat of arms—a sparrow's foot—which was also the badge of citizenship, worn by its nationals on Sundays. That of President Max Lang (in private life a motor-mechanic) was suspended from the neck by a riband of royal purple. The Ministers use a black, the common folk a yellow, ribbon. (At his examination by the police, President Lang hastened to explain that no political significance attached to the choice of Austrian monarchist colours—black and yellow—to be worn by Ministers and people.) Like the Republic of Nuritana, it was conceived at the table of an inn—Berghammer's Gasthaus in Neukirchen. President Lang admits that his State is only a substitute for a cinema, which it was his ambition to build. "The Collector of Taxes put finis to that," he said. "Founding the Republic of Stauding required much less capital."

✧ ✧ ✧

WHETHER IT was the unsavoury history of the earlier attempt of Nuritana to secede from Upper Austria, or that Stauding lies not far from Braunauon-The-Inn, one of whose sons (Hitler) plunged the world into ruin through the State—the Third Reich—which he founded, or whether it was really a fear of secession that induced the police to take the new Republic seriously, the fact is that President Lang found himself in considerable trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

TODAY HE tries to laugh it all off. On the foundation night, he says, the number of Ministers increased as the wine circulated more freely, until seven had been appointed. The Minister of Justice is a law student, a Vienna playwright named Dr. Polz the Foreign Minister, the Minister of the Interior and Keeper of the Archives (and of the Great Seal—naturally again a sparrow's foot), a saddler briefly named Em.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE first document to fall into the hands of the police was addressed to the charitable society which runs the local kindergarten. It read: "The Minister of Finance of the Stauding Republic was instructed at the Cabinet Meeting of July 20, 1952, to hand over to you the moneys provided under Section VIII, Sub-section six, Paragraph two, of the Budget, to be used in the interests of young citizens of the Republic, amounting to five hundred groschen." Despite the charitable nature of this communication—the donation of five hundred groschen has a purchasing power of about one English shilling—the coat of arms, the seal and the "seditious" signature aroused the suspicions of the police.

✧ ✧ ✧

PRESIDENT LANG maintains that his interrogation ended "in great joviality"; the police decline to comment at present. But it seems likely that the suspicion of high treason attaching to President Lang was not unconnected with the worst-heat-wave recorded for over a hundred years in Austria, and that with its passing, the temper of those in high places will also cool down. The Republic's Note of Protest, though as well founded as many received from beyond the Iron Curtain, is likely to remain unanswered among the dusty files of centuries in Metternich's chancellery in Vienna.

"PLACES, EVERYONE!"

Mr. Micawber's Father-in-Law

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

"WHAT'S the use of saving your money? You'll only leave it for somebody else to enjoy."

How often are these words spoken. And they are meant seriously, as words of advice. For the person who likes to spend money himself considers someone who saves to be a personal offence—a cause for grievance. Perhaps the thrifty person touches the spendthrift's conscience or stirs his fears. In any case, the spendthrift would be happier if the whole world would throw its money away in one vast carnival.

It is an odd idea that the person who spends his money "gets more out of life" than the person who saves his. The spender may have more of this world's perishable goods. Often he has whatever satisfaction there may be in appearing to be wealthier than he actually is. But the thrifty soul has his pleasures, too.

Some forty years ago there was a certain thrifty man whose son was a member of the British Parliament. He was once asked what use there was in accumulating his money, when he must know that his son would be quick to squander it. And he made a very reasonable, if somewhat unexpected reply: "If my son gets as much pleasure out of squandering my money as I have had out of saving it, I shall not mind."

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is pleasure in saving. Fortunate are those who like to read their bankbooks. To most people, regrettably, a bank book is a book of horrors—something to be glanced at with a shudder and then thrust out of sight. But to the person who is careful with his money there is pleasure in looking at the growing totals.

It is true that the person who saves may not enjoy the many things that the spender possesses. But at the same time, he does not have the restless conscience of the spendthrift—that unpleasant financial sensation of never quite having one's head above water. It is good to know that the money is there, and that it is increasing. It is something to turn to in one's misfortunes, and as the years go on, and when one wears out, there will be something there at the end to help you over the stile.

Some people don't like saving because it all seems so trivial. "What's the use of saving?" they ask. "It doesn't amount to a hill of beans."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT the people who talk that way are unlikely to be any better off if they had larger incomes. Such people generally get worse off as they get better off. They become like the man who sees his careful next-door neighbour doing better than he on less money, and who exclaims: "But he doesn't have to pay the income tax that I have to pay!"

An English author says that the best lesson he ever had in thrift was when he was on a tram moving along the London Embankment. There entered and sat beside him a working man, carrying his "kit" in a handkerchief, and wearing a cap and corduroy trousers. He paid his fare and then took out a pocket-book with a pencil attached. He opened it and began to write.

The author's curiosity was too much for his good manners. From the corner of his eye he watched the motion of the fingers. This was what the man wrote: "Tram 2½d." And as this author later said: "In a flash I seemed to see the whole orderly life of that man. He had an anchorage in the tossing sea of this troublesome world. He had got hold of the lesson . . . Watch your spendings."

Some people like to say that the thrifty person is selfish, tight-fisted, mean. He is not generous, open-handed, or open-hearted. He is not ready, as it were, to pay for another round of drinks at the great banquet of life.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET common experience soon proves that the most selfish thing that anyone can do is to prevent himself from becoming a burden to others. The generous-hearted spendthrift, who, as it were, wears his purse on his sleeve, often becomes a financial anxiety to others before his story is done. Perhaps the first of all social duties is to see to it, as far as possible, that one does not neglect one's own duty to oneself, in such way as to increase the burdens of one's friends and relations.

Mr. Micawber's father-in-law "lived to bail Mr. Micawber out many times until he died lamented by a wide circle of friends." No doubt Mr. Micawber was only too generous for this world, and it ought to have been a pleasure for his father-in-law to come repeatedly to his rescue.

But perhaps the most generous people in this world are not those who spend but those who save. Theirs is the superb generosity of not expecting other people to bail them out.

By mistake Macpherson had put half a crown into the collection box. He left the church a broken man.

On the following Sunday he took his seat, and after a while the box came around.

Glancing swiftly at the sidesman he muttered with a slight cough, "Season ticket."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted. . . .

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. . . .

Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. . . . Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 5:1-4, 6, 14, 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick. . . . And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing everywhere. (Luke 9:1, 2, 6.)

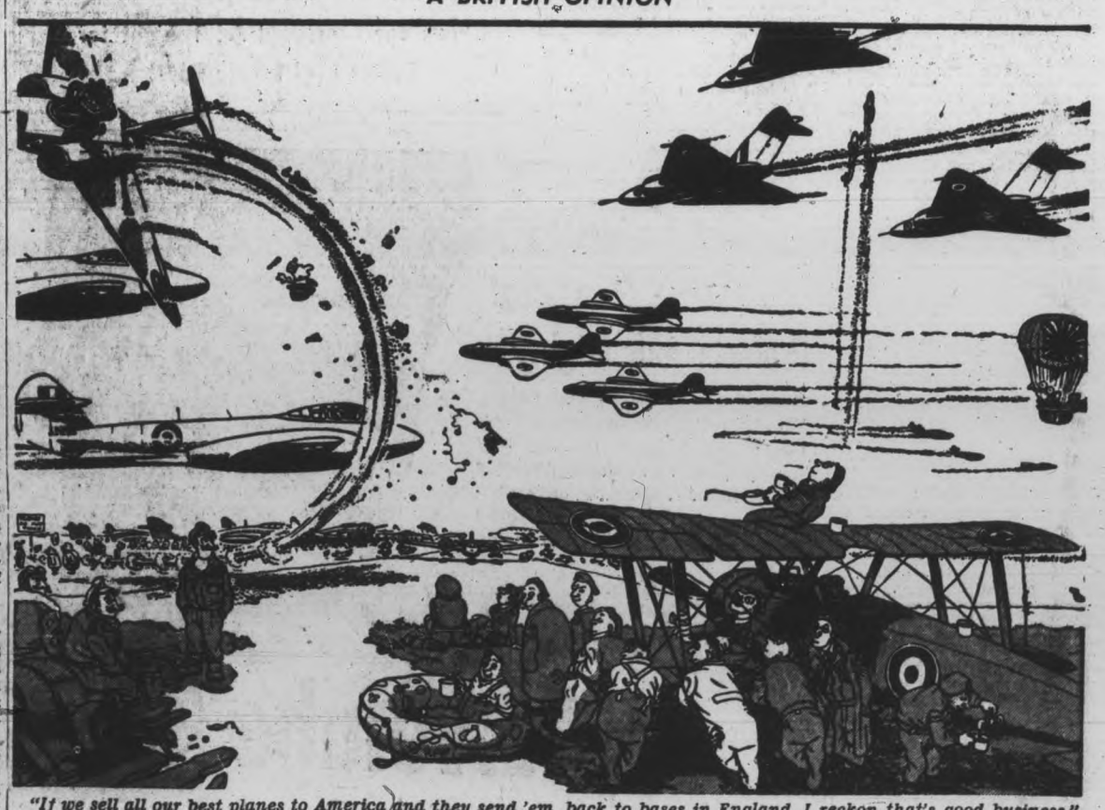
"Compliment—don't be a fool," retorted the film star. "I thought they were dead."

Suspense

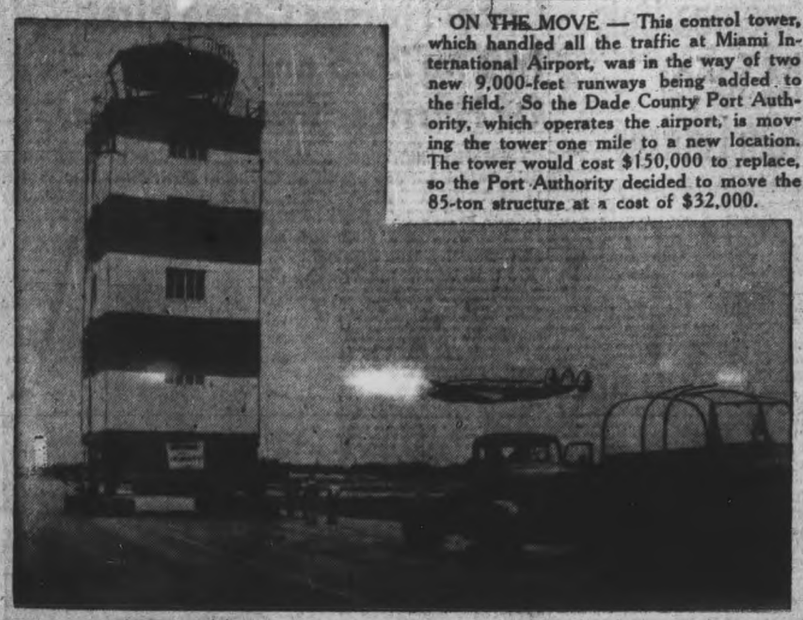
(The Windsor Star)

The Canadian Parliament has adjourned and left us in suspense about the propriety of using the word "nuts" as an answer in debate. Although a ruling was asked, no declaration was made.



During the rowing over distribution, Mr. Leslie A. Mutch, Liberal M.P. for Winnipeg South and parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Veterans Affairs, became engaged in considerable crossfire with Conservatives.

At one stage of the debate, Mr. Mutch asked if it would be unparliamentary to say "nuts" by way of reply.



Although he waited for an answer and a ruling from the chair, it never came. The drift of debate went surging on and Mr. Mutch was left to take it up with the Portage Avenue squirrels about the question of nuts.

This should never be. When Parliament is engaged in weighing the important affairs of state, the people should not be left without an answer. They should know what is parliamentary language and what is not. Or, did someone say, "Nuts!"

A BRITISH OPINION

"If we sell all our best planes to America and they send 'em back to bases in England, I reckon that's good business."

ON THE MOVE — This control tower, which handled all the traffic at Miami International Airport, was in the way of two new 9,000-feet runways being added to the field. So the Dade County Port Authority, which operates the airport, is moving the tower one mile to a new location. The tower would cost $150,000 to replace, so the Port Authority decided to move the 85-ton structure at a cost of $32,000.

Improve Resorts Take Some Risk Out Of Business

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Speaking before a large gathering on Wednesday evening, George Martin, owner of Wigwassan Lodge, Muskoka Lake, and president of the Canadian Tourists' Association, urged resort owners to accommodate tourists in the best manner possible.

The occasion was a dinner meeting of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce at Irwin Inn, Stony Lake. The president, Harold Hamb, was master of ceremonies.

"We resort owners have no 40 hour week," remarked Mr. Martin. "Operating a hotel is hard work, and it's a gamble all the way. Weather conditions, wars and strikes can be serious upsetting factors to a resort owner."

Citing ways of taking as much of the risk out of resort operation as possible, Mr. Martin suggested that owners should visit other resorts and see what is being provided for tourists. Good meals, with plenty of food and several choices, comfortable beds and scrupulous cleanliness were very essential.

Provision for recreation was important too, Mr. Martin said, and suggested that if it were not possible to have the services of a recreational supervisor, guests or members of the staff would do very well.

The clientele to which you cater is important; if it is to young people, entertainment is very important, while if it is to families, the children must be given consideration.

"In the field of advertising, folders are almost a "must" and great thought should be put into their composition" said Mr. Martin, in conclusion "Make your advertising matter truthful. Understate, rather than overstate, be a member of your local Chamber of Commerce and really work at that. It's important."

In thanking Mr. Martin, who was introduced by W. C. Grant, John Madden of Peterborough presented him with two paddles on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Reeve E. H. Northey, who was welcomed back after his recent illness, spoke briefly and Capt. J. Sloan gave a resume of the work done by various conveners during the year as follows: Retail, Wes Graham; health, Dr. R. H. Campbell; industries, W. A. Killoran; Civic Improvement, W. Sheppard; membership, W. A. Killoran and J. Jones; agriculture and tourists, Reeve E. H. Northey. A tribute was also paid to Mrs. William O'Brien, popular attendant at the Tourists' Information Bureau, by T. Lawlor of South Beach Hotel.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard, who found it necessary to resign as secretary of the organization, was commended highly for her splendid work by Mr. Hamblin, on accepting her resignation.

The following directors were elected by ballot: Donald Hendren, A. W. Stewart, Ralph Beavis, S. Henderson, Reeve Northey, T. Lawlor and A. G. Buchanan.

Following the dinner, dancing was enjoyed in the rumpus room.

CURIOUS BOY—Clad in traditional garb, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Geoffrey F. Fisher, bends over to catch James Knapp's question while Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill and his wife look on during an Episcopal Church convention reception in Boston. Souvenir Hunters Loot Mackenzie King's Estate

OTTAWA (CP)—Visitors to the Quebec estate of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King are taking his will to heart—literally. Mr. King's will left the ruins to the people—and they're taking them away.

Authorities disclosed yesterday that souvenir hunters have carted off hundreds of pounds of pieces of the stone archways and relics which the prime minister amassed and assembled around his Gatineau district home.

The estate, known as "Moorside," was dear to the heart of Mr. King, who during the years brought to Moorside such things as carved stonework formerly part of the old British Parliament at Westminster, torn down a century ago. Other items include a coat-of-arms which centuries ago was part of the British House of Lords, pillars, columns and lintels from castles in Scotland.

Thousands of sight-seers visit Moorside every week, and one authority says they carry away chunks of stone ranging from the size of a baseball to a man's head.

KEEPERS TRY STRATEGY

Strategy is being attempted by the keepers of the estate. They brought in a truck-load of rubble from Ottawa, consisting of stone similar to that in the ruins. The rubble was scattered strategically in sizes that fit easily into a man's pocket or a woman's purse.

So far, the strategy is proving successful.

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache is often caused by lazy kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. 51

More Research Urged in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—A distinguished British scientist suggested yesterday that unless there is greater concentration on research in Canada, this country may become a mere factory site for United States industrial genius.

Sir Eric Rideal, consultant to the Canadian Defence Research Board, said he would like to see Canada ensure by law that no major industrial plant is set up in this country without adequate provision for self-contained research departments.

The 62-year-old United Kingdom scientist, arriving for annual consultations with board officials, said in an interview that the danger in current Canadian expansion is that industrial plants from the U.S. may be established in this country without scientific research facilities.

This would mean that a big part of the brain work, the creation of new ideas and techniques, would be carried out elsewhere with only the "donkey work" done in Canada.

Find Indian Graves With Bones, Skulls

COLLINGWOOD (CP)—Four Indian graves containing bones and skulls were discovered in the nearby Duntroon district this week during excavation work by J. Allan Blair of Duntroon.

Mr. Blair is trying to find the site of the 300-year-old Jesuit missions of St. Jean and St. Matthias.

Egypt Refuses To Pay King's Jewelry Bill

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egyptian authorities have refused to pay a $1,400,000 jewelry bill former King Farouk ran up just before his abdication, it was reported yesterday.

Newspaper reports said Farouk owed the money to Albert Winston, a New York jeweler, for two diamond rings. The government turned down the claim because it felt it may be "just a way of smuggling the King's money out of the country," the reports said.

Buildup Against Aggression Receiving Top Priority

SCHUMACHER (CP)—The buildup of military strength against aggression commands top priority, Stanley Woodward, United States ambassador to Canada, said last night.

"When the N.A.T.O. forces are strong enough to resist attack successfully," he said, "then we can turn our attention to the long-range non-military goals of N.A.T.O."

Suggestions that the North Atlantic Treaty nations' military targets are too high were deprecated by Mr. Woodward as he opened the annual Northern Ontario Exhibition.

"In recent months," he said, "There has been some irresponsible talk of a breakdown of N.A.T.O., the chief allegation being that the military goals which were set at Lisbon last winter were too high to be reached.

"The fact is that no member nation should fall seriously short of reaching its target this year. The targets have not been revised downward. They cannot be, while the N.A.T.O. defences remain inadequate in the face of a Soviet threat which shows no sign of easing."

Mayor Charges Irregularities

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton yesterday stepped into a growing battle on the Sunday-sport issue with charges that there are irregularities in a petition being circulated.

She complained that some employers are putting pressure on their employees to sign; that husbands are putting their wives' names on the petition without permission and that unqualified persons are signing.

The petition seeks to place the issue of commercial sport on Sunday on the ballot as a plebiscite in the biennial civic elections next December.

Petitioners must amass more than 12,000 signatures by Oct. 1. About two weeks ago, the petition promoters reported they had 4,000 names.

Buckhorn W.I. Hears Max Swanston Speak

BUCKHORN. — Buckhorn Women's Institute met Tuesday evening in the Community Hall for their September meeting.

President Mrs. Mason called for reports from the various officers. It was decided to send a Sunshine box to Mrs. Elliott, an honorary member, who has been confined to bed. Arrangements were discussed for the chest clinic which is coming to Buckhorn, Oct. 1.

Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Ross were named as representatives to go to the convention in Toronto. Sandra Moore sang a solo, with Mrs. Evelyn McPhee accompanying. Mrs. R. Montgomery gave an interesting recipe on "How To Make a Home," and then introduced the guest speaker, Max Swanston of Peterborough. Mr. Swanston's subject was "Public Relations.

Appreciation was tendered by Mrs. J. Shields and lunch was served by the group in charge.

Brampton Bull Wins Western Fair Ribbon

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—"A. B. C. Relection Sovereign," owned by Rosafe Farms, Brampton, walked off with the grand champion holstein ribbon at Western Fair yesterday.

It was the bull's second consecutive win. Rosafe Farms are owned by Dr. Hector L. Astango.

Dr. Astango's bull was also all-Canadian aged bull for 1951. A serious challenger for the champion was the first prize two-year-old Grey Home Lochinvar Supreme owned jointly by Roy C. Warewick, Blenheim, and the Grey County Home, Markdale.

Frost Praises Louis St. Laurent

ORO (CP) — Premier Frost yesterday publicly praised Prime Minister St. Laurent, a Liberal.

After riding in a chain-driven 1906-model automobile to open the 100th annual fair in this Simcoe county community, Mr. Frost said the fair was a typical gathering of free people.

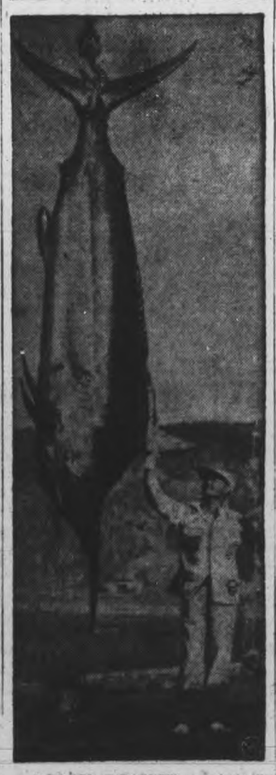
"We have on our statute books right now legislation to fight racial discrimination," he said. "And that reminds me that we have a great leader in Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, when he said a while ago that 'the key to world peace is understanding and friendship.' That is very true."

Prime Minister Greets Children

HORNEPAYNE (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent returned to Ontario yesterday from his trip to Western Canada. He spoke briefly to children who greeted him from the station platform when his train made a brief stop here and later spent 10 minutes shaking hands with them and their parents.

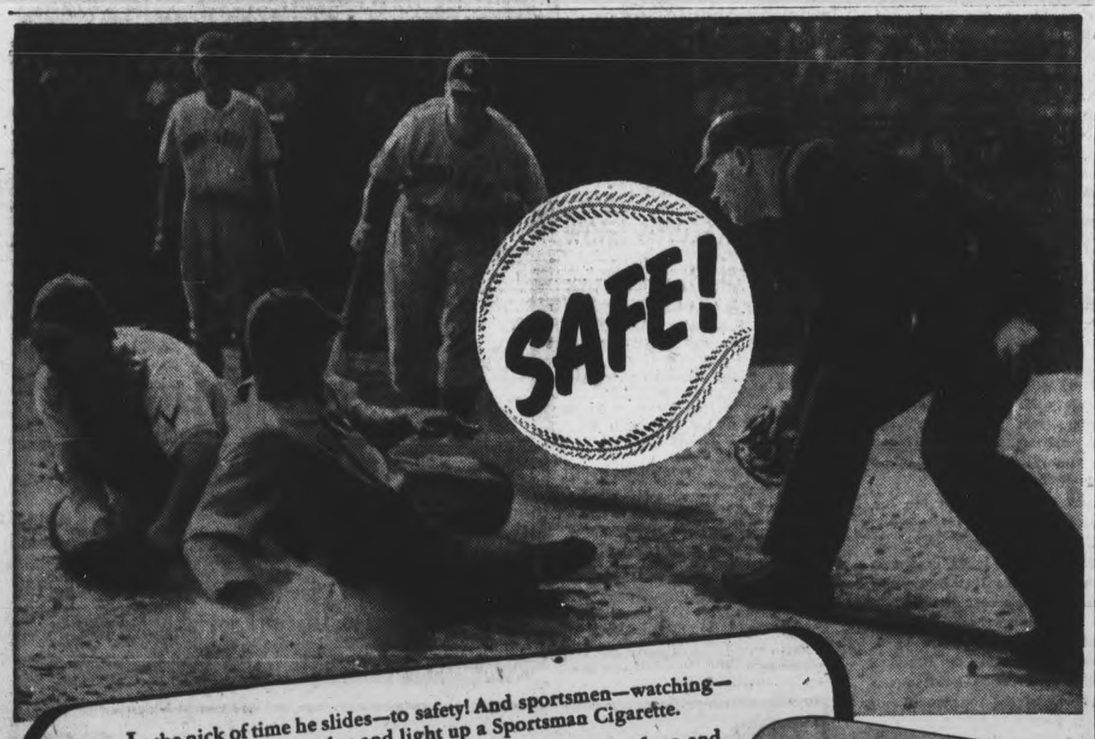
Earlier at Nakina a choir of about 100 school children sang while he circulated among the crowd at the station shaking hands.

Tonight he will speak at Hamilton and then return to Ottawa.



Suggests Graduating Liquor Tax By Age

TORONTO (CP)—A liquor tax, graduated in accordance with the age of the consumer, was proposed last night before the National Tax Association by J. B. McGeachy, associate editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail.



"The McGeachy sliding scale for spirit," or "the slippery slope to happy old age," as Mr. McGeachy named the tax principle, would recognize "the biological fact that liquor is more valuable to a stripling of 25 than to an old fogey of 70."

Committed In Slashing

TORONTO (CP)—Gerald Regan, 45, yesterday was committed for trial on a charge of attempted murder arising from the butcher-knife slashing last April of his estranged wife. Mrs. Regan, 42, mother of six, was on the danger list in hospital for several days and 117 stitches were required to close her wounds. She testified that she may lose the sight in her right eye.

Petes Even League Finals With A 6-4 Victory Over Kingston Monarchs

Rebounding quickly from the 6-2 defeat sustained in the Liftlock City the previous evening, the Petes vanquished the Monarchs by 6 to 4 last night in Megaffan Memorial Stadium and evened the Central Ontario Baseball League senior finals at a game each. Shrewd Lefty Dadson, who went the route for the invaders, struck out the high total of 14 batsmen and was the star of an upset that disappointed a crowd of 459 spectators. Dadson was so effective that the Monarchs would have been more decisively beaten if errors had taken no less than five of the runs racked up by the wildly-swinging locals.

Norman Harris, who pitched through the first eight innings, and Babe Stinson, who worked the last, were also poorly supported but the Petes did earn half their markers, all at the expense of Harry who was charged with the defeat.

JUNIORS GO GOOD

The visitors were forced to use the services of three junior players and all played well in a trying test. Don Bigford, who did the catching, hit safely once, scored a run and accepted 15 fielding chances without a slip. Gary Kearns, playing at second base, distinguished himself while Larry Foley pounded out a two-bagger in the fourth inning that drove in a pair of runners.

It was announced that catcher Al Menzies who is on the injured list will be out for the rest of the season and that pitcher Phil Clancy has been called to the United States Army colors.

The Petes opened the scoring quickly when after two had been retired in the first frame Bigford singled, advanced to seocnd on a wild pitch and tallied when Joe Lowrey tripled into deep right field. Another marker was added in the second session when Bill Huntley walked, was sacrificed by Don Pagett and dented the home plate when Dadson singled to right field.

Jack White, leading off the last half of the second session, was hit and pilfered second base. Dadson, who had struck out three batsmen in succession in the first inning, then fanned Gery McCormick, but Ed Deans singled scoring White.

Harry's wildness paved the way for the notching of two tallies in the fourth. Joe Stewart and Huntley strolled in succession and were sacrificed by Don Pagett. Larry Foley followed with a two-bagger to left field, scoring both runners.

A single by Eric Rank, an error by Pagett, a walk to White and a single by McCormick made it five in the fifth. With two out in the top of the eighth, Dadson doubled to right field and scored when Kearns singled into the same territory and Cliff Aitken erred.

In the last half, Aitken redeemed himself when he led off with a single and launched a desperation rally. Lorne Ferguson, who went hitless in five atempts, reached first base and Aitken sped to third on an error by young Kearns. White scored both with a long two-bagger to right field. McCormick grounded out, while racing to third, but Deans was retired by Pagett and Bradley struck out.

In the light hitting game Dadson and Rank were the lone operators to collect a pair of safeties. The Monarchs lacked punch in the pinches and left the high total of 13 runners stranded. The third contest will be staged in Peterborough tonight.

Leafs Get Lumley Trade 4 Players

TORONTO (CP) — Ever since weight and age began to catch up with Turk Broda, Toronto hockey fans have been boosting Harry Lumley as his successor in the Toronto Maple Leaf goal.

Yesterday they got what they wanted. Conn Smythe dealt four players to Chicago Black Hawks for the apple-cheeked native of Owen Sound who starred repeatedly against the Leafs in Toronto with the Hawks and his former club, Detroit Red Wings.

To get the 26-year-old netminder whose playing weight is 200 to 205 pounds, Smythe gave up defenceman Gus Mortson, centre Cal Gardner, goalie Al Rollins and forward Ray Hannigan who spent last season with Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto's American Hockey League farm club.

LUMLEY APPROVES

At Pembroke, where the Black Hawks are in training for the National Hockey League season, Lumley was enthusiastic.

"I guess it's nearly every player's ambition to be with Toronto," he said. "From the time you're a kid just learning, you keep hearing about the Leafs."

Lumley heard about the deal five hours after it was announced at Chicago when he got a phone call from coach Joe Primeau of the Leafs instructing him to report to the Toronto training camp at St. Catharines next week-end.

Gardner, who came to the Leafs in the 1948-49 season in a deal with New York Rangers, said: "That's not bad. I'm not worrying. It's for the best. Perhaps another style of hockey will help. I was lousy sometimes under the system here."

MORTSON COOL

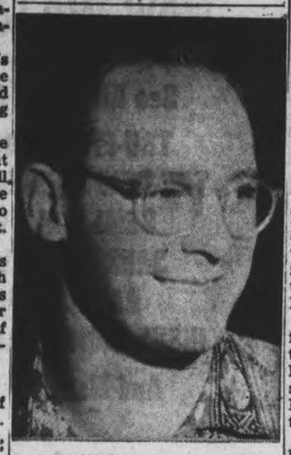
Mortson, who has been a Leaf ever since he broke into the N.H.L. in 1946, said: "Four-for-one trade, eh? Guess I can't be very good."

Rollins, first signed as a pro by the Black Hawks, and Hannigan could not be reached for comment.

The deal maintained the Black Hawks' reputation of being hockey's freest traders.

They started a string of four major swaps or purchases in 1947 when they dealt Max Bentley to the Leafs for five players—defencemen Ernie Dickens and Bob Goldham and forwards Gus Bodnar, Gaye Stewart and Bud Poile.

In 1950 they gave Stewart, Goldham, goalie Jim Henry and centre Metro Prystai to Detroit Red Wings for Lumley, defenceman Jack Stewart and Al Dewsbury and forwards Pete Babando and Don Morrison.



A year ago they paid the Red Wings $750,000 for six players: forwards Jim Peters, Jim McFadden, George Gee and Max McNab and defencemen Clare Martin and Clare Raglan.

From Chicago, Smythe said last night "you have to give something to get something."

DEAL EXPECTED

The deal came as no surprise. The gossip of Lumley as a Leaf started when Smythe bought Rollins from Cleveland Barons of the A.H.L. in 1949. It has gained momentum since. Nearly a month ago Smythe said three or four Toronto players were on the trading block because of weak performances last season.

"I never met anyone around Toronto who didn't want to see Lumley in the Leaf nets," said Smythe. "So I'll be popular until the opening game of the season at least. We open at home Oct. 11 against Chicago."

NEW PITCHER—Tony Kotowski, football coach of the local Orfuns, has been taken on by the Petes' ball club as a pitching replacement for Phil Clancy, now back in the States. The husky American ballster and gridder, will pitch for the Peterborough crew tonight here in their C.O.B.L. playoff with Kingston.

SWELL SHOW — Lefty Bill Dadson turned in a swell slab showing for the Petes in Kingston last night, striking out 14 as he and his mates trimmed the Monarchs 6-4 to square the C.O.B.L. finals at a win each.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Frank Tunney, who promotes professional wrestling in and out of Toronto, has given no indication yet that his moneyed matmen will again include Peterborough on the winter circuit. Usually, they commence early in October and show here regularly till late spring. Probably, we will be hearing soon of their plans. It could be that they find enough other lucrative spots without hitting Peterborough, though this is a handy stop between Toronto and eastern points like Ottawa and Montreal. The merry matadors do get around. Guys like Whip Watson, Brazil, Flanagan, Lee, the Sharpes, etc., appear in Toronto or here one week and maybe in St. Louis a week later. The mat game has quite a few local and district followers.

Manager Max Jackson of the Kingston junior "B" pucksists is becoming impatient. Told us the other eve that it was high time a group meeting was held to see what's what. Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough Oddfellows, and Lindsay are all sure starters again, but Max would like two more. Probably Oshawa and a combined club of Cobourg and Port Hope. Or so we gathered. Lindsay will get some help from Eddie Shore, the IOOF-ers get some from Bruins, Belleville is under the Hawks' wing, but Kingston go on their own this year. Max says they'll be real toughies to take when O.H.A. play open up later this autumn. Nothing known yet on other clubs in the group.

* * * * * *

Strong Club, Swell Arena

Speaking of the Limestone City, the senior "B" entry there—known as Kingston Goodyears—will be potent, since all those suspended Nylons are now available to bolster last year's team. The club is buying two expensive sets of uniforms for each player to go with that fine arena there. The arena cost some $800,000 and seats 3,500. Canadian and Ontario governments each kicked in $150,000, the city another $150,000, and the rest was raised by public subscriptions. A beautiful edifice in use last season. One wonders dejectedly why Peterborough can't do something along the same lines. Ah, that forgotten Memorial Centre . . .

* * * * * *

D. A. McGillis of the senior "B" Eagles advised us last night that rumors of the Eagles withdrawing from O.H.A. play were a bit premature—he hasn't yet decided on applying for re-entry of the club. The Eagles have forwarded $75 to Kingston to cover expenses incurred last spring in the game there which was not played, owing to controversy over Goalie Sonny MacDonald of the Maritimes, brought in suddenly by the K's in playoffs. Secretary Horace Guppy of the Eagles has applied to the O.H.A. for re-instatement of club officials, and this application will be dealt with at the next O.H.A. meeting, probably within two weeks. Eagles may send a representative to the Oshawa huddle Sunday to see what's what, or they may drop out for the coming puck season. They were still discussing it today.

Petes Square the Series

C.O.B.L. best-of-seven finals are square at a game each, following the Petes' nice 6-4 triumph over the Monarchs last night in the Limestone City. Third fray is here tonight at 8.30 in Riverside, and the Stewart squad expect to take the lead—the fourth tilt being Saturday in Kingston. Tony Kotowski, husky young grid coach of the Orfuns (a fellow with U.S. college twirling experience) will pitch for the Petes tonight, as a replacement for Phil Clancy, who returned to the States for military service. Two more juniors saw service last p.m. for the locals, Gary Kearns and Larry Foley, both going fine. Don Bigford caught a steady game. Whole club played well behind smart southpaw hurling by Lefty Bill Dadson. The Petes are still in the thick of it, and rate plenty of fan support.

Harness horse races tomorrow aft and eve at the Ex. wind up the annual meet of the pacers and trotters here, and many district folk wish there had been afternoon racing during the three days. A right hefty crowd in the grandstand viewed some keen finishes last p.m. with two local horses showing their heels to the rest of the field in the 2.25 and 2.18 events. Doc Art Johnston's classy Lady Victoria, driven by Jimmy McIntyre, won both heats of the first race. Gadabout, owned by Sheldon & Blewett, took both ends of the 2.18 with Hugh Davis holding the reins. Times were quite good in three of the four heats run off.

Omemee Gets The Series From Lindsay

OMEMEE (ENS).—With a final score of 5-3 Omemee Whitmore-Weir Combines rubbed out Lindsay Combines to end the best-of-seven series and take the Lindsay Softball League championship last night.

In the series, which was played in Lindsay, Omemee won the first 5-1, Lindsay took the second 3-2, Omemee the third 13-4 and the fourth 9-8, the fifth was a 4-all tie, and the sixth, last night, gave the O's the softball crown for '52.

Parsons started on the mound for Omemee and pitched good ball for six innings, striking out five and allowing five scattered hits. Three runs were scored against him, two of them on errors. Reg. Gordon relieved him in the seventh, allowing but a hit in two innings, and holding them scoreless.

NEAT PITCHING

For Lindsay, Kean hurled nice ball the first six innings, striking out three, walking one and allowing four hits. Three runs were scored, two on home runs and the third on a combination of two errors. Eakins took over the mound for the seventh with the score tied at 3-all. Reg. Gordon walloped a double and Roy Craig followed with a two-bagger to bring him in. Craig scored the fifth and final run of the game on Glen Dracup's single.

Lindsay threatened in the top of the eighth with men on first and third but Gerry Bryans ran back to pick off Bill Cummins' bid for a homer, Bill Mitchell made a sensational running catch behind first, and Gordon struck out McDougall to end the game which was called for darkness in the middle of the eighth.

Craig led the Omemee crew at bat with a single and a double in three trips to the plate. One safety each was notched by Dracup, G. Bryans, Roy Crawford, Hickson and Gordon. For Lindsay Deyell hit three for four and Engeland, Cummins and Richards each chalked up one.

Lineups:

Omemee Combines: Dracup 3b, G. Bryans cf, Mitchell 2b, R. Crawford ss, T. Parsons p, K. Bryans 1b, Hickson rf, Gordon lf, Craig c.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The Review trophy tournament got away to a good start, and on time, Thursday evening. It was a grand night for bowling. The games will continue on Monday night. All will be playing either in the primary or consolation event. The draw is being made today and will be posted on the notice board.

Tonight we have the final game for the club championship between R. F. Downey and A. Black. It should be a good game and no doubt a big crowd will be on hand. Also tonight there is a men's rink tournament, draw off the board at 7.30 o'clock.

Local Horses Come First In The 2.25 and 2.18 Of Harness Races At Fair

Peterborough horses dominated the two harness races held before a huge crowd at the local Exhibition last night. Lady Victoria, owned by Dr. Art Johnston, and driven by Jimmy McIntyre, took two firsts in the 2.25 class, leading a field of five home in the fine time of 2.13 1-5 in the first heat, and crossing the wire in the slow time of 2.18 in the second. Gadabout, owned by Graydon Sheldon and Stan Blewett and driven by Hugh Davis, won both heats of the 2.18 pace in speedy times of 2.12½ and 2.11 1-5

AN ACCIDENT

The draggy time of 2.18 in the second heat of the 2.25 event was caused by a slight accident at the top turn before coming into the stretch. Cheer Hanover "broke" to throw Penny Patch off a stride and Lady Victoria couldn't swerve in time, with the result that a wheel on the bike of Penny Patch, driven by R. A. Lawson of Midland, was broken, though his horse managed to finish fourth. Mr. Lawson complained of the accident, figuring he would have finished second, but he was pacified when D. A. McGillis, helping out in the judges' stand, generously gave him the money to repair the bike.

Judges for the night were Andy Price, William McQuigge and Gerald Dunsford. Timers were Mert Storey and Bruce Eakins, with Dave Fleming course clerk. Archie Mellon of Caledonia was announcer, and T. A. MacDonald of Hamilton the starter with the gate. Charles Quinlan is chairman of the race committee. Results:

Seabrooke's Willing To Play Challenge Tilt

A challenge by the Parish League to Seabrooke softballers for a game next Tuesday night in the Bowl has been accepted by playing manager George (Red) Sullivan of the city champions. He agreed to play it if the game was arranged for early in the week, as Red has to soon join the Boston Bruins for training and also his club meets Oshawa next week in O.A.S.A. senior "B" playdowns.

Officials at a meeting of St. Peter's Athletic Club felt that with such starry veterans available in the Parish Loop as Ken Guilfoyle, Father Ray Garvey and others, the circuit could make a real showing against Seabrooke's. They lined up the game to help raise finances for football equipment.

COACH AT S.P.S. — John Lynch is again in charge of the coaching of St. Peter's High senior and junior football teams this fall. The squads are drilling nightly and have a lot more players out so far trying for spots than in other years. The coach is an ace O.R.F.U. player himself.

Red Wings Cool Chiefs 8-2, Take 3-0 Lead

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings are on the threshold of entering the final round of the International League's Shaughnessy playoffs.

Manager Harry Walker's hard-hitting crew trounced Syracuse Chiefs 8-2 last night to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. Montreal Royals and Toronto Maple Leafs, engaged in the other semi-final series, were idle. Royals lead the Leafs 2-0.

Right-hander Al Papai, recalled from Houston of the Texas League on the last day of the season, has been selected to pitch for the Wings tonight against Syracuse's Bobo Holloman, a 16-game winner. Holloman was beaten by Rochester in the series opener.

Preacher Jack Faszholz coasted to victory as the Wings supported his eight-hit pitching with an 11-hit attack that included home runs by Harry Walker, Ray Jablonski and Steve Bilko. The Wings broke the game wide open in the fourth when they landed on Arnie Landeck for five runs and a 7-1 lead.

Indians Closing On Yanks Garcia Blanks Philadelphia In 1-0 Tilt

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's pennant drive and the Mike Garcia boom for most-valuable player in the American League are swinging along hand in hand. With "the bear" boasting a string of 28 consecutive scoreless innings, the onrushing Indians have crept to within one-half game of New York Yankees. Cleveland's eighth straight win last night was a 1-0 job by Garcia, who allowed only two Philadelphia singles. It was his seventh shutout. Six weeks ago Bobby Shantz of Philadelphia Athletics seemed to have a look on the American League m.v.p. award. He still is the favorite but Garcia is lining up strong support.

While little Bobby has failed in five tries in a row for his 23rd win, Garcia has produced four straight wins to make the 20-game grade.

GARCIA MAY START

Heading into the showdown one-game series Sunday with the Yanks, Garcia looms as the likely Cleveland starter. The Indians now have 13 games to play, the Yankees 14.

The Yanks aren't the only leaders looking over their shoulders. Brooklyn is at it again with New York Giants closing in.

When Brooklyn lost 11-7 to Chicago yesterday and the Giants nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, the Dodger lead dwindled to 3½ games. The Brooks have 15 to play, the Giants 16.

A year ago the Giants were six games back on the morning of Sept. 12.

EARLY LEAD WINS

Chicago, taking two of four from Brooklyn, piled up an early 9-0 lead and that was more than enough to offset a grand-slam homer by Andy Pafko and an eighth-inning rally that chased winner Bob Rush Once again it was a story of inadequate pitching for the Dodgers, with Billy Loes and Ben Wade taking their bumps in a seven-run fourth inning.

Seven errors were committed in the sloppy game that saw 22 hits including Hank Sauer's 37th homer, Roy Smalley's fifth and Pafko's 17th. All Dodger runs were unearned.

Al Dark and Sal Yvars hit homers for the Giants and Bob Elliott delivered two with a pinch single but they needed an error by catcher Joe Garagiola to get the winning run in the seventh.

Hoyt Wilhelm turned in another splendid relief job in his 62nd game to save Sal Maglie's 16th win. He allowed only one hit—a homer by Sonny Senerchia—in 2 2-3 innings. Maglie was nicked for Ralph Kiner's 34th home run.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies wrapped up his 24th, tops in the majors, by beating St. Louis Cards 3-2. The Phils chased Cliff Chambers with a three-run blast in the first inning, two coming on Del Del Ennis' single with the bases full. Roberts scattered nine hits.

HOMER HELPS GARCIA

Garcia's two-hit job for Cleveland needed a home run by Bobby Avila to nail down a win Avila hit his homer off Harry Byrd in the fourth inning.

Washington took a fall out of third-place Chicago, 4-1, on Jackie Jensen's double, Jim Busby's triple a walk and an error by Rocky Krsnich. Walt Masterson went all the way to beat Joe Dobson.

Walt Dropo smashed two towerin homers and Jim Delsing came through with a game-winning pinch single for Detroit's 5-4 edge over Boston Red Sox. Dave Madison pitched to only one batter in relief to get credit for the victory.

The Yankees and St. Louis were idle, as were Boston and Cincinnati in the National.

Cattle Prices Show Drop Late In Week

TORONTO (CP).—Cattle prices opened steady this week at the Ontario stockyards but closed 50 cents to $1 lower on steers and heifers and easier on other grades. Calves, hogs, sheep and lambs remained unchanged.

Receipts for the week were at 8,497 head with 1,200 unsold at the close. Choice weighty steers closed at $25-$26 with good steers at $24-$25. Good heifers were at $23-$24 and common light steers and heifers downward to $15. Good cows brought $16-$17 with common downward to $14 and canners as low as $10. Good bulls sold at $16-$17 with common light bulls downward to $12. Choice fed yearlings were at $26.50-$28 with a few at $29. Medium to good stockers made $19-$25.50 with common downward to $16.

Calf receipts totalled 1,972. Good to choice vealers closed at $26-$28 with common to medium at $14-$24. A few good stock calves sold at $26.50 and grassers as low as $10.

Hog receipts were at 3,224. Prices were unchanged at $26 for grade A with sows $16 dressed.

Sheep and lamb receipts totalled 2,391. Good ewes and wethers brought $25 with bucks at $24. Medium to good sheep sold at $13-$16 with common downward to $5.

FAMILY REUNION—After being held four years by Communist guerillas these shy young Greek girls finally are reunited in Canada with their family. Kalia (left), 9, and Eleni Halkias, 12, embrace their brother Pendel, 7, who with his parents met the girls when they arrived in Toronto. The girls were among 23,000 Greek children carried off by guerillas in 1948 and taken to Yugoslavia. Others went to Poland or Russia.

Synod Takes Strong Stand On Aid To Poor Countries

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada has taken a clear-cut stand on the question of assistance to poverty-stricken countries.

After several speakers urged that any Canadian assistance should be on the basis of Christian brotherhood and not expediency, the synod said yesterday a "much greater measure of economic relief for the needy multitudes of Asia and elsewhere" is an urgent necessity.

Dr. J. C. Flanagan of Montreal, a layman, was cheered by the 300 delegates when he suggested that 10 per cent of the federal budget surplus be spent on peoples more needy than Canadians.

Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of All Canada, discussing another motion, said that getting candidates for the ministry is the biggest problem of the church. The synod endorsed the principle of a theological education Sunday throughout the country, on which the claims of the ministry and the work of theological colleges would be put before the laity.

WOULD LEGALIZE DRUGS

Most Rev. H. E. Sexton, Archbishop of British Columbia, told reporters the use of narcotics should be made legal as part of the struggle to curb the drug traffic. Then addicts could be treated with a view to a humane cure in official clinics.

The synod reached at least an interim decision on a thorny problem when it decided to provide "adequate episcopal assistance" to relieve the primate of overly-onerous duties.

It has been conceded by all bodies in the church that to be responsible for the primacy and a diocese as well is too heavy a task for one man.

While voting the primate assistance, the synod left open the question of a separate primatial see, which had been strongly pressed among clergy and laity.

A resolution merely said the "designation of a primatial see. . . may ultimately serve the interests of the whole church."

Blame Fire On Fireworks

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Fireworks from Western Fair were blamed for a fire which caused about $1,000 damage to a house last night The owner, Willsey Black, said he and other neighbors had complained about fireworks causing minor fires in the neighborhood, "but nothing was done about it."

Sentenced In Shooting

OTTAWA (CP)—Reginald Brown, 17, who fired three rifle shots at his father last June 9, was given suspended sentence yesterday. The father, Clarence Brown, was not hit by any of the bullets, shot during a family quarrel. The boy was ordered to live with an uncle for two years and stay away from his father.

Reserve senior—Earl Rosborough on Hyland Rosie.

Grand champion—W. C. Mann on Garmandale Dandy.

Junior champion—W. C. Mann on Garmandale Dandy 6E, which was also reserve grand.

Reserve junior—W. C. Mann on the senior heifer calf Barbary Lane Dilly.

W. C. Mann has restored the family name to prominence in the breeding of Ayrshires, following in the footsteps and preference of his father, W. Gordon Mann, who distributed a fine herd some years ago.

Frank Harry made up his points, not at the top, but across the board in the day's competitions.

With James Goldie, chairman of the dinner, at the head table were: Murray McRae and Ed Starr, of Toronto, two of the department representatives who assisted in the judging; G. A. Gillespie; Gordon Bennett, assistant director of extension work of the Ontario Department of Agriculture; Frank C. Paterson; Miss Florence P. Eadie of the Women's Institute branch; Keith McIntyre, president of Peterborough Junior Farmers; Miss Jean Noble, of Bowmanville, home economist of the department in the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria; Graham Eastwood, Jack Mervin, Fred Innis, plant superintendent, and Gordon Marshall, of C.P.C.

As deputy for Lionel Brown, general manager of the company, who was unable to be present, Mr. Eastwood said: "We hope that these 25 years of such pleasant assemblies as this may be stretched on maybe to 50. Canada Packers feel very warmly toward these affairs of the Junior Farmers. You are our future. The packing house industry is only part of the food industry. If you did not do a good job and prepared yourselves to stay in this industry, eventually we would have nothing to do. That may sound selfish, but I assure you that it is not the reason why we are here together. We enjoy having you with us and we are glad to sponsor this event for Junior Farmers, and to have had this long association of 25 years. On behalf of Mr. Brown, I thank you very much for your attendance."

The guests at the head table were introduced by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

REVIVED

Mr. Gillespie, secretary-manager of the Exhibition, recalled briefly the directors' problem of reviving it after it had been vacated by the military authorities. The grounds had to be restored and equipment replaced.

"During these five years as manager, I can say that the board has succeeded with the assistance of the provincial and federal governments, the county and city councils, and also by the practical interest of Canada Packers. I am glad to be here with all these young people because I have seen our own Junior Farmers grow up to take their place as directors on our board. There are future directors here before us."

Her birthday yesterday, Miss Ruth McCubbin, of Warkworth, received a special cake because that anniversary of hers coincided with the 25th annual dinner.

Shirley Hargreaves, of Camborne, Northumberland, and Arthur Hutchinson, of Lakehurst, Peterborough, were presented with baskets of Canada Packers products by Mr. Innis. Gordon Marshall had a present to be delivered to A. O. Dalrymple, of Stirling, agricultural representative in Hastings, whose marriage took place last Saturday. There were various gifts for all the guests.

Senior boys in the top brackets were, livestock judging: 1 Douglas Harry and Ray Stickle tied; 3 Orville Hindman, Hampton; 4 David Craig, Bowmanville; 5 Wm. Curle, Campbellford; 6 Alfred Gooding, Hilton; 7 R. J. Moore, Smith; 8 Bob Snedden, Little Britain, and Ronald Oliver, Peterborough, RR 4, tied.

Identification contest: 1 Douglas Harry; 2 Gerald Eggleton, Belleville RR 6; and Ray Stickle, Trenton, tied; 4 A. Gooding, W. Curle and R. Snedden, tied; 1 Earle Nelson, Campbellford and Mel Moore, Springbrook, tied; 9 Ronald Oliver and Arthur Dawson, Peterborough, tied.

Agricultural Quiz: 1 Douglas Harry; 2 Richard Van Camp, Nestleton; Roy Stickle, Trenton and William Curle, tied; 5 David Craig, Bowmanville; 6 Earle Nelson, Campbellford.

Tractor defects test: 1 A. Gooding and Russell Boyce, Peterborough, tied; 3 Ronald Oliver and Neil Fowler, Peterborough, tied; 5 Bob Snedden; 6 James P. Moore and Arthur Dawson, Peterborough, tied.

Junior section: livestock judging: 1 Herb Sullivan, Peterborough, RR 6; 2 Grant Elmhirst, Indian River, 3 John Waterman, North Monaghan and Percy Robertson, Dunsford, tied; 5 Donald Sherwin, Orono; 6 Hugh Baird, Blackwater.

Identification contest: 1 Bill Mark, Valentia; 2 Ray McHolm. Port Hope, Robert Bush, Glen Miller and Frank Harry, Trenton, tied; 5 Archie Davidson, Keene; 6 Gerald Harry, Trenton, Ronald Barnum, Campbellcroft and Jack Dorland of Hilton, tied; 9 Glen Corneil, Omemee, Doug Hubble, Peterborough; John Waterman and Jim Dorland, Hilton, tied.

Agricultural Quiz: 1 Glen Corneil, 2 Fred Caning, Woodville, and Archie Davidson, Keene, tied; 4 John Symmons, Trenton, and Arnold Cornelius, Cobourg, tied; there were ten tied for sixth place, including: Donald Radden, Lakefield; Dorothy Cambers, Otonabee; Donald Irwin, Peterborough RR2; Neil Whitfield, Fraserville, Don Boyce, Smith.

In the junior tractor defects test: 1 Hugh Baird, Archie Davidson, Miss Gaye Hancock, Smith, and Laverne Morton, Cavan, tied; 5 Neil Whitfield; 6 David Linton, Little Britain.

Holstein Breeders Provide Interesting Show For Crowd

The Holstein breeders of the district provided an interesting show for a larger gallery than usual in the judging of the dairy classes of cattle at the Exhibition Thursday.

They were: James T. Brown, J. Earl Brown and J. H. Jose & Sons of Newcastle, Roy Ormiston of Brooklin, Ontario County, Robert Flett of Oshawa, R.R. 2, also of Ontario County; and from Peterborough: James Bishop, Earl Doris, N. W. McConkey, Stewart Nelson, and Paul McKinlay of Cobourg.

Several breeders scratched their entries, leaving a total of 83 head appearing in the ring, with Ray Wilson of Kenmore as judge.

Norman W. McConkey was awarded the honor of Premier Breeder with a substantial share of the prize money including the major championships in the female section.

CHAMPION BULL

Central Durham Bull Club took the bull championships on Glenafton Futurity and the younger Pabst Walker Ollie. The distribution of top prizes was fairly even at least among more than half the exhibitors.

The day's Holstein results were:

Junior bull calf—1 James T. Brown, Newcastle; 2 N. W. McConkey; 3 J. H. Jose & Sons, Newcastle.

Senior bull calf—1 Earl Doris; 2 N. W. McConkey; 3 and 5 J. T. Brown; 4 and 6 James Bishop.

Bull one year—1 Central Durham Bull Club; 2 F. Roy, Ormiston and Mark Hancock; 3 Stewart Nelson.

Bull 2 years and over—1 Central Durham Bull Club's Glenafton Futurity.

Cow 4 years or over, dry—1 and 2 N. W. McConkey; 3 Roy Ormiston; 4 and 6 Robert Flett; 5 J. T. Brown.

Cow 4 years or over, wet—1, 2 and 3 N. W. McConkey; 4 and 5 James T. Brown.

Heifer 3 years, dry—1 Roy Ormiston; 2 N. McConkey; 3 and 5 J. Brown; 4 J. H. Jose & Sons.

Heifer 3 years, wet—1 and 4 McConkey; 2 J. H. Jose & Sons; 3 Ormiston; 5 S. Nelson.

Heifer 2 years, dry—1 Ormiston; 2 Brown; 3 Flett; 4 McConkey; 5 Jose.

Heifer 2 years, wet—1 and 4 J. T. Brown; 2 and 5 N. W. McConkey; 3 J. H. Jose & Sons.

Best uddered female—1 McConkey; 2 and 3 McConkey; 4 Flett; 5 Brown.

Heifer senior yearling—1 and 2 Roy Ormiston; 3 N. W. McConkey; 4 S. Nelson; 5 T. R. Flett.

Heifer junior yearling—1 Roy Ormiston; 2 Earl Doris; 3 N. W. McConkey; 4 Paul McKinlay; 5 T. R. Flett.

Heifer senior calf—1 J. Earle Brown Newcastle; 2 N. McConkey; 3 Earl Doris; 4 McConkey; 5 Jose.

Heifer junior calf—1 and 2 J. H. Jose & Sons; 3 Earl Doris; 4 N. McConkey; 5 James T. Brown.

Junior get of sire—1 J. H. Jose & Sons; 2 James T. Brown; 3 R. Flett; 4 James Bishop; 5 Stewart Nelson.

Junior herd—1 Roy Ormiston; 2 J. T. Brown; 3 J. H. Jose; 4 Earl Doris; 5 N. W. McConkey.

Graded herd—1 N. W. McConkey; 2 Roy Ormiston; 3 J. H. Jose & Sons; 4 James T. Brown; 5 R. Flett.

Senior get of sire—1 James T. Brown on Glenafton R. A. Reliance; 2 N. W. McConkey on Montvic Sylvius Supreme.

Progeny of dam—1 Roy Ormiston; 2 R. Flett; 3 N. W. McConkey; 4 James Bishop.

(The Ormiston dam was Mary Hartog Pabst Netherland.)

LIST OF CHAMPIONS

Senior and grand champion bull—Central Durham Bull Club on Glenafton Futurity.

Reserve senior champion— Central Durham Bull Club, on Pabst Walker Ollie. (no senior reserve champion.)

Junior champion—Central Durham Bull Club, on Pabst Walker Ollie.

Reserve junior champion—Roy Ormiston and Mark Hancock, on Ormsdale Commander.

Female section:

Senior and grand champion—N. W. McConkey, on Em-Cee-Gee R. A. Francy Alert.

Reserve senior and reserve grand—N. W. McConkey, on Nellie Duchess Cruiser.

Junior champion—Roy Ormiston, on his junior yearling heifer Mayclift Reflection Snowflake.

Reserve junior—J. Earl Brown, on Edgehill Sovereign Mildred.

Premier breeder—Norman W. McConkey.

JUDGING OF GUERNSEYS

Only two herds of Guernsey cattle competed for the prize money in that dairy breed. Norman McConkey with a comparatively new Lifloc group of the golden cattle challenged Mrs. (Dr.) R. S. Robertson, whose farm is north of Cobourg. Both herds have McDonald Farm offspring.

Mr. McConkey dominated the male section and Mrs. Robertson the female classes.

Results were:

Bull 2 years and over—1 N. W. McConkey on McDonald Farm Le Phelan.

Senior bull calf—1 N. W. McConkey, on Lifloc Le Phelan Danny.

Junior bull calf—1 Mrs. R. S. Robertson Cobourg, on Rennwood Neptunes Kilmar; and also 2nd.

Cow 4 years or over in milk—1 and 2 Mrs. Robertson; 3 and 4 N. W. McConkey.

Cow 4 years or over, dry— Mrs. Robertson; 3 and 5 N. W. McConkey.

Cow 3 years, dry—1 Mrs. Robertson.

Cow 3 years, in milk—1 Mrs. Robertson; 2 and 3 N. W. McConkey.

Cow 2 years, dry—1 N. McConkey; 2 Mrs. Robertson.

Heifer senior yearling — 1 and 2 Mrs. Robertson; 3 N. McConkey.

Heifer junior yearling—1 N. McConkey.

Senior heifer calf—1, 2 and 4 Mrs. Robertson; 3 and 5 N. W. McConkey.

Junior heifer calf—1 and 2 Mrs. Robertson.

Graded herd—1 and 3 Mrs. Robertson; 2 N. McConkey.

Junior herd—1 and 3 Mrs. Robertson; 2 N. McConkey.

Progeny of dam—1 Mrs. Robertson; 2 N. McConkey.

Junior get of sire—1 N. McConkey; 2 and 3 Mrs. Robertson.

Best uddered female—1 Mrs. Robertson; 2 and 3 N. McConkey.

Championships:

Senior champion bull—N. W. McConkey on McDonald Farm Le Phelan.

Junior champion bull—N. W. McConkey on Lifloc Le Phelan Danny.

Reserve junior champion bull—Mrs. Robertson on Rennwood Neptunes Kilmar.

Grand champion bull—N. W. McConkey on Le Phelan.

Reserve grand champion—N. W. McConkey on Le Phelan Danny.

Females championships:

Mrs. Robertson picked up all the ribbons in this titular distribution.

Grand and senior went to Rennwood Angela.

Junior and reserve grand on Rennwood Challenger Patience.

Reserve junior—Rennwood Myra II. winner of the senior yearling heifer class.

Reserve senior—Erie Ridge Violet, second in the mature cow class, in milk.

Premier breeder—Mrs. Robertson.

Judge—James M. Brown of Almonte.

Canadian Educationist Sets Up School System In Lebanon

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Robert Westwater, chief inspector of Ottawa's public schools for the last three years, this fall takes up a new job—helping to educate some 400,000 displaced Arab children

The 60-year-old Scottish-born educationist has been named by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization to set up a school system in Lebanon and Syria. He and his wife will make their headquarters at Beirut.

His work will be a major part in the U. N. campaign to provide vocational and adult education for the hundreds of thousands of Arabs who moved from Palestine into the surrounding Arab states when the new state of Israel was formed.

Dr. Westwater becomes third in a line of Ottawa men to head educational organization in foreign countries. He succeeds Dr. John Robbins, director of the education division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, who returned recently from Beirut after six months' work. Frank G. Patten, business administrator of the city's Collegiate Institute board, organized schools in Ethiopia as Emperor Haile Selassie's personal adviser.

Dr. Westwater began teaching in Ottawa public schools in 1920.-

LIKE THE "EX" SHOW

Opinions of the grandstand show at the "Ex" heard this morning were all complimentary. The quality of entertainment, the music and the humor pleased everybody, with no lifting of eyebrows.

JUNIOR SOLOIST

Walter Dawson, of Otonabee, pleased the large company of Central Ontario junior farmers at the Canada Packers dinner with two vocal solos last night. He was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Charles Allen.

TV LOOK

The new look has come to the Peterborough Exhibition this year. A half dozen television aerials in various shapes and sizes protrude from the roof of the manufacturer's building, giving the building a somewhat 'futuristic' appearance.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT X-RAY

All persons becoming civic employees from now on will be X-rayed, James Heffernan, president of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, has been informed that the city will take advantage of the pre-employment X-ray plan sponsored by the association.

A RODEO STUNT

A young Aberdeen-Angus bull that objected strenuously to the cool bath he was getting at the "Ex" on Thursday, grooming him for the show ring, put on a rodeo act that took him out into that area. The young farmer who started to hose the black Angus demonstrated how to hold him in check. One city fellow watching the show said he discreetly moved into the adjoining barn, and noted a lofty stack of baled hay.

HIS COAT MISSING

J. D. Lanthier of Gormley, judge of Ayrshire cattle, Thursday left for home at 5.30 p.m. minus his coat. For safekeeping, one of the directors suggested to him that he put the coat "in that car," thinking it was Lorne Reynolds. Instead, it only looked like it. So, when it came time to go home, Mr. Lanthier, and the directors couldn't find the car, with the coat. He is manager of Leitchcroft Farms.

Sewage Plant Fertilizer Not Sweet Smelling In Fact Say Residents, Lindsay Stinks

LINDSAY — Lindsay is holding its nose.

Residents have the embarrassed feeling of someone who thought he was buying a deodorized skunk for a pet and learned too late the skunk still had all his faculties.

In short, Lindsay stinks.

The town has found a nigger in its sludge pile. The sewage disposal plant turns out fertilizer that is potent in more ways than one.

The sewage disposal plant which began selling fertilizer about a week ago will probably stop sales—at least for the time being.

Several members of the town council were convinced of the strength of complaints received when they inspected—from a distance—a pile of fertilizer in a garden at Simcoe and Melbourne Sts. Ald. Baker said the odor was "not fit to be any-place."

One resident invited the councillors into her home where they found the odor had penetrated every room of her house. Neighbors demanded that the fertilizer be either ploughed under or carted away.

After some discussion with Percy Russell, operator of the plant, it was decided that the sludge should be processed more until the gas and the odor has been driven off.

In the meantime, Lindsay is keeping its windows closed.

Must Take Long Road Home Pupils' Parents Complain

Parents are complaining about the bus connections with Kenner Collegiate—the route home in particular. Dr. Eldon P. Ray, principal of Kenner, said that the other night he had 10 phone calls from irate parents within a two-and-a-half-hour period. All of the complaints were about the long bus route and the time it takes the students to get home.

Some students who live in the western part of the city have been as long as 45 minutes reaching home from the school.

"It takes some of them, if they live in the western division, three quarters of an hour to get home," said Mr. Huffman.

COPY INDUSTRY SERVICE

Both Mr. Huffman and Arthur Pitchford recommended a "belt line system" similar, though on a smaller scale, to that service given industry. The key to the transportation problem is to have one or two buses (or however many are needed) reverse the route and go north on Monaghan Rd., they argued. This would make faster junction with the transfer points at Romaine and Charlotte Sts.

Another complaint was that sometimes the Monaghan Road South bus doesn't wait for the eastbound Charlotte St. West bus at the Romaine St. transfer point.

"A few minutes wait isn't so important right now," said Mrs. Paige Rowell, "but what about the bad weather?"

After some discussion Thursday night, the Board of Education decided to try and have the return-home route revised. If this is done they hope to get speedier and more direct travel.

At present, there is only one bus, the Monaghan Road South, that goes right to Kenner Collegiate, located at Monaghan Rd. and Gillespie St. This is supposed to meet the Charlotte West and Byersville buses at Romaine and Monaghan, the big transfer point for the students.

This is reasonably satisfactory on the way to school, Charles Huffman explained. But on the return journey there is no bus going north on Monaghan Road. Consequently, the students are taken on the long route, deep into the south end, and have to come all the way uptown to Charlotte St. before they can make a transfer.

YELLOW ROSES

At 38 Park St. today, a yellow rose bush in bloom. That is a comparative rarity. Some of the yellow roses have no peers, although there may be opinion that prefers more vivid color. Horticultural Society's remembrance of the late Wm. H. Young in their building at the Exhibition pay tribute to flower lover who did more than any other person to promote roses, with the possible exception of the professionals.

Rugby Teams Refused Use Of Nicholls Oval

P.C.V.S. rugby teams for the second year in succession have been refused the use of Nicholls' Oval for practising. However the Board of Education hope to have this decision of the city Parks Committee reversed.

At a meeting of the Board Thursday night it was learned that Bev. Goulding, athletic director, had applied to the committee for permission to practise there. The request was turned down but the use of Riverside park was permitted so the senior and junior teams could play league games there.

Now the Board of Education are making the request for use of Nicholls' Oval direct to the City Council.

$250 BUS BILL

If this fails they will do the same as last year: try to get permission from the Exhibition Board to practise at Morrow Park. Buses were used to transport the players and the total bill was about $250.

"It's eventually costing the taxpayers $250 if the teams don't practise at Nicolls' Park," said W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Board. He added that he had seen motorcycles wheeling about in the park and it was used for cricket.

"Up to 5,000 out-of-towners use it for picnics," said Frank Jobbitt.

Dr. Ralph Honey said he understood the objection was the tearing up of the turf and he conceded that fixing it up after the teams had used it might easily run to more than $250.

Grounds at Kenner Collegiate are not yet in shape, Mr. Wightman said. Moreover the distance from P.C.V.S. to Kenner is greater than to the exhibition grounds, and presumably the transportation cost would be greater.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, recommended that the Parks Committee turn down the request. He commented today to the Examiner:

"We let them use it for two or three years and the grounds were chewed up badly. Last fall we did some work on the grounds, reseeded them, and a lot of new grass is coming up. If the teams use the Oval this year it will undo the work we've already done. They'll be playing in wet and snowy weather and those cleats will really tear up the turf."

Mr. Butcher said 70,000 use that park every summer and their enjoyment should be considered as well.

Alderman P. J. Anglesey agreed with Mr. Butcher.

"It's about the only area that people use extensively," he said. "The cricket team uses it and so do others. . .The rugby teams can tear the grounds up badly."

RECORD ENTRIES

A record number of entries is expected for this year's Lindsay Central Exhibition, judging by the number already received three days before the fair opens. General manager Burton L. McLean stated today that more entries have been received to date this year than in any previous year. Last year's entry list in all 70 classes was over 5,000.

FIRST-TIME KAWARTHA VISITOR, pretty Joanne Hutchinson of Lakewood, O., declares she will be an all-time district booster from now on. Ably guided by Stan Taylor of Curve Lake, Miss Hutchinson landed this 24½-pound lunge on Pigeon Lake while trolling off Camp Cleveland where she is a guest. "I had heard about the fishing up here," she said. "What more proof can a person want?" — (Examiner Staff Photo)

Attendance At Fair Slips But Money Taken In Climbs

Exhibition attendance fell from the opening day record of 15,881 to 6,322 on Thursday. Officials felt there was nothing unusual in this decrease; that Thursday was seldom a good day. The difference was made by the nearly-10,000 children who passed in free on Wednesday. Receipts were up from Wednesday to Thursday, since all who came were paying customers. Thursday's receipts were $4,202.00, up $1,202.30 from Wednesday, and up about $200 from the second day of the 1951 fair, when the take was $4,008.35.

Much of the increase came from a larger grandstand attendace; 2,252 Thursday against 1,683 for Thursday, 1951. Thursday night's crowd of 1,916 at the evening performance was well over opening day's attendance in the stands.

PAY DAY TODAY

Fine weather continued into today, and by noon several hundred had entered the grounds. Taking a practical view of it, fair officials said they expected another good day today; after all, it's payday.

Thursday's crowd was noticeably smaller. By mid-afternoon, there were only a few hundreds in the exhibition buildings and streets and along the midway. Night brought the greater number out, and it was felt that hot weather could be blamed a little for the lower attendance.

One of the big attractions for rural people was the junior farmer's judging contest. Brothers Frank and Douglas Harry, from the Trenton district, carried off the junior and senior prizes.

A number of other spectators visited the girls' home making club exhibits in the market hall. Peterborough county girls placed second in three of the group contests; while Northumberland and Durham counties won the majority of the first prizes.

These are the attendance figures:

	Adults	Children	Total
Main Gate	4,010	815	4,825

Girl Attacked By Angry Bull

Seventeen year old Beth Meiklejohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Meiklejohn of Peterborough, suffered a badly bruised thigh on Thursday afternoon, when she was tossed into the air by an angry Ayrshire bull being shown at the Exhibition by her father.

Beth had been sitting on the running board of her father's truck near the cattle barns, and attempted to pass between the truck and the bull to prepare the next entry for judging.

As she passed the bull, the animal, taken unawares, became frightened and charged her. The girl was knocked to the ground where she lay helpless while the animal charged the second time. On the second attack, she was tossed about six feet in the air.

Her plight was quickly noticed by her parents and a number of bystanders, and the girl was rushed by car to the St. John Ambulance tent on the grounds. After treatment she was allowed to go home.

The bull is not ordinarily ugly, but it is believed the animal was bothered by the heat, and that this, coupled with a sudden fright, prompted the attack. Miss Meiklejohn's injuries, luckily, were not serious.

GRADING AT KENNER

An extra job of grading at Kenner Collegiate has cost the Board of Education $1,360. An open ditch running along Monaghan Rd. was filled in and this required extra top soil as well as regrading. Other items of expenditure: $550 for radio, $70 for dishes for the home economics class, and $75 for ventilation of the storage room in the cafeteria. Tables for the library and art room will be built in the Board's maintenance shop.

Should Replace Old Building

To accommodate the increasing activities in the Y.M.C.A., especially during the next 10 to 15 years, the board of directors of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. were told Thursday night to give consideration to replacing the old building with a modern building rather than renovating the older section of the present building.

Ernest Glenesk, field secretary from the building bureau of the National Council of Y.M.C.A., visited Peterborough and the Y.M.C.A. Thursday. He came to advise the "Y" officials if the present building was ideally located and if the present building was suitable for the needs.

Mr. Glenesk said that the Y.M.C.A. is well located in the city but community work should be done in the southern and eastern districts. At the same time, he advised that they should keep watching needs in the north and west sections.

WING IN GOOD SHAPE

After an inspection of the building, Mr. Glenesk found the wing, built in 1930, was still in good shape, but was disturbed by the older section which he felt wasn't in condition to stand modernization.

Mr. Glenesk felt that the board is faced with the problem of tearing down the older wing and building a new up-to-date building to house all departments. This new wing would be attached to the 1930 addition.

He said the older wing was sound and solid but by the time the building was completely modernized, the cost would be as much as constructing a new building.

Cars Pilfered, Youths Arrested

A series of petty thefts from cars parked in the vicinity of the C.G.E. plant are believed stopped with the arrest of three Peterborough youths. They are scheduled to appear in court next Wednesday charged with the theft of property valued at more than $25.

Police say that the youths—all first offenders—were stealing automobile accessories from parked cars so they could improve an old hulk of a car they had bought for about $40.

The loot included wrenches, side and rear view mirrors, rear lights, fog lights, bug deflectors and other accessories.

The trio were victimizing workers on the "second shift" (i.e. workers who start late in the afternoon and finish after midnight). They chose cars parked on the C.G.E. lot or nearby, stealing the contents of some and damaging others when they attempted to force an entry. Pilfering has been going on since Tuesday night—three nights in a row.

A shift worker saw them trying to get into a car Thursday night. One of the youths was found hiding under a car and his two chums were soon rounded up.

Detective Sgt. John Stevenson and Constable Douglas Farthing investigated.

1,000 Chickens Destroyed As Morning Fire Roars Through Bewdley Building

Bucket Brigade Helpless To Halt Flames Home, Garage Saved, Fire Brigade Hampered By Lack of Water

BEWDLEY (ENS)—About 1,000 chickens were smothered or burned to death early today when a two-storey frame chicken house, owned by Eldridge Nelson, a half-mile south of Bewdley on Highway 28, was razed by fire early today. Unofficially the total damage was estimated at $3,300. At 4 a.m. the chickens in the burning chicken coup were cackling and awakened Mr. Nelson. He didn't realize there was a fire until he saw the reflection on the window; noise by transports travelling the highway had drowned out the crackling of the fire.

Immediately Mr. Nelson called the Bewdley fire brigade and sent the fire alarm along the rural telephone lines.

But from the start nothing could be done to save any of the chickens in the burning chicken house. It was well ablaze when Mr. Nelson saw it.

The brigade and the 60 volunteers, villagers and farmers who had answered the telephone alarm, concentrated their fire-fighting efforts on the other buildings, another small chicken house, a garage and the Nelson home.

LACK OF WATER

The brigade was hampered by the lack of water, while the bucket brigade worked from the nearby wells, owned by Mr. Nelson and neighbor, Harry Bray. Luckily there was no wind and the fighters saved the remaining buildings.

One of the biggest jobs was moving 50 chickens, the only ones alive today, from the tiny coup which was close to the burning barn. Only a few yards away from the fire, the tar on the smaller coup's roof began to melt from the intense heat. To keep these chickens from smothering to death they were carried into the garage where they were much safer.

For almost two hours the volunteers stayed at the barn, although it was levelled only in a short time. Throughout the fire the noise was described as "terrific", as the dying chickens cackled loudly. Today the ruins were still smoldering and the smell of burnt feathers and flesh hung around the neighborhood.

Origin of the fire is unknown.

The chicken coup was equipped with electricity but no lights were on and there was no fire in the stove at this time of year.

Mrs. Nelson said today that it was difficult to determine how many chickens were lost, but estimated between 800 and 1,000.

Board Divides Scholarship

Sandy Dewar son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dewar, 143 Brock St., and Lois Holman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Holman, 529 Homewood Ave., were named winners of the Board of Education's scholarship on Thursday night.

The $500 will be divided with $300 going to Dewar and $200 to Miss Holman. The winners were named at a meeting of the finance committee following the regular meeting of the Board on Thursday evening.

The Board's scholarship is an annual offer to the boy or girl who might find some financial difficulty in getting through his or his first year at university and has a good academic standing. Five applications were received and the other three students have already won handsome scholarships which have assured them of being able to attend university.

Jury Acquits Kovich In Murder Case

WELLAND (CP)—Chris Kovich, 54-year-old retired gold miner, last night was acquitted of a charge of murder in the revolver slaying of his wife at Niagara Falls last Dec. 14.

The jury was out four hours before returning the verdict in Kovich's second trial. At his first trial last spring, the jury disagreed.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven, presiding, commented that he found it difficult to understand how the correct verdict could be one of not guilty.

Kovich is still held in custody, awaiting a hearing on a charge of attempted suicide.

Kovich, testifying in his own behalf, said he shot his estranged wife in self-defence.

The couple formerly lived at South Porcupine, Ont.

No Interference

JERUSALEM (AP)—A 75-acre strip of frontier territory claimed by both Israel and Jordan has been plowed by Israeli farmers without interference by Arab Legion border guards. It was disclosed here last night that a squad of tractors moved into the disputed territory within sight of Jordan troops with armored cars. The farmers withdrew after completing their ticklish mission.

New Jet Problems

ROME (AP)—Britain's jet airliners have brought new problems to the International Civil Aviation Organization, Dr. Edward Warner, president, said yesterday. I.C.A.O. specialists are studying how to provide more and faster weather information and jet air-traffic control at international airports.

19 Soldiers Burned

BERLIN (AP) — Nineteen Russian officers and soldiers were burned or injured seriously while helping fight a fire in an East German state-owned tire factory recently, the Soviet zone government said last night.

Store Accepts Cheque

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A cheque drawn on the "East Bank of the Mississippi" was accepted by a department store here.

THE ROSES REACH A TRUCE — Former swimming star Eleanor Holm Rose (left) and her showman husband, Billy Rose (right) arrive at the New York Supreme Court Building to begin their divorce-separation case. The legal "Battle of the Roses" was expected to be the court room sensation of the decade, but never came off as Rose withdrew his divorce suit and agreed to let the court fix alimony in a separation settlement.

Vice-President Of C.N.R. Dies

OTTAWA (CP) —J. P. Johnson, 63, retired vice-president of the Western Division of the Canadian National Railways, died in hospital yesterday. He had been living in Ottawa since his retirement in 1950.

During the Second Word War he was chief of transportation for C.N.R. lines across Canada, and general manager of the Atlantic region, stationed at Moncton, N.B. He helped organize the heavy wartime movement of troops and rail traffic that funnelled through eastern Canada ports.

From 1912 to 1917 he was a Canadian Pacific Railway train dispatcher in northern Ontario, and then became chief C.N.R. train dispatcher in northern Ontario.

In 1941 he was appointed general superintendent of the northern Ontario district and the next year took the same position in southern Ontario.

Mr. Johnson is survived by the former Blanche Smith, whom he married at North Bay; a son, George, of Arnprior, and daughter, Mrs. J. G. Dignon, of Windsor. His body will be taken to North Bay for funeral services.

Drug Cures Many Lepers

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Medical authorities credit a new drug with bringing a phenomenal number of cures of lepsory in native territories. The drug is sulphotrone, one of the sulphone drugs. After three years' use, 74 per cent of patients at Mkambati Institution in Pondolond have been discharged as cured.

Shocks Kill Six

BURGOS, Spain (AP)—High-voltage shocks from a burning transformer killed six persons last night and injured 30 others in the village of Vilviestre del Pinar. The victims received the shocks while trying to switch off the lights in their homes after the burning transformer had suddenly stepped up the current.

Rockefeller Grants

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rockefeller Foundation reported yesterday that it made grants of $19,403,596 during 1951. The grants aided public health, medicine, natural and social sciences, agriculture, the humanities and education.

Fin. Selection Of Sheep At Exhibition

The 200-odd sheep entered in this year's Peterborough Exhibition represent an increase over last year's entries, and an excellent selection of sheep, said the judge, John Baker of Hampton.

"I haven't judged here since two years ago," said Mr. Baker, "but a certainly think this is a fine selection of sheep. Most of them have been to the big fairs this summer and they've made a good record for themselves."

Keith Van Camp, of Nestleton, took a number of prizes in the Leicester judging, while J. M. Murray and Sons, of Cresswell, dominated the Cotswolds. Lloyd Ayre, of Bowmanville, and John Kelsey, of Woodville, won all prizes in the Southdowns; E. Mark and Sons, of Little Britain, and Foster Snowden, of Oshawa, led in the Oxford Downs judging, along with Harold Skinner and Son, of Tyrone.

Messrs. Kelsey and Skinner led in the Shropshires, while R. B. Glaspell, of Bowmanville, took all prizes in the Hampshires.

Esmond Storey, of Omemee, Allan Lockie, of Zephyr, and Boyd Ayre, of Hampton, led in the Suffolk judging, and Charles Lane, of Oakwood, and E. Mark and Son took all prizes in the Dorset Horns.

Boyd Ayre won all prizes in the Cheviot class, and market lamb prizes were taken by Lloyd Ayre, John Kelsey, Keith Van Camp, E. Mark and Son, and Charles Lane.

AMHERST, N. S. (CP)—A square dance competition will be held for the first time at the Maritime Winter Fair here in November. Entries will be accepted from the four Atlantic provinces and officials hope to crown a Maritime champion at the grand finale.

JUNIOR FARMERS' DAY at the Peterborough Exhibition attracted a large group of members from six counties. The boys were interested in listening to tests, criticism and lectures by agricultural representatives and in judging cattle, horses and field products. Boys in the top photo, debating why judges warded first prize to a junior Ayrshire heifer calf — owned by Earl Rosborough, of Smith township—are, left to right, Keith McIntyre, Peterborough County (kneeling); Aleck Moffat, Durham; Alfred Gooding, Northumberland; Ray Stickle, Hastings; Bob Snoddon, Victoria, and Hugh Baird, of Ontario County. Girls with a display of vegetables at the Junior Homemaking Section at the Market Hall, lower photo, left to right, are: Jean Ann Parks, Prince Edward County; Catherine Waterman, Peterborough, and Janet Bigelow, Durham. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Win Surprise Victory In Indian Election

BOMBAY, India (AP)—The Congress party government in Hyderabad state today won a surprise victory in a special election, taking two legislative seats formerly held by Communists.

The elections were held in Ifutelengana, where the Communists have been strongly entrenched since 1948.

The Communists in the Hyderabad Legislature suffered another loss when two of their colleagues deserted to the Congress party.

Held For Theft

QUEBEC —(CP) —Police last night arrested Lorenz E. French, 19, of Guelph a minute after he allegedly snatched $273 from the cashier at a local theatre. He was chased by an usher and passers-by who captured him several blocks away and held him until police arrived.

Hugh Ernest Shannon

MARMORA (ENG) The funeral of Hugh Ernest Shannon was held on Thursday morning leaving his late residence for Sacred Heart Church where requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. J. A. O'Neill. Burial followed in Sacred Heart Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Vincent Lynch, Charles Nicholson, William Monk, Brock Cooper, James Hughes and John Shannon.

Out of town relatives attending the obsequies were Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Kennedy, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shelley, Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Monk, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Brock Cooper, Ajax; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. La Plante, Lang, and Mr. and Mrs. John Shannon, Madoc.

"COOL CONTROL"

PLACE-KICKING THE FOOTBALL

1 For a right-footed kicker, the holder kneels with left knee down and right leg pointed toward centre and line of scrimmage. Right sole should be flat on ground, knee should be bent to cushion charge of rushing opponents. Arms extend with fingers spread to offer target for centre pass.

2 On catch, ball is immediately placed in vertical position under fingers of left hand; right hand turns laces of ball away from kicker if possible. Left fingers are not removed until ball is kicked from under them. For kick, kicker lines up with kicking toe on imaginary line through ball and centre of posts.

3 Eyes never leave ball. Foot swings forward with increased momentum. Knee is bent; then ankle and knee lock at moment of impact; leg follows through for control after punching ball in the middle of its width and slightly below the centre of its length. Ball is held straight up for long kick; slightly tilted back for close-in kick.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

NEW MODERATOR—Rev. A. A. Scott, 65-year-old college principal from India (right), is the new Moderator of the United Church of Canada. It is the first time the church's highest honor has gone to a missionary. Dr. Scott, a native of Carleton Place, who has spent 40 years in the mission fields, is congratulated after his appointment at the 15th General Council in Hamilton by Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson (left), of Halifax, his predecessor. Mrs. Scott is at centre.

60 Honorary Degrees Conferred By Laval

QUEBEC (CP)—Laval University said last night 60 honorary degrees will be conferred Sept. 22 at its centenary convocation on distinguished leaders from Canada, the United States and Europe.

Governor-General Vincent Massey will be made a doctor of the university, highest honor Laval can bestow.

Only one woman is in the list. She is Mrs. D. B. Sinclair, executive assistant to the federal deputy minister of welfare. She will receive a doctorate of social science.

Elected President

WINNIPEG (CP)—Joseph Griffith of Outremont, Que., yesterday was elected president of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada holding its 47th annual conference here.

Synod Changes Clauses In Resolution

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada called Wednesday for unceasing efforts to obtain international supervision and control of weapons of destruction.

Its resolution read:

"The general synod of the Church of England in Canada, meeting in September, 1952, affirms its belief that peaceful measures for the reconciling of all differences among nations is in accordance with the mind of Christ and must be continually sought.

"And, while acknowledging that there is abroad in the world mistrust, suspicion and active selfishness and the consequent threat of aggressive war from some quarters, making necessary the maintenance of armed forces under regional and world authority, calls for never-ceasing efforts to secure international supervision and control of all weapons of destruction."

The Canadian Press reported erroneously that the resolution as adopted included two other clauses: "The synod nevertheless deplores the attitude of mind which demands the ever-increasing production of new and ever more powerful weapons of all kinds calculated to destroy whole areas of the world without distinction of military or civil objectives" and "looking to the prohibition in particular of any use of nuclear weapons, the napalm bomb, obliteration bombing and bacteriological warfare."

These clauses were deleted before the assembly adopted the resolution.

Charles Hunter Wins $50 Scholarship

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — The Catherine Parr Traill Chapter I.O.D.E. has announced that the scholarship of $50 awarded annually to the pupil taking the highest marks on the Grade 13 examinations, has been won this year by Charles Gilbert Hunter.

Educated at Lakefield public and high school, he obtained two first class honours, two seconds, a third and four credits..

Gilbert is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hunter, and is entering the Faculty of Dentistry, University of Toronto.

Woman Burned to Death

AYLMER (CP)—Mrs. Robert Borremans, aged between 75 and 80, was burned to death in her bed here last night. Her 73-year-old husband, arriving home in a taxi, found his wife on a flaming bed in a downstairs bedroom.

B.C. Strike Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—Settlement of the 87-day strike of Victoria carpenters was announced yesterday. The workers will receive an immediate 25-cent hourly increase, bringing the basic wage to $2 an hour. On Dec. 15 they will be given a further raise of 10 cents an hour. They had demanded 75 cents.

Honor French Ace

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (AP)—The headquarters of Allied Air Forces Central Europe yesterday was named Camp Guynemer, in memory of Capt. Georges Guynemer, killed over Belgium Sept. 11, 1917. He was 23, and was credited with 53 confirmed kills and eight probables.

WHISTLE STOPPING — Democratic presidential candidate Gov. Adlai Stevenson and his sons, John Fell (left) and Borden, wave from the back platform of the Illinois governor's 11-car special campaign train as they leave San Francisco for a trip to Los Angeles. The governor was scheduled to make eight "whistle stops" during the 15-hour journey.

500 Experts Attend Textile Parley

KINGSTON (CP)—Presentation of 12 papers dealing with all types of problems relating to the textile industry highlighted yesterday's opening sessions of the third Canadian textile seminar.

Some 500 textile experts from the United States, Canada and Britain are attending the three-day conference at Queen's University.

Dr. J. R. Whinfield of England reported on the new wonder fibre "terylene," or as it is known on this side of the Atlantic, "dacron."

Co-discoverer of the fabric, Dr. Whinfield claimed that the wearing and stain-resistant qualities of the fibre are such as to promise revolutionary changes in the clothing industry.

He claimed it would be possible for a man to step into a swimming pool and come out with his suit of "terylene" as dry and looking just as neat as when he donned it.

A paper by E. R. Suttie, president of Glengarry Cottons Limited of Cornwall, called for more attention by Canadian industry to the training of "the forgotten man"—the foreman.

Mr. Suttie claimed that unless convincing proof of greater interest in foremen was put forth soon, "industry will lose them to a formal protective organization such as is provided by a union."

6 Months For Ten Cents

TORONTO (CP)—Bertrand Waters yesterday pleaded guilty to stealing 10 cents from a pay phone and was sentenced to six months. He used a piece of wire to reach the dime.

Tobacco Crop Down

DELHI (CP)—J.K. Perrett, secretary of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Association, said yesterday Ontario's tobacco crop this year probably will amount to 100,000,000 pounds, 40,000,000 less than in 1951. He said the amount is sufficient to meet market demands. He reported that 60 to 65 per cent of the crop has been harvested.

Fear Municipal Finance Disrupted By U.S. Defence

TORONTO (CP)—Disruption of municipal finance as a result of the expanding defence program in the United States was forecast yesterday at the third session of the National Tax Association convention.

Albert E. Champney, director of Wayne county (Mich) Bureau of taxation, told delegates that "unwarranted extension to industrial properties of federal immunity from local taxation" made it difficult for many communities to market bonds for local improvement.

Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the American Municipal Association said higher costs of the defence program squeezed many cities between inflated prices and inflexible tax structures.

ON WAY OUT?

Mass public transportation may be on the way out as a result of higher costs and the nearness of the economic limit of fares, Mr. Chatters said.

Dr. J. J. McCann, Canadian Minister of National Revenue, said Canada's dependence on the United States for economic prosperity formed the main weakness in Canadian development.

Canadians could never be free from fear of a slump in the U. S. until increased trade with other countries stabilized Canada's economy, Dr. McCann said.

Southerly Trading Post Refuses Boy's Rabbit Skin

AJAX—A 12-year-old trapper walked into the Hudson's Bay Co.'s most southerly post here the other day, and tossed a rabbit pelt on the counter.

He indicated that he wished to exchange the pelt for trade goods —a rifle, or some traps, perhaps. It rather shook the staff. The H.B.C. hadn't invaded Southern Ontario with barter in mind.

Good relations with the natives were maintained, however, when manager R. L. Hass explained that the new Ajax store wasn't exactly a trading post. The store is one of a chain of smaller H.B.C. department stores across the country. Therefore, he was compelled to return the admirable rabbit pelt.

If the junior trapper ever needed a pair of sneakers, or a T-shirt, Mr. Haas would be glad to oblige. He had, unfortunately, no rifles or traps in stock.

The H.B.C., as a matter of fact, has two stores in the shopping centre at Ajax built by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. There is a department store handling clothing, textiles, smallwares and appliances.

Then there is the company's first supermarket experiment in Ontario. Both stores carry the company's brand of merchandise —with the exception, of course, of certain bottled goods.

Endicott Issue Expected To Be Left Alone At Parley

HAMILTON (CP)—The name of Dr. James Endicott, former United Church missionary who heads the leftist Canadian Peace Congress, was mentioned yesterday before the General Council of the church.

Dr. Gordon Sisco, council secretary, discussing a resolution on ordination of ministers, said:

"Once you ordain a man I don't know how you can un-ordain him. Take the case of your friend Jim Endicott. Once he resigned from the ministry he ceased to be under our jurisdiction. But he is still a minister until we unfrock him.

"Although he is not one of our ministers, he still is a minister of the Holy Catholic Church. But I don't know how you can be a minister without being a minister of a particular church."

Dr. Sisco said later in an interview with newspaper men that Dr. Endicott had not violated any church laws in his leadership of the Peace Congress and his support of Communist China.

An official said church laws are not specific on what grounds a minister may be unfrocked. They state only that a written charge must be laid against the man and he must be tried in a church court. The official said that generally this law is taken to refer to heresy or moral turpitude.

R.C.A.F. Jet Display Draws Large Crowd At Exhibition

There is an exhibit in the Manufacturers' Building at the Ehibition this year that has been drawing a great deal of attention, especially among the more air-minded individuals. This is the R.C.A.F. display of jet equipment.

The booth was designed and constructed by Sergeant M. Jackson of Toronto. At the conclusion of the exhibition, the backdrops will be left here to decorate the quarters of the Peterborough Air Cadet Squadron.

All the personnel of the booth are members of the R.C.A.F. from Camp Borden. They are in charge of their O.C., F/O Bill Gallop. He is assisted by F/S Frank Roots, Sgt. Norman Jess, Sgt. R. Mitchell, Cpl. Mac. Avoy, Sgt. L. F. Hopton, Cpl. John Burnside and Cpl. Mike Kowcinaki. These men are instructors on the ground training equipment shown at the fair.

ALL WORK

The purpose of the display is to let the public see how the ground staff of the R.C.A.F. are trained, and what they have to work with. All the mock-ups work and can be controlled from their individual panels. The units are all mobile and can be moved from place to place. They show the equipment used in the new F-86 E Sabre Jet. The display consists of five panels showing the workings of the hydraulic system, the nose wheel, the main wheels, the complete electrical system of the aircraft and the heat and vent system. →

Centring the display is the new J-47 jet engine, as used in the Sabre. This engine is made by General Electric.

Every hour on the hour, one of the instructors makes a tour of the various panels, describing to visitors the workings and the purpose of each. This lasts about 20 minutes.

Located in the booth is a recruiting officer, who answers questions concerning the Air Force for anyone interested. He will also fill out application for enlistment forms if he is coaxed.

This is the first time the present display has been shown publicly in Canada, and with the interest shown in it and the Peterborough Exhibition, the R.C.A.F. now believes the public wants more such displays, so that they can become better acquainted with the things that keep the jets flying.

NOT A GIANT PICKLE, explains Sgt. Ron Mitchell, of 2 T.T.S., Camp Borden, R.C.A.F., to Louise Adams, of R.R. 2, Ida, when she stopped by a jet display on Thursday at the Peterborough Exhibition. Mechanical workings of a Sabre Jet, from engine to its maze of electrical wiring, were a constant attraction in the Manufacturers' Building. The exhibit was sponsored by the Air Cadet League of Canada (Peterborough Branch).—Examiner Staff Photo.

Life Habits Of Big Trees Being Studied

VANCOUVER (CP)—Science has stepped into the British Columbia woods to explore the life habits of forest giants—the trees that supply the rich timber industry.

Two major problems are under study. They are the scientific thinning of forests and the artificial debarking of trees.

The scientists of the woods want to know if thinning of the forests will produce finer and more valuable wood.

A speedy method of debarking trees is sought to meet the needs of pulp mills. They want trees without bark.

Deep in the woods of Vancouver Island the experiments are being carried out by foreign-born specialists.

STUDIES HEART WOOD

At Lake Cowichan Ryszard Porzuchowski specializes in examining the heart wood—the richest part of the tree—as he prepares to report on a thinning method.

Porzuchowski, a Polish-born forester who came to Canada last year after some years in South Africa, believes thinning will result in sturdier and taller trees of better quality. Success would mean millions of dollars for the industry.

Acres of forest lands have been thinned out—like a flower or vegetable garden—during the experiments.

Swiss-born Sanro Benteli, a graduate of the University of Zurich and the University of British Columbia, is carrying out the debarking experiments.

POISONS USED

A poison method is under study. He has treated more than 1,000 trees in the Lake Cowichan forests with poison, using three different types in his work.

He will report on how quickly the poison works, how quickly the trees die, and how quickly they shed their bark.

A big saving could be made if artificial shedding in the forests could be accomplished. It would make a lighter haul to the mills and save hours of debarking time.

Charged With Murder

MONTREAL (CP)—Santo Satco, 22, was charged with murder yesterday for the slaying of a 70-year-old night watchman. A coroner's jury found him criminally responsible. The watchman, Victor Serksins died Aug. 13 of injuries suffered July 18 when struck on the head by a thief who stole an automobile from the garage where he was employed.

Grant $50 Made To Marmora Library

MARMORA (ENS) — The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Percy Gordon. The president, Mrs. H. P. Nayler, was in the chair, and there was a good attendance of members.

The roll call, "My favorite pickle recipe," was well responded to. A letter was received from Miss Ethel Chapman, home economist for Ontario, confirming the date October 28 for her visit. She is to address a meeting open to all on "Aids to effective speaking in connection with the short course the branch applied for. It was reported that the refreshment booth held on Marmora Fair day was again a great success.

The local supervisor for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Mrs. F. R. Wells having requested on their behalf another canvass and tag day this fall, it was agreed that this would be held the week of September 22-27.

The annual grant of $50 was voted to Marmora Public Library.

It was decided to contact the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce with regard to the latter's project of street signs.

For the program, Mrs. E. Belanger gave a paper on the month's motto, "Go oft to the house of thy friend for weeds choke up the unused path." Mrs. Belanger also gave a few short readings. Contests were conducted by Mesdames M. Kouri and E. Belanger.

At the close fo the meeting, refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Try Separate Twins

CHICAG (AP)—An attempt probably will be made this fall to separate the year-old Siamese twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie of East Moline, Ill. Announcement of the anticipated effort to separate them was made yesterday by the Journal of the American Medical Association. The twins are joined at the tops of their heads.

NEW YORK (AP)—The America Press Institute announced yesterday it will hold six seminars for newspaper men and women in 1952-53. The Institute, located at Columbia University, is a newspaper-supported project aimed at improving newspapers through an exchange of techniques, ideas and analysis.

Church Union Discussions Now In Precarious Stage

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

HAMILTON (CP) — Discussions between the United Church of Canada and the Church of England in Canada which began in an "atmosphere of expectancy" now are in a precarious position, Rev. Gordon S. Siscoe told the United Church General Council yesterday.

Dr. Sisco, chairman of the commission on church union and secretary of the council, said he did not think the rank-and-file members of the church had the same conviction about union as shown in resolutions passed in general councils.

The prominent clergyman, a leader in the negotiations which started nine years ago, told the 400 delegates to the council which represents the 2,000,000 members:

POSITION 'PRECARIOUS'

"I have a strong feeling that both the Church of England in Canada and the United Church of Canada are in a precarious position at the moment because they have taken stands through the pronouncements of their respective church courts that are too far in advance of the thinking of their people.

"There is a good deal of misunderstanding and prejudice on both sides that has to be removed before progress towards constitutional union can be made."

The discussions toward eventual organic union of the two communions began in 1943 when the Anglican Church invited all Protestant churches to join in such negotiations.

Only the United Church accepted the invitation.

The discussions have included ways and means of close co-operation, especially in the fast-growing suburbs of large cities and remote centres, until the union was consumated.

MUCH STUDY NEEDED

Dr. Sisco said that before union can be accomplished a great deal of study will have to be conducted at the churches' lower levels. This would include both the distribution of literature and finding leadership in churches, presbyteries and conferences.

The secretary was discussing a report on union his committee has put before the council. This report outlines steps so far taken, recommends continuation of the discussions and puts forth specific fields in which the two bodies can co-operate until union.

The section of the report dealing with the history and previous recommendations of councils was passed by the council but the rest will come up for adoption at a later session.

Two Jersey Herds Clean Up Prizes

Garnet Kerr, of Campbellford, and Bruce Sargent and Sons, of Cavan, were the only exhibitors of Jersey cattle at the "Ex."

The Sargent entries were 1, 2 and 3 in the junior yearling heifer section; first in the junior calves; first in the progeny of dam and second in the two-year-old dry cows, and took the reserve senior female ribbon in the championships. All the others went to the veteran, Garnet Kerr, except in a few of the sections in which there were no entries. All the other championship ribbons were added to his numerous collection.

Find New Clues To Very Old Race Of People

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Science is finding new clues to the oldest human inhabitant of the new world, the Sandia man. But he's still a mysterious fellow.

Dr. Emerson F. Greenman, University of Michigan anthropologist who recently announced the finding of clues to his existence near Killarney, Ont., said yesterday there is nothing to indicate his physical appearance.

"No bones were found at the Ontario diggings," said Dr. Greenman. "Nor were any found at the only other Sandia diggings, at Sandia Cave in the northern mountains of New Mexico."

He said it was "very likely they were people like the Indians, but we can't be sure."

WAITED EVALUATION

Dr. Greenman said the Ontario discoveries of arrowheads, scrapers and choppers were made in 1947-48, but were not announced until the relics, now being studied at University of Michigan, could be evaluated.

He pictured the Sandia man as one living at the age of, or on top of, the retreating glacial ice as it moved northward past Georgian Bay somewhere between 10,000 and 20,000 years ago.

Similarity of the relics found in New Mexico and Ontario and their approximately equal age, as measured by erosion, led to the conclusion that the Sandia man followed the retreating glacier north, Dr. Greenman said.

Metzler Elected Association Head

HALIFAX (CP)—J. B. Metzler, Ontario deputy minister of labor, was elected president of the Canadian Association of Labor legislation which concluded its 11th annual conference here last night.

Delegates from eight provinces and the federal labor department exchanged views on industrial safety, industrial relations and apprenticeship at the closed sessions.

Transfer Negotiations To Port Arthur

WINNIPEG (CP). — Negotiations in the grain-handlers' dispute are being moved to Port Arthur at the request of the Lakehead unions.

The talks, which have been held in Winnipeg, will be resumed at Port Arthur Sunday.

Grain-handlers have threatened to strike Monday if their contract demands are not met.

Bronx Youngster Very Bad Boy

NEW YORK (AP)—A five-year-old Bronx youngster is a ba-a-a-d boy, indeed, neighbors testified yesterday.

Appearing in Bronx children's court, the neighbors said the lad:

Pushed a three-year-old boy out of a third-floor window.

Burned the eyelids of a four-year-old youngster.

Hit another boy over the head with a baseball bat.

Chased other children with an icepick and hammer.

Judge Harold Panken found the boy's mother guilty of neglect, although not of a criminal nature. Thus she is not liable to punishment.

He directed the parents to take the child to Bellevue hospital for "careful psychiatric study."

Estate Taxes Cut

MILTON (CP)—Assessments of Millionaires' Row—a group of big estates on the Lake Ontario shore west of Toronto—have been cut 10 to 15 per cent, due to inconveniences in shopping, distance to schools and lack of services. The cuts were revealed during hearing of an appeal by Oakville and Burlington against the 1952 Halton county tax levy.

Fined For Lake Crash

FORT ERIE (CP)—A man was fined yesterday for reckless driving on Lake Erie. Gerald Freeman, 23, summer resident of nearby Crystal Beach, was fined $52 as the result of an accident in which his 18-foot boat struck another in which Albert Krushel was fishing.

Second Mistrial In 4 Months At Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The second mistrial in four months was declared yesterday in Buffalo's third, and biggest, pinball-graft trial.

Justice George H. Rowe granted the motion of a defence lawyer who claimed that one of the six jurors chosen was a bookmaker.

Present and former city councilmen of both major parties, accused of taking part in an alleged $100,000-a-year payoff scheme of pinball machine distributors, thus won another delay. Another attempt to seat a jury will begin Monday.

The first mistrial came last May when a defence lawyer claimed one of the jurors was a union official, as was one of the defendants.

Charged with bribery, extortion, conspiracy and taking unlawful fees are councilmen Frank J. Glinski, Democrat, and Elmer J. Hoffman, Republican; former councilmen Russell M. Leech, Republican and Peter J. Rybka, Democrat, and Francis T. Foley, a restaurant and tavern proprietor.

Casualty List From Korea At 1,000 Mark

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's casualties in Korea have passed the 1,000 mark.

The army today issued its 133rd casualty list of the Korean War, reporting two men killed in action and 13 wounded. This brought total casualties to 1,012.

The 1,000th name on the list—not necessarily the 1,000th casualty—was Pte. Gordon Roya Baker of Sandy Beach, Gaspe, Que., of the Princess Patricias' Canadian Light Infantry. He was wounded in action.

The 1,012 casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action include 182 dead, 750 wounded, 69 injured in action, 10 missing and one captured.

The last previous list was issued Sept. 9.

Killed in action—Bourdeau, Joseph Laurent, Pte., Montreal; Royal 22nd.

Chatigny, Donat, Pte., Roxdon Falls, Que.; Royal 22nd.

Wounded in action included:

Mackey, Gerald Clifford, Pte.; R.C.R.; Fort Stewart, Ont.

Madden, James Desmond, Tr., Welland, Ont.; L.S.H.; Mrs. M.H. Madden (wife), Victoria.

Simmons, Harry Alexander, Pte.; R.C.R.; Mrs. Veretta Simmons (mother), 38 Duke St., Guelph, Ont.

Zinck, Allister Percy, L.Cpl., Pembroke, Ont.; R.C.R.; Mrs. Verma I. Zinck (wife), RR No. 4, Scotland, Ont.

Textile Workers Union Endorses Stevenson

NEW YORK (AP) — The international executive council of the Textile Workers' Union of America (C. I. O.) today unanimously endorsed the Democratic ticket of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois and Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama.

The council, representing 400,000 union members, made its endorsement of the presidential and vice-presidential nominees at the conclusion of a week-long meeting here.

Mrs. Borg, wife of a United States manufacturer, first stepped into a plane when she was 49 and soloed after 15 hours' instruction. She has covered 112,500 miles in the last four years.

Shipyard Workers End Strike

LAUZON, Que. (CP)— Workers at two shipyards today returned to their jobs for the first time in 27 days after accepting a wage increase offer of 12 cents an hour late last night.

The agreement was reached after day-long negotiations between representatives of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor and Davie Shipbuilding and Repairing Co., and George T. Davie and sons, Ltd. The strike began Aug. 15.

Under a new two-year contract, the 2,500 workers will receive an immediate hourly wage increase of 12 cents up to December 15, 1952, and 15 cents after that date until March 1, 1954 when the contract expires. They also receive 10 cents retroactive to March 1 last when the former contract expired.

Robert Black, general manager of Davie Shipbuilding, said he hoped the agreement would hasten settlement of a strike of 2,000 shipyard workers at Canadian Vickers in Montreal who walked off the job Aug. 19 in a demand for a w-cent hourly boost.

The Lauzon workers sought an increase of 15 cents.

Send Fig Leaves For U.S. Statues

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters) —A plane-load of bronze fig leaves left today for Washington to protect the decency of statues in a park there.

A Swedish sculptor has provided Washington Memorial Park with the group, men, women and children represented as casting off their earthly life—and clothes.

To comply with "American public moral standards" the fig leaves are to be placed in "suitable positions," officials announced.

India's Peoples Striving For Literacy

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—India's foremost playwright predicts that within 10 years most of his country's teeming millions will be literate.

Seth Govind Das, dean of India's parliamentarians and author of more than 80 dramas, said in an interview that literacy has been increasing rapidly among his country's 350,000,000 people since the "advent of freedom."

When India was declared a republic in 1949 it was estimated that only 10 per cent of her population was literate.

A slight, soft-spoken, friendly man, Mr. Govind Das is here for the conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

FOLLOWER OF GANDHI

A disciple of Gandhi's creed of non-violence, he said war cannot be avoided if one half of the world is allowed to live in poverty while the other half lives in luxury.

"We in the east look to the wealthy countries for help," he said.

India was striving to improve her agricultural industry, to gird the country against the scourge of famine. She was working on irrigation projects and on new industries.

The dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir remained to be settled, but that will be done "without war."

"Do you think that we who won our independence without war would start a war over the Kashmir issue?" he asked.

VETERAN POLITICIAN

Mr. Govind Das is familiar with all phases of his country's drive toward independence. He entered politics in 1920 when Gandhi started his non-co-operation movement against British rule.

Like Gandhi, he frequently got into trouble because of his opposition to British rule. He was sentenced to jail on five different occasions and spent eight years in prison.

It was during those eight years that he did much of his writing.

Now, at 56, he has 84 dramas, a 1,000-page novel and several other publications to his credit. Written originally in Hindi, many have been translated into English. Some have been made into movies.

SEEN IN NEW YORK

Two of his dramas—"The King and the Beggarmaid," and "Rivalry"—have been staged in New York.

His novel "Indumati" soon will be published in English. He described it as a psychological biography of a woman with India's history from 1916 to the present woven into the background.

Character Plays Dangerous For Producers

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Character plays, especially those with an all-male or all-female cast, are a dangerous risk for any stage producer.

Usually only an art theatre with a gilded bankroll will attempt such a venture. But Charles Bowden and Philip Langner, two new producers to Broadway, have attempted this with their presentation of the comedy "Seagulls Over Sorrento," which opened at the John Golden Theatre last night.

They have a fairly good play, an all-male cast. Their chances of success are practically those of a toss of a coin.

TRY COMEDY

"Seagulls Over Sorrento" is a comedy by Hugh Hastings which presents the reactions of a number of men who are confined to close places. A number of British sailors are practically trapped in an ancient naval fortress on an island in Scapa Flow.

There is no immediate danger, but the petty officers are hard put to it to maintain strict discipline among the sailors and preserve their own personal ego.

J. Pat O'Malley, as the leading able seaman who has the bravery to stand up to the antagonistic officer, and Leslie Nielsen, as the insufferable petty officer, head a splendid cast.

"Seagulls Over Sorrento" seems to be an earnest effort that will not linger long.

The world's largest swordfish catch is recorded as one of 860 pounds, caught in Chile in 1940.

Breaks Own Law General Pays Fine

CAIRO (Reuters)—Gen. Mohammed Naguib, Egyptian "strong man" leader, has been fined for breaking one of his own laws: calling a dignitary "your excellency."

Naguib banned that and all other titles in Egypt when he ousted the old Farouk aristocracy from power.

But habit dies hard, as the general found out at an army dinner recently.

He referred to former-premier Aly Maher as "his excellency" in an address. Officers present stood up and demanded he pay his fine of two piastres (about five cents). He paid up with a smile.

U.N. Negotiators Get 7th Straight Recess

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — United Nations negotiators today demanded and got a seventh straight week-long recess in the Korean armistice talks.

No progress on the truce-blocking issue of prisoner exchange was reported at a heated 32-minute session—the first since Sept. 4. The next meeting was set for Sept. 20.

The calm at the Panmunjom neutral zone was shattered yesterday when a Communist soldier in a stolen jeep crashed roadblocks in a 45-mile-an-hour dash to surrender to United States military police.

Told of this second Communist surrender in a week near Panmunjom, Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U. N. truce delegate, said:

"I don't care how many come to our side, but they ought to watch the speed limit."

The U. S. Eighth Army said the surrendering Chinese soldier sped through 100 miles of Red territory and nearly ran down four Communist riflemen who tried to halt him as he entered the Panmunjom neutral zone.

Can't Buy Much For Penny Now

LONDON (CP)—When the price of concentrated beef cubs went up from sixpence a half dozen to sixpence halfpenny, a reporter made the rounds of various London shops to inquire what he could still buy for a penny.

He found:

A tobacconist could only give him a packet of matches. . . .

Not a single cigarette.

At a food shop the proprietor was puzzled, but finally produced a small bread roll for a penny.

The candy merchant said maybe two humbugs for a penny. . .but of course a coupon, too.

At the chemist shop—three safety pins. . .But then they sold six on a card at twopence.

At a chain store. . .Three screw nails, three small curtain rings, a hair curler or a choice of back or front collar studs, but not in metal.

The reporter also ascertained that in 1902 a penny would buy £1,000 accident policy, a phonograph record, a book, a saucepan, scrubbing brush, plate of whelks, a hammer, six pencils, ham roll.

8 Inches Of Snow Strikes Sierras

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Highway traffic in high Sierra passes returned to normal today as warm weather moved in to melt yesterday's unseasonal eight-inch snow.

Aubrey Bennett, 37, of Truckee, was drowned when his logging truck skidded on highway 40 and plunged into the Truckee River at Verdi, Nev.

GETS "CLEAN-UP" BROOM—G.O.P. presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower (left), who says he can clean up the "mess" in Washington, receives a "clean-up" broom on his arrival at Washington airport. Making the presentation is Joel T. Broyhill, Republican congressional candidate from Virginia. After a two-hour visit to the capital, Eisenhower flew to New York to begin a four-day rest.

Light Keeper Stays Afloat For Hour

WINDSOR — (CP) — Light keeper J. E. McGuire of Windsor stayed afloat for more than an hour by hanging on to two cables after a freighter struck a lighthouse in the Detroit River yesterday and catapulted him into the water.

The 600-foot ore carrier E. J. Kulas struck the concrete footing of the lighthouse in dense fog, one of two river accidents that tied up traffic in the busy waterway linking the upper and lower Great Lakes.

In the other mishap, the freighter George S. Fink went aground. The Kulas was freed in the afternoon, permitting downbound traffic to proceed with caution because of the Fink grounding.

The 50-year-old McGuire received a deep laceration on the head, his neck was injured and he had three teeth knocked out.

Murray St. Mothers Plan Tea

Baby Band mothers of Murray St. Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at the church. President Mrs. Harold Shaw was in the chair. Mrs. Frank Ephgrave, one of the conveners of the fall tea, to be held October 22nd, was called on to lead a lively discussion on various subjects relative to the tea and items for sale tables. Entertainment for the evening was in charge of Mrs. George Stewart and consisted of a film entitled "Colorful South Africa." The brilliant scenery of the country-side and cities of Africa was beautifully shown in the color film but the outstanding part was the pictures of a trip through the Kruger National Park showing the wild animals of South Africa in their home surroundings. Refreshments were served afterward by the executive and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Haddow Speaks At Trinity Federation

Mrs. A. Haddow, nurse and former missionary to Bolivia, was guest speaker to Trinity Women's Federation at the meeting held at the summer home of Mrs. R. Clayton on Lake Chemong. "Jesus the Great Pioneer" was the subject on which she spoke, including an interesting account of the 31 years she and her late husband spent ministering to and healing the sick and underprivileged of Bolivia.

Primitive customs of the South American natives and the great dangers constantly facing them were described. Mrs. Haddow said she spent much of her time teaching pre-natal care to expectant mothers and advising them on care of newborn babies. She also attended hundreds of mothers at the birth of their babies without medical aid. She said she continually prayed for strength and guidance to perform the difficult tasks. They are now being carried on by her daughter Miss Mary Haddow who was born and raised in Bolivia and came to Peterborough to study for her nursing degree.

The missionary theme was carried out in a devotional service in charge of Mrs. Clayton's group. Mrs. D. B. Gordon sang the lovely hymn "The Lord is My Shepherd." Scripture passages were read by Mrs. J. R. Turnbull and Mrs. J. Lynch. A reading entitled "Jesus Our Shepherd" was given by Mrs. Clayton and a delightful poem "'Twas a Sheep" by Mrs. C. L. McIntyre. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. A. Kennedy.

A lively business period was conducted by president Mrs. D. Hamilton. A social half hour and refreshments were then much enjoyed.

WMS Study Book Deals With Africa

ROSENEATH (ENS) —"Along African Trails" is the title of the new study book for the year introduced by the President, Mrs. J. M. Lovelace, at the September meeting of Roseneath W.M.S. held on Tuesday afternoon. The keynote of the meeting was centred around Africa. Mrs. Delbert Brisbin presented a historical sketch of Angola and Mrs. Douglas L. Coyle read "Meditation" written by a missionary in Africa.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, who presided with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe as pianist.

Assisting with the worship service were Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. Fred Lewis and Mrs. J. A. Nichol.

Included in the correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. Fred Lewis, was an invitation from Fenella W.M.S. inviting their sister society to attend their meeting in Fenella church on September 17. On motion the invitation was accepted.

Plans were made for the annual W.M.S. Thank-Offering Service to be held in the United Church on Sunday, September 21 at 11 a.m. with Mrs. P. T. Gardiner, Port Hope, as guest speaker. There will be special music.

Mrs. A. J. Campbell presented a report of the temperance convention she had attended at Camborne.

The Community Friendship report with Mrs. Howard Macklin as secretary, showed 33 cards, 2 letters, 11 boxes sent and 2 home calls and 18 hospital calls had been made by the members during the month.

Mrs. J. N. Lovelace presented gleanings gathered at the training school for leaders at Whitby that she had attended.

The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture.

Plans were made for the October meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Delbert Brisbin with Mrs. Andrew Brown in charge of the program.

The meeting closed with prayer and the hostess served refreshments.

Selwyn WA Meets

SELWYN — (ENS), — The W. A. of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyl. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Reg. Bell and Mrs. George McIlmoyl gave the topic. The Rev. D. P. Morris led in in prayer. The ladies planned to give the church a thorough housecleaning on Wednesday, September 24. The Bridgenorth W.A. sent an invitation to join with them at a meeting at Bridgenorth on October 7 at 8 p.m.

Following the benediction lunch was served by the north group. The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Irvin Tully, the roll-call to be a Bible verse pertaining to Thanksgiving.

Roseneath W.A. Aids Church Fund

ROSENEATH — (ENS). — A balance on hand of $474 after having paid $256 toward the new refrigerator for the parsonage that was purchased this summer, was reported by Mrs. Fred Norris, treasurer, at the September meeting of the United Church W.A. It was decided to donate $100 to the church funds.

The meeting was held in the Township Hall on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Bart Thackeray as hostess with the president Mrs. Earl Waldie presiding, and Mrs. Ella Brown as pianist. Mrs. James A. Brown presented the devotional address "In Christian Moral Witness."

Invitations were accepted from Fenella W.M.S. for September 17 and Roseneath W.M.S. for September 21.

Mrs. Earl Waldie, on behalf of the members, expressed their best wishes and bon voyage to Mrs. Harold Taylor, a valued member of the society, who is leaving shortly for a three months' holiday in England.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Herman Blodgett, one of the older members of the society. Mrs. Blodgett passed her birthday cake to the members.

Mrs. Lloyd Parker announced the following numbers on the program: A paper "A Garden Thought" was read by Mrs. Fred Norris; Mrs. C. W. Varcoe read "A Smiling Face"; Mrs. Ella Brown conducted a quiz on fish.

The program concluded by Mrs. Rae Brown expressing a few thoughts "Do unto others as you wish to be done by."

The hostess served afternoon tea.

THE REV. AND MRS. DONALD STEGINK, the bride formerly Miss Clarice Atkinson of Roseneath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atkinson, who were married in Paris in July, spent their honeymoon in the Swiss Alps, and have now reached Fada N'Gourma, French West Africa, as missionaries. They flew from Paris on August 18, arriving in the Sudan interior mission three days later.

Knit Work Exhibit Praised By Judges At Exhibition

Multi - colored quilts, precise leatherwork, and neat samples of knit-work stood out among the home crafts entries at the Peterborough Exhibition this year.

The judges, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Neil Malcolm, felt the work was easily up to last year's high standards, and said that knitwork was particularly good.

Mrs. G. R. Putnam and Mrs. L. E. Bryant, both of Wooler, were among the more consistent prize-winners while Jean Scott and Doris Ackford of Peterborough also won several firsts and other positions in the judging. However, the majority of the prizes went to women from out of the city and district.

It is shown here with a striped orlon blouse.

St. James' W.A. Pack Food Parcel For Missionary

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Plans to donate a parcel of food and a bale of clothing were the important items of business at the September meeting of the W. A. of St. James' Anglican Church. The parcel of food will be sent to a missionary in India. Mrs. Hector Winkworth and Mrs. Rae McCracken were appointed a committee to pack the food parcel. A bale of new and used clothing will be sent to the W. A. House, Toronto, for further distribution. This bale will be packed by the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. James Brown.

The meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Timlin, the president. Mrs. Rae McCracken presided, with Rev. A. J. Patstone as pianist.

The treasurer Mrs. James Brown reported receipts from the bazaar $104.75 making a balance on hand of $305.34.

Included in the correspondence read by the secretary was a letter regarding the annual deanery meeting to be held in All Saints' Church, Peterborough, on September 25th.

The Little Helpers' report was presented by their secretary, Mrs. James L. Timlin.

It was decided to donate $10 toward an appeal that will be made at the deanery meeting in Peterborough.

The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. A. J. Patstone. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

First meeting of the new season of Confederation Home and School Association took place Tuesday evening. Mrs. George Kiff presided in absence of the president. She introduced principal Mr. J. Nichols who in turn introduced Miss B. Thurston, a new member of the staff.

Mr. Nichols outlined briefly to the parents the rules and regulations governing the new pupils.

Mrs. C. Renaud arranged the program and presented the following pupils playing piano solos and duets: Kathryn Porter, Shirley Wright, Margaret Millville, Judy Montgomery, Verla Gowdy, Shirley Rolufs, Danny Willcock, Peter Millard, Brenda Pichell, Eleanor Wright, Beverley Wilson, Terry Jones and Stanley Birch.

Mrs. Robert Tamblin sang "Smilin' Through" and an encore selection.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Waldie and her committee.

✧ ✧ ✧

ELM CORNERS SCHOOL

First meeting of the new season was held by Elm Corners' Home and School Association with Mr. J. McConkey presiding.

Members present voted to change the date of succeeding meetings to the second Thursday in each month. The following delegates were appointed to attend Peterborough Home and School Council meetings beginning with that of September 17th: Mrs. J. Lacey, Mrs. V. McCaw, Mrs. N. Coons, Mrs. P. N. Young and Mrs. W. Dunbar.

Films will again be provided each month to assist the teachers in their work.

Mr. Ross Wiles, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, was present and announced that the large blocks bearing the new name will soon be in position on the new school building. He also requested the co-operation of the Association in the ceremonies attending the official opening of the new school. A special meeting of the executive will be called to accelerate these plans.

A clear and concise outline of municipal assessment and taxes was given by Mr. Ray Brown of Lakefield. He pointed out the need for taxes and methods of raising them, stressing that the voter should see that his money is spent by a person he trusts. Mrs. J. Pulcine introduced the speaker and appreciation was expressed by principal Mr. G. Knox.

A report from the Leadership Training Conference at Lake Couchiching was given by delegate Mrs. A. R. Garlepy who stressed the realization of the greatness of the Home and School movement and the sincerity of its leaders.

Mrs. W. Dunbar and her committee served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

THE REV. DR. A. E. ARMSTRONG AND MRS. ARMSTRONG of Etobicoke who will be in the city this Sunday as guests of the congregation of George St. United Church. Dr. Armstrong will preach at the morning and evening services and the couple will attend the informal fireside gathering in the evening. The couple returned in June from a seven months trip which almost circled the world. After a visit with their son in Singapore, Dr. Armstrong went alone to Korea, Koje Island and Hong Kong. He was granted a longer stay in Korea than the "72 hour limit" at the request of Canada's L. B. Pearson. Later, Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong went to Central India to attend the 75th anniversary of the United Church Mission and the doctor had the rare privilege of a talk with Nehru who was then busy forming a new government after the elections. Regarded far and wide as "a great missionary statesman," Dr. Armstrong was 40 years secretary of the Board of Overseas Missions of the United Church of Canada and travelled to the Orient many times. Mrs. Armstrong was for 18 years secretary for Korea on the Dominion Board of the Women's Missionary Society in the United Church. Since their retirement she has taken up landscape painting and has been readily successful in selling her pictures.

What's Right?

At a party you find yourself talking to a person to whom you were introduced but whose name you did not catch.

WRONG: Make no effort to find out his name.

RIGHT: Say, "I'm sorry but I didn't catch your name when we were introduced."

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Can Take Only One Child On Six-Month Trip

DEAR MISS DIX: Can you help me in this matter? I simply cannot seem to make the decision alone. I am planning to visit my parents in South America for six months. That is where I come from, but am married to an American and have two daughters, 2 and 4. I would like to take both children with me but, for financial reasons and because my husband does not want to stay alone, I can only take one. The question is—which? The 4-year-old can attend nursery school and is better able to take care of herself, but I think she would appreciate the trip more. The youngest one I feel needs my attention and care. MRS. M. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You pose a most difficult problem for a stranger to solve for you. Of course, neither possible solution is altogether perfect since no problem involving a family separation, even a temporary one, can be perfect. My suggestion would be for you to take the 2-year-old. The older child is still too young to have any appreciation of the trip and is the easier one to leave to others' care. Have a nice visit!

✧ ✧ ✧

LOVES MARRIED MAN

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 22, single and in love with a married man four years my senior who works in the same office. His wife is also 22, they have a 3-year-old daughter, and the man will not leave his wife, although he doesn't love her, because of the child. Don't you think his wife is wrong to try to hold him? HELEN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This identical query comes up so often that I could almost have it, and the answer, set up in permanent print. However, since each questioner is convinced that she is the only woman faced with it, and since it is such an inexorably important issue, I bring it up rather frequently. The answer is: The wife has prior right to her husband; she is certainly not bound to turn him over to every office flirt who gets a yen for him. Furthermore Helen, and everyone else with the same problem, you are being taken in by one of the oldest stories since Adam and Eve. Your lover has no intention of leaving his wife and child. As long as you are around to feed his vanity with adoring eyes, he'll continue to fool you until another adorer comes along. Stop being a fool!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The girl I love is 39 and I am 29 and, because of this difference in age, she refuses to marry me. Do you think the marriage could be a success? FRED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A successful, and happy, marriage depends on so many more important things than age that this point alone certainly shouldn't be the deciding factor. If you are suited to each other in background, likes and dislikes, friends, relatives, financial situation, etc., the difference in age will not matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married in the near future, and our problem is my fiance's mother. She is in her early 40's, still working, but wants to live with us. She also has a married daughter and I feel, if she must live with one of her children, it should be the daughter—at least until we are settled. A. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your future mother-in-law is certainly too young to give up her own home and move in with a married child. This doubling up is seldom satisfactory. A woman in her 40's, earning her own living, should keep her independence.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 years old and, although I have had many dates, I am now going with a boy I love dearly. He lives out of town and I only see him once a month. For some time he has asked me to kiss him, and I never have. Should I? JO ANN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Considering your age and the fact that you are deeply interested in the boy—and he in you—I can see no harm in kissing him. The danger is in what you do from there on. You seem like a sensible girl, however, and can probably be trusted to conduct yourself accordingly.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When I was young, and before I was married, I looked younger than I was. At 25 I met a boy of 20 and told him that I was only 20. I kept my secret all through the years but, after seventeen years of marriage, I am sure my husband realizes that I am older than he. He is very cool to me lately. J. D. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This was a very silly deception in the first place, and trying to maintain it for seventeen years has been a childish stunt. Of course your husband probably knows your true age by now, and his coolness is caused by your deceit rather than your years. Find an occasion to make some joking reference to your age and pass it off as if you realize that he knew about it all the time. That will at least clear up the atmosphere between you on one score. Then stop worrying over a trifle.

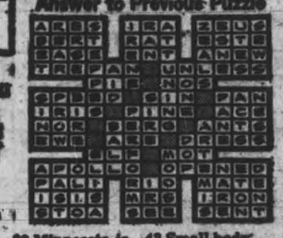
Suggests 10% Of Budget Spent On Needy

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A suggestion that 10 per cent of the federal budget be spent on peoples more needy than Canadians was made before the 18th general synod of the Church of England in Canada today by Dr. J. C. Flanagan, a layman from Montreal.

"The Prime Minister said the other day that guns, arms and tanks were not enough to win peace I think he was challenging us to say what would win it," said Dr. Flanagan.

He spoke as the synod accepted a resolution by Canon W. H. Davison of Montreal, which said:



CHRISTIAN APPROACH

"The synod believes that if the advance of Marxist Communism . . is to be checked and the way kept open for the spread of the gospel and a way of life which is genuinely Christian and democratic, a much greater measure of economic relief for the needy multitudes of Asia and elsewhere. . .is an urgent requirement. It therefore appeals. . for an authentic Christian approach to a remedy for the present world distress and the relief of widespread human destitution and misery. . . "

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Could you please tell me the number of calories in jello, and in a muffin made with graham flour and oil; in oil dressing; in arrowroot biscuits? I have lost 24 lbs. in 2 month from 180 to 156 but still have 10 lbs, to go. All I have done is cut down carbohydrates and fats . . . find melba toast is a grand filler. I eat lots of salad greens with canned tomatoes as a dressing but would like an oil dressing low in calories . . . I eat fresh fruits for dessert.

Where is the best place in the oven to bake—close to bottom or in the middle or close to top? Could you please print recipe for headcheese and how to can chicken . . . that is raw chicken packed in sealers and processed. I tried the sour milk biscuits and they are grand—also good made with buttermilk . . . thanks . . . Vicky.

ANSWER: Number of calories: jello: 1 box gelatin dessert powder contains 335 calories: 1 bran muffin without butter about 110 to 125 calories; 1 tablespoon oil mayonnaise 100 calories; arrowroot biscuit about 20 or 25 calories.

NEW LOW-CALORIE DRESSING

Mix together in top of double boiler 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon each salt and dry mustard, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 egg yolks and when smooth add ¾ cup skim milk and 4 tablespoons lemon juice (or vinegar). Stir over boiling water until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Remove from heat and add ¼ or ½ cup strained cottage cheese and, if desired, 1 tablespoon thick tomato catsup. This may be stretched by adding more cottage cheese which has been strained or the flavor changed by adding 2 tablespoons powdered skim milk cheese. Use this instead of oil dressing for there are too many calories in the latter.

Bake cake, pies, cookies etc. on grate ⅓ way from bottom of oven.

JELLIED VEAL (Headcheese)

Buy a meaty knuckle of veal weighing 2 lbs. and 1 lb. lean veal shoulder and 1 lb. lean pork shoulder meat. Put these on to cook covered barely with cold water, add 1 sliced onion, 3 bay leaves, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, cover and simmer until meat falls from bones—about 3½ hours. Remove meat from bones and put through medium coarse knife of food chopper. Discard bones, strain broth. Soak 3 tablespoons gelatine in ½ cup cold water for 3 minutes, stir into hot broth to dissolve it — there should be 3 cups broth. Add ground meat; taste for salt. Pour into moistened porcelain or glass or enamel moulds to chill, being sure meat is evenly distributed through broth. Chill. Slice with sharp knife. If you want headcheese made with a pig's head please write again.

CANNED CHICKEN

Pressure cooker is absolutely essential and tin cans are recommended. Chicken must be precooked so that it is boiling hot when it goes in cans. Boil chickens 1 hour at least. Cut meat from bones. Immediately put into sterile cans (or jars if used). Have ready slightly salted broth in which chicken was cooked, having strained it. To each pint of broth add 1½ teaspoons gelatin which has been soaked in ¼ cup cold water. Stir until gelatin is dissolved and stir into hot broth. Bring to boil. Pour over chicken in jars—adding it as you pack the chicken in so that it fills all spaces. Work fast. Everything must be boiling hot. Seal. Process at 10 lbs. pressure for 120 minutes; at 15 lbs. 75 minutes. Do not do this unless you have all the equipment mentioned.

QUESTION: . . . being married in country church . . . informal wedding . . . would you please criticize and make suggestion for following 2 menus . . . it is in mid-afternoon. (1) Served by trays: Fancy sandwiches, relishes on tooth-picks, cakes or cookies and ice cream, wedding cake and tea: (2) Served on plates: Cold sliced ham, potato salad on lettuce leaf, relishes, cake or cookies and ice cream, wedding cake and tea. Could you tell me how much of each item to purchase for 50 people? Any suggestions will be welcome. Emma B.

ANSWER: Both menus are perfectly proper and sound good; cost would be only deciding factor. If in mid-afternoon the fancy sandwiches No. 1 would be my choice. For 50 people allow 5 loaves of bread without crusts. This is generous, but for a country wedding, guests might be coming from long distance. Allow 3 cups mashed filling for each sandwich loaf. A very large angel food cake (1½ cups whites) will serve 14. One and one-quarter lbs. finest grind coffee will serve 50. I have mailed you other details.

Wife Says Flynn Good Pal, Get Along Fine

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's it like to be married to Errol Flynn?

Patrice Wymore, the third Mrs. Flynn, says that she and her adventurous husband get along just dandy. This despite the continuous sniping of gossipers who have knocked the marriage ever since it began almost two years ago.

"We get along fine. We have a lot of laughs when we're together. And we're together a lot more than people think. Although we've both done a lot of travelling, we've never been apart more than a week or so. At least we weren't until the picture that Errol's making in England, 'The Sea Rogue.' We'll be separated four months this time, and that's tough to take."

SEEMS GOOD MATCH

The Kansas-born redhead seems a good match for Flynn. She also is an active individual and appears to have a wanderlust.

"In another year or so, I hope we can co-ordinate our travels," she remarked. "By that time, I should be able to work it so I only have to work half a year, and so will Errol. Then we'd like to spend six months in Jamaica and six months here.

Recalling the courtship, she said Flynn had been a fast operator. They had known each other only three months before they were engaged.

"He proposed to me on a windswept hill," she recalled. "Very romantic. Then he called my parents in Kansas and said, 'May I have the honor of your daughter's hand in marriage?' My parents thought we were out of our minds, but after they met Errol they were delighted with him."

CAPSULE REVIEW

"Monkey Business" is not as funny as the Marx Brothers picture of the same name made in 1931, but it is well played and lighthearted. The story deals with man's traditional search for youth. This time Cary Grant and Ginger Rogers are the experimenters, and their excursions to an earlier age are often hilarious. Charles Coburn gives good support, and Marilyn Monroe offers some of the most atractive scenery outlined in recent months.

Find More Cases Of Diabetes

QUEBEC (CP)—Diabetes is increasing in Canada and, because it is hereditary, two persons afflicted by the disease should not marry, Dr. C. N. Hugh Long, professor of physiology at Yale University, said here recently.

"People with diabetes don't die," he said. "They take insulin—a Canadian discovery—which neutralizes, roughly, their condition, live to a ripe old age and pass on their diabetes, in all probability, to their children. I wouldn't recommend two diabetics to marry for that reason."

In an interview on his arrival here from the International Diabetes Federation conference in Amsterdam, Dr. Long said the disease is definitely linked with a high standard of living. In Canada and the United States, two per cent of the population are bound to become diabetics.

"Countries with a low standard of living have a much lower incidence. Japan, instead of having one person in 50 with diabetes, has only one in 5,000."

While a cure is not just around the corner, "we are getting there," he added.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Your Garden Ideal Spot For Barbecue Party In Fall

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

An attractive garden can be used to good advantage when crisp fall evenings make a barbecue supper an ideal way to entertain.

Steaks naturally are on the preferred list with the barbecue crowd, but there are other equally acceptable meats and dishes such as chicken salad.

Barbecued spareribs are recommended as a family favorite by the consumer section of the federal Agriculture Department.

The butcher should be asked to cut the spareribs into serving-size pieces, about three inches in length with approximately three ribs to each serving. Allow at least two pounds for three to four persons.

For indoor preparation the spareribs should first be browned for 30 minutes, uncovered, in an oven of 350 degrees fahrenheit. Covered with a favorite barbecue sauce, they should be cooked, covered, 30 minutes longer.

The pan then is uncovered and the spareribs cooked another 20 minutes until they are crisp and brown.

The home economists recommend this recipe for barbecue sauce which gives the spareribs a rich, red color:

Ingredients: Two cups canned tomatoes, one tablespoon spicy meat sauce, one-half teaspoon chili powder, one teaspoon dry mustard, two tablespoons brown sugar, two tablespoons vinegar, one-quarter cup chopped onion, salt and pepper to taste.

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. This is enough sauce for two pounds of spareribs

The Canadian Association of Consumers is campaigning among its 13,000 members to discourage retailers from giving coupons and premiums with their merchandise.

In a recent statement the C.A.C. says many Canadian manufacturers seem to think "they can still use the old barter system of offering women a string of bright beads in exchange for a nice bundle of pelts."

"When a manufacturer puts a box of soap flakes or a cake mix on a grocery shelf and dresses it up with a 'free' tea-towel or a pretty plastic scoop he is enticing her to part with more of her precious dollars than she may need to do," says the C.A.C.

"Since inflationary conditions have made the lot of every consumer more difficult, the Canadian Association of Consumers has maintained that one way to reduce costs to the buyer would be for manufacturers to curtail their costly advertising method of giving coupons and premiums with their merchandise."

"Here's Character"

(Slightly reduced)

The amount of independence in a writer is largely determined by the amount of mental maturity present in the script.

In the above specimen, the pointed letter formations, firm pressure and straight line down-strokes of the 'y's' and 'g's' reveal the writer's independent nature.

He has a keen, critical mind. There is aggressiveness and executive ability expressed, but the writer dislikes being bothered with non-essentials.

There is some arrogance indicated in the way the 'e's' look down on the other small letters, but because of the writer's high degree of intelligence, he will be able to keep this trait under control.

HOUSES WANTED
PETERBOROUGH AND DISTRICT
(WITHIN 10-15 MILES)

Attention Sellers!

What have you to Sell in Medium and Low-Priced Housing Accommodation on a low down payment basis?

We have a Number of Reliable Prospective Purchasers with $1,000 to $1,500 down payment, and who are willing to pay the balance in monthly instalments with interest at 6%, and secured by a First Mortgage back to you!

These Purcharers have good weekly earnings and can meet the payments as due.

The Houses do not have to be in first-class condition, as the buyers will improve the property in time. Of course, Houses in good condition are more desirable.

Should you have a Property that is bringing in insufficient income — NOW IS THE TIME TO SEE US!
